Charity funeral services held

Funeral services for Hezekiah C. Charity Sr. were held recently in the First African Baptist Church in Richmond.

The Rev. Y. B. Williams officiated. He was assisted by the Rev. David J. Shannon.

Mr. Charity, who was for more than 50 years employed by the C and O Railroad, died in Richmond on Dec. 1.

He is survived by his wife, Frances; a daughter Mrs. Lily C. Alexander, a teacher in Richmond's John M. Grandy School, and a son Francis Charity, a former AFRO composing room employee.

Other survivors are three grandchildren, three brothers, and a son-in-law, Harold C. Alexander.

Evin Harvin

Evins Harvin, 46, of 2415 Kermit Ave., was buried Thursday at Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church, Mt. Winans, Md.

Mr. Harvin died on Monday.

A native of Summerton, S.C., Mr. Harvin was employed by Bethlehem Steel Company until he became ill in 1957.

• • •

SURVIVORS INCLUDE his wife, Mrs. Marie Jane Harvin; four children, Misses Antoinette, Louise and Dorothy, and Tracy Harvin, a brother Lonnie Harvin, his mother and father-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gussie and Geneva Pearson, all of Baltimore.

Funeral arrangements by Mrs. Katie Williams Funeral Home.

3,000 Masons gather Sunday

More than 3,000 Prince Hall Masons, wearing the traditional aprons and white gloves, are expected to fill the new Masonic Temple, 1301 Eutaw Pl. Sunday at 3 o'clock for the annual observance of St. John's Day.

There are approximately 6,000 members of the order in the Maryland jurisdiction, the majority of them in the Baltimore area, according to Samuel T. Daniels, grand master. Mr. Daniels will preside at Sunday's services.

Principal speaker will be the Rev. Marion C. Bascom, forceful pastor of the Douglas Memorial Community Church.

Music is to be furnished by the Masonic Choir under the direction of Alfred Dixon.

Coppin gives annual recitals

The Christmas Recital at Coppin this year took the form of drama, dance and music.

The Copping Players, under the direction of Mrs. Juanita Jones, presented two one-act plays: "Silent Night" by Ada Goepp, and "It's Christmas Again," by Karin Asbrand.

The dance choreography directed by Miss Jerlyn Manuel, was adapted from the season's carols.

Music was under the direction of Henry N. Freeman.

Gillis observes 13th Men's Day

The congregation of Gillis Memorial Community Church observed its 13th annual Men's Day on Dec. 10.

Edmond S. Dorsey, news director of Radio Station WEBB, spoke on "The Minister and the Community," at a 9 a.m. breakfast. At 11 a.m. Municipal Judge Robert B. Watts was guest speaker. Also participating were Thomas Bennett, Male Chorus director; Roland Smith, organist; Walter Byrd and Lloyd Cure.

At 3 p.m. services the Rev. Elder C. Green, pastor of the Church of God led the congregation in gospel singing. Participating were the Male Chorus, Senior Choir, Radio Choir, Washington Sisters, Willing Workers and Gospel Trumpets.

Mrs. Ruth Conway

Mrs. Ruth Conway, 57, of 1348 Stockton St., a member of Ivy Temple Baptist Church, was buried at Carver Memorial Park Thursday.

She died at Lutheran Hospital on Monday. Funeral services were held at Marshall Jones Funeral Home.

Born in Sussex County, Va., Mrs. Conway came to Baltimore 27 years ago.

Mrs. Conway is a deaconess of Ivy Temple Church, president of the Senior Choir and chaplain of the Wonderful Council.

• • •

SURVIVORS INCLUDE a daughter, Mrs. Magnolia Ervin; four sisters, Mrs. Rosa Sweet, Norfolk, Va.; Messdames Sarah Harris, Laura Harris and Georgia Bryant all of Baltimore; a brother, Solomon Harris, and four grandchildren.

Hall Jarman

Hall Jarman, 85 of 307 N. Mount St., was buried Wednesday at Warsaw, N.C. He died on Friday.

A native of Warsaw, Mr. Jarman came here 25 years ago. He was a contractor from then until illness forced his retirement three years ago.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Mary Lee Jarman; three daughters, Mrs. Vernetia Betts, Misses Essie and Donnie Belle Jarman; and a son, Roy Jarman, all of Baltimore.

Other survivors are two sisters Mrs. Attie Hall and Mrs. Gladis Whitfield, both of Baltimore.

The Katie Williams Funeral Home was in charge.

Mrs. C. Carter

Funeral services were held Wednesday at St. Peter Claver Catholic Church for Mrs. Catherine Carter, 90, of 1348 Stockton St., who died Sunday at her home.

George Kelson Funeral Homes was in charge of arrangements.

Born in St. Marys County, Md., Mrs. Carter came to Baltimore in 1912.

• • •

SURVIVORS INCLUDE two sons, Walter and Douglass; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Moore; a brother, Ed Thomas of Middleton, Del., and 18 grandchildren.

Burial was at St. Peter's Cemetery.

City jail to run its own store

The City Jail is going to operate its commissary on a profit making basis after the first of the years.

A request from Warden Hiram L. Schoonfield that the prison be allowed to operate its own commissary was approved by the Jail Board Wednesday.

Under the new system, profits from the operation will be placed in the jail's welfare funds.

According to Warden Schoonfield, the system will eliminate the need for relatives to bring food packages to inmates, and will help prevent contraband from being shipped in.

• • •

IN HIS monthly report to the Board the new warden stated:

That a portable X-Ray machine had been installed at the jail and will be operated by the Maryland TB Association.

Asked that staff members be given the title of their custodial or correctional officers in place of the title, "guard."

Asked for permission to provide plastic identification bracelets for inmates who become critically ill and may need special medication.

Called for cancellation of a Christmas variety program by a group of entertainers who presented 'risque' material last year.

• • •

BOARD PRESIDENT Harry D. Kaufman reported that the State Department of Mental Hygiene intends to ask the State Legislature for money to set up an alcoholic treatment center.

Child burned over 30 per cent of body

A four-month-old girl sustained third-degree burns over 30 per cent of her body Thursday morning when her clothing caught fire.

Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes of 566 W. Preston St. reported that her daughter Elizabeth was playing near a wood stove when her clothing ignited.

Mrs. Holmes smothered flames about the child's body with a bed sheet.

The victim is being held at University Hospital for observation.

THE DEATH of an 18-month-old girl on Tuesday has been attributed to an overdose of iron deficiency pills.

Western District Police said the child, Catherine Williams of the 1100 block Mosher St., apparently removed 15 or more sulphate pills from her mother's purse last Saturday.

The pills had been given to the girl's 15-year-old mother by a local hospital.

Eighty-three of the remaining pills were turned over to police.

Investigating officers reported "no evidence of foul play."
