Richard Sterling, 54, pioneer in vocational education, dies

WASHINGTON

One of the District's outstanding pioneers in vocational education, Richard L. Sterling, 54, died Wednesday at Freedmen's Hospital after a brief illness.

Founder of the Sterling Vocational School at 1000 U St. N. W., he had been working on plans for trade schools in various underdeveloped countries.

Several months ago, he had opened his home to the American Society of African Culture for a planning meeting of its membership for cultural exchange programs between Africans and colored Americans.

The distinguished educator also specialized in the management of vocational training programs, investment finance, and real estate.

Born in Homestead, Pa., Sterling received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Pittsburgh, and his masters degree from Columbia University. He did further post-graduate work at Catholic University here.

Between 1933 and 1948, he served variously as educational director of the Civilian Conservation Corps camp at Governor's Island, New York, and at neighboring camps in New Jersey; as industrial secretary of the New York Urban League, and as assistant boys' secretary of the YMCA in Pittsburgh.

He founded the Sterling Vocational School in 1948.

Sterling was an honorary Thirty-third degree Mason, Scottish Rite, and belonged to John F. Cook Lodge No. 10 and to Jonathan Davis Consistory No. 4 here. He was a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, of the YMCA Board of Management, and of the American Society of African Culture in New York City.

He leaves his wife, Anne Bass Sterling, two sons Richard L., Jr., and Victor Samuel and his mother, Mrs. Eugie Sterling, all of the family address, 5525 Sixteenth Street N. W. He also leaves his brother, Joseph, of 60 Quincy Street, N. W.

Services will be at 1 p.m. Friday at the McGuire Funeral Home, 1820 Ninth Street N. W.

Burial will be in Lincoln Memorial Cemetery.

William Smith

William H. Smith, 63, 1515 N. Appleton St., died Tuesday in Lutheran Hospital. He had been a bed patient there because of a stroke.

Funeral services were held today (Friday) at the Emmanuel Christian Community Church, Lanvale St. and Carrollton Ave. Burial was in Arbutus Memorial Park.

Arrangements were by the Arlington S. Phillips Funeral Home, 1727 N. Monroe St.

Mr. Smith was a native Baltimorean and attended local schools.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Inez E. Smith; brother, Walter B. Smith; and sisters, Mrs. Eleanor S. Hicks and Mrs. Victoria S. Hall.

Mrs. Laura Carroll

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Laura Carroll, 72, of 1132 N. Stockton St., on Thursday, at Psalmist Baptist Church.

Mrs. Carroll, who died Nov. 4, at Baltimore City Hospitals of a heart attack, was buried at Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

She is survived by a brother, the Rev. Charles Randall, of Washington, D.C., and a son, James Carroll, of Baltimore.

Funeral arrangements were made by the Kelson Funeral Home.

Lack of better jobs hit

By EDWARD PEEKS

Employment gains for colored workers in District government stand lower than those achieved by whites during the past two years, according to a study by the Washington Urban League.

In figures made public this week by the league, non-whites are actually worse off than they were in 1960 by comparison with the number of whites employed by the District.

"Failure to upgrade on the basis of merit has resulted in widening differentials between the median salaries of colored and white employees," the league said in the report contained in its new monthly Newsletter, Washington's Labor Market.

"THE MEDIAN annual salary of colored workers as a percentage of the medium salary of white workers was about 90 per cent in 1960.

"The percentage decreased to 84 per cent in 1961, and remained the same in 1962."

• • •

THE NUMBER of colored workers with annual salaries above $5,000 increased by only 324 between 1960 and 1962, while the number of whites in the bracket rose by nearly 1,400 during the period, the league said.

• • •

THIS IS THE employment picture in District government, the report says, despite other statistical pictures to the contrary in the past.

"The Police Department affords an excellent example of the declining significance of colored employees in upper level jobs," the League said.

This change has occurred though colored officers in, creased from 13 per cent of the total force in 1960 to 15 per cent in 1962.

Racing season to end Sunday

This Sunday, (November 11th) will end the 1962 racing season on the Vista Racetrack. Some of the nations best racers will vie to unseat Drayton Tylee as the undisputed champ on the half mile dirt oval.

Rites held for retired postman, 80

WASHINGTON

Funeral services for William H. F. Beverly Sr. retired postal worker, who for many years was unofficially known among fellow workers as "the mailman" was conducted on Saturday at the John T. Rhines Funeral Home. Interment was at Lincoln Cemetery.

Final rites for Mr. Beverly, father of eight locally prominent children, were conducted by the Rev. A. F. Elmes, pastor of People's Congregational Church. The deceased gained the unique distinction among fellow workers as a result of the scores of letters of commendation sent to postal authorities by foreign diplomats praising his knowledge, friendliness and courtesy.

A FLUENT conversationalist, Mr. Beverly was also known for his humor and subtle wit. He was never at a loss to describe an interesting event that occurred during his travels around the world prior to joining the postal service, or experiences as a mail carrier.

Mr. Beverly, who died on October 30, at Freedmen's, was born in Washington, D.C. on September 22, 1882; the son of the late Jordan and Emma Beverly. As a youth, he joined the 15th Street Presbyterian Church where he worshipped for many years.

EDUCATED IN the public schools of the District, he attended Lincoln University in Oxford, Pa., graduating in 1905. Following graduation, he travelled to all sections of the United States and many foreign countries completing several trips around the world as an engineering aide.

Returning to the District of Columbia in 1907, he was married to Mary E. Purdy, an original member of the famous Fisk University Jubilee Singers. Mrs. Beverly and his talented wife were for many years prior to her death, active in musical, educational, and civic groups of the city.

Survivors are his eight children, Mesdames Rose E. Cordove, Marjorie B. Elliott, Lillian B. Waters, Ethel B. Braxton; Miss Mary Beverly, William H.F. Jr., George S., all of Washington and Robert J. Beverly of New York City.

Other survivors are his ten grandchildren; a nephew, William C. Beverly of Philadelphia, a host of devoted relatives and scores of friends.

Auto victim

Funeral services will be held Monday at 1 p.m. from the Morton and Dyett Funeral Home for David Cole, 67, 677 George Street.

Mr. Cole died Thursday at University Hospital of injuries received when he was hit by a car while crossing Franklin and Pine Sts., on Oct. 22.

The driver of the car, according to police was Isaac Brown, 35, of the 200 Block N. Monroe Street.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Minnie Cole, and a brother.

Barber succumbs in Rocky Mount

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. — Funeral services for Horace Wade Sr., dean of Rocky Mount barbers, were held at St. James Baptist Church last Sunday. The Rev. W. L. Mason, pastor, delivered the eulogy.

The father of four, he sacrificed his homestead during the drpression so that he could educate his children.

• • •

SURVIVORS ARE his wife, Mrs. Mary Frances Wade; two sons, Wallace and Horace Jr., both of Rocky Mount; two daughters, Mrs. Aileen W. Duncan, Lumberton, and Mrs. Adrian Y. Bullock of Annapolis, Md.;

And also six brothers Arthur, Fred, Luther and Samuel of Halifax County, Claude of Wilmington, and Leroy of Richmond, Va.; and three grandchildren.

Monks to donate windows for two burned Ga. churches

CONYERS, Ga. —(ANP) — A group of Catholic Cistercian monks have here decided to manufacture and donate stain-glass windows for two Baptist churches near Dawson, Ga., which were burned by arsonists, believed to be racists, last summer after voter registration for colored persons was conducted in the churches.

The Cistercians consitutes an order of monks sworn to a life of silence. They also espouse brotherly love. Although they are not allowed to read newspaper and most of them are not allowed to talk, they learned about the burning of the churches.

One of their spokesman, Father Charles said, "a number of us felt there should be some kind of expression from us as members of the same community.

"We don't like what happened and we wanted to make some gesture — not just as Catholics — for this is our part of the country now."

Youth, 15, killed fighting in school

BENNETTSVILLE, S.C. — A 14-year-old boy was taken into custody last Wednesday morning in connection with the slaying of a classmate during a fight at East Side High School.

The victim was identified as 15-year-old James Reed of 14 Shannon St. He died shortly after being taken to a local hospital with a stab wound in the stomach.

An investigation by the Marboro County Sheriff disclosed the youths exchanged blows during an argument in the hall between the second and third periods, and the 14-year-old pulled a knife and stabbed Reed.
