Pierians to join town in Xmas partying

with Lula Jones Garrett

The Pierians, tonight (Friday) will mark the season with a three-dimentional party in the home of Mercedes Douglass.

First section "Joy to the World" will have as guests the Etude Octette, with whom members, their husbands and friends, will join in carol singing.

Second section "And some came bringing frankincense and myrrh" to which each each will contribute by dropping into their "scent" container, a sweet-smelling item, which of course, will end in wind up as gifts to the 40 persons expected at the party.

Their "Peace on Earth, Good will to all men" section will be a theater party on January 11th, when members and guests will see "The Visit" that drama made famous by the Lunts. 'Twill be a Vagabond Theatre production.

Mrs. Douglas and Catherine Wilson have planned this evening's affair.

DR. AND MRS. George Pendleton's elegant home on Dorchester Road was the elegant setting for an equally elegant hostess as Vivian (Mrs. P.) entertained at one of the earliest of the holiday parties, Saturday night.

Wearing a beige cashmere sweater, paved in gold sequins, a top a deep brown hostess skirt, with deep slit at right back, Mrs. Pendleton set the pace for a bevy of handsome gals who were in the mood for Christmas dressing.

For instance, Augusta Chiswell chose a pale lemon-colored two-piece cashmere dress (which, incidentally she topped with a new autumn haze mink, her Christmas gift from Dr. Chiswell); Mildred Pierce's ensemble was deep gray wool trimmed with jet beads; Miriam Brown was in red brocade, sut what was especially entrancing was that clipped boyish hair cut that she is wearing these days.

Helen Burwell highlighted a cream-colored wool with a bib of palletes, and Ronnie Carr was in pale green brocade. Kay Carter's black brocade sheet, splashed in red were the most! And pretty Peggy Jones, late because of baby-sitting lack, but in time to aid with score-keeping added a bright note in red trimmed in leopard.

Vivian received guests in that beautiful white and brown living room, served them sherry and sent them along for seated supper in the club room. Later they played bridge, and at the close of the evening Vivian distributed prizes for so many reasons in addition to high scores that most of the guest left bearing a gift.

The guests included:

Gladys Sheppard, Grace Hunt, Augusta Chissell, Marion Ginn Johnson, Eugenia (Prim) Williams, Lillian Watty,

Mildred Pierson, Celonia Walden, Mary Lou Redd, Seretha Greene, Miriam Brown, Vashti Matthews, Helen Burwell,

Ronnie Carr, Robbie Chissell, Kay Carter, Stevie Harris, Jean Cummings, Emma Michaels, Ellsworth Rhetta, Bertie West, Harriett Jones, Anethia Williams, Mattie Connor, Lula Patterson, Susan Smith, Mae Campbell, Romaine Jones, Catherine Adams, Joan Scott, Peggy Jones.

LAST MONDAY, The Chi Delta Mu Wives their Christmas meeting in the Elegante Room with Mesdames Jean Butler, Gwendolyn Hill, Alice Sykes and Sue Allen, as co-hostesses.

The Chi Wives are primarily fun loving girls but at Christmas the fun is shared with others less fortunate. Donations of money and handbags went to Henryion State Hospital; jewelry to Crownsville State Hospital, and a life membership in the N.A.A.C.P. was started.

Secret Pals were revealed at this time and a delightful time it was to see such an assortment of gifts, A. to Z, you name it, it was there in glowing colors.

Another traditional custom of the club is to present a Savings Bond to the first baby born to a member. This year the recipient is Richard Butler, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Butler.

Members attending were Mesdames Trudy Luck, Janice Tribble, Ann White, Alice Sheilton, Reta Ross, Celonia B. Walden, Gwendolyn Hill, Jean Butler, Sue Allen, Alice Sykes, Helen Birt, Mabel Byrd, Jeannette Christmas, Vashti Christmas, Mesdames Mabel Alleyne, Thelma Bando, Doris Reynolds, Dorothy Hawkins, Charlotte Sherrington, Minnie Lee, Bernice McDaniels, Mamie Williams, Eugenia Anderson, Edith Davidson, Serena Holmes and Delores Hunt.

A GROUP of young matrons have been playing bridge for over a year now and just recently named themselves, 'The Players Nine.

They met at the home of Bernice McDaniels Friday night. It was supposed to be a regular session out it turned into a pre-Yuletide celebration. Everybody won a prize, Edith Smith did not have the coveted honor of being "booby".

Walta Young was greeted and welcomed as the recent Player Nine.

Other members present were Ada Woodland, Bernice Robinson, Minnie Smoot, Ernestine Brown, Frances Finney, and Toni Perkins.

Guests adding to the festivity were Vashti Christmas, Helen Mae Chamberlain, Delores Hunt and Mamie Williams.

PRETTY Christmas party, Saturday ago, was the dinner meeting of the Poinsettas (Club), where members also exchanged gifts and played pinochle.

The affair was in the Winchester Avenue home of Pauline Butler, with the business session being presided over by Thelma Weaver, who heads the group.

Mrs. Weaver, incidentally, took first prize. Second prize went to Lillie Stevenson.

Also there were Rosa Bright, Mary Horsey, Dorothy Smith, Genevieve Fields, India Diggs, Flora Gaines Maybelle Alleyne, Flossie Harcum and Alice Morrell. Top item of interest of this club's doings is the completion of their $50 life membership in NAACP.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF

WOMAN POWER, Inc.

December 8, 1962

Mrs. Victorine Q. Adams
Executive Director Woman Power, Inc.
New Provident Hospital Building have been Baltimore, Maryland

In accordance with our agreement the Financial Statement of Woman Power, Inc., New Provident Hospital Building have been audited and are submitted for the period July 1, 1961 through November 18, 1962.

The audit disclosed that one hundred twenty-one ladies have paid or are paying on their pledges. Payments range from one dollar ($1.00) to one hundred twenty dollars ($120.00). It was noted some payments were made over the pledge amount of one hundred twenty dollars ($120.00).

Since January 27, 1962, 60 ladies have completed the payment of their pledges. Fifty (50) payments totaling $3,050.00 were received during the month of October, 1962

It is strongly recommended that (1) the ladies who have not completed their pledges be encouraged to do so; (2) a sytematic plan be offered to them for easily completing these payments; (3) they be advised of the due date and amount of their next payment in advance.

Your project for the building fund has been very successful and you are to be commended. Baltimore and especially Provident Hospital should be proud of having devoted, hardwo rking women such as make up your organization, Woman Power, Inc.

DELTA SIGMA THETA Alumnae sorror recently had a unique Pepperminit Thirst Party, at Morgan Christian Center for their Alpha Hamma sorors on Campus.

A carnival air prevailed what with red satin ribbons flowing across the white banquet clothe interspersed with tinly peppermint sticks, silver candelabra alternating thick peppermint sticks with red and white candles, stripped potato salad, ham, garden salad , fancy cakes, and a delicious mint flavored and a delicious mint flavored punch.

Miniature Candy cane corsage were pinned on sorors' red and white ensemble as they arrived.

Baltimore Alumnae President Celonia Walden welcomed sorors to the novel affair and acted as game leader, awarding twisted candy cane ball-point pens as prizes.

Setting the tone for the holiday season were Sorors Beryl Williams and Rubye Gill, who led a rousing song fest which included three songs composed for the occassion by Soror Gloria Stokes.
