Youth Council president likes doing 'lots of things'

A tall, statuesque young lady addressing the recent pre-legislative model Youth Council, spoke on what she felt were some of the ills of the city: housing, population shifts, rehabilitation, general welfare and taxes.

Her five — minute delivery bested the efforts of five other high school students, and she was elected president of the City Council.

The teenager, Miss Stella Spears, 17, of Carver Vocational - Technical High School, thus will preside in her office at the upcoming Model Legislative Youth Council, Jan. 29-30 at City Hall.

Next to speaking; Miss Spears, who is her school newspaper correspondent says she likes to write.

Frankly, she admits, "I like to do a lot of things."

Miss Spears is a secretary of the senior class, has participated in declamation contest and is soon to appear in the Dramatic Coub's presentation of a "Christmas Carol."

For exercise, Miss Spears plays speedball, badminton volleyball and softball.

THE YOUNG lady is a member of the Baltimore Steering Committee of the National Conference of Christians and Jews and sings in the Junior Choir at Mt. Hebron Baptist Church.

At home, Miss Spears dabbles in fashions and hairstyling, but spends much of her time reading novels.

Not one to forget her lessons, the young lady has made the school honor roll.

She has narrowed down her college choice to Howard University or Syracuse University.

Miss Spears plans to become a history teacher.

AS SHE takes a look at her fellow schoolmates, Miss Spears thinks "they should be striving for more individuality."

She advises others "to try being themselves and not somebody else."

Miss Spears is the daughter William and Wilhelmina Spears, 2117 Presbury St. Her sister, Angela, 8, attends Robert W. Coleman Elementary School.

MISS STELLA SPEARS, Youth Legislative Council president-elect, types up shorthand notes during class. She also has instruction in bookkeeping.

Youth, 17, held on morals charge

Maurice McCormick, 17, 3300 block of Alto Road, was ordered held without bail for the action of the grand jury by Judge I. Sewell Lamdin in Northwestern Municipal Court Saturday.

He is charged with the rape of a 15-year-old girl early Saturday moring.

The victim told police that she went to a dance where she met the youth.

Fined $500 for cafe jimcrow

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — A $500 fine was levied against a restaurant operator who was convicted of violating the city public accommodations ordinance.

He was Milton Curtain, operator of the U-Dell restaurant. His conviction was the first imposed under the law adopted in July, 1961. Curtain was accused of refusing to serve Miles Johnson, Joseph Strawbridge and Leon Daggs.

Psychiatrist speaks at Morgan

A Baltimore-born psychiatrist will probe some of the implications of Sigmund Freud's famous classic,

The Origin and Development of Psychoanalysis, at Morgan State College today (Friday).

Dr. Roderick E. Charles, assistant chief of clinical psychiatry at Meyer Memorial Hospital in Buffalo, N.Y., will speak in the Student Union Building.

The psychiatrist is being presented as a feature of the Morgan Book-of the- Month Reading Program — a college-wide endeavor that provides non-credit, out of class reading and discussion experiences for Morgan students. Freud's work on probing the mind is the December book - of - the month.

Dr. Charles attended the Baltimore public schools, received a B.S degree from Howard University and the M.D. degree from the University of Maryland Medical School.

On Tuesday, Dec. 11, at 2 p.m., in Murphy Auditorium, a film will be presented on "A Conversation with Freud." On Thursday, Dec. 13, a panel discussion of the bookwill be conducted by the Biology and Psychology Clubs in the Student Union Building.

No clues yet to 'Baby x'

Police continue their efforts to establish the identity of "Baby X" whose body was found in a Mt. Winans ravine last week.

So far detectives on the case have come up with no firm clues as to the dead boy's name or parentage.

"Baby X," according to the Medical Examiner's office, was an apparently healthy infant up until the time of his mysterious death and was approximately 18 months to two years of age.

Which holiday greeting is older... the first Christmas Card or Gordon's Gin?

Gordon's Gin was an English holiday greeting 74 years before Mr. J. C. Horsley designed the first Christmas card. The Gordon's you drink today harks back to Alexander Gordon's original 1769 formula, forone doesn't tamper with a good thing...especially when it is the world's biggest seller. This year send cards, serve and give Gordon's London Dry Gin.

CICHA meets

The campaign leaders of the Commerce and Industry Combined Health Appeal met recently to plan the organization's fourth annual drive.

Harvey E. Emmart, the 1963 Campaign Chairman, called the meeting which was attended by Howard M. Busick, president of the CICHA Board of Directors and the four Campaign vice chairmen; D. C. W. Ward, Jr., Otis E. Smith, George W. McCarty and John O. Koch.

Among important decisions made was that the first aim of the campaign would be to increase the number of firms contacted. Mr. Emmart pointed out that success in this endeavor would assure the dollar growth desired as similar past methods had produced an average increase of 23 per cent each year.

Morgan students want Tawes talk

Gadabouting In Baltimore

'Humanitarian with Vision' says Council of Mrs. Diggs

with Lula Jones Garrett

"A humanitarian with vision" was the description attributed to Mrs. Sarah Fernandis Diggs, who received a citation from the Baltimore chapter of the National Council of Women, here, Sunday.

Charming in a black velvet frock, a tiny black velvet pill box encrusted with gold and black braid, and wearing a corsage of tiny white mums interspersed with red rose buds, the honoree received the framed scroll from the hands of Mrs. Emma D. Dudley, a past president of the Metropolitan Council.

Mrs. Diggs, said Mrs. Dudley, has served as an inspiration for young people for scores of years. For 18 years she served as vice president of the Baltimore chapter of the NAACP, and during these years has led the membership drives.

She was the first to start a Christmas fund for needy children in this city, and for many years administered the fund for needy families which had been established by her husband, the late Josiah Diggs.

MRS. DIGGS has served as an official of Sharp Street Methodist Church, is a life member of the Council, and formerly a house matron at Morgan State College, she is now the permanent substitute in that position.

In other words, added Mrs. Dudley "She is the lamp-of energy from which so many of us light our candles."

Mrs. Diggs, after thanking the Council, summed up her philosophy in one sentence. Said she, "Where I have found a job that needed to be done and which I could do, I have done it."

THE COUNCIL, on Sunday, was celebrating its Founder's Day, and began its program with a musical recording "This is Our Day," the story of the late Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, who founded and built the council.

Mrs. Beryl Williams presided. Miss Sandra B. East, youthful president, greeted the guests, and the poetry, by Mrs. Sedonia Merritt; and lovely voices of William C. Brown and Mrs. Hazel Ellerbe lent beauty to the program. Accompanists were Fred Howell for Mr. Brown and Calvin Cook for Mrs. Ellerbe.

Mrs. Dora Braddy gave the invocation and benediction.

MRS. SAMUEL S. STREUSE, past president of the Baltimore Section of the National Council of Jewish Women, addressed the group.

Mrs. Streuse talked on unmet needs in the city where the volunteer services of club women are needed. Here, she mentioned the work with migrant workers, a pilot nursery school project, "meals on wheels" for aged, and Planned Parenthood.

Following the program members of the Council served beautiful refreshments from a buffet.

HOSTESSES INCLUDED: Miss East, president; Mrs. Dudley, first vice president; Mrs. Ada F. Smith, second vice president; Mrs. Delores Thomas, recording secretary; Miss Argie McClain, financial secretary; Mrs. Thelma B. Jiggetts, treasurer; Mrs. Mary T. Stokes, parliamentarian; Mrs. Dora Braddy, chaplain; Mesdames Beryl W. Williams, Sarah F. Diggs, boyer, Alberta McNeill, Gertrude boyer, Mesdames Ann Clinkscales, Hazel Ellerbe, Mary Crump, Solome Fuller, Elizabeth C. Demby; and Misses Marion Jones and Ruth L. Russell.

Their guests were:

Mesdames Gertrude Gorman of New York City, Sarah Berger, Anna Mackal, Claudia A. Ross, Mary Savage, Bessie Smith, Bessie Womack, Georgianna Polston;

Mesdames Jessie Thompson, Stella Parker, Isolene Crowner, William Bailey, Harvey Seay, Verna W. Clay, Jane Harrison, Gwendolyn Parker, Corlett Thomas, Beverly Marshall, Sarah Greene.

Mesdames Mattie Stevenson, Harry Charles, Betty Garner, Geraldine Garner, Mary Johnson, Daisy B. Jones, Grace Hunt, Franklin DeShields;

THE HOLIDAY MOOD booms early hereabouts.

For instance, Jeannette Johnson, gave Christmas jollity a shove on the very first day of December, when she held forth for "The Organization."

The group's Christmas party will be held early because of the variety of activities being planned by members.

The party will be in the home of Ernest Lewis on White Chapel Road.

Jeannette's affair took on the theme of a "United Nations' Party" . . . with a General Assembly meeting deciding that a shower was in line for Mae Cornish. And shower her, they did, with lingerie that was of the best.

About for the fun were Geneva Johnson, Mae Cornish, Lillian Wilson, Alphua Williams, Marion Amphrey, Leana Ferrell and Ernestine Lewis.

AND THAT was a gay night, Friday ago, for the Cardigans, who entertained several hundred guests at a novel Gypsy Dance in the Catonsville Armory.

Their decorations were delightful . . . crystal balls, and stars . . . to which was added Jimmy Smith's Rockets of Rhythm's swing.

Members of the club wore picturesque costumes of red skirts and red and white blouses to which were added multiple bangles, baubles and beads. Each member presided over a beautifully decorated table.

Looking ready to tell fortunes and read palms, as well as take over the other chores of Gypsy lore were Ida and Delmas Milbourne, Darlene and Jack Alston, Brenda and Robert West, Carrie and Henry Arlington, who trekked over from Washington.

Hostesses at the affair were:

Vera Fry, Myrtle Smith, Ruth Tonkins, Gloria Sims, Bernice White, Margaret Eyman, Maxine Jackson, Rose Hawkins, Lollie Hockaday; Vera Taylor, Bernice Hall, Margaret Peck, Marion Banks, Harriet Morton Elizabeth Butler; Janie Wright, Mary Williams, Beulah Westcoff, Louise Edwards, and Barbara Jenkins.

THE WE WIVES met with Josephine Brown this past Tuesday, meeting first for cocktails and dinner at hubby's (Walter Brown's) Uptown Club.

After martini's, the group was served soft shell crabs and Smithfield ham with hot rolls . . . then later to Josephine's house (which she has recently redecorated in soft shades of yellow and grey) for meeting. Adelle Foreman, president, heard reports on group's February cabaret, which will be headed by Ada Weaver.

Regrets were: Lillian Ross, Verniece Reynolds.

Parents host pre-graduation, birthday party of Miss Brown

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Hopkins staged a colorful and unique surprise party for their daughter, Gwendolyn Elvenia Brown, on her birthday, Saturday.

The party was in the home of her parents, 3205 Dennlyn Road.

Miss Brown is a senior at Morgan State College and a member of Gamma Theta Upsilon Fraternity, a geography honor society. It was her parents special wish to have a gala birthday party precede her graduation.

During the weeks of secret planning of the party, special arrangements were made to draw participants to the affair who had played definite roles in the young student's life.

MRS. DOROTHY B. McKINNON had the task of luring Gwendolyn away from home while guests assembled. At the zero hour as she came upon the opening of their door, the click of cameras and the voices of friends singing the familiar "Happy Birthday to You" her mother to allow for a faxed check, Gwendolyn returned to the living room to witness parts of the story of her life from baby cooing to future family plans.

MISS BROWN

There were films of her special interest: the Navaho Indians or North America and of India. There were cute folders bearing numbers for guests to whom door prizes went.

THERE WERE remarks by her teachers and instructors, including, Mrs. Esther Morris, who taught Gwendolyn in eighth grade: Lawrence H. Middleton, Dr. Donald Brandon and Dr. Alexander J. Walker, who are among her college professors.

Highspot was the announcement that Gwendolyn's grandfather, Archie Cashier, had traveled 1400 miles from Mobile, Ala., to attend the celebration and to bring a special birthday cake.

THE DINING buffet was arranged in form of a "G" and laden with beautifully prepared foods of delicious kinds. When guests had been served, the younger members of the party moved into the den, which had been stripped of all furnishings to make room for the covers, the honoree's photographs, ticker tapes, etc. Here they danced while their elders talked, etc. until early in the morning.

GUESTS AT the party included:

Messrs. and Mesdames Theodore McKinnon, Charles Rountree, Roland Harris, Terry Cunningham, Brown Pinkney, James Dorsey of Washington;

Drs. and Mesdames Brennie E. Hackley, Jr., and Alexander J. Walker; the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Jackson;

For Women Only

Editor's Note: FOR WOMEN ONLY is a new column. It will contain valuable information on matters pertaining to family planning and related subjects. Address letters to: FOR WOMEN ONLY, 352 E. 25th St., Baltimore 18, Md.

By BETTY K.

"We'll see you next year with your seventh," said the maternity nurse as she handed me my baby when I left the hospital. "See me next year . . . see me next year . . ." These words had haunted me day after day, for it was true that I had been in the hospital every year for six years delivering baby after baby.

"But I just can't have another baby!" I cried. "We don't have the room for another child, my husband's salary won't pay for another mouth to feed and body to dress, my health won't stand this much longer. . . I'm worn out. There must be a way. . . ."

Yes, there is a "a way." If only I could have talked to this woman when she first took her wedding vows, how different her life might have been. I would have told her about Planned Parenthood where she could have gone—and can still go — to be shown "the way" to have only those babies that she wanted to have.

You see, Planned Parenthood is dedicated to the slogan: "Every Child A Wanted Child" and "Children By Choice and Not By Chance!"

Through Planned Parenthood she could have learned — and she can now learn — to space her children.

She could have learned that children should be born when conditions for their care are the very best; when the father can support his family, the mother can easily care for her family without damaging her health, when there are no major problems of finances, health and happiness.

Planned Parenthood does NOT tell any family how many children to have — this is up to the husband and wife to decide.

However, Planned Parenthood does show the husband and wife how to have the numbers of children that they want with no harm to either partner. Planned Parenthood shows how to space children by using simple and safe methods of birth control.

BUT PERHAPS you are asking. "What is Planned Parenthood?" Planned Parenthood is a voluntary medical agency which offers the only birth control services to married women on a clinic level.

It operates nine clinics each week plus Mobile Unit clinic at 352 E. 25th St., and one each at Lutheran Hospital, Franklin Square Hospital, Community Presbyterian Church in Cherry Hill and The Graceland Methodist Church in Dundalk.

In addition to offering services for the limiting of children for nurses, medical students, Planned Parenthood also offers services to those childless couples who desire children but who have not been able to fulfill their desires.

It offers pre - marital counseling and education for those young people who are starting out in life and also serves as a training center for students and doctors in the techniques of birth control.

"WHAT HAPPENS to me when I go to one of these clinics?" you ask. Or, "What does the church think about this?" "What about the Welfare client — can she get help?" "Is this problem just a Baltimore problem?" "What is this Mobile Unit?"

And so many more questions will be answered in future columns. In the meantime, if there are any other questions that you wish answered write to me at the above address and I shall be happy to print your letter and an answer in future articles.

To get an appointment or to get further information about Planned Parenthood clinics, call Hopkins 7-5905.
