Library of Congress rears up again on racist haunches

By CHARLES TYLER
WASHINGTON

THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS which was the subject of an expose in this newspaper last year for its racial discriminatory practices has begun to "act up again."

Several Senators and Representatives, disturbed about the Library's obvious discrimination, made inquiries as a result of the documentation in the articles. It looks as if they may have to do some more inquiring when they reconvene in January.

Here's a very recent "for instance" of the new twist the bigots at the Library are using by putting in colored workers who are not qualified for the job: a colored veteran, three and one-half years of college, over fifteen years in the Library, applied for a job for which he had five years experience in a similar job.

Naturally, the Library personnel office put a white man in the job.

When the veteran protested, they held a hearing. On the hearing board was a colored person — a very "safe" colored person.

After the hearing was over, a colored man was indeed put in the job, but not the veteran. Instead, a colored worker with a high school education and less than five years experience.

FRANK REEVES' home will be "the place" in a couple of weeks when a small group of high-level "new frontiersmen" welcome the first colored Congressman west of the Mississippi, Augustus Hawkins of Los Angeles.

Inspired by Rep. Charles Diggs, the affair will be an informal one to make Rep. Hawkins feel at home in his new home.

So, you "new frontiersmen" who received your letters, respond chop chop to Sam Westerfield. Let's make it a good one for the Hawk.

ROGER WILKINS left the day after Christmas to accompany new AID director David Bell on a three-week tour of Asia's AID projects. The bright, young attorney was formerly special assistant to the most recent casualty among foreign aid directors, Fowler Hamilton.

D.C. POST OFFICE drinking, reported recently in the papers, is just so much political garbage.

Actually, the amount of drinking very small has always gone on in the main post office - just as it does in post offices all across the country, and in fact, in many businesses. The important thing is to control it.

The release of the news to the newspapers really represents a rearguard action of Postmaster Beall (a Republican holdover who refuses to resign in the power struggle going on between him and the Postmaster General's office.

Everybody — but everybody — wants Beall out. Not only is he a Republican, but he isn't even the most efficient one at that.

It'll take a little time, but he'll go.

AFRICA is the new battleground for the power struggle twixt Russia and the U.S.

We often accuse certain African countries of being neutralist in favor of Russia or chide them for not being more pro-Western.

The fact is Russians work at winning friends harder than we do. For example, two-column ads the length of the page appear occasionally in the tabloid "Daily Graphic" (Ghana's largest and best newspaper), advertising 80 scholarships being awarded through the Ministry of Agriculture to the Soviet Union for study.

The scholarships are for courses of study such as marine engineering, refrigeration engineering, radio and electronic engineering, electrical engineering, and fish marketing — all of which Ghanaians need to know.

And where are the U.S.'s advertisements.

First of Year Griddlecakes

Start the New Year off right with a man - sized breakfast featuring "First of the Year Griddlecakes." Add to them a pad of butter, freshly broiled peach halves and some hot maple syrup for that additional flavor. Try this simple recipe:

FIRST OF YEAR GRIDDLECAKES are made with 1½ cups sifted, enriched Washington Self - Rising Flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 egg, beaten, 1¼ cups milk, 3 tablespoons oil or melted shortening, and 2/3 cup diced cooked ham.

Sifted together flour, sugar and mustard. Combine egg, milk and oil; stir in ham. Add liquid mixture to flour, stirring until blended. Bake on an ungreased griddle (preheated to 375 degrees F). Serve warm with butter or margarine, hot syrup, and broiled peach halves.

Makes about 1 dozen 4-inch griddlecakes.

Select your favorite pieces of chicken and simmer them with celery, green pepper and canned purple plums in a tangy sauce for sweet-sour "Plum Chicken."

The extra heavy syrup from a can of purple plums adds piquancy to the delicious sauce.

SEASON CHICKEN with ¼ teaspoon salt in a large skillet over medium heat, brown chicken in oil. Meanwhile, drain plums, saving 1½ cups syrup. Halve plums; remove pits

SAY IT WITH CHRISTIAN BROTHERS—Mrs. Theodore R. Hagans, wife of the Vice-President and General Manager of the New Dunbar Hotel gets ready for the coming holidays. While the oven is heating for the roast, Mrs. Hagans gets the fruit sauce ready for the dessert. For this she uses Christian Brothers Chateau LaSalle. Her fruit sauce recipe includes the following: combine, stir and heat to boining 1 cp unsweetened fruit juice, ½ to ¾ cup sugar; 1 tablespoon cornstarch or 2 tablespoon flour. Remove the sauce from the fire, stir in 2 tps. lemon juice; 2 table spoons of butter, shredded fruit. Flavor wit Chateau LaSalle. (AFRO photo by Cabell) wine magic out on your guy first. A guinea pig though he may be, he's worth it:

Anyway, who else in your life deserves your cooking flair more?

Cooking with wine? just be discreet

By ROSEMARIE TYLER

The essence of wine cookery is descretion.

Its flavor is a pleasant addition to food — a refinement and a sensitive one— but it must never dominate.

As a general guide to wine cookery, keep the following mental chart: use sherry and or Madeira for soups; dry white white wine for fish; dry red wines for meats and poets, sweet, sherry, liquors, brandy or rum for desses.

THE RULES are safe when serving wines with meals.

For the newly married hostess, ..owever, champagne and a medicum dry sherry can be served with all foods, and throughout a meal.

For the hostess who wants to be precise about her wine serving, be careful to serve white wines with hors d'oeuvres, fish and white meat. Red wines can be served dark meats, game and cheeses.

MEANWHILE back in the kitchen ...any hot soup is battered by two teaspoonfulls of sherry (dry that is). Of for a bit of a dash, add a cup of red wine to a beef gravy.

An important rule of thumb in cooking with wine is to rember that is the wine is not good enough to drink, it is not good enough to cook with.

Often, wine is a lifesaver for the hostess who has a guest who does not drink.

Wine is perfect. Highly recommended with dessert or after dinner is Chateau LaSalle by Christian Brothers.

WHILE everyone seems to enjoy a martini, there are few non-conformists who do not. The light, delicate cocktail Sherry by Christian Brothers is perfect befors dinner appetizer.

In fact, some confirmed martini drinkers are often fooled by this flavorful sherry. In addition, gin added to the cocktail sherry will make an excellent martini.

The most important rule of all for the new or experienced hostess is to never experiment with any dish or drink for the first time on a guest.

OTHO P. PINKETT

Otho P. Pinkett, housing aide, dies

Otho P. Pinkett, 62, 3508 Wabash Ave., for 15 years a public housing project manager of the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Authority, died Wednesday at Ft. Howard Hospital after a three-month illness.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 11 a.m. from the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, with burial to follow at the National Cemetery.

The Omega Psi Phi Fraternity of which Mr. Pinkett was a member of some 30 years, will hold a memorial service Sunday evening.

Mr. Pinkett was moved from Provident Hospital to Ft. Howard two weeks ago. He had been in Provident since suffering a stroke on Sept. 8.

His failing health was further endangered when he recently contacted pneumonia.

Mr. Pinkett was manager of the Lafayette Homes, in addition to holding several real estate interests at the time of his death.

At his bedside when he died was his wife, Mrs. May Pinkett who has carried on his business during his illness.

A GRADUATE of Morgan State College, Mr. Pinkett came to Baltimore from Salisbury in 1929.

He earned a Master's degree from Howard University.

Mr. Pinkett taught 4 years in secondary schools of Christfield, Md., before beginning work as a housing project manager.

A veteran of World War II, Mr. Pinkett served with a special detachment at Fort Holabird from 1944 until the end of the war.

An energetic church and civic worker, Mr. Pinkett was a member of Madison Ave. Presbyterian Church, also taught Sunday school and was a church elder.

He was vice-president of the Ashburton Neighborhood Improvement Association, Chairman of the Morgan State Alumni Student Loan Fund, a member of the provident Hospital Board of Directors, and vice-basileus of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

IN ADDITION to his wife, survivors include a daughter Patrice Pinkett; his mother, Mrs. Gethsemine Pinkett; three brothers, Allanson, New York transportation employee; Lloyd Pinkett, Philadelphia paint firm employee; Harold Pinkett, Washington National Archives employee; and a sister, Mrs. Catherine Thomas, employed by the Department of the Army, Washington.

Holiday message

By Rev. N. B. Carrington
Pastor Memorial Methodist Church

Jesus challenges the attention of the world by His the needs of all classes and conditions of men.

Call the roll of the world's workers and ask, "What think ye of Christ?" Their answers amaze us by their revelation of the manysided ness of our Lord.

To the Artist. He is the one altogether lovely. — To the Architect He is the chief cornerstone. To the Astronomer He is the sun of righteousness. —

To the Banker He is the hidden treasure. — To the Baker He is the living bread. — To the Biologist He is the Life. — To the Builder He is the sure foundation. To the Carpenter He is the door;

To the Doctor He is the great physical — To the Farmer He is the sower and the Lord of the harvest. — To the Florist He is the rose of Sharon and the lily of the Valley.

— To the Geologist He is the rock of ages. — To the Horticulturist He is the true vine. To the Judge He is the Juror He is the faithful and true witness.

To the Jeweler He is the pearl of great price. — To the Lawyer He is the counselor, the law-giver, the advocate.

— To the Newspaperman He is the tidings of great joy. To the Oculist He is the light of the eyes. — To the Philosopher He is the wisdom of God. —

To the Preacher He is the Word of God. To the Railroadman. He is the new and living way. — To the Sculptor He is the living stone.—

To the servant He is the good Master. To the Statesman He is the desire of all nations. — To the Student He is the incarnate truth. — To the Theologian. He is the author and finisher of our faith.

—To the Toiler He is the giver of rest. —To the Sinner He is the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world. —

To the Christian He is the Son of the Living God, Redeemer and Lord.

What is He to you?

Think this over and you too will find some Glorious Metaphor to express your relationship to Him.

Mrs. Clark of Owings Mills dies at 97

At the age of 97, Mrs. Rachel B. Clark, one of the oldest resident of Owings Mills, Md., died Dec. 24, at the home of her daughter Mrs. Minnie Hebrew, 2231 W. Lafayette Ave.

Funeral services were held Friday, at Mt. Pleasant AME Church, Owings Mills. Mrs. Clark was buried in the church cemetery.

Wife of the late William Henry Clark, Mrs. Clark was born in Owing Mills on May 12, 1865. The couple was married 1888 and Mr. Clark died in 1930.

"I can remember mother being sick only once," said Mrs. Hebron, "and that was 50 years ago. She had been blessed with the best of health and was still very active in her late 80's and early 90's.

MRS. CLARK had been spending the winter with her daughter, as she had been doing for several years, when she became ill, according to Mrs. Hebron.

The great - great - great mother of eight, great great mother of thirteen and mother of five, Mrs. Clark was the oldest member of Mt. Pleasant AME Church, in Owings Mills.

About nine years ago, the Rev. William Edwards, then circuit pastor of the Randalls town district, named the new Owings Mills Community Center for Mrs. Clark.

In addition to Mrs. Hebron and grand great great and great great great grandchildren surviving are; two sons, Elsworth and John Clark, and two other daughters, Mrs. Leeanna Ritchie, and Mrs. Sarah Dutton.

Masons to mark 100th Emancipation observance

A historic observance of the 100th anniversary of the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation has been scheduled for Sunday afternoon, Jan. 6, by the Prince Hall Masonic Grand Lodge.

More than 4,000 master Masons from every section of the state are expected to fill the Willard W. Allen Temple at 3:30 p.m. for the solemn program.

Principal speaker will be the Rev. Marion C. Bascom, pastor of the Douglas Memorial Community Church, who is expected to discuss the theme, Free by '63, the target date set 10 years ago by the NAACP.

JACK GREENBERG, who succeeded Judge Thurgood Marshall as chief legal counsel of the NAACP's Legal and Education Fund, has accepted an invitation to give Marylanders a detailed report on progress made thus far in the all - out fight for freedom.

A thrilling musical program has been planned by the combined choirs of Douglass Memorial Community Church under the direction of James S. Hammond, the church's minister of music.

Again emphasizing the growing unity theme of the Baha'i Masons, an invitation has been extended to the Hiram Masonic grand lodge to attend.

Samuel T. Daniels is grand master of the Prince Hall Masonic Grand Lodge. The Willard W. Allen Temple is located at 1301 Eutaw Pl. at Lanvale St. —CWM

OFF TO BETHLEHEM — The Rev. and Mrs. Dennis Barrow of 200 N. Wolfe St., are shown just before they boarded a plane for Brussels. The couple spent Christmas in Bethlehem. The Rev. Mr. Barrow is pastor of the Fountain Baptist Church.

Snell family saddened by death at Christmas

Christmas ended on a sad note for the Snell family, 900 block W. Franklin St., with death, the result of an apparent lovers' quarrel.

Dead on arrival Wednesday 4 am at Provident Hospital, of stab wounds in the chest and back, was Miss Patricia Snell, 20.

Police are seeking in connection with the stabbing a 19-year-old youth who has been seeing the girl until several days ago, when they broke off because of a quarrel according to the victim's brother, Lawrence, 14.

Everyone except the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Snell who are deaf mutes, heard the victim's screams in the night.

Awakened by the screams, Lawrence rushed from his second-floor bedroom to his sister's third floor bedroom of the three-story house to see what was the matter.

HE FOUND his sister sprawled on her stomach in her bedroom doorway, a red blanket and white sheet covering her body.

He knelt down to ask her what was the matter and he said she gasped the name of a youth she had been seeing until a few days ago.

When he rushed back down stairs to call the police and alert the household, Lawrence said he found a jacket, a pair of loafers and a pair of pants in a bundle in the front door hallway.

Police found the first floor kitchen window and the second floor bathroom window had been broken.

In the backyard, they found footprints leading to the house, "stocking" footprints leading away from the building, and a blood-stained boning knife.

MRS. SNELL, speaking through her daughter, Agnes 17, said her daughter, Patricia, had not complained to her of being in any trouble.

Miss Snell, who formerly attended St. Peter Calver Catholic School, had spent two weeks at the House of the Good Shepherd some years ago, for disciplinary action.

Agnes added that her sister "seemed happy most of yesterday (Christmas) and even helped to prepare the Christmas dinner."

The family spent the holiday together. Kept in by the snow dumped on the city.

After dinner they gathered in the living room for a television-viewing evening, Agnes said.

The last person to see Miss Snell alive was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Nora Johnson, who said good-night to her when the family retired at 11 pm.

OTHER survivors include a brother, Avon, 17, a half-brother, Joseph Spriggs; two sisters, Celeste, 4, and Rose 2, a grandmother, Mrs. Evelyn Chelsey, and an aunt, Mrs Evelyn Hall.

Prayer of the Week

Oh Lord, help us to be aware:

How sorry we would be had we lived in the time of Christ and missed His triumphal entry into Jerusalem; His Sermon on the Mount.

How many in His day in the same country, in the same city, in the same neighborhood and never knew the wisdom of His utterances or the comfort of His presence, or the power of His forgiving spirit.

...We pray that in our concern for other things we may not in our day miss the truly important things.
