Pierian members hostesses as Morgan opens African exhibit

By LULA JONES GARRETT

It's getting to look a lots like Christmas around town, and the Pierians did a lot to get the spirit on the road, Sunday evening.

Club members, who jointly with the Art Department of Morgan State College are presenting a showing of African Art in the Murphy Fine Arts Building at Morgan, entertained at an opening of the show.

• • •

THEIR BEAUTIFULLY done coffee buffet was in the Christmas motif . . . lush white trees, colorfully bedecked, and the tables hollysprinkled. The hostesses got in the mood, too, in their lovely holiday attire ('twas black tie) and the guests, of course, led off in the dress area.

I could talk about the magnificent pale green satin frock with matching stole, the petal skirt braided and beaded that Mrs. Ernest H. Johnson wore, but I'd rather talk of the magnificent jewels she did in the groundwork of getting the exhibit together, of how she worked with collectors, conferred with printers, planned with caterers.

And I might say that Mrs. G. James Fleming was charming in a flowered frock in the reds and pinks, but she was pretty charming too, even dusting cases and calming tempers as the work progressed, and even clearing a floor ere guests arrived. Mrs. Fleming and Mrs. Johnson were co-chairmen of the art show committee.

IN FACT, to the two go much of the credit for these annual affairs. Organization of the art - conscious Pierians was Mrs. Johnson's brain child. The art show grew out of the thinking of Mrs. Fleming.

On the committee also are Mrs. Percival Smith, president of the Pierians; and Mesdames Mercedes Douglass, I. Bradshaw Higgins, Mark Patterson, Henry C. Welcome and Ruth Welling.

• • •

Hostesses also included: Mesdames Charles A. Brackett, Simon H. Carter, Walter T. Dixon, Arthur Lamb, James M. Mebane, Herbert L. Moseley, Glenford P. Mussenden, Lester S. Norris Sr., Glenn S. Tarter, Jerome Todd, G. Luther Washington and Herbert E. Wilson.

• • •

THE MAJOR portion of the exhibit was from the collection of Primitive African art owned by the Hon. Albert H. Blum, a member of the Municipal Court of Baltimore. Judge Blum collected much of collection on a 7,500 mile safari through the heart of Africa in 1953.

Rounding out the exhibit of African objects were works from the Baltimore Museum of Art and Morgan State College. There were also 46 paintings by trainees of the Chirodzo Art Center in Southern Rhodesia, and exhibit in this country by the Smithsonian Institute of Washington.

• • •

FOLLOWING THE opening, Dr. and Mrs. Jenkins were hosts to Judge Blum, the representatives of African Embassies and Pierians and guests at their new home.

ANNAPOLIS DOINGS

BY ELOISE RICHARDSON

Church members cited for service at First Baptist Church celebration; Bates High School institutes program to help the needy on year-round basis; Woman's Auxiliary of Crownsville sets general meeting.

It isn't every day tributes are paid publicly to those church members who render faithful service. However, on last Friday evening the Rev. Leroy Bowman, pastor of the First Baptist Church here, on the occasion of the celebration of his 18th year as minister of his church, and the 84th year of the existence of he church, cited five members of his church for service rendered during his time and before.

Those who received certificates of merit were Mrs. Madlin Tate, minister of music, who has served for 27 years; Mrs. Elizabeth Watkins, a lifelong member of the church who has served as president of the senior choir for 25 years;

Also William H. Campbell, treasurer of the church for 21 years, and J. B. Johnson who served as chairman of the deacon board for 32 years. James Merchand, former Sunday School superintendent, deceased, was also cited. A plaque will be placed in the church honoring him later.

• • •

THE CITATION read as follows:

"In appreciation for devoted and faithful service rendered to First Baptist Church. May abiding saisfaction be your reward and the years ahead be crowned with God's blessing."

In his remarks, the Rev. Mr. Bowman declared that time should be taken out to show appreciation to those who have labored, however small, for they are pioneers to the new frontier.

Of significance, too, were the presentations made out of appreciation by others to, not only the minister and his wife, but to others in the service of the church.

One of the choir members presented a gift to Mrs. Tate.

Gifts were also given to Henry Murden from the Gospel Chorus of which he is organist; to Floyd Bunde, Sunday School superintendent, and to Mrs. J. B. Johnson, deaconess board president. Mrs. Eleanor Harris was also gifted for service rendered with the music department.

• • •

FLOWERS WERE presented to Mrs. Hattie Pierce, "honorary member" of the church, and Mrs. Johnson, who is confined to herhome with illness.

The pastor and his lovely wife received gifts from the following:

The Children's Choir, the Ladies' Aid, the Missionary Society, the North Carolina Club, Deaconess Board, Youth Choir, Flower Circle and Pastor's Aid. Ladies Auxiliary and Ushers, the Sundav School, the Women's Organization;

Also the Men's Club and the Male Chorus, the church, the Youth Organization and Mrs. Hattie Pierce. Mrs. Eleanor Harris was also gifted by the church for service with the music department.

The Rev. Mr. Bowman, formerly of Washington, D.C., and a graduate of the Washington Baptist Theological Seminary, entered the ministry in 1938.

The First Baptist Church is his first charge, and prior to coming here in November 1945, he was an assistant to the Rev. Robert Rollins, minister of the Florid Avenue Baptist Church in Washington.

During his pastorate here great progress has been made. Having a small, but enthusiastic, well - rounded congregation, under his leadership, the congregation realized its dream of a new edifice in October 1954.

• • •

ASIDE FROM his church work, the Rev. Mr. Bowman has proven himself to be one of the city's great leaders, having the tenacy to go forth with his convictions for the betterment ofhis community and for the race.

He is a member of the City of Annapolis Planning Commission, the Committee of Management of the Northwest Street YMCA, institutional representative for Troop 550, Boy Scouts of America, and he is first vice-president of the United Baptist Missionary Convention of Maryland.

The church has been organized since 1863. During this time pastors who preceded the Rev. Mr. Bowman were the Revs. George Reed, T. L. Jones, H. U. Pierce, Norris H Morgan, D. S. Sample and James H. Robinson.

• • •

THE ANNIVERSARY program, which was conducted throughout last week, culminated with a banquet.

Those who appeared on the program on the night of the banquet were Mesdames Mary C. Brown, Thelma Sparks and Maude Campbell; the Revs. Clarence Davis, Genevieve Dyson and William Dyson. Miss Deosa Brown and Barbara Thomas, Messrs. J. B. Johnson, Gregory Morris and associates, Thomas Hawkins, George Anderson, Aaron Gillis, Floyd Bundy, Everett Johnson and Dr. R. L. Richardson.

Special guests, other than visiting ministers, on the program were the Rev. and Mrs. Rollie Mosley, the parents of the Rev. Mr. Bowman, and Mrs. Delia Allen, an aunt, all from Washington. The Rev. Mr. Mosley is senior deacon at the Mt. Bethel Baptist Church here.

Also J. Norwood Brown, Mrs. George Diggs, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Richardson, and Houston Thompson.

Mrs. Houston Thompson was program chairman, assisted by Mesdames Julia Hawkins and Corina Knight. Mrs. Tate was at the piano.

The banquet committee was headed by Mosby Brown, sons who was assisted by Mesdames Thema Persons, Mary Gillis and Elizabeth Watkins.

The decoration and hostess committee consisted of Mrs. Mildred Brown, chairman and members of the Pastor's Aid and Flower Circle Club.

Those who served as hostesses were Mesdames Odelia Scott and Mabel Harris and Misses Alethia Perry, Odessa Brown, Mary Scott, Deborah Williams, Barbara Johnson, Brenda Johnson and Wanda Johnson.

OF MUCH significance is the step forward taken by Bates High School in the adopting of a program for assistance to needy children.

After the faculty and student body decided upon this new pattern of philanthropy Herbert S. Hilliard, principal, appealed to the Anne Board for helping devising a plan for the carrying out of such a program on a year-round basis.

Along with this, names of families eligible for such help were given. On Nov. 22 the student body and faculty presented a check in the amount of $159.12 to Mrs. Anita Gaisaway, a member of the staff of the Welfare Bord.

THE FOLLOWING is part of a letter sent to families eligible to be considered for this program, which will be administered monthly:

'Congratulations! Your family has been selected for a Family Award given by Bates High School. This award is made to enable you to provide for your children, those little extra privileges which may make them happier at home, at school and in the community.

For persons interested in attending the dinner, reservations must be made by Dec. 8. Tickets are $1.75.

Mrs. Mary L. Coln is president of the PTA. Members of the executive committee are Mrs. Emma Boone, Perry Pennington, Mrs. Ruth Lighton, Mrs. Francis Mills, Mrs. Auby Woodward, Mrs. Eva Jeffrys and Mrs. Dollie Tinsley.

Free Statesmen give gala cabaret

By DORIS B. ADAMS

Dundalk's Unity Hall was the locale for the Freestatesmen Association's gala harvest cabaret party. The group was founded in January 1961 because the members realized the difficulty colored investors face when trying to invest or bargain singularly in trying to acquire a niche in the business circles of our state.

The Free Statesmen collectively buy shares in larger corporations, real property and Building and Loan Associations. The group also promotes the careers of local talent and intends to expand into other areas.

Members of the Free Statesmen are Paul Cockrell, counselor; David B. Williams, president; Wylie Jones, vice president; Reta Cabiney, financial secretary; Eunelee Faulk, assistant secretary; O. P. Moyd, treasurer; George Barry, Claude Woodson, Flossie Anderson, James Stovall and James Glover.
