Have Mercy Upon Me And Hear My Prayer

Palm Sunday musicale to be held at Morgan

The sixth Palm Sunday musicale, under the direction of James S. Hammond, minister of music at Douglass Memorial Community Church, will be presented in the Carl Murphy Auditorium, Morgan State College, at 5 p.m. on Sunday, April 15.

Organist for the affair will be Mack Stathan, organist and choir director at Walbrook Trinity Presbyterian Church.

This year's selection will be "The Seven Last Words of Christ" by Theodore Dubois.

Holy Name group sets annual mass

The 35th Annual Communion Mass and Breakfast of the Baltimore Branch of the Holy Name Society (Post Office Branch) will be held Sunday, April 1.

The mass will be held at the Cathedral Basilica, Cathedral and Mulberry Street, at 8 a.m. with His Excellency Archbishop Sheehan officiating.

The breakfast will be held at the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel immediately following the Mass. Over 400 Postal Employees and their friends are expected to attend the Breakfast.

Guest speaker for the Breakfast will be Joseph Tydings, U.S. Attorney for the District of Maryland. Mr. Tydings will speak on "Organized Crime and its relation to the two dollar bet."

Postmaster William F. Laukaitis and Assistant Postmaster Albert Nancy, along with other Post Office officials are the invited guests. John Conaolly, Assistant General Superintendent of Mails - Distribution will be the Master of Ceremonies.

The Baltimore Post Office Branch of the Holy Name Society is composed of all the Catholics working in the Baltimore Post Office and meets every Holy Name Sunday. The second Sunday of each month, at the Cathedral Basilicia.

Catholics sound plea for relief

The 19th annual appeal for funds to support the worldwide person-to-person assistance programs conducted by the Catholic Relief Services of the National Catholic Welfare Conference is being conducted this week in the majority of the 16,500 parishes in the United States.

At the direction of His Excellency Archbishop Lawrence J. Shehan, collections for this purpose will be made in all the churches of the Archdiocese of Baltimore on Laetare Sunday, April 1.

In a letter to his people, the Archbishop said:

"Three circumstances make this collection of unique importance: the vast amount of food, clothing, medical supplies and other essential material which is sent to the suffering people of many lands; the great number of impoverished people who are directly affected by our generosity; the fact that for every dollar contributed five times the value in material relief and basic services are made available to those in need."

Archbishop Shehan pointed out that during the past year at $65,500,000, clothing and the food given was valued at $28,000,000, and the total value of the entire operation including materials and services is estimated at over

Residents of 61 impoverished nations of Europe, Asia, Africa, Central and South America were recipients of this huge program of assistance. 28,000,000 individuals of every race and creed, help in families, in schools, and various institutions received help.

Bishop Noble Powell talks at testimonial for Father Croll

ANNAPOLIS—Such mixed emotions!...the feelings of joy, sadness and elation surely must have been the state of mind the Rev. David H. Croll was in on last Thursday evening as he listened to himself being heralded as a distinguished consecrated clergyman before a group of about 300 citizens at the St. Anne Protestant Episcopal Church Parish House.

The occasion was a testimonial dinner given in his hono by his congregation on the eve of his retirement as Vicar of the St. Philip Protestant Episcopal Church.

"He was truly a pastor and such will be recorded in the history of this diocese," said the Right Rev. Noble C. Powell, bishop of the Diocese of Maryland.

The bishop also said that Father Croll is a minister of deep humility and that he accepted the grace of Christianity as a prepared theologian, bringing people into a new relationship with life.

• • • •

AS THE RT. Rev. Harry L. Doll, bishop coadjutor of the Diocese of Maryland, spoke in bringing greetings, he hailed Father Croll as a man of deep sincerity of purpose and abideing ministry as a clergyman.

The Rev. Mr. Croll, who has served St. Philip's for 35 years, was presented with an unusually large and attractive scroll by Dallas G. Pace from his congregation. The inscription engraved on it read as follows:

"In grateful appreciation of 33 years of devotion and selfless effort by the Rev. David H. Croll" from the members of St. Philip Chapel.

Other greetings and presentations were made by the Rev. Bernard R. Hawley, representing the Ministerial Alliance; Dr. Theodore H. Johnson from the Anne Arundel County NAACP Branch; Mrs. Vyola Lincoln, Barrett School for Girls; Also Arthur Fawcette, the Citizens Planning and Housing Association; Dr. Robert McGee, Crownsville State Hospital; Alderman J. Norwood Brown, Frontiers, International; Mrs. Arastine Dorsey, Reo Celsea Club; and Mrs. Harriet Randall, for the McPherson family.

• • • •

MRS. JOYCE McMANUS, contralto, accompanied by Mrs. William H. Richardson, appeared on the program twice. She dedicated Scott's "Think on Me" to the retiring pastor.

The invocation was given by the Rev. James Madison of St. Anne Church and Elijah Arthur, a member of St. Philip's, gave the welcome.

The Rev. Mr. Croll, who came to the United States in 1920, is a native of Jamaica in the British West Indies. He attended public schools there and Mico College, Kingston.

After attending Coppin Teachers College and Morgan State College in Baltimore, where he received his bachelor's degree, for a while he taught in the public schools of the city.

In 1927 he was ordained to the Priesthood of the Protestant. Episcopal Church and became curate of St. James Episcopal Church. Later he was appointed to St. Philip's from which he is retiring.

• • • •

WHILE SERVING in Annapolis, Father Croll has made outstanding contributions to the development of the community. As a former president of the Anne Arundel County Branch NAACP, he was outspoken against discrimination.

As vice-president of the Citizens Planning and Housing Association, he was largely responsible for the solution of many problems growing out of our recent slum clearance.

In addition to these activities, Father Croll somehow found time to serve as secretary for the state branches of the NAACP, the Protestant Episcopal Convocation of Annapolis, and the Anne Arundel County Ministerium.

He was second vice-president and chaplain of the Frontiers, International, a member of the board of directors of the Northwest Street YMCA, and a director of the Community Chest of Anne Arundel County.

In 1960 he was elected dean of the Convocation of Annapolis, a position of distinction which he now holds.

HONORED FOR DEVOTED SERVICE — The Rev. David H. Croll, who has served as vicar of the St. Philip's Protestant Episcopal Church at Annapolis for 35 years, receives an Award of Merit, citing him "for his devotion and selfless effort" from Dallas G. Pace for the congregation on the occasion of a testimonial dinner given in his honor on the eve of his retirement.

HUME Speaks...

and the PEOPLE LISTEN..
because HUME delivers only one message...the message of TRUTH

HUME SAYS: "MARYLAND HAS MORE FEDERAL GAMBLING STAMPS THAN NEVADA"

In a tour of Calvert County Sunday, David Hume, Democratic candidate for the Governor, spoke to more than 800 persons at Mt. Hope Methodist Church in Sunderland, Maryland.

The Rev. Mr. Edwards, pastor, hailed Mr. Hume as a "Leader long awaited" in his sermon. Mr. Hume deplored the fact that "The conscience-stricken Baltimore now mourns the loss of the lives of five small children on Eutaw Place too late."

Many of the farm community's citizens were seen wiping tears from their eyes as Mr. Hume told how many families are crowded into homes like the Eutaw Place houses, "tier upon tier" with apartments cut up into rear, middle-rear, middle and front arrangements.

Noting that 46 persons were housed in the 1609 Eutaw Place where the five children were burned to death, Mr. Hume added: "It is pathetic to see them in warm weather, seated on the steps, panting for air."

He placed the blame at the feet of "politicians who don't care enough to stand for the things that must be done to prevent more such tragedies."

He said, "It will happen again, and again."

And called for a change in Maryland government "To save the lives of our children who one day may be scientists, doctors, leaders of the future but who may never have a chance if something isn't done."

Mr. Hume was introduced to the congregation as the "next Governor of Maryland" by Harold Holmes, state co-ordinator of the Hume-For-Governor Committee.

Congregation weeps as HUME tells "How 5 small children were burned to death on Eutaw Place—where 46 persons lived in one home." He calls for a change.

Mr. Holmes is a member of the Baltimore Junior Chamber of Commerce, director of the Red Shield Boys Club and vice-president of the Frontiers, International Baltimore Chapter.

HUME BLAMES "POLITICIANS WHO DON'T CARE" FOR 5 DEATHS IN EUTAW PLACE APTS.

Hume asks Federal administration to stay out of Maryland Politics

Referring to a telegram he sent President Kennedy, who wrote Governor Tawes praising him for his so-called part in setting up savings and loan association regulations, Mr. Hume had this to says: "While your interest in Maryland is certainly appreciated, it is to be hoped that it will continue to the point where your department may examine the law enforcement, or lack of it, in a State administration which is credited with more Federal gambling stamps than Nevada. Many of these stamps are on machines strictly forbidden under State law and in ani administration which calls the slot machines and the problems they bring a "local issue," even though the effect is to politically subjugate some 1,400 square miles of our territory and over 300,000 of our citizens. While your Department is to be congratulated on obtaining the conviction of a slot machine principal for violation of his Federal income tax, it should be noted that it was, perhaps, the only member of the Negro race operating slot machines in Southern Maryland who was selected as the target for the action. Most respectfully, David Hume."
