Miss Reckling to be Saturday bride

with Lula Jones Garrett

Senora Reckling, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Reckling Jr., and Frank A. DeCosta Jr. will be married in St. Katherine's Church, Saturday at high noon.

The bridegroom-elect is the son of Dr. Frank A. DeCosta Sr. of Morgan State College faculty, now on leave to serve in an advisory capacity to the Ministry of Education in Nigeria, Africa, and Mrs. DeCosta.

Dr. DeCosta leaves for Nigeria next week, and in fact, it is this that brought a decision to the young people to move their wedding up from June (formerly scheduled) to Saturday, so that all parents could attend the nuptials.

Following the ceremony, Dr. and Mrs. Reckling will receive at their Powhatan Avenue home in honor of the newlyweds.

BALTIMORE is for the clubs.

Take a birthday party here, an anniversary fete there and throw in the weddings, and the remainder of non-group affairs held here can be counted on one's left hands . . . with a few fingers left over.

And if you do not belong to clubs, so that your club invitation can be exchanged for another club invitation, Ma'am, it's the fireside for you...unless the man in your life is a joiner.

Take the social scene, the past week, and you'll see what I mean:

THE QUETTES (wives of Omega Fraternity men) will mark their 15th anniver-

Alpha Phi Alphas termed season's top dance hosts

More than 600 guests were entertained by Delta Lambda chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha, Friday evening, at what guests termed the chic-est affair of the season.

The fraternity held its Annual Ball in the main Ballroom and the Madison Room of the Alcazar, where tables filled with the fixings for multiple drinks and decored with heart-flavored centerpieces bearing the host's name, were arranged.

THE MEYER DAVIS Society Orchestra of Washington provided the music for stately dancing...and towards the end of the affair, more lively numbers for swing and twist dancing.

During the intermission guests gathered an elaborate dinner menu from a great oval buffet, staffed for catered service.

THE FEMININE GUESTS lived up to the setting provided by the "Brothers" by adding to the scene some of the smartest frocks of the spring.

Attractive Mrs. William A. Stanford, a real fashion buff who can be relied upon to produce a new note per dance, chose a full-skirted, smug basque frock in lilac-red taffeta, the top banded in the lavender of the flowers. The skirt was brief. On the other hand, Mrs. Bernard Christmas wore a frock of embroidered beige satin, strapless and sheathed from top to toe.

Mrs. Hellena Hodge, who was dancing with Earl Britt that evening, was in chic black which featured a pouf at the side, into which was tucked a deep-red rose. Another of those in black was Mrs. Abdella Campbell, her frock a floor length sheath of sequins, with a drift of chiffon at the side.

EYE - CATCHER was French-speaking Ena Prosper of Port Au Prince, Haiti, in white satin, slit to knee on one side, garlanded with a spray of embroidery on the other side, and fitting each perfect curve as if molded on her. She's the godchild of City Councilman and Mrs. Walter Dixon, with whom she is staying State Side, and the daughter of Dr. Enid Prosper, head of the Medical Hospital in Port Au Prince and Mrs. Prosper. Friday night she was swinging...and I mean swinging, with Dr. and Mrs. Walter Shervington's handsome son, Walter Jr.

A close second was Miriam Hughes, in intricately draped blue satin, also doing some plain and fancy swinging...with Ivan Redd, sweetest and most charming young couple was Joy Edemy (a post deb) and Ensign Harold Walton.

IN FACT, there were a number of couples who drew interest...Mrs. Blanche Johnson, for instance; Mrs. Dr. James J. Johnson, for instance; Mrs. Mildred Long and Avon Cooper; Mrs. Vivian Burnett and Albert Wood, who have been dancing together all season long; Mrs. Lucille Anderson and Delroy Ovid; Emmanuel Townsend and Mrs. A. Bernice S. Hunley...

Also here were scores of other clothes that made the affair a fashion festival...Petite Mrs. Ira Moseley in a shorter-than-short princess frock of blue brocade shot with silver; Mrs. Charles King in red satin that emphasized her copper-toned complexion; Mrs. Evan Gilkes whose fitted frock was relieved with a wide pouf circling a quarter of a yard above the hem; Mrs. Cliff Mackay in melon glaze silk, fitted in the bodice, its swirled skirt ending slightly above knee; and Mrs. Lillian Ross in blue, matching shoes, and another, of those intricately cut backs that she features.

HOSTS at the dance included:

Osborne Dixon and R. Clark Davis, chairmen of the social and dance committees respectively, who arranged the ball; Bruce Edemy, Joseph L. Smith, Dr. Bruce H. Alleyne, Dr. Frederick Jackson,

Madison Murray, Joseph L. Press, W. A. Hughes Jr., Frank R. Veney, who heads the chapter; John H. Winder, Cliff W. Mackay, Frank Ellis, Wilbert L. Walker,

Off The Beaten Path —

By ELIZABETH M. OLIVER

Young men we know of here in Baltimore have already expanded boundaries to the extent that they are world citizens despite their youth.

MANY OF us know Isaiah A. Jackson III, son of Dr. and Mrs. Isaiah A. Jackson II, of Richmond, Va. who is the cousin of Mrs. Frances Turner White, retired Dunbar teacher.

In June the youngster will be graduated from the exclusive Putney High School, Putney, Vt. He has been accepted for September entrance at Harvard.

This summer, Mr. Jackson was one of the teenagers who spent two months in the Soviet Union on tour with classmates.

Among the group were two Baltimore young women, Misses Ruth Meyer and Mary Ellen Fischer, students at the Friends School.

The trip began on June 13 from Montreal, Canada to the first stop, Gdynia, Poland.

In Jack's letter he described Warsaw, Poland, rebuilt from World War II's destruction; Moscow, the Arms Palace of the Kremlin, Tretiakoo Gallery of Russian Art, Lenin Museum and library; Leningrad: Kiev and other points of interest.

ANOTHER YOUNG man whose horizons are boundless, is Wilbur Jiggetts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Tate, 5117 Kenilworth Ave., Baltimore, who has been promoted to store manager at the Big Bonus Bargain Food Center, San Francisco, Calif.

Mr. Jiggetts' new position came in January as the firm heralded a new generation of businessmen 'who find a full integrated staff of employees is both a fair and sensible practice," according to Horace Scott, owner.

The young Baltimore man will supervise 13 employees.

A former football letterman at Dunbar High School, Mr. Jiggetts went to California in 1959. He was stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base with the Air Corps until 1958.

He is well known in San Francisco's civic and social groups and is married to the former Miss Gloria Minor. Their children are Theresa, 7; Michael 5, and Juanita, 18 months. The family resides at 123 Adrian Ave.

Accompanying him is his wife, the former Miss Torun Bulow - Hube of Stockholm, Sweden.

Walter has been a citizen of the world nine years, has resided in France eight years.

HE AND HIS wife have a six - year - old son, Ira. She is a silversmith. Her jewelry will be on display at the New York Museum of Contemporary Art, subsequently in Philadelphia at the Art Museum and then at the Baltimore Museum of Art early this spring.

On Saturday, Mrs. Coleman visited her mother - in-law here, saw her husband's birthplace, met his friends, then had dinner with his aunt, Mrs. Ruby Freeland.
