AT THE MET — Angela Lansbury co - stars as Laurence Harvey's mother in "The Manchurian Candidate," now at the Met Theatre, through United Artists release. Frank Sinatra and Janet Leigh also star in the suspense drama.

Jamaican beauties eye star roles in movies

KINGSTON, JAMAICA — (ANP) — Fans throughout the world who have become disgusted with the menial roles being given colored performers in Hollywood may soon derive some satisfaction from seeing a number of beauties cast in starring roles in the movies.

The later became a possibility last week after actress Ginger Rogers and her husband, William Marshall, announced that they had signed a 10-year agreement with Prime Minister Alexander Bustamente of Jamaica to establish a film industry on a $10,000,000 initial investment in that island.

SO ELATED were the Marshalls over the transaction, which will provide employment for hundred of Jamaicans, that they said they envision the development of a Jamaican film festival to rival those of Cannes, France and Venice, Italy.

To achieve this end, they are banking both on the availability of local talent and the natural setting which Jamaica provides. Known as "The Island in the Sun," Jamaica abounds in tropical beauty.

THE MARSHALLS plan to bring their motion picture industry to Jamaica early next year. They also plan on establishing a permanent home in Jamaica.

Car lands in Hanlon Park

An automobile driven by Henry W. Gardner, 19, 1600 block Division St., went over an embankment on Longwood St. near Piedmont Ave., and overturned into Hanlon Park, Tuesday, police reported.

Two passengers, Miss Earle Tutman, 17, 3200 block of Dorithan Rd., and Miss Pat Weldon, 17, 3400 block of Fairview Ave., were slightly injured.

Mr. Gardner told police that he lost control of the car as he attempted to pass another vehicle.

EACH $1 CARE Food Crusade package averages 25 lbs. or more of food for the needy overseas.

AT THE ROYAL — Attractive songstress Little Gigi, one of the featured artists in the Hank Ballard and Midnighters show at the Royal. Others are The Duprees, Chris Montez, "Screamin'" Jay Howkins, Bobby Lewis and the Carnell Cooper band.

—Fats Domino

a date Nov. 3 only to find it had been cancelled. Boone said the entertainer had to raise a ruckus to get traveling funds.

The only thing about the Domino dates at the Jessing ballroom which disturbed Boone, he said, were reports that signs had been printed saying "colored soldiers not allowed."

He evidently called the local sign company about this untrue report because the sign firm contacted the AFRO and read from the signs it had printed. There was no mention of soldiers.

EXPLAINING further Fats Domino's position, Boone quoted the roly - poly piano songman as supporting the civil rights movement but "he says he's not going to fight the battle."

"If it's a so - called white place, he will play it," Boone said.

Boone noted that once Fats had agreed not to play places which barred colored patrons but has now changed this.

He said another of the agency's hot talents, Ray Charles, "definitely will not perform in a place where members of his race are not admitted.He sticks to that policy."

'Sky Above, Mud Below,' at Regent

A breath-taking pictorial record of a journey into the previously unexplored, uncharted cannibal-infested interior of Dutch New Guinea, "The Sky Above—The Mud Below," is now at the Regent Theatre with sights, sounds and customs of a primitive society still existing in this the age of space conquest and the atom.

Joseph E. Levine is presenting this Academy-Award winner, which was written and directed by 38-year-old Pierre-Dominique Gaisseau, a veteran explorer who organized and led six fellow adventurers into the heart of an unknown half hell, half paradise.

'Satan In High Heels' now at Harlem

"Satan in High Heels," which is now at the Harlem Theater, presents a stark view of the life and loves of a night club entertainer, Stacey Kane. This bold Vega production takes an intimate peek behind the scene of the night club world and Stacey's private life.

Starring the voluptuous Meg Myles in the role of Stacey Kane, "Satan in High Heels" depicts Stacey's life in show business from her beginning as a carnival dancer.

'Manchurian Candidate' on Met Screen

"The Manchurian Candidate," starring Frank Sinatra, Laurence Harvey and Janet Leigh, is now at the Met Theatre, through United Artists release. Written for the screen by George Axelrod (who co-produced with Director John Frankenheimer) the suspense drama is based upon the highly controversial novel by Richard Condon.

Angela Lansbury, Henry Silva and James Gregory co-star in the exciting tale of Washington espionage and political intrigue.

Dame Judith due at Lyric

Dame Judith Anderson, frequently hailed by critics as "our greatest living actress" will appear at the Lyric for one performance Friday, Nov. 23, at 8:30 p.m. in a double bill that includes her characterization of Lady Macbeth, and in "Media," a streamlined version of the Jeffers-Euripides classic.

Superior organ concerts mark recital season start

By ADAH K. JENKINS

Organ concerts of superior excellence have marked the early recital season. The fall meeting of the Patapsco Chapter, American Guild of Organists, featured Eugene Belt, organist and choirmaster of Brown Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Belt prepared enlightening and detailed program notes. Included was a full description of the specifications of the Brown Memorial Skinner organ, one of the finest instruments in the city.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Gladys Davis, organist at Bethel AME Church, and Miss Jeanne Simms, a member of the Brown Memorial Choral group.

THE MAGNIFICENT organ at Mt. Calvary Episcopal Church was heard to superb advantage at a recent concert given by Heinz Wunderlich, the German concert artist and organist at St. Jacobi's Church, Hamburg.

The instrument, which was manufactured in Holland, is modeled after the Baroque organs of the Golden Age of organ playing in Europe.

The German soloist produced beautiful combinations of tone colors that enhanced the melody lines without marring their classic form.

A reception was held in the refectory following the concert, which was arranged by Miss Bettye Johnson, organist and choir mistress, with the assistance of Lorenzo Handy, cantor and a committee.

ALTHOUGH BENNY GOODMAN gave an exhibition of virtuoso technic on the clarinet, his recent appearance with the Baltimore Symphony, was somewhat disappointing.

The orchestra, under the direction of Peter Adler, was duely attentive to the lovely melodies of the Weber Overture to the opera "Oberon".

In the opening and final movements of the Schmann "Spring" Symphony, the players conveyed the impetuous joy one would expect. Variations on a violin theme by Paganinni completed the concert on a sweeping climax.

CALENDAR: Friday, and Saturday, Nov. 16-17 at 8:15 sharp at the Lyric, the opera "Der Rosenkavalier" (The Rose - Bearer) by Richard Strauss, presented by The Baltimore Civic Opera Company.

The setting is in the glittering world of mid - eighteenth century Vienna during the reign of Empress Maria Theresa.

The production will be accompanied by the entire Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Peter Adler.

Annette Carter, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Carter, and a student in the Carol Lynn dancing class at the Peabody, is a miniature ballerina in the cast, which includes an interracial chorus.

Rosa Ponselle is artistic director of the opera; Robert Ackert, stage director, and Russell C. Wonderlic, president of the opera company.

Good seats are still available in the balcony at $3 and $4 each. Concert goers will recall that the famous trio from "Rosenkavalier" was sung by Dorothy Lofton, Juanetta Jones and Veronica Tyler at their first joint appearance at the Peabody Exhibition concerts.
