Central YMCA offers adult education courses

A series of 20 adult education courses, ranging from instruction in arts and crafts such as oil painting and home decorating, to the fundamentals of investing money, will start at the Central YMCA, 24 W. Franklin St., January 3-11.

Stanley W. Stecker, adult program secretary, announced today that class enrollments are being accepted at the central branch.

—"Learning for Living" is the theme of the Y's 1963 educational classes and discussion groups. Language courses in conversational French and Spanish underscore the growing interest in travel abroad, with special refresher courses being offered next March and April for European travelers.

Plans are being developed also for conducted group tour flights to Europe, Mr. Stecker said.

• • •

ARMCHAIR TOURS around the world are scheduled to be conducted in the hour preceding class meeting time, in the form of films and/or by natives of various countries.

Forums on public affairs, discussions on great books, the American economic system and law for the layman, as well as a course on Russia, past and present, will be part of the Y's program. Among other courses is one on community and personal preparedness for survival.

A continuing activity at the YMCA is individual counseling in personal, educational, or vocational problems.

Shiloh gets NAACP award

WASHINGTON

The District branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People presented the Shiloh Baptist Church, Ninth and P. Sts. NW, a cup for their successful membership drive of 1962 recently. William Cook made the presentation, Rev. Earl L. Harrison, pastor, received for the church.

Mrs. Eva Gibson, Mrs. Evelyn Vincent and Mrs. Ruth Blagden were recipients of certificates and pins; while Mrs. Edith Clarke and Rev. Harrison received pins at the presentation.

Shiloh's NAACP Church membership chairman presented to Mrs. Sadye Crump, and Mrs. M. J. Styles a pin and a copy of the book "Fight for Freedom." They represented the two oldest members securing memberships. Dr. Theodore George was presented a pin for securing the largest number of individual memberships.

Mrs. Blanche Carter, a member of Tenth Street Baptist Church, and president of the NAACP, District Branch, Church Affairs Committee was in attendance and offered the closing remarks at the close of the program.

Dr. W. Franklin Jackson, president of the local branch indicated in his remarks his plans to initiate a Youth Council and have more then 5000 youths pledged by early '63. A chapter will be organized at Shiloh the first of the year.

REGISTER today so you can vote in the forthcoming primary election on MARCH 5. ¾¾ If you NOT registered Republican or Democrat, you can NOT vote in a Primary. However, you can change your party affiliation and qualify to vote. You must also advise the Supervisors of Elections Gay and Fayette Sts., if you have changed your address since the last election.

I Wish to Express My Heartfelt Gratitude to My Many Friends and Relatives for Their Many Christmas Greetings.

THE MED-CHI DANCE — No Christmas is complete without the annual Med-Chi dance at the Presidential Arms. One of the best dances of the season, some of the guests were Dr. and Mrs. Linwood Rayford Jr., Deputy Coroner of the D.C. and (right) Dr. and Mrs. William Funderburk. The people and the music of Bobby Felder and his Blue Notes made the dance. AFRO photo by Cabell.

Snow made medic's dance more fun

WASHINGTON

"The weather outside is frightful; but the snow is so delightful ... let it snow, let it snow, let it snow..."

Wearing lovely dresses, some long, nd some shirt, the "weaker sex" just bundled up, covered their glittering, bright colored shoes with boots and surged forth to enjoy a really fun dance.

"... let it snow, let it snow, let it snow ..."

Waiting while their spouses parked the cars, were Mrs. Warren Strudwick in a long black evening skirt; Mrs. Carmen Turner whose sister just married Clinton Dickerson recently, and Mrs. Walter Washington in a white gown and beautiful gold pumps.

• • •

TAKING ALL honors for "they dance together so well" were Dr. and Mrs. Elvius Gaither and Mr. and Mrs. Stan Kelly.

Pretty Orelia Ledbetter in a black sheath had many dances with her husband the Rev. Ledbetter viewed the dance from an almost ringside table.

The table with Frank and Beth Reeves, the Ambassador of Sierra Leone and Mrs. Richard Kelfe-Cauliker who were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Mitchell Spelman (he's the new Med-Chi prexy); offered a good view.

This gave them a good view of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harris who were dancing mighty close; Mr. and Mrs. James Eichelberger who had a honeymoon look; Dr. and Mrs. Stud Greene who did their rarely seen twist; Dr. and Mrs. Louis Atkins, Mrs. D'Orsey Bryant; and the recently elected president of the Huntsmen, Dr. Dick Clayton and Lavonne.

• • •

PLACIDE ROBERTS in a floor length aqua gown was a pretty picture with her handsome silver - haired husband just as Marguerite Belafonte caught all eyes dancing with the charming Dr. Eddy Mazique.

Mrs. Belafonte's brother, a brilliant architect Dave Byrd (he designed that marvelous Bettis house on Blagden Avenue) and his wife were there.

Near the Mazique table were Mr. and Mrs. Julian Martin, Dr. and Mrs. Vincent Browne, and passing all tables knowing everyone was Lloyd Gemus. Wearing a neck brace was no deterrant to his fun, and Alma looked obviously glad to see him so happy.

• • •

Getting just as much attention as the guests were Bobby Felder and his Blue Notes who were wearing new gray uniforms with black braid just right for the holiday.

On hand with the vocals were Ernest Hills, and Shirley Courtney. Bobby Felder could hardly play for being beseiged by the guests with requests and checking 1963 engagements.

IT WAS Judge Joseph Waddy — temporarily deserted by Alpha Wife, Elizabeth — who commented, "You know that Bobby Felder is smart. He's plays the music people like to hear."

Whether it was music, the guests, the Medical Chirurgical Society that sponsored the dance or the snow or the Christmas gaity ... it was a great dance.

IN TRADITIONAL "great happiness" ceremony, Vernon Keyes lifts his bride, the former Dorothy Price, over the threshold following their marriage, Saturday.

Fellowship Hour held at Hayes

The Thomas G. Hayes School No. 102 held its Annual "Christmas Fellowship Hour" in the school just before the Christmas holiday season.

The Vice-Principal, Wilbert E. Merchant delivered a message on the meaning of "True Fellowship."

The faculty members and guests joined in group singing of the Christmas carols. The "Teachers Chorus," directed by Mrs. Delores Stokes, gave several Christmas songs and carols. Miss Elmira Miller, the music teacher, accompanied the group.

The entire school family was present. Included were staff members, resource teachers, faculty members and crossing guards.

Gifts were exchanged by the group.

Special guests present were Miss Mary Adams, assistant superintendent of education, and Miss Edith Walker, director of elementary education.

Irvin Bryan was chairman of the affair. Mrs. Camilla Williams was co-chairman.

Mrs. Anne L. Payne is the principal.

Baptists set mission rally

WASHINGTON

Help your child to love reading

By ANNE C. WEAVER

There is a great deal to be said for the development of reading as a leisure-time activity.

The child who, at an early age, finds pleasure in creative writing has a head start on the development of strength of character (was there ever a fairy tale which didn't proclaim the triumph of good over evil), sense of humor, and intellectual curiosity.

Have you ever heard of a juvenile delinquent who practiced vandalism after he finished reading something well-written and unrelated to schoolwork? In fact, the adult delinquents are turning to reading as a form of rehabilitation.

• • •

THIS IS NOT to suggest that children should read only fantasy in their leisure. Life is complex and so must be reading tastes. How else will they earn about scouting, stamp collecting, etc. To eliminate all factual material from a child's extracurricular reading would be the same as eliminating vegetables from his diet.

Our aim as parents, teachers and friends, should be to instill those traits which will make effective first-rate citizens of our children when they reach adulthood. We do this, not by treating them as miniatures of ourselves, but by introducing to them, and encouraging their interest in, the children's versions of the morals we wish them to hold in their hearts and minds. They need the entire world of books to show them the way: fiction, fantasy, and factual material, just as they need all kinds of foods to built healthy bodies.

• • •

THINKING along this line, the Urban Service Corps has instigated a reading enrichment program, which is designed to help uninterested readers relate to books in a way which will encourage reading during leisure hours. This is an offshoot of the D.C Public Schools, so the volunteer workers are trained. The program is in its first stages, and the children from at least one school seem quite enthusiastic about their "library club." We hope that this will mark the renaissance of reading as a hobby among more children. So many vicarious experiences can be shared through books that it almost seems an answer to those who ask, "What's wrong with the children today?"

If handled properly, this can be the greatest idea in the District since progressive education.

Washington Bridge unit

Pre - Christmas shopping did not keep the bridge players away from the duplicate tables as December 10th saw two games in progress. The North-East Stedio held a six table Mitchell game with John A. Alexander directing. Husband and wife teams dominated the winners' circle.

In the North - South direction, the results were: winners, Dr. and Mrs. William Taylor; second, Mr. and Mrs. James Walker; and third, David Wadsworth and B. Edelin.

• • •

CONTINUING TO play a consistent game, the team of Mr. and Mrs. James Ellis won in the East - West direction, with Charles Roddick and John A. Alexander, second; and J. Ira Lucas and T. V. Richardson, third.

ON THE same evening, the V.I.P. Club held its closed club match. This eight table Mitchell game under the direction of Calvin Rubens, produced the following results:

North - South winners, Edna Davis and Idella Yurd; second, Dorella Martin and Alfretta Grasty; and third, Kayte Gibbs and Lulu Lewis.

East - West winners, Ola Parks and Thelma Wells; second, Marie Jones and Christine Hallman; and third, Elizabeth Carpenter and Bessie Rhyans.

There will be no public game by the V.I.P. club this month because of the holiday.

• • •

THE HILLTOP CLUB closed out the week with an eight table Mitchell game on Thursday, E. Jackson directing. The fields were evenly matched and the competition keen, with the final scores very close.

The winners in the North-South field were: first, Mary Coleman and Rosa Harris; second, Pauline Wood and Herbert McCloud; third, Robin Carter and William A. Edmonds.

The results in the East-West direction were: first, Ruth Gordon and Isaac Wansker; second, Thelma Jackson and Juanita Wansker; and third, Yale Parks and B. Edelin.

Chi - Wives sponsor contest

WASHINGTON

The Chi Wives held a special business meeting and Christmas party at Harrison's cafe this month.

Despite the holiday season, the Chi Wives are making plans for their June, 1963 convention which will be headquarters at the Statler-Hilton hotel.

Exchanging gifts, and enjoying refreshments were Mrs. Wilhelmina Thomas, the president; general chairman of the Chi - Wives program, Mrs. Gladys Burton, Mrs. Hannah Brazier, Mrs. Ella Parker, Mrs. Jewell Randall, Mrs. Mae Ward, Mrs. Colderidge Gill, Mrs. Canary White, and Mrs. Vivian Henderson.

Mrs. S. Garland Smyre is publicity director.

For Women Only

(ED. NOTE — The following is an account of a visit to Planned Parenthood.)

The outside of the house at 352 East 25th Street looked cold and gray, but women who had already been here told me that the people on the inside would make me feel welcome.

And I did feel better as soon as I got inside the front door. In the reception room, a friendly gray - haired lady called "Come on in and have a chair." Maybe I was right to come to Planned Parenthood, after all.

The secretary took my name and address, and then told me to wait upstairs for the woman who would interview me. I was relieved to find other women in the upstairs waiting room, talking and looking through magazines. I began to feel at home.

I had just lighted a cigarette, when I was beckoned into a small room off the waiting room. I sat down in one of the two chairs, across from an attractive woman in her thirties.

She introduced herself, and then began asking a few questions. "Nothing too personal," she promised. She asked where my husband worked, how many children I had, and how I felt about Planned Parenthood. I told her where Sam worked, the ages of our four children, and told her that my cousin Shirley and her best friend had both told me about Planned Parenthood.

"FIRST I WANT to explain that you get more than just birth control here. Today, one of our doctors will give you an examination and a quick and easy test, to make sure that you do not have cancer she said.

"Now for the cost: First, there is a basic fee of $1.00. Then, we ask to that 10 per cent of the total weekly income of your family. When we've added these two figures, we subtract 50 cents for each member of your family.

"Now you live with your husband, four children, and your husband's mother, which makes a total of seven people in your household. "The total family income is $80 a week, and 10 per cent of that is $8. That, plus the $1 basic fee is $7.00, but we take off from that 50 cents a person, or $3.50.

"So your medical examination, your cancer test, and your supplies will cost you $3.50. Remember, that's your fee for the entire year, but if it is too much for you, we will work something out," she said.

"Once money matters were settled, we began to talk about the different methods of birth control, but I wasn't supposed to decide while I waited, she said I'd talked to the doctor.

"I was a little nervous about the doctor's examination, but a fun crowd had been friendly, and no one had forced me to do anything.

"A few minutes later, a woman doctor took me into a clean, white room and gave me the examination and cancer test, which was over before I knew it had begun — another relief! Then she began telling me about the different methods of birth control.

"After she'd explained them all to me, I picked what I thought would be the easiest way, the doctor gave me my supplies and asked me to come back in a week for a check-up.

"After that, I wouldn't have to come back again for a year.

"When I was out on the street again, the house at 352 East 25th looked warm and inviting — all because I now knew it from the inside."

Remember:

If you have questions, write to FOR WOMEN ONLY, Planned Parenthood, 352 East 25th Street, Baltimore 18, Maryland. Or call Planned Parenthood, at Hopkins 7-6805. Our next column will be on, "What does your husband say about Planned Parenthood?"

Stir toasted sesame seeds into a delicious butter cookie dough and you have Sesame Marvels, an unusual but very easy holiday cookie. The toasted sesame seeds lend nutty flavor and crunchy texture to these crisp little wafers.

The Sesame Marvel dough is soft, but thorough chilling (overnight is best) makes it just the right consistency for rolling and cutting. Roll out about one third of the dough at a time, keeping the remaining dough refrigerated. Work quickly so the dough doesn't become soft again.

• • •

SESAME MARVELS are not an extremely sweet cookie, so they're perfect for serving with coffee and ice cream. Children will like them as an after school snack with a glass of milk.

An attractive cookie jar filled with Sesame Marvels makes a delightful Christmas gift for friends. The attached recipe is an extra welcome addition, for Sesame Marvels will become year-round favorites as the recipe is used again and again.

SESAME MARVELS are extra nutritious, too, because they're made with enriched flour. Three important B-vitamins — Thiamine, niacin and riboflavin and the mineral iron are blended into enriched flour by the flour millers.

Treat your family to a variety of cookies during the holidays and all year. Choose from the colorful and tasty selection on your grocers' and bakers' shelves.

MAKE SESAME MARVELS WITH 2½ cups sifted enriched flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup butter or margarine, 2 eggs, ¼ cup milk, 2 teaspoons vanilla extract, ¼ cup toasted sesame seeds and 1½ cups confectioners' sugar.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter or margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in eggs. Combine milk and vanilla extract. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Mix well. Stir in sesame seeds.

• • •

CHILL DOUGH in refrigerator for several hours or overnight. Roll out about one-third of dough at a time on floured board or pastry cloth to ¼ inch thickness. Cut with floured 2-inch cookie cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheets in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes, or until edges are lightly browned.

Makes about 7 dozen 2-inch cookies.

To toast, spread sesame seeds in shallow pan and heat in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until lightly browned (about 15 minutes).

SESAME MARVELS, with the flavor and crunch of toasted sesame seeds, are a happy addition to the hostess' holiday tables.

Onion-Clam Dip

During the holidays when everyone is party-conscious and food - conscious, enjoy this "modern" version of an old stand by — "Onion-Clam Dip." Instant minced onion is added to the cream cheese, minced clams and seasonings, giving new life to an you have never used instant minced onion, a dip is one of the best ways to find out what you've been missing in the way of true convenence foods.

ONIONCLAM DIP requires one package (8 oz. cream cheese, one can (7½ oz.) minced clams, undrained; one tablespoon instant minced onion, one half teaspoon seasoned salt, one eighth teaspoon paprika and one tablespoon lemon juice.

Soften cheese; beat in undrained clams. Add all remaining ingredients, mixing well. Refrigerate several hours to blend flavors.

Makes about one and three-fourth cups.

Mixture may be used as a dip or thinned with cream, sour cream, broth, white dinner wine or water and served over crisp lettuce wedges or on seafood or vegetable salads.

Bring in 1963 with the exotic eggnogs

What is more traditional for the holiday season than a cup of rich, full - flavored, nutmeg - dusted eggnog. There are many ways to make this delightful beverage — each according to individual taste.

The recipe given is only a guide — to be made thick or thin, strong or "weak" —as desired. This and hundreds of delicious recipes are found in the latest edition of "The Joy of Cooking" by Rombauer:

• • •

EGGNOG

12 egg yolks
1 pound confectioners' sugar
2 cups dark rum, brandy, bourbon or rye
2 cups liquor, chosen
2 quarts of whipping cream
1 cup peach brandy
8 - 12 egg whites

• • •

BEAT EGG YOLKS until light and fluffy. Gradually beat in confectioners' sugar. Slowly add Rum (or), beating constantly. Let stand for 1 hour to mellow. Add 2 to 4 cups of chosen liquor, beating constantly. Add whipping cream and brandy. Refrigerate this for three hours. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Fold them into other ingredients. Serve sprinkled with freshly grated nutmeg. About 20 servings.

Commercially prepared Eggnog, with a "spirited transfusion" is an easy way to add Yuletide Cheer to your Holiday Food Fare. To make you an "Angel - of - a - Hostess, surprise your guests with easy - to - prepare Eggnog Desserts. These dishes are prepared with unflavored gelatin.

Green Bean

Any reluctant vegetable eaters in your house?

We doubt that there will be when you serve "Green Bean Tomato Curry." In this canned recipe, canned blue lake green beans, onion, mushrooms and tomatoes make a delectable flavor combination lightly sparked with curry.

SIMPLY HEATED IN their own liquid, blue lakes are a good vegetable to serve with almost any main dish.

The abundance of water in the Northwest where they are grown is largely responsible for their succulance. Serve them chilled and marinated in French dressing for a winter salad.

FOR GREEN BEAN Tomato Curry use 1 can (1 lb.) cut blue lake green beans, 1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, 1 small onion, ¼ cup butter or margarine, ¼ cup flour, 1/8 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon curry powder, 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce, and 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve over boiling water. Add to eggnog gradually, stirring rapidly. Pour over cake placed in 8" layer cake pan. Cake will float. Chill overnight.

Spoon into dessert dishes. Slice banana over top. For variation top with spoonful of canned whole cranberry sauce. Garnish with whipped cream flavored with almond. Makes 3 to 6 servings.

Best wishes for the Holiday Season. I am taking a week's vacation from Mildred's Kitchen. See you next year!
