..HE WAS MISQUOTED — Heisman Trophy winner Ernie Davis (right) says he was misquoted when daily news stories reported he "doesn't want to be another Jackie Robinson."

Ex-Syracuse All - American talks to AFRO's Sam Lacy at Touchdown Club's 27th Awards Dinner in Washington last Saturday.

'Never compared self to Jackie,' says Ernie Davis

WASHINGTON

Ernie Davis denies ever comparing himself to Jackie Robinson or expressing discontent over the prospect of playing professional football with the Washington Redskins.

The nation's greatest collegiate football player was in Washington last Saturday night to add the Touchdown Club's Walter Camp trophy to his long and growing list of athletic accomplishments.

He will also be honored on Feb. 3, by citizens and admirers in his hometown of Elmira, N.Y.

WINNER of the Heisman Trophy, symbolic of recognition as the finest gridder in the land in 1961, Ernie made it two consecutive "firsts" at the Sheraton-Park dinner.

No other colored athlete had ever won the Heisman honor. Nor had a colored athlete ever been picked for the Touchdown Club citation.

DAVIS SETTLED several controversial issues during a 20-minute chat with the AFRO at the "Distinguished Persons Hour" in the Sheraton's Continental Room prior to the 27th annual awards dinner in the Grand Ballroom.

"I have never compared myself to Jackie Robinson," Davis said by way of opening the conversation.

"THERE HAS been a great deal of discussion about this, most of it based on the assumption that I was quoted correctly in the newspaper articles concerning myself and the Washington Redskins.

"I have denied making the statement attributed to me; but for some reason I can't quite understand, the denial never received the same publicity that was given the original story.

"I'VE NEVER compared myself to Jackie for the simple reason that I think it would be absurd for me to do so," Ernie continued.

"Our situations are quite different. Jackie was the pioneer; I'm no more than one of a number of athletes who were fortunate enough to have the way made easier by him.

"THIS IS truly how I feel, and I hope it will finally be told.

"You can't imagine how many letters I received from people all over the country, criticizing me for the statement attributed to me. I answered a few of them personally, but with post-season football, trips for personal appearances, and school work making demands on my time, it was just impossible for me to reply to all the letters.

"Several times in subsequent interviews, I told newspaper reporters that I never said I didn't want to be another Jackie Robinson. I thought this would serve to correct the impression, but apparently it wasn't important enough to them to write it."

THE FORMER Syracuse All-American, now under a 3-year contract with the Cleveland Browns pro eleven, was asked whether he was disappointed when he was drafted by the Redskins, a team which never previously had accepted a colored player.

"No," was Ernie's reply. "I was not disappointed. It was rather obvious from statements made by Mr. Marshall (George P. Marshall, Redskins owner) and others that I would be picked by them.

"It was obvious, too, that I would not be compelled to sign with the Redskins or any other team, if I preferred not to do so.

"AND THIS brings up another point I'd like to clarify. I'd have had no objection to playing with the Redskins; in fact, I like Washington. I think I would have enjoyed playing here.

"If things had not worked out as they did (Ernie was traded to the Browns), it would have been purely a matter of money. If the offer made me by Mr. Marshall compared favorably with those I received from other clubs, I would have played here, and I'm sure I'd have enjoyed it."

AS POINTED out earlier, Davis became the first colored player to be honored by the Touchdown Club in 27 years.

He was presented the Walter Camp trophy, given annually in memory of the man who originated the idea of All-America selections. Among previous winners of the Camp honor are:

Joe Bellino of Navy, Billy Cannon of LSU, Paul Hornung of Notre Dame, Hopalong Cassidy of Ohio State, Dick Kazmaier of Princeton, Paul Giel of Minnesota, and John Crow of Texas A and M.

CITED SATURDAY night along with Davis were Joe Romig of Colorado (Knute Rockne trophy), Paul Bryant, Alabama coach (Touchdown Award), Vince Lombardi, Green Bay Packers coach (Touchdown Award); Whitey Ford of the Yankees (Clark Griffith trophy), Stan Musial of the Cardinals (Clark Griffith trophy), Greg Mather of Navy, (Arch McDonald Award), and Paul Horning of Green Bay Packers (Touchdown Award), among others.

Boxer Cotton badly injured

SEATTLE, Wash. — Third-ranking light-heavyweight Eddie Cotton sustained serious injury here Tuesday when he was struck by a flying piece of heavy metal.

Officials at the Boeing Company plant, where Cotton is a tool and die maker, said a 75-pound part upon which he was working jumped from a press and struck Cotton.

His left hip, left upper arm and right hand were damaged.

X-rays were taken at the plant and Cotton was transferred to a hospital for further examination.

Cotton is tentatively scheduled to fight South American champion Mauro Mina at Lima, Peru, January 31.

Tan athletes hit 167 points in NBA Star tilt

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Fifteen points by Elgin Baylor and Oscar Roberton in the closing minutes of play, put the West Stars out of reach of the East in the annual National Basketball Association All-Star Classic Tuesday night.

The favored West aggregation—paced by Baylor, on leave from the Army, Robertson and rookie Walt Bellamy—shellacked the Eastern crew, 150-130.

THE WINNERS were holding a four-point lead when Baylor, flown in from Fort Lewis, Wash., only a few hours before, hit five straight points.

Bob Pettit tossed in two field goals to keep the cause along, then Robertson grabbed the spotlight.

The Big O banged in seven straight markers, fed off to Jack Twyman for a successful assist, then popped a 3-point basket-from outside.

WILT CHAMBERLAIN by far the most prolific scorer in the NBA, remained in character by outpointing everyone on the floor.

The elongated Philly Warrior registered a record-breaking 42 points, erasing the old All-Star game mark of 39, set by Bob Pettit last year.

TEN COLORED players participated in the contest, witnessed by the largest crowd in history, 15,112. Four played on the victorious West, with the other six lined up with the East.

The ten accounted for a total of 167 points. Here is the breakdown:

FOR THE WEST — Baylor, L. A. Lakers (32), Robertson, Cincinnati Royals (26), Bellamy, Chicago Packers (23), and Wayne Embry, Cincinnati (4).

FOR THE EAST — Chamberlain, Philly Warriors (42), Bill Russell, Boston Celtics (12), Willie Naulls, New York Knicks (11), Hal Greer, Syracuse Nats (8), Johnny Green, New York (7), and Sam Jones, Boston (2).

Coppin defeats Hagerstown JC

The Coppin Eagles chalked up another victory Wednesday night when they trampled Hagerstown Junior College, 90-78.

This game marked the second victory in basketball this season.

The Eagles defeated Southeastern University on January 10. Good team play melded with T. Briscoe's 23-point effort and Gillespie's 24 tallies to seal the victory.

C. Cage scored 29 points for the losers.

Wednesday night's game was a hair-raiser. Briscoe's performance was sterling. He scored 37 points. But the highest scorer in the game was F. O'Brien of Hagerstown, with a high of 39 points.

On Saturday, Coppin travels to Frostburg State College for what promises to be a hot contest.

Dailey newest star in firmament of Foresters

Forest Park High School doesn't loom large in the schoolboy headlines, but the Northwest institution is gradually winning attention through the exploits of its individual athletes.

The Foresters boast the Maryland Scholastic Association sprint champion of the past two years in the person of Norman Burkett. And they also have the Division 2 football scoring champion in the same speedy Burkett, who plays fullback on the FP eleven.

AT THE MOMENT, the MSA basketball scoring leader is Maceo Dailey. And Dailey, in case you've missed the point, is a student at Forest Park.

Maceo had hit 70 points going into this afternoons game against Towson Catholic. This gives him a 23.3 average for the first three conference games, and a 5-point lead over his nearest rival, Rick Lombardi of Loyola.

THIRS IN the scoring race to date is Franklin James whose Douglass quint entertaines Edmondson this afternoon (Friday). The big center, declared eligible for participation on the eve of the MSA opening two weeks ago, has 42 points and a flat 21-point average for two contests.

Lee Cornish of City, had notched 58 points and a 19.3 mean to be fourth in the individual standings, and Dunbars Georg'e Renwick had a average of 18.0 to be sixth.

Ted Manning of defending MSA champion Carver, is eighth in the race with 45 points, and Herm Miller of Edmondson, is in ninth place with 60 markers — but for four games.

Oriole clinic for PBC youth

The Orioles, in cooperation with the National Brewing Company, the Birds' radio-television sponsor, and radio station WEBB, will conduct a baseball clinic today (Friday) for the benefit of members of the Police Boys Club of Baltimore.

The clinic will be held at the Pullen Gym of Coppin State College, 2500 W. North Avenue, at 7:30 p.m.

The Birds' most valuable player in 1961, Jim Gentile, will serve as an instructor along with Jerry Adair, Jack Fisher, and Billy Hunter.

Chuck Thompson and Jack Dunn, the Orioles' new play-by-play announcing team, will narrate the program, and Buddy Young of WEBB will also be a part of the program.

This will be the second of a series of seven instructional clinics to be held in the Maryland-Pennsylvania area before spring training begins.

Baylor appears set for D. C. game

WASHINGTON

The decision of the National Basketball Association to permit players on active military duty to compete in regular league games came as heartening news to officials of the M Club, sponsors of the Boston Celtics-Los Angeles Lakers contest Feb. 1 at the University of Maryland.

Moving swiftly, M Club leaders, headed by Managing director George W. Knepley, sought to hurdle the last important obstacle getting Washington's own incomparable Elgin (Rabbit) Baylor, sparkplug and leading scorer of the Lakers, here on special Army leave from Fort Lewis, Washington.

THE CLASSIC is staged for the M Club Scholarship Fund.

Born and bred here, all-time great from Springarn High and later All-American at Seattle, Baylor, along with All-American, Jerry West, fired up the Lakers to a commanding lead in the Western division of the NBA.

NO STONE is being left unturned, Knepley said. He has been in touch with the three top men of the Los Angeles club—President Bob Schaus, General Manager Lou Mohs and Coach Fred Schaus. He was assured of their all-out cooperation.

The M Club also has made a personal appeal to Army authorities to clear the way for Baylor to receive a pass in time for the game.

ELGIN BAYLOR

Moore-Lavorante for title shot

LOS ANGELES — (ANP) —Promoter George Parnassus of Los Angeles announced here that he has matched Archie Moore, co-owner of the light heavyweight title, with Alejandro Lavorante of Argentina in a bout that could lead to a heavyweight title match.

Here is the angle: Moore and Lavorante are to meet in a 10-rounder in the Los Angeles Sports Arena in late March, with the prospect of the winner landing a title fight with Floyd Patterson, the heavyweight champion.

However, all this depends on whether Parnassus can influence Patterson in accepting the winner of the Moore-Lavorante bout as a title opponent on a $500,000 guarantee.

DESPITE THIS statute, however, the college spokesman declared, all 70 students school in the second semester.

The understanding is that the college doors will open again next week when the second semester officially begins.

The United States Supreme Court, in ruling directly affecting Southern University, declared in effect that no student of a state university may be suspended without a trial.

THE SUSPENSION of the seven ringleaders is what is said to have angered the student body who have been demonstrating since Christmas. Many of them boycotted local stores, declining to buy clothing or Christmas gifts and limited their purchases only to food.

There are state and federal injunctions against the Congress of Racial Equality operating in Louisiana, so far as is known, no CORE representatives have been involved in these student demonstrations.

OUTDOOR TIPS

CAMPING

Cheapest, cleanest, most protective storage container we know of is a shiny new aluminum garbage can.

It stows duffle, breakables, food; is rustproof, rodent proof, waterproof, puncture proof.

You can bail out a boat with it, use it as a refrigerator half-submerged in a stream or spring, and make its top do duty as a reflectoroven.

Can you think of some more? Probably. You can even use them for garbage cans!

GOT A CUT finger or nasty fish - knife scratch and no antiseptic? Most modern toothpastes contain high - powered, effective germicides.

Smear some on the cut. Danger of infection goes down.

FINDING TENT stakes tough enough to drive in hard ground is ... well ... tough.

ICE FISHING

What happens when you take a break?

Do you miss strikes by losing the action you get by jiggling your line? Not with this idea.

Just cut a piece of cardboard to fit between the tip - up pole and the water. Slots attach it to the line. The wind catches the cardboard sail and moves the bait.

INCIDENTALLY, old fly lines, outworn for fine-casting service, can still do admirably as ice-fishing lines.

Their bulk and large size are easy to handle with gloves.

SALT WATER

Collect egg shells, you winter flounder fishermen. Broken into tiny pieces they flutter through the water and cover the bottom.

The little flaties think something's up.

VARMINTS

Now's the time of year when predators are getting all action. New calls are great, but here's an idea that might pay off if a little bit more is needed.

Carry a couple of pigeons along in a cage. Staked out, their cooing will drive foxes and cats CRAZY ... and take their mind off you while they're stalking in range.

slip off and you'll never bend them driving even in frozen earth.
