COOKING IS FUN:

Get the kiddies to make easy candies for Christmas time

Occasionally, don't you wish for a piece of luscious Homemade Candy? If you have notions for making any, your thoughts probably turn to thermometers, ball-tests, and vigorous beating — all of which quickly dispells the idea. Well, there are many ways of making delicious candy without a lot of fuss.

Since most of us are not candy-making experts, recipes that can be made Christmas-twinkle were found. Most of them contain some "prepared ingredients" — and, what's more — do not require the use of the thermometer.

* * *

THE FIRST Recipe is not only nutritious, but also down right delicious. Children will love to make it and, even Dad might want to try his hand. Here goes:

* * *

PEANUT BUTTER ROLL
½ cup peanut butter
½ cup evaporated milk
2 tablespoons melted butter
2 tablespoons dark molasses
1½ cups shredded coconut (¼ lb.)
1 cup graham cracker crumbs
½ cup finely-chopped nuts or graham cracker crumbs

* * *

MIX TOGETHER thoroughly: peanut butter, milk, butter and molasses. Gradually blend in coconut and 1 cup graham cracker crumbs. Turn out on to waxed paper and shape with hands into 2 rolls 7-inches long and 1½ inches in diameter.

Roll in graham cracker crumbs or finely chopped nuts. Wrap in waxed paper and chill about 6 hours, or until firm. Cut into ½ inch slices. Makes about 2½ dozen slices.

For a Christmas Dainty, this next easy recipe can make a spectacular presentation. The marshmallow is made more delectable in its coat of coconut snow.

SNOWBALLS
¼ cup evaporated milk
8 marshmallows
12 marshmallows, halfed
1½ cups shredded coconut (¼ lb.)

* * *

COOK 8 marshmallows over boiling water until dissolved, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, but keep mixture standing over hot water. Using 2 forks or kitchen-tongs, dip marshmallow halves, one at a time, into mixture. Roll in coconut. Put on waxed paper. Makes 2 dozen.

Here is a real heavenly creation. It's so easy to make and so delicious to eat, that you will want to hold on to this recipe forever:

* * *

WALNUT SQUARES
2/3 Cup broken walnut meats
8 squares Baked chocolate
½ lb. semi-sweet or milk chocolate
10 marshmallows, cut in quarters

* * *

ARRANGE MARSHMALLOWS in lined pan and fill paces between marshmallows with nuts. Heat chocolate over boiling water until partly melted; then remove from boiling water and stir rapidly until entirely melted. Pour evenly over contents of pan. Cool and cut into squares:

* * *

FUDGE HAS been a favorite for centuries — the old-fashioned kind, made with the thermometer and requiring beating until your arm hurts. Nowadays, this Treat can be made an easier way. The Carnation Evaporated Milk Folks gave us this Recipe:

Quick Chocolate Fudge
2 tablespoons butter undiluted
1-2/3 cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
16 (4 oz.) marshmallows, diced
1-½ cups semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped nuts

* * *

COMBINE BUTTER, evaporated milk, sugar and salt in saucepan over medium heat. Allow to come to boil. Cook for 5 to 6 min., stirring constantly. Remove from heat, stir in diced marshmallows, chocolate, vanilla and chopped nuts. Stir vigorously for 1 to 2 min. or until marshmallows are completely melted and blended. Pour into a buttered 9-inch square pan and allow to cool. Cut in squares. Makes about 2 lbs.

..AMONG the next recipes, you might find just the one for your Personal Sweet Tooth. Also, make up some batches for your Holiday Entertaining — not forgetting, that there is nothing sweeter than a Gift of Homemade Candy.

CHOCOLATE BON BONS
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 egg
1 cup evaporated milk, 2/3cup evaporated milk, undiluted
1 cup (6-oz. pkg.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine all ingredients except nuts and vanilla in saucepan over medium heat. Stirring constantly, cook until very thick (about 10 to 12 min.). Chill for about one hour. Drop chocolate mixture from teaspoon into chopped nuts. Roll into small balls.

Barbecued beef loaf

When formed into individual loaves and baked with a loaf becomes something really special. Evaporated milk used to blend and bind the ingredients for easy shaping, fork-tender brown outside and a juicy moistness inside —qualities so desirable in good meat loaf.

By making meat loaf a "to each his own" affair baking time is considerably short-ed too, for the tiny loaves take less than an hour in the oven.

Mix ground beef with bread crumbs, instant onion, carrot, milk lightly but thoroughly. Shape into 6 individual loaves.

BAK Ein preheated moderate oven (350 degree F.) 20 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare barbecue sauce; slice and separate onion into rings.

After the 20 minutes baking, place onion rings on top of loaves and spoon barbecue sayce over. Bake 30 minutes longer. Makes 6 servings.

ANNAPOLIS DOINGS

By ELOISE RICHARDSON

Lovely Mildred Amanda Fowlkes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fowlkes in Bestgate, became the bride of Gilbert Alphonso Phillips, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips and the late Harvey Phillips in a quiet ceremony on Nov. 17.

The simple, single-ring rites were read by Father Warner Travnham, vicar of the St. Phillip's Episcopal Church, in the parsonage, before members of the immediate families.

The bride chose a creation in a gold color with a veiled hat to match. The sheer costume was fashioned along bouffant lines and she wore white accessories and jewelry. She carried a nosegay of white roses and white satin ribbon.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held. Among those who attended were Messrs. and Mesdames Jesse Smith, Otis Fowlkes, Roland Fowlkes, Ernest Edwards, Morris Peterson, Augustus Queen and Freddie Reed;

Also Mesdames Dorothy Brown, Katherine Jones, Margaret Smothers, Mary Matthews and Mr. Andrew Taylor. Out-of-town guests included Mesdames Jannie Fowlkes, Hattie Fitzhuch, Mahalia Parker, Florence Johnson and Ernestine Stith, all of Baltimore.

* * *

THE BRIDEGROOM presented his bride a new six-room ranch home as a wedding gift. The bridegroom's mother presented the couple with a modern walnut bedroom suite, and the bride's parents gave the couple a dinette set.

The bride, who is a graduate of Bates High School, is furthering her education at Fleet Business College and is a secretary in the Social Service department of Crownsville State Hospital.

The bride-groom, also a graduate of Bates High School, served in the U.S. Navy for four years, and is now an employe at the U.S. Naval Academy. The couple is at home to friends in Linthicum Heights at Bestgate.

The Thomas S. Badens in Carrollton Ave. had as Thanksgiving guests, members of Mrs. Baden's family. They included her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Giles Moseley (Helen); two other sisters, Mrs. Madeline Burton and Mrs. Alethia Young, and granddaughter, Chantel Hauzeur; their daughter and husband and two children, Mr. and Mrs. John Williams (Gloria), Julie and David, all of Wilmington, Del., and another daughter, Mrs. Barbara Greene of Baltimore.

Also present were Mrs. Beatrice Coates of Annapolis and Mr. Chiapin Dungee of Baltimore.

* * *

THE WILLIAM H. Richardsons had as dinner guests on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Butler and Miss Elizabeth Oliver of Baltimore.

Instrumental music has become such a vital part of the cultural arts of Douglass High School at Upper Marlboro; that the school band has become a popular aggregation throughout the area and state.

During Fire Prevention Week, the band was praised by a Baltimore newspaper as "the most stylish of marching units, as well as one of the most melodious" during the observance.

Starting off in 1950 as a Drum and Bugle Corps, the group was invited by Prof. R. H. Strider to play for homecoming activities at Morgan State College.

Then in 1951, the nucleus of what is now the Douglass Concert Band, was formed as a thirteen-piece swing band.

In 1952 the band made an appearance at the Leonardtown Fair in St. Marys County.

* * *

THE DYNAMO behind the band is Leroy Battle, who joined the group as its conductor in 1950. Battle is well-trained and popular as a musician and teacher.

He not only serves in this capacity, but also is conductor of one of the most popular dance bands in this area. A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., he matriculated at Juilliard School of Music after serving in the Air Force for two years as a Second Lieutenant bombadier-navigator.

Battle received his B.S. degree in Music Education in 1950. In 1961 he was awarded his master's degree in Music Education.

It was back in 1952 that he organized his society combo and since has expanded into the large band.

While in High School Battle won a Philharmonic Scholarship to study symphony and percussion under Saul Goodman of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

As a unionized musician he has traveled as a drummer with Don Redman and "Trummy" Young. He worked on 52nd Street in New York City for two years, drumming for Roy Nance, Don Byas, Rex Stewart, and Eddie Heywood. He is married to the former Miss Alice Hoi, principal of the Lula G. Scott School at Shadyside, Md.

They are parents of a baby girl, Lisa.
