Baltimore County

By DORIS B. ADAMS

If you've noticed that the citizens of Towson are strutting around with their chests out and their faces more radiant with smiles of pride, here's the reason why.

Those cousins, James Ronald Hall and William (Billy Jones, are Towson Senior High School's double trouble to opponents n the basketball court.

Billy, son of Mrs. Ruth Tyler, 435 E. Pennsylvania Ave., is a sophomore at Towson Senior, ranked 9th among Baltimore County scorers with a total of 117 points, averaging 13 for 9 games.

Ronnie, son of Mrs. Carrol Wagner, 413 E. Pennsylvania Ave., is the 3rd highest scorer in Baltimore County and as of the 9th game had accumulated a total of 138 points with an average of 15.3

BOTH BOYS have had extensive sports page coverage and little wonder. They are first year players who maneuver, like professionals. Towson High Generals coach, Randy Walker, praises the boys highly in all his interviews, stressing two factors which contribute to their athletic prowess. . . patience and good sportsmanship.

Although only a junior at Towson Senior High, Ronnie Hall has received scholarship offers from Western Maryland College, Michigan State and Randolph-Macon College in Virginia. Ronnie is one of two boys holding membership in the Towson YMCA.

EVERYBODY likes basketball, especially if it is played in a lighter vein. Snow and ice presented no obstacle to the 500 Dundalk Junior High students who packed their gym last Friday night. The occasion was the Student Council sponsored Faculty - Student All Stars Game.

Enjoying pre-game dinner were Mr. Cornelius Gisriel, Dundalk principal, John Owen, administrative assistant; Jack Hickel, Delores Sassajima, 8th grade core chairman; Pat Goddard and Addie Childs, physical education; Shirley Thomas, home economics; Antonette Blanton, art; Antonette Moran, Core department head and Doris Adams, core.

After dinner, the women faculty team was joined by Mrs. Lucretia Shrute, and bravely they trotted on the court, clad in old fashioned, white middy blouses trimmed in blue, black gym bloomers and black stockings.

Red satin bands were tied around their heads. Despite the hilarious laughter and the fact that the one complete team practice was the game itself, the faculty women beat the students 16-10.

The faculty men also won their game and were just a comically attired.

DID YOU know that Myrna Loy Clement, daughter of Catonsville Jr. High Teacher, Edith Clement, 4621 Edgewood Rd., won the Morgan Omega Charter's Miss Ku - tee Contest?

Myrna just made AKA in November and was so highly thought of by her Morgan sorority sisters that they sponsored her in the contest. Anyone who attended the Me-De-So Cotillion will remember the charm and poise which she entered and made her debut.

ANNAPOLIS DOINGS

By ELOISE RICHARDSON

The Rev. Mrs. Alexenia Brown, outstanding minister and a teacher in the public schools of Newark, will be speaker at the morning worship services of Woman's Day at the Mt. Moriah AME Church on Sunday, Feb. 25 Mrs. Cecelia Greene will preside.

During the evening service, Mrs. Joseph Hardesty will bring echoes from the National Assembly of the United Church Women which was held at Miami. Mrs. Sarah Randall will lead the devotions. Miss Isabelle Jacobs will preside. The Rev. A. R. Powell is pastor.

Mrs. Sarah Randall and Mrs. Lula Upchurch of Annapolis, Mrs. Emily McPherson of New York City, and Mrs. Mildred Tooks of Baltimore, all sisters, honored another sister, Mrs. Christina Stewart, the caterer of Northeast Washington at a birthday party on Feb. 10.

The birthday cake, which was topped with tiny umbrellas in Easter rainbow colors was the centerpiece of the attractively decorated dining table.

Another birthday cake done in white, pink and yellow rosebuds, a gift of Mrs. Emma Nichols also adorned the table.

DOUGLAS S. KING, supervisor of secondary education for Anne Arundel County is confined to his home with illness. Friends may call.

Dr. Paul Brandwein, educational consultant for Harcourt, Brace and Company, and a visiting professor of Harvard and Columbia Universities was at Bates High School on Wednesday for sessions on the improving of instruction in science education.

Visitors from other high schools in the county and supervisors of science education attended the sessions.

Mrs. Maude Stratton, retired school teacher of Washington, D.C. has accepted chairmanship of the Nearly New Shop at Crownsville State Hospital, which is sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary.

Mrs. Stratton, who lives at Arundel-on-the-Bay will be very happy to receive donations for the shop at the hospital, or she may be reached at her residence by phone at TW 3-3581.

Volunteers are needed to work in the shop and the canteen. Mrs. Theodore Johnson will assist Mrs. Stratton with the work at the shop.

The Eugene Hopsons at Brandywine, Md. entertained friends recently, celebrating the birthdays of Hopson and Mrs. Robert Brown (Clementine), Mrs. Hopson's sister of Southeast Washington.

Others about were Mrs. Norma D. Smith, Mrs. Josephine Hill, Ernest Mitchell and Robert Brown, all of Washington and the William H. Richardsons of Annapolis.

—Mystery slaying

the 800 block W. Baltimore St.

Her husband is a music box mechanic and collector, having been with the same firm for two years, according to Moe Cominsky, employer.

Mrs. Dorsey's mother, Mrs. Edna Parker, 1300 block N. Caroline St., said the couple would have been married two years this Easter.

They had no children.

The youngest of three daughters, Mrs. Dorsey was a graduate of Dunbar High School, 'Class of '51, her mother said.

Other survivors are Clyde Parker, stepfather; Mesdames Vivian Thomas of New Jersey, and Mrs. Doris Lee, of the 3300 block Dolfield Ave., sisters; and Mrs. Elizabeth Timpson, aunt, of 1500 block May St.

It was the second marriage for both, Mrs. Parker told the AFRO.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed at press time. An E. Preston St. establishment is handling the arrangements, the grief-stricken mother said.

IN HIS REPORT Lt. Robert Long of Northwestern District said when officers answered a call to the attractive, detached apartment house at 6:50 p.m., they found the victim sprawled on the dining room floor, her head resting in a pool of blood and a towel around her neck.

Officers John Street and Richard Miller, responding to a call to "investigate a shooting," said Mr. Dorsey was standing in the living (or front) room.

"He was still alive" they quoted him as asking.

"I don't know until these ambulance men look at her," Officer Street said he answered.

"Where is the gun?" Dorsey was asked, according to the report.

The accused slayer took it from his right rear pocket and stated: "Here it is," and began waving the weapon from side to side in a menacing manner, it is policemen, officers stated.

THEY — Officers Street, Miller, Donald Reedy, Howard Burges and Charles Schubert — ducked for cover in various parts of the apartment, it was stated.

"If she is dead, I'm going to kill myself," the husband reportedly told the officers as he put the gun to his head.

After several minutes, the report stated, Officers Street and Miller persuaded Mr. Dorsey to put the gun on the coffee table.

He was taken into custody, but refused to make a statement to police on advice of his attorney, George L. Russell Jr. Mr. Russell also declined comment.

The husband was held without bail following a preliminary hearing at Central Municipal Court 9 a.m. today (Friday).

WHEN REPORTERS reached the elaborately furnished apartment, Mrs. Dorsey, dressed in a yellowish, two-piece lounging ensemble, was stretched out on the expensive rug, near the areaway connecting the dining and front rooms.

Her shoes lay a few feet to the left of the body.

An examination by Dr. Howard Shaub of the Medical Examiner's office showed a bullet hole in the neck, a few inches below the ear.

Dr. Shaub said the .38-caliber bullet had entered the left side, two inches below the ear and emerged from the right, slightly lower than the point of entry.

The bullet slammed into the wall, breaking the plaster before dropping to the floor.

Dr. Shaub said there were no powder burns, and pronounced Mrs. Dorsey dead at 8:20 p.m.

The lavishly furnished, 2-bedroom apartment showed no signs of a struggle.

A massive record library, a hi-fi, sitting atop an expensive television set were undisturbed.

So was the modern, blond mahogany furniture, with multi-colored, leather upholstery which decorating the bed and spotless front room.

With the exception of a blood - smeared, canary-yellow telephone, the unit kitchen was orderly.

A BLOOD - spattered bathroom door was the only other untidy sight in the tidy apartment.

If financial troubles were at the bottom of the slaying there is no outward evidence.

In addition to the richly furnished and decorated apartment, the couple was a two-car family — both luxury models.

Mrs. Dorsey owned a 1961 Thunderbird and her husband drives a 1961 black Lincoln.

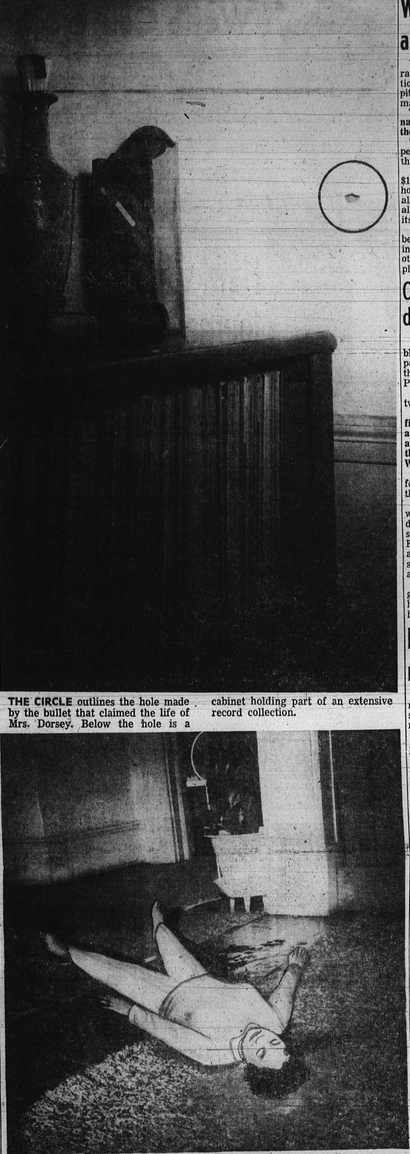
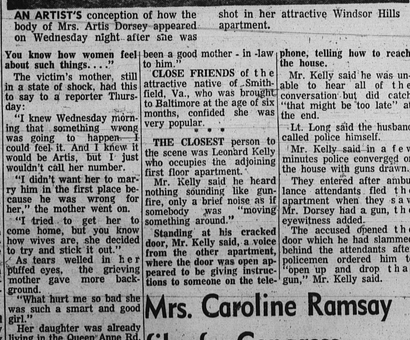
MR. DORSEY father, Charles E. (Mouse) Dorsey, grand district deputy for the Elks, liquor inspector and political figure, had this to say:

"He hasn't said what caused it. But I think she was a little jealous. You know, he gets around and is a nice looking fellow.



THE CIRCLE outlines the hole made by the bullet that claimed the life of Mrs. Dorsey. Below the hole is a cabinet holding part of an extensive record collection.



AN ARTIST'S conception of how the body of Mrs. Artis Dorsey appeared on Wednesday night after she was shot in her attractive Windsor Hills apartment.

You know how women feel about such things. . .."

The victim's mother, still in a state of shock, had this to say to a reporter Thursday:

"I knew Wednesday morning that something wrong was going to happen—I could feel it. And I knew it would be Artis, but I just wouldn't call her number.

"I didn't want her to marry him in the first place because he was wrong for her," the mother went on.

"I tried to get her to come home, but you know how wives are, she decided to try and stick it out."

As tears welled in her puffed eyes, the grieving mother gave more background.

"What hurt me so bad she was such a smart and good girl."

Her daughter was already living in the Queen Anne Rd. when the couple married, Mrs. Parker recalled.

She said she last saw her daughter a month ago, but talked with her during lunchtime Wednesday, and Mrs. Dorsey promised her she would call again when she got home from work, the mother said.

The call never came.

Neighbors said tragedy struck shortly after the attractive bookkeeper, who they described as a "very nice person," arrived home.

Relatives said she usually left the job around 6 p.m.

Before she was overwhelmed with grief, the mother, speaking softly and to nobody in particular, whispered:

"It's awful, it's unexplainable. I don't know why Donald would do this to me, I've been a good mother - in - law to him."

CLOSE FRIENDS of the attractive native of Smithfield, Va., who was brought to Baltimore at the age of six months, confided she was very popular.

THE CLOSEST person to the scene was Leonard Kelly who occupies the adjoining first floor apartment.

Mr. Kelly said he heard nothing sounding like gunfire, only a brief noise as if somebody was "moving something around."

Standing at his cracked door, Mr. Kelly said, a voice from the other apartment, where the door was open appeared to be giving instructions to someone on the telephone, telling how to reach the house.

Mr. Kelly said he was unable to hear all of the conversation but did catch "that might be too late" at the end.

Lt. Long said the husband called police himself.

Mr. Kelly said in a few minutes police converged on the house with guns drawn.

They entered after ambulance attendants fled the apartment when they saw Mr. Dorsey had a gun, the eyewitness added.

The accused opened the door which he had slammed behind the attendants after policemen ordered him to "open up and drop that gun," Mr. Kelly said.

Mrs. Caroline Ramsay files for Congress

"I intend to attack waste; waste of manpower of womanpower, waste of our natural resources, and waste of the taxpayers money.

"Moreover, the Republican Party needs candidates who will accentuate the positive."

Mrs. Caroline Ramsay, a member of the Maryland Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations, issued this statement Monday, after filing as a Republican candidate for Congress in the seventh - Congressional District.

This is the seat now held by Congressman Samuel N. Friedel, a Democrat.

MRS. RAMSAY, a graduate of Bryn Mawr College, has long been active in civic affairs. She is a past president of the Baltimore League of Women Voters and the Metropolitan Baltimore Association for Mental Health.

She is also serving on the Boards of several organizations, including the Baltimore Urban League and the Citizens Planning and Housing Association.

This is her second bid for public elective office. She ran unsuccessfully some years ago for the GOP State Committee.

Mrs. Ramsay is the mother of three children, one of whom has just returned from serving with the U.S. Army in Germany. She lives at 800 West Belvedere Ave.

Woman Power aids Provident

Woman Power's drive to raise funds for the construction of a new Provident Hospital has passed the $1,000 mark.

This was revealed in a financial statement issued by the organization recently.

The statement covered the period from July 1, 1961, through Jan. 27, 1962.

In addition to the money, $1,390, earmarked for the hospital, Woman Power has also reported that $429 has already been set aside for its 1962 luncheon.

To date, nine of the members have paid their pledges in full and more than 80 others are paying on their pledges.

Court defendant does repeat show

Alvaston Taylor of the 200 block McMechen St. is apparently fascinated by something at the Western District Police station.

He was a "guest" there twice over the week-end.

On Sunday, Mr. Taylor was fined $10 and costs when he appeared before Judge Howard L. Aaron for disturbing the peace in the 500 block W. Lafayette Ave.

Monday he was back again for creating a disturbance at the same address.

This time, Mr. Taylor was fined $25 and costs for disturbing the peace, $25 for striking Miss Willie Mae Forbes, and was fined $50 and given a 60 - day suspended sentence for damaging a door.

When asked why he had gone back to the Forbes house, Mr. Taylor said he had returned with a friend.

Nigeria to get military attache

The second colored U. S. military attache for an overseas embassy has been announced by the U. S. Army.

He is Maj. James Buchanan Jr. of Houston, Tex., who will begin training this month at U. S. Military Attache to Nigeria. Maj. Buchanan has also been recommended for promotion to lieutenant colonel.

The first colored military attache was Lt. Col. Luther Evans to Ghana.

An artillery officer with approximately 19 years' service, the 39 - year - old Texan is a graduate of the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas and the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Virginia.

Married to the former Doris Singleton of Louisiana, Major Buchanan, his wife and five children will depart for Lagos, Nigeria in August.

Major Buchanan recently completed a tour in the Pentagon in the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations. He and his family reside at 29 Buchanan St., N.E.

Park eliminated

A proposed park on the site in the 1300 block Ritter St. has been eliminated from the planning of Mount Royal - Fremont Project One Extension according to Richard L. Steiner, director, Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency.

The five homes on the site will be rehabilitated, rather than demolished.

Residents of this area behind the Maryland Institute had opposed the plans to demolish the homes and erect a park.

ON THE Eastside

By CHARLOTTE W. DOWNIE

Neighbors have you ever taken time out to find out just how you could achieve a better community through community - police understanding and cooperation?

On our Eastside we have a very fine organization called the Eastern Community Relations Police Committee. Membership is made up of businessmen, housewives, social workers, clergymen, police officers and educators interested in improving understanding, cooperation, and relations between police and the community which they serve.

Neighbors, support this group at all times. You can help by understanding the role of the police officer; know and obey the law; live up to your obligations as a civic-minded and law - abiding citizen; understand and cooperate with your neighbor; work for high cultural standards in your home and neighborhood.

Always remember the police officer is your friend. If you need advice or assistance don't hesitate to seek it from him.

For further information you can call Mrs. Mae Jocks, secretary for the group . . Mu. 5-6035. . . Do it today for such a worthy cause.

UP AND coming neighborhood groups are members of the Zone 13 Neighborhood Improvement Association Inc. The organization is continuing to do much constructive work in and around the 1600 block area of Milton Ave; Members work with schools, churches and various other groups all during the year.

The Rev. Olin P. Moyd is president, George Jennings, vice president; Delores Mabry, secretary; Mrs. Eva Monk, treasurer; Mrs. Viola Wright, financial secretary; Edward Burnett, sgt.-at-arms, and Atty. Paul J. Cockrell, counselor.

Committee chairmen include: Oakley Saunders, preservation; Lynn Penn, sanitation; Kathlene Jenkins, membership; recreation; and the Rev. Nathaniel Love, chaplain.

A MUST on your list is to attend the 5th annual Blue Ribbon Tea given by the Women's City Wide Committee for Delinquency prevention committee.

The gala affair will be held Sunday, March 4 from 4 to 7 at the Dunbar Senior High School, McElderry and Caroline Sts.

Highlight of the tea will be an address by Belford Lawson, prominent Washington, D. C. attorney.

Do attend to help a child go to camp this summer, Neighbors . . . I'll be lookin' for you . . .

PRETTY WAS the surprise party given for lovely Jeanette Pollard by her equally charming sister Marie Smallwood recently. The affair was held at the cute home of Marie on 424 E. Lafayette Ave.

Neat trick of the surprise was getting Jeannette over to Marie's house with her thinking she was going to the movies . . . and when she arrived all the gang yelled SURPRISE!

Helping her partake of all the goodies were Curtis and Beatrice Buckner, Mary Holmes, William Smith, James Martin, Edna Martin, Louise Smith and "Bizzy" Smallwood.

Also William Mackay, Irene Crockett, Alex Faust, Harvey Monroe, Ella Robinson and Billy McDonald.

ROBERT PORTER, local scout master, has been elected president of the Roundview Road Improvement.

Mr. Porter succeeds Walter A. Baker, veteran Cherry Hill Civic leader and one of the founders of the group. Other officers elected were Harry Oglesby, vice president; Oscar Bowman, treasurer, and Walter Baker, secretary.

Birthday wishes to Charlene Wright, who celebrated on the 21st and also to Bonita Barney who will celebrate on the 24th.

The Oglesby family was honored last weekend to have as guest, table tennis champions, Ronald Hobson and Richard Jackson of Newport News, Va.

These two young men, along with Herman Johnson, also from Newport News, played Maryland's Open Table Tennis Championship Tournament held in Baltimore on Saturday.

RONALD HOBSON defeated Richard Jackson for the Junior Men's Singles Championship (18 and under).

Hobson also defeated Lester Moskowitz of Washington, D.C. for the Boy's Championship (15 and under).

Mark Radom, one of Baltimore's leading players, was ousted in the Junior Men's Championship semi-finals by Richard Jackson.

Was very happy to see my father, James Prescott and my brother, Herman Prescott, who accompanied the boys to Baltimore.

These boys are all sponsored by the Hampton Roads Boys' Club in Newport News.

They left Baltimore Sunday morning to compete in the Washington Tournament.

They will enter U.S. Open Tournament held in New York City in April.
