The scene is from Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer's comedy, "Bacheior in Paradies," now playing at the Harlem. Also playing leading roles in the CinemaScope and color attraction are Janis Paige, Jim Hutton, Don Porter, Virginia Grey and Agnes Moorehead.

Walkout by Etta James triggers Philly riot

PHILADELPHIA — (ANP) — The refusal by singer Etta James to perform at the Blue Moon Club in a controversy over money recently triggered a wild, bottle-throwing riot by angry fans who felt they were short-changed in the deal.

So infuriated were the fans, that they stoned "the joint," demanding their money back. Miss James and her combo were forced to flee for their safety. And it took State Troopers, local police, deputy sheriffs, and firemen to restore order.

The whole controversy, including the riot, was blamed on a doorman who made off with the cash collected from fans paying $2 a head to hear Miss James sing.

ACCORDING TO police report, this is what happened:

Miss James and her combo showed up on time prepared to play the date. However, just before they were about to go on stage, she learned that the band had not been paid. She balked, and refused to perform.

* * *

MEANWHILE, it was learned that the money was gone. A certain man collecting fares at the door had vanished with the receipts and has not been seen since.

This, however, could not be explained to the satisfaction of the fans, who paid to see a show and expected to. The riot ensued and, in the melee, six persons were arrested for disorderly conduct and later fined a total of $521.

Hope, Lana Turner in Harlem show

Bob Hope and Lana Turner co-star for the first time in the new Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer comedy, "Bachelor in Paradise," now playing at the Harlem.

Hope is seen as a writer exploring the manners and mores of American marital life in the midst of a modern California housing development, surrounded by a group of wives who are domestically discontended.

Lana is the development's interior decorator and the only other "bachelor" in the community. When he rents her house, the fun begins.

'Loss of Innocence' playing at Royal

A motion picture set in the Marne River valley, home of champagne and site of numerous catastrophic battles, "Loss of Innocence" now at the Royal, is one of the most novel, most exciting dramas in recent years.

It is the story of a young girl's sudden discovery of womanhood through her friendship with a suave refugee from the law who respects her innocence, and is betrayed by it.

British actor Kenneth More and French actress Danielle Darrieux are starred in "Loss of Innocence".

Second attraction has cantinflas and some 20 stars in "Pepe".

Good war film at New Albert

Allied Artists' "Armored Command," which is now at the New Albert Theatre, is powerful entertainment, a suspense - packed action film which ranks high among Hollywood's better war pictures.

As the colonel who commands the force and instinctively believes it is nearly surrounded by a large German force, despite what intelligence reports on the situation, Howard Keel is excellent.

In this role of the woman espionage agent, Tina Louise performs excellently, and lends a note of unusual feminine beauty and warm affect to the production.

Others whose performances are outstanding are Earl Holliman as Sgt. Mike, who falls in love with Alexandra, and Burt Reynolds, as Skee, one of the squad, who looks upon her as just another woman, one of the spoils of war to be greatly enjoyed.

MUSICAL MOMENTS

Mrs. Caldwell well recieved

By ADAH K. JENKINS

A near capacity audience filled Pimlico Junior High School auditorium last Sunday evening to hear the second annual Pop Concert by the Baltimore Civic Orchestra, conducted by Irving Wildhorn, with Hansonld Caldwell as guest soloist.

The 17-year-old pianist was recalled to the stage again and again after her performance of the Grieg Concerto. It seemed almost incredible that the dainty little figure in white pois de soie ballet dress with aqua sequin girdle could encompass so effectively the massive chords and arpeggios of the Greig work.

Sunday mark-d the second appearance of Miss Caldwell with the orchestra. She played the Mozart "Piano Concerto in A major K. 488" with them last spring at the Dunbarton Junior High School in Towson.

With very definite and spirited direction Mr. Wildhorn held together his forces in the concerto and in the orchestral numbers that preceded and followed the soloist.

* * *

THE INTERRACIAL orchestra was applauded heartily for the stirring "Pomp and Circumstance" and "Fledermaus Overture" that opened the concert. Familiar strains from "Gigi", "Oklahoma" and "King and I" were enjoyed also, with many of the youthful listeners humming along.

Noted in the orchestral ranks were John S. Thompson, Robert A. Smith, Henry Mays, Karl H. Porter, Dennis Johnson, George Johnson and James Moore. The Civic players are headed by Charles J. Levin, president, and John N. Renneburg, vice president.

The event was sponsored by the Local Life Chapter of the American Medical Center at Denver. Mrs. Allen Greenberg, president of the chapter and Mrs. Wildhorn, chairman of concert, acknowledged the cooperation of the patrons (listed on the program) and entire audience. Following the performance Miss Caldwell was presented roses by the Life Chapter.

The entire proceeds of the concert are directed to the Medical Center.
