BALTIMORE AFTER DARK

On the TOWN

with the Pub Crawler

The other dark the Crawler took one of the hundreds of telephone calls that flow across the old horsehoe in the course of a day's work.

The caller on the other end had a problem and was earnestly seeking a solution . . . .

"You see," he began, "my old Marine buddy is visiting me over the weekend.

During the war we played and fought together. He's one heck of a nice guy.

"When he gets here, I want to take him out on the town. You know, have a couple of drinks and maybe catch a show.

"But here's the pitch. My buddy is colored. And I want to go some place where neither of us will be embarrassed. Can you help me?"

The caller was Wayne Coburn, auto salesman and himself, a pretty nice guy.

The Crawler understands and appreciates his problem. Naturally, we offered our assistance. But have been doing a slow boil ever since.

Not with Wayne or his buddy, but with the stupid practice of our square town which creates such problems.

Those legislators in Annapolis, who, at this minute, are arguing that there is no need for a public accommodation bill with teeth in it, should take a long walk on a short bridge and suddenly forget how to swim.

On the same subject, the Crawler can understand the need for peace and quiet for returning U-2 Pilot Francis G. Powers.

But did the Intelligence and Defense people have to pick the Eastern Shore

All they had to do was ask Pedro Sanjuan (assistant protocol chief) about the reputation of the Sho.

UNWELCOMED NEWS DEPT. Wendy Wilson, a fixture on the upper reaches of the Main Drag for lo these many moons, has shuttered his place.

An earlier report that revenuers barred the doors after finding gobs of untagged brew are as phony as a three-eyed doll.

Dame Fortune hasn't been too kind to Charlie Tilghman recently, either. Charlie, released from Lutheran Hospital after a two-week stay is recuperating.

His condition is listed as improving, but he's still under medication and is scheduled to return to the hospital for further treatment.

Get-well cards should be sent to the Sphinx.

PEOPLE DOING THINGS —Our man, Sammye Jay and the pert Evelyn Campbell make up a dynamic duo while pushing that American product.

Mrs. Artist Dorsey, whose first name, incidentally is quite appropriate, was the source for further info on the jazz vs. rock 'n roll argument.

Standing real tall on the music distributious totem pole, Artist has this to say:

"It's not the easiest thing to gauge because the two camps break down into a sectional thing.

"For instance, the bulk of the requests for jazz plates comes from the West side while the east side generally will have no parts of them.

"This added to other factors makes it a bit less than easy to say which is leading which and how much."

PROVING that they are not only fellows with a sense of rhythm but also a bunch of nice guys with a sense of civic obligation, the Imperials swung away last night (Thursday) at School No. 161, Saratoga and Schroeder Sts.

The occasion was a dance given to raise funds so the youngsters of the school can purchase balls, shoes and other sports equipment.

The Pub Crawler takes pleasure in doffing his chapeau to the Imperials, a rapidly rising young group that deserves to make it to the top.

Wish there were more groups around like this one.

The Crawler feels that a nod to John (Sunny) Stewart, friendly manager of the Columbia Theatre — that Washington Blvd. house of movies, is overdue. He's doing a bangup job there.

PEOPLE MOVING— The gay life set will miss the pert and charming Doris Hughes, who headed for the Gay White Way this seven.

Doris, you must know, grew up with the Bamboo and became what the Crawler hoped would be a permanent fixture.

So Ted, Libby, and the gang said Bon Voyage — Champagne style the other dark.

So there's an opening for a pourer with a lot on the ball. And that's what it'll take to replace Doris, a lot of everything. In fact Bamboo, itself, is a lot!

BY POPULAR demand Michelle and his magic organ have returned to the Casino. You'll see why if you follow his lead.

Chick's, which blacked out during recent commission hearing, swung back on Cloud 9 Monday with a gala celebration under the pilotship of Sam Holtzman, a new man behind the scene. It's swinging.

Ethel Ennis, Red Fox songbird, still makes this house the nicest place to spend an evening.

And there's no nicer place to end an evening than in the friendly company of the Tall Man and his lovely crew at the Kleeco.

Didja hear about our man from the big city who was visiting relatives in Mississippi during the height of the racial strife last summer?

He was greeted by the red neck driver with:

"Hey, boy, git in the back"!

Our man, unwinding his 6-ft. 4-inch, 240-pound frame answered:

"Let's get two things straight.

"No, I, I'm no boy.

"No 2, I ain't one of them non-violent people"!

Children carried to safety in fire

Four children were carried to safety Wednesday when fire broke out in a three-story brick row house at 1503 E. Lafayette Ave.

Mrs. Delores Shaw carried Italonia, 1, and Vanessa Friedson, 2, to safety when one of the children told her the house was on fire.

As Mrs. Shaw was leaving the room with the children, a fireman arrived, and rescued Dwayne, 3, and Joyce Friedson, 4.

The blaze was confined to the third-floor.

Fireman said the children's mother, Mrs. Lola Mae Friedson, was taking a fifth child to school when the fire started.

Capital Heartbeat

JACKIE ROBINSON, who was in town last week to address the NAACP's 50th anniversary meeting had lunch with a high-powered group of State Dept. officials

Invited to dine by a good friend of Branch Rickey's, Jackie discovered the friend to be a member of the Policy Planning Committee of the State Department.

Among the luncheon guests were Roger Jones, Deputy Undersecretary of State for Administratio; Herman Pollack, Date's person.l man; Walt Rostow, and G. Menen Williams.

Everybody playd it cool, but don't kid yourself — they were looking Jackie over. He'd make a terrific ambassador and would probably do a superior job to many of the boobs currently representing the USA abroad.

Mingus, 'Jazz Pastor' to appear at Hopkins

"The Jazz Workshop of Charles Mingus," will be on display at the Jazz Buffs dinner at Levering Hall, Johns Hopkins University, 6 p.m. Feb. 22.

The workshop will feature arrangements and original compositions of Mingus, jazz bassist, and recognized authority on the modern art form.

Other members of the workshop are Jimmy Knepper, trombonist; Danny Richmond, drummer; and Booker Ervin, tenor sax.

A special attraction will be the "Jazz Pastor," the Rev. John Gensel of New York, who will appear with the group.

The "Jazz Pastor" has established a definite link between jazz and theology, and is currently proofreading Mingus's autobiography.

A noted authority on theology and jazz will comment on the music and speak at intermission.

The program is one of a series of musical and cultural presentations held in observance of Brotherhood Week on the Homewood campus.

of discrimination came up several weeks ago, when a light-skinned colored patient was referred by the Veteran's Administration to Spring Grove Hospital in Catonsville.

Spring Grove has never admitted any colored patients and the man was sent to Crownsville State Hospital, which had traditionally served the mentally ill of the state.

A complaint was filed with the NAACP, and the organization immediately called for a conference with state mental health officials.

W. A. C. Hughes, attorney for the NAACP, pointed out that even though the office of the Attorney General has once ruled that the hospitals were legally barred from integrating, that the laws of 1949 changed the entire picture.

This was the proposition submitted to Mr. Finan, and his ruling supporting the views of Mr. Hughes, was interpreted as a tribute to the legal acumen of the lawyer.

IN HIS letter notifying the NAACP of the change in policy, Commissioner Tuerk said in part:

"Our task in the Department of Mental Hygiene is to work out a division of the state into regions from which all patients, regardless of color, will go to a specific mental hospital.

"This will take us some time because it will require careful study of admission rates from various parts of the State and will require some balance of admissions to the various hospitals in keeping with their capacities, budgets, etc., which will enable them to deal efficiently and therapeutically with the influx of patients.

"We will also need to take into account the proximity of the hospital to the area served."

PRIOR to this latest development, Spring Grove and Springfield State Hospitals, the latter on the Eastern Shore, had served white patients only.

Any mentally ill colored person on the Shore, had to come to Crownsville for treatment.

Integrated facilities operated by the department included Rosewood Training School and the Clifton T. Perkins Hospital.

66 Free Throws For State, Union

RICHMOND

Union University's basketball team failed to rally in the second half Friday night, at the Arena against Virginia State College, and lost a game that could cost the Panthers a berth in the CIAA tournament in March.

Virginia State inched closer to a tourney bid by beating back her arch-rival, 84-70, before 3,300 excited fans.

FRANK STEPHENS, a 6-7 figure for the Trojans tallied 17 points to share in scoring honors and pulled down 13 rebounds as State took an important 46-34 advantage of the boards. But the defensive job he did on Union scoring ace Louis Gibbs was the biggest factor.

Gibbs, who pitched in 29 points in an earlier meeting between the clubs, didn't bag his first points until 13:52 had elapsed, didn't score his first points in the second half until 9:30 had gone by, and collected only four of his 17 points while Stephens was shadowing him.

IT WAS A rough, and frequently tumble, battle which saw 51 personal fouls called.

The teams paraded to the charity stripe for a total of 66 tosses and it was from the line that Union eventually got even in the first half.

They overcame a 15 - point deficit after watching the Trojans throw in eight of their first nine shots for an 18-3 lead in the first seven minutes of play.

THE PANTHERS, getting six in a row at one point from Warren Williams, meshed 14 of 20 free throws within seven minutes to gain a 32-32 deadlock with 2:56 left in the half.

But they never were on even terms after State broke out of a 34-34 tie with 1:41 to go and pushed on to a 40-36 halftime advantage.

FOLLOWING THE break, Union never got closer than two and later no closer than eight after the Trojans opened the gap to 60-44 with 9:16 remaining.

Behind Bob Moore, who collected 12 of his 17 points in the final 10 minutes, the Panthers appeared as though they had a second rally going when they closed to 69-61, but free throws by Bert Bunyan, another 17-point man, and Gardner Smith kept them at a safe distance.

PROBLEM FOR BEARS — Captain Bill Lawson of Virginia State College, is flanked by Jim Cunningham (left) and Bert Bunyan in this picture of the steller Trojan backcourt trio that Morgan will have to contend with tonight (Friday) at Hurt gym. Largely because of the brilliance of this threesome, the Virginians have come back strong after losing to the Bears earlier. Morgan hosts Virginia State tonight, Union tomorrow (Saturday).

Hot Douglass 5 draws bead on division title

Their eyes set on returning to the pedestal they occupied three years ago when winning the division championship, the Douglass High School basketers go after their 8th straight triumph this afternoon (Friday) at Edmondson.

Coach Mack Payne's Ducks are on top of the Division 2 standings with a half - game lead on Towson Catholic. They also go into the Edmondson battle owning a 7 - game skein.

THE YOUNG Ducks have been so hot in recent weeks that they have surprised even their coach. At the beginning of the campaign, the veteran Douglass tutor refused to be panicked by three consecutive losses.

He predicted that better days were coming, and that, if he could find some rebounding help, his boys would have an excellent chance to reach the 1959 form which copped the division crown for Douglass.

PAYNE GOT that help in the person of Frank James, reinstated on the eve of the Maryland Scholastic Association opening. Since then, the Northwest Baltimore aggregation has been tough on everybody.

Tuesday's 63 - 55 Victory over third place Loyola was almost as satisfying as an earlier win over Carver — the team which had humiliated the Ducks with a 35-point beating in pre - season activity.

The Loyola conquest enabled Payne's charges to continue their win streak and preserve the lead over Towson Catholic, whom they had just licked the previous week.

LACY

Breaks Aggie scoring mark

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Henry "Hank" Marshall, co-captain of the A and T College Aggies, last week broke the all-time individual scoring for his team by dumping 36 points against Shaw University.

The Aggies won the ball game, 106-85.

Marshall's scoring spree bested the previous Aggie record of 35 points scored by Joe Howell against the same club in 1958.

The 6-3 southpaw from Bloomfield, N.J., hit from all points on the floor, using a variety of shots, including his favorite, looping hooks which had the crowd standing in ovation.

Carver, Dunbar in thick of race; face head-on

The second - place muddle in Division 1 of the Maryland Scholastic Association basketball race will be somewhat cleared this afternoon following a head - on clash between Carver and Dunbar.

A series of early - season losses served to discourage followers of both the defending champion Carver five and three - time kingpin Dunbar.

BUT GOING into today's (Friday) contest at Dunbar, each appears to be in the thick of the scramble not only for second place but possibly the division lead.

The Trainers and Poets are currently locked in a 3-way tie with City for second place. They're all just a half-game removed from first, now occupied by Calvert Hall.

ON TUESDAY, coach Sodie White's Trainers added to the woes of winless Patterson Park by taking a 49-30 decision, and the improving Poets of coach Sugar Cain dealt Poly her seventh setback in 10 outings.

Longtime rivals anyway, the Carver and Dunbar fives both 6 - 3 inconference n ceQ— — both 6 - 3 in conference play — have an added incentive in the crucial Caroline Street clash today.

Moon Shot may attract hunch players at Bowie

BOWIE, Md. — Mrs. W. Coxe Wright's Moon Shot has been assigned highweight for the second consecutive week for a sprint stake. Handicapper John Turner Jr., gave him 120 for tomorrow's (Saturday) $10,000 added Southern Maryland Handicap.

What with astronaut Glenn's activities filling the headlines, there may be heavy support for Moon Shot among the "hunch" player.

Moon Shot was second in last year's Southern Maryland under 121 pounds when he placed to Mystic 2nd, a stablemate, at the seven furlongs distance.

THE ADA L. Rice eligibles Rare Rice and Try Cash are rated the most serious contenders for Moon Shot of the 24 Southern Maryland eligibles with weight assignments of 119 and 117 respectively.

Rare Rice had little chance in the Burch when he was forced to race wide all the way and will certainly show an improved effort this weekend with any racing luck.

Try Cash was declared out of the Burch and may be the principal reliance for the trainer Clyde Troutt this weekend.

VITAL FORCE who was the Burch favorite only to finish far back is weighted at 116 and grouped at 115 are Mr. Egotist, Nirula and Tuscany Pomp.

The Burch winner and runnerup, Vir-Marie and War Council, have equal weights of 114.

Morgan Cagers at CIAA Crossroads

Morgan State College's basketball fortunes straddle the crossroads this weekend.

The Bears of coach Brutus Wilson run smack dab into a "make or break" situation tonight (Friday) and tomorrow night (Saturday). They are faced with the task of meeting Virginia State College and Union University in two games that may be crucial enough to determine whether they make the CIAA tournament or not.

Virginia State comes to the Hurt gymnasium with a threefold purpose: (1) to continue a string of five straight wins, (2) to continue a drive toward a berth in the tournament at Winston-Salem (NC) next month, and (3) to avenge a 55-56 setback suffered at the hands of the Bruins in December.

UNION, a relatively easy, 94-87, victor over Morgan at Richmond before Christmas, also has eyes on the annual playoffs. Like the Bears, the Panthers are in need of every win they can bring off, if they are to make it.

Coach Tom Harris' crew is one that can be hot as a firecracker or cold as yesterday's spaghetti. But when they're in the mood, they'll take a lot of beating.

THE WEEKEND assignment will answer the question of whether coach Wilson can believe what he has seen the past few weeks.

Alter losing seven in a row, and despairing their followers, the Hillen Road quint has snapped back to take five straight, tough Maryland State College among the victims.—SAM LACY.

Cepeda first Giant to win Ott Award

CINCINNATI, Ohio — Orlando Cepeda led the NL in home-runs in 1961 with 46 to earn the recently - conceived trophy on each year to the league's home-run champion.

NL officials agreed in 1959 to honor the loop's hojner champ each year with the "Mel Ott Award," named for one of the noblest Giants of them all, and the NL's all-time home-run king.

Eddie Mathews was the initial winner in 1959, Ernie Banks was the recipient in 1960 and Cepeda brought the honor home to the Giants last year.

Tri-State loop sets 1st meeting

The initial meeting of the Tri-State Baseball League will be held Sunday, Feb. 25, at 5404 Sheriff Road, N.E.

Representatives of the following clubs are urged to be present: Vista Yankees, Northeast Athletics, Arlington Athletics, Galesville Hot Sox, Washington Senators, Mitchellville Tigers, Davidsonville Clowns and Washington Black Sox.

Dofey Jones, at whose residence the meeting is scheduled, says business sessions will get under way at 4 p.m.
