OUR PRAYER

On the TOWN

Since the after dark set is a traditionally happy one, it seems a mite trite to wade through the usual "merry and happy" routine.

Besides, let's face it; many of us will have anything but a happy holiday . . . that's the way the mop flop.

sonal tragedies, misery and

But through the ages perwee have found a way to play second fiddle to the joy of Christmas.

Christmas, 1961, is no exception. Soo. . . from Crawlers to everyone everywhere . . . MERRY JINGLES. We hope when the round, jolly, sleigh-riding, St. Nick stops past your shack, he'll have your favorite packs in his sack.

AND SINCE the following guys have been A-Ok throughout the waning 365, Crawlers are hoping Santa will give them a bit of personal attention. For instance:

To Ted Carver, who introduced a new concept in nite clubbing with his Bamboo Lounge, you can bring him a chance to further prove that all is not bad behind the bamboo curtain.

For Charlie Burns, how about more giant steps in making Casino the "Gay White Way" of the Big B, by stepping-up the parade of "name" acts coming to our town?

To George Fox, leave promise for a long run for one of the nicest combinations in town — Ethel and the Wizards — to the delight of an ever-growing band of sophisticated and appreciative patrons.

TO FLOYD BARTZ whose North End has given life to the age-old hit, "Mommy and Me and Baby Make Three," we hope you will bring more of the happiness they've known this year.

(Mrs. B. and son Gary are cogs in the wheel that makes the house goes, ya know.)

For F.ank Reddish, who has no trouble in keeping 'em down on the farm at Dotson's, we are asking you to bring him a bigger farm.

To Bob Myers at the Avenue, who has been forced to operate in cramped quarters due to a devastating fire early this 52, leave a promise of no more fires.

As a special favor, when you get to Maceo's don't forget to bring out your get-well-quick kit for Maceo Paysour, who got banged up in an expressway smash-up early Tuesday a.m. He's got to preside at the Christmas breakfast you know.

ON YOUR stop at Alhambra, Tom (Big Daddy) Wilson will have no complaints if you'll let him know that the coming year will be as pleasant as the past ones which have made this a fixture on the Main Stem.

And for good "Ole Mr. Wilson (Wendy) at Vilma's, you can bring a dash of the good old times, which have left a batch of fond memories.

To Walter (Tall Man) Thomas you can bring a "decoration day" every day at Kleeco. Especially if it's anywhere near as fabulous as the one thrown Tuesday. Walt, you were reely standing tall!

When you swing into Phil's, you'll make Joe and Phil the happiest guys around if you can dump a sack of membership cards for the Jazz Survivors. They are locked in a terrific duel with the rock and roll school, as you can see.

When you sleigh into the Lucky Number, don't forget to drop off some Rose Room reservations for Watty. Take a breather and dig the organ magic of Co nell Muldrow.

After Dancer, Prancer, Donder, Blitzen, and Rudolph are restedn let them walk up the road a piece and you'll see how pretty Morris Richmond and the girls have made the Carnival just for your coming.

TAKE SOME of your helpers and let them give Mickey and Shirley Fields a listen in a pretty swank atmosphere.

Know you won't be in a stomping mood, but drop in on Sid at the Knotty Pine and watch happy feet react to the hall of hits. Earl Omaro will make you want to join 'em.

Before fleeing to suburbia, hit in on Thee at Jones Cocktail Lounge and leave word that Dukie and Dusty are in for a bust time when the holiday hordes pour in.

Don't get airborne to make it to far-away places before looking in on Adam's Cocktail Lounge and carry the Turner Station lovers of life their favorite wishes, and don't overlook Big Bill Adams.

And for us, merry ole one, tell all others you are sure to see that Crawlers send wishes for a JOYOUS SEASON.
