who is running for the State Senate in that district.

Of the four, only Mr. Hodges has given an indication of how he may vote on the bill. He told the AFRO, following the hearing on the bill Tuesday, he is inclined to vote for the measure.

MR. HODGES' Sixth District includes the large, heavily populated colored community of Cherry Hill, and Mt. Winans sector.

Mr. DiDomenico, in the past, has shown he favored public accommodations legislation. He is running on a wide vote.

Mr. Prucha's Second District shows that more than one - half of its Democratic registration of voters is composed of colored citizens.

These figures show 8,400 colored Democrats, and 15,200 whites. There is an overall registration of about 13,000 colored citizens, and about 18,000 whites.

In the Third District where Democratic nomination to the State Senate, there are 12,000 colored Democrats registered and 87,000 whites.

In Mr. Hodges Sixth District, colored Democrats number about 8,2000, as compared to 30,000 white Democrats.

MR. DiDOMENICO is among seven candidates seeking to unseat Orphans Court Judges J. M. Bauman, J. A. Perrott and Daniel Friedman.

Other candidates are R. H. Osborne, David Friedman, James Welsh Jr., F. P. Pipitone, Paul Wartzman, Manuel Lelko and Herman Weissman.

Mr. Prucha is trying to unseat the Second District's Senator Joseph V. Mach. Other senatorial candidates are G. T. Anderson, T. E. McCarthy and Adam Newsome.

Mr. Gallagher is among three Democratic candidates after the seat of the Third District's senator J. Raymond Buffington. Other are J. Joseph Curran and J. D. Kennedy.

In the Sixth District, Mr. Hodges is running against Senator George N. Della and Clem I. Venture. 415 N. Carey St.

board, is doing all it can to persuade the Dundalk branch to change its policy, under the circumstances.

"We are not satisfied with the progress they are making, but they are working steadily toward their goal," he told the AFRO.

Mr. McGregor said that inter-racial activities are currently held at the YMCA, although there has been no breach in its all-white membership.

"Our policy has been to work toward desegregation; we understand the importance of working under a desegregated program," he said.

He noted that the Metropolitan Board had gone on record in favor of desegregation in June, 1954, following the Supreme Court's School Desegregation decision.

And Burt Van Deusen, executive secretary of Dundalk had this to say:

"We have a committee that is working on the membership policy of the branch as far as segregation is concerned.

Mr. Van Deusen declined to comment on the situation beyond this point.

ties as the filings continues.

The slate of Fourth District Republican candidates, grilled by the Grand Jury last week, is the target of an injunction suit, filed by a public school music teacher, in Circuit Court No. 2, this week.

Defendants in the court action brought by Mrs. Rubye Gill of 4228 Evans Chapel Rd., are three Election Board officials, six candidates and two other men.

The officials are Thomas D'Alesandro 3rd, president of the board and Arthur W. Sylbert, members.

In her suit, filed through Richard P. Gilbert and Henry Rocklin, attorneys, Mrs. Gill asked Judge James K. Cullen to issue an injunction enjoining election officials from printing the names of the slate of the candidates on the May 15 primary election ballots.

MRS. GILL, who said she is a taxpayer who has resided in the district for 15 years, asked the court to issue a decree declaring that these persons are not bona fide candidates:

Raleigh Jones, 2309 Orem Ave., candidate for state senate;

Mrs. Dorothy Austin, 1423 Druid Hill Ave; Mrs. Prudell Green, 3510 Woodbrook Ave.; Glenn W. Hilbert, 2021 Ridgehill Ave., and Thomas Jefferson, 1423 Druid Ave., and King Ross 3454 Rejsterstwon Rd., all seeking seats as House of Delegates members.

Also named in the action are Lawrence Goodman, 2927 orfolk Ave., and Ernest D Young, 1825 N. Pulaski St. Mrs. Gill's petition charged:

"... Certificates of candidacy for nomination were filed in order to preclude the Republican City Committee from filling vacancies for candidates, thus assuring that no authentic political campaign would be waged against the Democratic candidates for said offices."

"The certificates of candidacy," the petition further stated, "were not filed in good faith, nor with the slightest hope of expectation of winning in the general election in November."

REAL PURPOSE of the action, Mrs. Gill charged, is to prevent and defeat a "genuine political campaign with a free expression of public feeling.

The complainant charged Mr. Young, also a Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates in the Fourth, notarized the certificates of candidacy for six of the candidates.

"Said notarizing was not in accordance with the Maryland law," Mrs. Gill said, adding:

"The candidates did not personally pay their own filing fee for said nomination, and that the fees were paid for by others whose identities will be made known at the time of the hearing," the petition said.

If the Supervisors of Election officials are not restrained from printing the names of the candidates on the ballot, Mrs. Gill declared:

"It will cause your complaintant to be directly damaged in person and property," she said, adding:

"... to suffer irreparable loss in damage and an infringement of her constitutional rights of a fair and free bi - party election, as guaranteed by the Constitution of the U.S. and the Constitution of the State of Maryland."

Judge Cullen gave the defendants 15 days to show cause why Mrs. Gill's request for injunction should not be granted.

still remain the same today."

The Muslim leader called President John F. Kennedy a "political hypocrite."

"He has been in the White House for more than a year, and he hasn't taken that pen out of his pocket yet."

"Any President that can tell the white people of Maryland and Virginia not to discriminate against Africans and cannot tell these same white people not to discriminate against their fellow Americans is a political hypocrite," he charged.

He scored the NAACP for its white president and said that "There is something wrong with a thing that has a black body and a white head."

DR. MEIER said that he saw the issue not as integration versus separation, but as "how are we going to achieve the cause of human dignity in this country."

He said the sit - in movement is achieving this goal more so than the Muslims.

"Though Mr. X would have you believe that they are different, but they are both rooted in the same desire for dignity and freedom," he aid.

For all its vaunting of its new philosophy and criticism of the white man, the Muslims are actually imitating the white man's actions, the history professor said.

He said the KKK, the White Citizens Council and Lincoln Rockwell, have been peaching the doctrine of white supremacy a long time, and that the Muslims merely applied the ideas to colored people.

"It is most strange to me that this so called 'new philosophy,' the ideas are not at all new, and that such groups as these are preaching the same thing," he said.

He said the cry for separate state and "back to Africa' movements also have their roots in history.

"The kind of doctrine the Muslims preach is the same as that which such groups as the Nazis and the facists preached — supremacy and a deified leader.

"These movements have their greatest appeals in moments of crisis."

He accused the Muslims religion by not believing in of departing from the Islam religion by not believing in the brotherhood of man, a basic tenet of the Islam Faith, he said.

"The stereotype picture of the white man which the Muslims have is the same stereotype that whites have of colored people," he pointed out.

He said he believed that colored people should be proud of their African culture and ancestry, but maintained that it is not Islam or the Moslem people.

The American slaves actually came from an area north of the Moslem inhabited section of Africa, Dr. Meier said.

"ONLY PEOPLE with pride in themselves can understand the psychology of the people who hate them," he said.

He said that the Black Muslims are "afraid to compete in a white man's world and are hiding behind their color of their skin to segregate themselves.

Rather than hit the liberals, he said, he could not "imagine why hitting the KKK and the White Citizens' Council, the 'real culprits.

Malcom X countered with a 15 minute rebuttal in which he said that the concern should not be for the KKK "whom we know" but the "smiling liberal, whom we don't know.

"We are not interested in the wolf — we can see his teeth. We are worried about the fox," he said.

HE SAID that leaders like Dr. Martin Luther King will get support from whites because they preach non - violence.

"But does this non-violence apply only to whites. Shouldn't the colored man continue to be non - violent when he is asked to go overseas and fight for his country?" he said.

Malcom X admitted that his movement appeals primarily to a "lower class" but said:

"The masses of the colored people are oppressed — impatient — exexploited — dissatisfied — lower class.

"You give me the masses, you can have the classes," he said.

A question and answer period followed the talks. When the meeting was closed, some 100 students crowded around the Muslim leader asking questions.

If You Ask Me

By B. M. Phillips

Ambassador tells us

Fascinating gentleman met this week: His Excellency Julius Momo Udochi, Nigerian ambassador to the U.S.

His Excellency was in Baltimore to speak at the Morgan State College student assembly.

We met him afterwards at a luncheon given by Morgan President and Mrs. Martin Jenkins.

For his visit to our city, His Excellency wore his colorful flowing robes (habada) and felt cap.

His English is so flawless, that one what is used to a American brand English is likely to have a difficult time understanding him.

Just loved the way His Excellency told guests at the luncheon about a recent auto trip through Maryland with his wife, and how he advised they'd better not tarry on Route 40 for a rest or cup of coffee, lest there be an insult.

The Ambassador was frank to advise us that "it is not good advertisement for such a great state (of Maryland) . . . and "it is the duty of everyone of us who love Maryland to see that this little misunderstanding (sic), is corrected . . ."

He added that he was "glad to note your countrymen are doing something to correct the situation."

He might well have said (in view of our state legislature's recent defeat of equal accommodations legislation), that we are not moving fast enough.

And, we are not. The hour grows late.

His Excellency, just 47, came to Washington shortly after his West African state (largest in area and population of all African independent republics) gained its freedom in 1960.

He is a trained teacher, lawyer and member of the Nigerian House of Representatives. He and Madam Udochi have two children.

P.S. — Each time we visit Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins' new Morgan Park residence, we're struck by the decorating skill of Mrs. Jenkins (Elizabeth).

Dr. Jenkins says with pride, "Elizabeth selected the things." De-lovely!

Unusual — the downstairs rec rooms, especially the one where postcards and photos of their trips and other events of interest are displayed. You have to see it to appreciate it.

P.S. — Remember the card Mrs. Jackie Kennedy exhibited on that TV tour of the White House?

Dr. and Mrs. Jenkins have a replica displayed in their guest book.

It reads: "I pray heaven to bestow the best of blessings upon THIS HOUSE, and on all that shall hereafter inhabit it. May none but honest and wise men ever rule under this roof."

Guests at the luncheon included:

K. P. Annor, J. Percy Bond, State Sen. J. Raymond Buffington, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. James Carr, John N. Curlett, Miss Juanita Daughtery, Walter Dean, Jr., Mrs. Frank A. DeCosta, Delegate Irma G. Dixon, J. Bruce Edemy; City Council President Philip Goodman, Milton Grady, Judge John R. Hargrove, Henry Hemmuller, Judge and Mrs. Josiah F. Henry, Jr., Clark S. Hobbs, Dr. D. O. W. Holmes, Mrs. Houston Jackson, Dr. Robert L. Jackson, State Sen. J. Alvin Jones, Miss Martha Massally, M. S. Matumba;

Edmund G. Mester, executive assistant to Gov. Tawes, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Murphy (he is chairman of the Morgan trustee board); S. O. Onyang, Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Phifer, Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy Phillips, Walter M. Ryan, Mrs. Pauline S. Taylor, Dr. Joseph Thomas;

Joseph Thomas Jr., Philip M. Wagner, Dr. Kenneth B. Walker, Delegate Verda F. Welcome, Dean A. N. Whiting and Mrs. Carl Whitlock.

So, Does Mr. Y

Another fascinating gentleman met this week: Paul Ylvisaker, (Ill-vaa-seeker), director of the Ford Foundation public affairs program.

Just back from Moscow, Mr. Ylvisaker came from New York to address the annual meeting of the Health and Welfare Council yesterday (Thursday).

A quiet, easy - going speaker, he held the 400 guests, (including) Mayor Grady and City Council President Phil Goodman and the city's top civic and social workers), in the palm of his hands.

His topic — "The Missing Link In Urban Renewal."

He threw some orchids to the Council, Dr. George Brain and the public schools, Mayor Grady, Urban League, Morgan State College among others, for their studies of urban problems, but he told us in no uncertain terms that we must do more.

He said: Urban Renewal is not going anywhere until the basic social problems that go along with it are solved.

When the colored population goes up — 40 percent in some areas — when five children burn to death in the slums, there is no way of sweeping color problems under the carpet.

"You are going to be in a better position," he stated "when you wake up and solve domestic problems."

He explained the missing link in urban renewal as willingness to deal with people. You can not, he explained, have success until you see progress in terms of assimilation of disadvantaged newcomers in urban areas.

He described urban renewal's actions in the past 20 years as a sort of 'love affair' with a bulldozer.

In the future, he said, we must have the new buildings to replace old ones, but we must also have an awareness of human problems. Social agencies 'must get together and find out when and how you can speed up the assimilation of the population into first - class citizens. . ."

In an aside, Mr. Ylvisaker recalled talking with a Moscow guide who reminded him, 'don't you realize people are the same all over the world!'

Enlarging on this, he explained that no matter where you turn in the world, there is a revolution. People are moving into cities, with the result that there is a pulling together of diverse kinds of people who become neighbors overnight.

The solution he envisages, is to recognize that this transition is a world-wide problem, and people are individuals who need help and understanding.

During the meeting, George W. Constable, the attorney, for three years president, retired from office. He was gifted with a gavel by Clark Hobbs, who praised him for his persuasiveness and tact, "which have enabled us to broaden our viewpoint."

Incoming president is N. Page Worthington, C-P Telephone Company executive, who pledged to work for the "needs of our community which are great."

It was the last annual meeting for Gordon Manswer, executive secretary, who leaves in June for a top job with the National Social Welfare Assembly in New York.

Our seat companion was pretty Miss Cynthia Johnson, social worker in the alcoholics division at Spring Grove Hospital, where integration is under way.

She is a Morgan and Howard U. grad, and a Delta soror.

P.S.—At luncheon's end, it was announced that 'a black lady's pair of gloves' was found. What was meant was a pair of black gloves belonging to a lady, or a lady's pair of black gloves.

Such a blooper might have been disastrous in a less enlightened audience, but social workers recognized the announcement as an unintended mixup of words.

Special birthday hellos to Mrs. Annie Franklin, 310 E. 23rd St. On April 1st, she is 94 years old.

Mrs. Franklin lives with her daughter, Mrs. Jesse Jackson (she's the seamstress at Tuxedo Center), and her granddaughter, Miss Dorothy Jackson, AFRO secretary.

Despite her advanced age, Mrs. Franklin does hand sewing and enjoys television (especially the daytime shows).

She talks to friends on the telephone, and goes regularly to St. Matthew Methodist Church, a block from her home.

March 30th birthday cards to Raymond Bevans — he's the son of the late Raymond and Sarah Ann Bevans. His address: 1106 N. Parrish St.

On April 1, remember Harry A. Carpenter Jr., the teacher, 3102 Gwynns Falls Parkway.

April 4 cards to Mrs. Susie H. Clarke, the AFRO's hello lady, 2222 Presstman St.

April 6 birthday cards for Dr. R. Garland Chissell, 2518 N. Longwood St. He will be 87 years young.

Mrs. Howard Cornish (Althea), birthdays on April 7. Address her cards to Morgan Christian Center.

Twins for Taylors

The Paul Taylors (Marida), are happy as can be.

Mrs. Taylor gave birth to twin girls on Tuesday at Lutheran. Babies make the first girls in the family.

They are Kim Celeste, who weighed 6 pounds, 13 ounces; and Kay Cecelia, 6 pounds, 3 ounces.

Other Taylor children, all boys, are Paul 6; Eric, 4; and Scott, 2.

Mr. Taylor is a math instructor at his alma mater, Morgan State College. Remember when he graduated with honors back in 1960? Remember, how he earned his degree while working in the post office? Remember?

The Taylor infants are grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Savage (Mary), and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh (Red) Taylor. They are great-grandchildren of the late Rev. Mr. and Mrs. John W. Norris.

Hellos to the Taylors and their new babies at 826 Whitmore Ave. They should be home from the hospital by the time you read this.

People, places, things

An estimated 1,000 persons were present on Sunday for chicken dinner at the Our Lady of Mt. Providence Convent on Gun Rd.

The affair is one in a series of money - making ventures sponsored by interested Catholic citizens to help furnish and support the magnificent new building owned and operated by the Oblate Sisters.

Dinner co - chairmen are Edward A. Williams and Richard Peed. They are lucky to have working with them a large number of other interested persons.

Sister Carmelita and Mother William are among those at the convent who help guide the volunteer workers.

The Our Lady of Providence building is truly a place of beauty. Lovely to look at and most relaxing in the chapel, located on the main floor.

Visitors are welcome, and so are contributions. This convent needs help to continue its fine work.

And, remember a while back when the Order offered asylum to nuns who were forced to evacuate Cuba?

Mrs. Martha Flannagan, 1137 N. Carrollton Ave., second oldest member of Union Baptist Church, was given last rites there last Wednesday. She was 87.

Mourners' hearts went out to the relatives in attendance: Mrs. Estelle Walker, 90, who was Mrs. Flannagan's house companion for many years.

Another senior citizen buried last week was Mrs. Alexine T. Young, 1809 Division St. Mass was at St. Peter Claver.

Mrs. Young, 68, was the wife of Milton G. Young (he's the longtime Fisk Catering Co. employee).

Her parents, members of an old Baltimore family, were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Thomas (Mary). Mr. Thomas, far years, was a barber at the New Howard Hotel.

Although she had suffered a heart ailment for years, Mrs. Young was apparently in good health when she retired Thursday evening. In fact, she had visited the beauty parlor, and watched her favorite television shows.

On Friday morning, Mr. Young called her for breakfast, found she had died in the night.

Say a special prayer for, and air-mail birthday cards to Alexander Preston Shaw Jr. ("Pres") who celebrates on April 10.

Mr. Shaw is the son of the Methodist bishop and husband of Baltimore beautician, Hiawatha Shaw. He has been paralyzed, and in and out of one hospital after another for nearly three years.

Despite his misfortune, he manages to remain cheerful, and hopeful. And, if you don't believe this is a tough job, let it happen to you, and you'll see.

Keep him cheerful with your hellos. His address: Veterans Administration Hospital, Long Beach, Calif., 113, Room 326.
