"LET'S GO ORIENTAL" was the theme Ernestine Lewis used when she paged, via Chinese-styled invitations, the members of "The Organization" to her White Chapel Road home on Friday past.

The lantern illuminated formed through the use of clubroom had been transOriental setting. Guests had been asked to wear costumes suitable for the occasion and came attired in some of the most attractive and unusual in pajamas and eskimos silk, satin, and brocade.

Ernestine was a most attractive hostess sporting a gorgeous three-piece aqua satin pajama outfit with gold slipper-que and all. Soft Chinese music was piped over the house throughout the evening. The entire menu was Chinese and enjoyed in Chinese fashion from low tables and guests seated on mats or pillows.

Special feature of the meeting was the shower of jewelry for Jeanette L. Johnson, having been selected by the group for this honor. She was the recipient of a most unusual array of earrings, necklaces, and pins—much to her surprise.

Plans were made for a round of parties and other activities for the approaching holiday season.

About to enjoy the fun were Marian Ampfrey, Mary Bacote, Mae Cornish, Leona Ferrell, Jeanette L. Johnson, Aurelia Lonesome, Alphia Williams, and Lillian T. Wilson.

COMPANIONS, started off their club year with a program designed for fun as well as serious business.

In October Marguerite Simms entertained the group with a Chuck Wagon Diner at which time the girls relaxed in slacks and planned a busy club year including their Annual Charity Benefit, a dance early in the new year and plans to act as sponsors of on e of the Morgan College Concerts in the spring.

A Saturday ago Gladys Patterson gathered the group for a gala Hawaiian Luau. Her club basement was beautifully decorated in the Hawaiian theme with palm trees, pineapples and bright colored flowers and foliage. She served a delicious Polynesian repast.

New member Laure Brown was welcomed to the group after which hilarity reigned while members participated in a hula contest — grass skirt and all.

Members present included Lucille Cephas, president Luretia Whitten, Janet Woolridge, Gladys Patterson, Margaret Mallory, Vivian Moody, Marguerite Simms, Laure Brown, Hazel Barrett, Twilah Scarborough and Elaine Wright.

WHEN THE BALTIMORE COUNCIL of the National Council of Women has its annual Founder's Day and Tea on December 2, there will be an unusual speaker, Mrs. Samuel S. Strouse, who will come from the Baltimore Section of the National Council of Jewish Women.

Mrs. Strouse is not only extremely interesting and well-informed, but she has many accomplishments, past and present, in Baltimore. She has been president of the Baltimore Section of the National Council of Jewish Women. She has been for many years on the National Board of Directors for that organization. A member of the State of Maryland Commission on Aging, she is a member of the City Commission on Aging. She is coordinator of the Meals on Wheels Project and is chairman of the Mobile Unit Project of Planned Parenthood.

Appearing at the Madison Avenue YWCA, Sunday, December 2, at 4 p.m., Mrs. Strouse will speak on "Four Needs in Baltimore Which Women's Organizations Can Meet." Miss Sandra East is the president of the Baltimore Council of the National Council of Women. Mrs. Beryl Williams is chairman of Founder's Day.

PEREGRINATORS: Josephine E. Wallace, who now holds down a secretarial post in the State Department in Washington, will be leaving for Singapore the first of the year. She has been assigned to the Consulate General in Singapore for a two-year stint...still the State Department.

In town, Sunday, Wantl Gomez and Horace Woodland of Philadelphia, just doing some old-acquaintance visiting.

Stepping off the train in Pennsylvania Station, New York City, Monday morning, looking even more chic in all black than a Fifth Avenuer, was this town's Victorine Adams.

Thanksgiving marks the close of the golden anniversary celebration at Tennessee State College, Nashville... and so, will take any number of area alumni to the Tennessee campus.

Joining a bus traveling group in Washington will be Harriet Jones and Kenneth and Mary Ervine of this town. Fiozella Clark will fly down for the week-end activities which will include a banquet and two alumni balls.

There will also be an alumni brunch for children of alumni.

POT-POURRI: When you notice that Thelma and William Ruffin are not dancing together these days (as, for instance, at Femme Continental's dance, last week) questions are not necessary. They have reached a friendly agreement which will terminate in an equally friendly divorce come December, 1963.

Family and friends are so very happy that Dr. Herbert Moseley is pulling out of that illness so well. His heart gave them a scare two weeks back.

Dr. Margaret Butcher will be the guest of the Baltimore chapter of Howard University Alumni, Sunday afternoon, beginning at 4 p.m. The meeting will be in the Pullen gymnasium of Coppin State Teachers College. Dr. Butcher is to speak on "Africa as seen today."

Most pleasantly surprised person on the local health, last weekend, was Mrs. Bertha Winston. A trio of nieces came down from New York for a surprise visit.

Adding gaiety to the Winston household were Mesdames Evelyn Tiller, Manhattan schoolmarm; Elise White, a medical sociial worker in New York; and Mrs. Beatrice Walker, a children's social worker of that city.

Dr. Maurice Adams lost a sister, Mrs. Martha Marlowe of Washington, Sunday. Services were held in St. Marks Baptist Church in the capital, Tuesday, and interment was in Covington, Va.

And now, a last note (I hope) to the Woolridge case. Pearlina has withdrawn her appeal of her alimony suit against Dr. Thomas J. Woolridge (now re-married) and has gone to New York, where she is working on a master's degree. Their Gwynns Falls Parkway home is in litigation and will be sold.

Speaking of homes, new residence of Beatrice H. Hall will be a Dennly Road address.

Members of the Order of Eastern Star with its affiliated bodies, plan to give an informal banquet on Sunday, November 18, from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m., at 1205 Eutaw Place in honor of the Grand Matron, the former Mrs. Clara Bens. She is now Mrs. Brummell.

The committee is headed by Mrs. M. C. Frazier and Mrs. Willie Harper. Serving on the committee are Miss Helen Benton, associate grand matron; Mrs. Lillian Payne, Mrs. Lillie B. Hungerford, Mrs. Georgie V. Cox, Mrs. Delia Smith, Mrs. Mary L.
