NY CORE stages 1st bank sit-in

NEW YORK — The first sit-in to take place inside a bank occurred here last week at the West Side Federal Savings and Loan company. It lasted two hours after which the five participating CORE members were arrested and charged with "trespassing" and "disorderly conduct."

The five arrested are Gilbert Banks, Arnold Goldwag, Marjorie Leeds, Vicky Morris and Edward Lewinson. Reason for the Sit-in was the bank's insistance on prohibiting the Molo Construction company from renting one of its Midwood Homes to a colored family, even after the firm bank acted under terms of a loan it had advanced to the construction company.

The couple have been refused a rental are Fred Whiting an IBM supervisor and his wife, Mary, a high school teacher. They have two children.

clerks, and the perfunctory introduction of some bills in both chambers, Gov. Tawes delivered his state of the state message to a joint session.

The Governor asked, principally, for passage of legislation to enact:

1. The Curlett Report which would place Morgan State College and the State Teachers' Colleges under a single board of trustees.

2. Periodic inspections of motor vehicles.

3. Public Accommodations.

4. A congressional redistricting plan.

5. Abolishment of slot machines in the counties where they are still lawful.

GOV. TAWES said Maryland's financial condition remains "strong and stable."

This is Maryland's largest General Assembly, with 19 new House of Delegates seats having been added since last year's session by way of stop-gap reapportionment.

The Governor noted this and said he would concur with the wishes of a commission he appointed to study this matter of permanent reapportionment until a subsequent session.

Under the hastily adopted tenative reapportionment plan enacted the past year, Baltimore's Third District has two additional House of Delegates seats; the Fifth District one additional; Baltimore County has seven more; Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties four extra each, and Anne Arundel County one additional seat.

Each of these political subdivisions previously had six House seats.

In a pre - arranged maneuver, Senator William S. James (D. Harford) was named president of the Senate; Senator Mary L. Nock (D. Wicomico) president pro tem, and Senator H. Winship Wheatley Jr. (D.) Prince Georges) majority floor leader and chairman of the powerful Finance Committee.

In the lower chamber, former majority floor leader, A. Gordon Boone (D. Balto.) was named Speaker of the house; W. Dale Hess (D.) Harford) majority floor leader, and Marvin Mandel (D., Balto.) chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

THE BALTIMORE City delegation unanimously named Murray Abramson (D. 4th D., Balto.) as its chairman.

Mr. Abramson, a member of the House of Delegates since 1955, won re - election on a ticket in his district headed by Senator Welcome, who had just completed one term in the House.

Senator Frederick C. Malkus Jr. (D. Dorchester, of Cambridge, was again slated to head the Senate's Judicial Proceedings Committee, and Thomas H. Lowe (D. Talbot), from nearby Easton, was named to the chairmanship of the House's Judiciary Committee.

These two committees will handle whatever civil rights bills that come before their respective chambers.

Senator Malkus has been an ardent foe of civil rights legislation in the past. At the last session, Del. Lowe refused to vote for or against a public accommodations bill that reached the House floor.

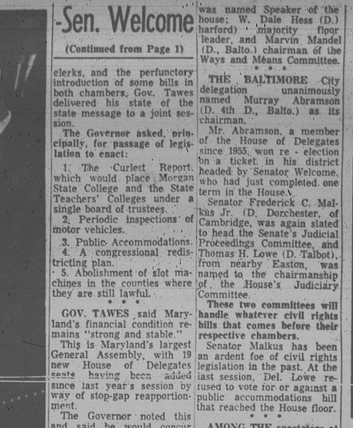
AMONG THE spectators at Wednesday's opening session were Dr. Henry C. Welcome and Miss Mary Sue Welcome, husband and daughter of Senator Welcome; Dr. C. James Fleming, political science professor, Morgan State College;

Loyal Randolph, political leader and Senator Welcome's campaign manager; William Adams, businessman; Charles E. (Mose) Dorsey, Baltimore Liquor Board inspector; Judge Robert B. Watts, of Baltimore's Municipal Court;

William B. Dixon, insurance executive and husband of Del. Dixon; Mrs. Emma Michaels, Baltimore Equal Opportunity Board member; Dr. Lillie M. Jackson and Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell, grandmother and mother of Del. Mitchell; Samuel R. Stewart, businessman, and George Paine, fraternal leader.

The bills introduced were prepared by the General Assembly's Legislative Council, and among them was one to set up a unified board for Morgan State College and the State Teachers Colleges.



RELAXING TIME — Mrs. Irma G. Dixon, second term House of Delegates member, and Harvey A. Epstein, first termer (both D. 4th D., Balto.) were caught relaxing during a lull in the General Assembly's opening session Wednesday.

Judge voids Muslim plea in jail rites

CHICAGO — A federal judge last week apparently accepted the views of an assisting attorney general who labeled the "Black" Muslim sect as a racist organization instead of a religious group, in dismissing the suit of a 31-year-old man, currently serving time in Joliet state penitentiary.

In prison for two murders the man charged his constitutional rights had been violated because he is not permitted to take a Muslim bible into the prison.

The suit had been filed by Thomas Cooper; 31, who was convicted of slaying Walter Notrem on Nov. 25, 1951, and David Mattioli, on Aug. 25, 1952.

FEDERAL JUDGE Richard B. Austin of Chicago dismissed Cooper's suit after the attorney general in the case told the court that "the alleged (Muslim.) religion referred to is not a religion but rather a racist organization, and not entitled to the protection guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States."

The "Black" Muslims insist their sect is religious in nature and thus is covered by "Freedom of Religion" clause of the Constitution. It

Form new Council ticket in 5th D.

Four Democratic City Council candidates in the city's Fifth District have banded together to form what they call the "Mace Independent Ticket."

This is a slate of candidates aimed primarily at garnering the colored votes in this district.

They are:

Melvin Humphrey, associate professor of economics, Morgan State College; Archie D. Williams, attirney; Charles R. Law, funeral director, and Earl Koger; insurance broker.

Here is their statement:

"We have banded together to create an independent Democratic ticket for the councilmanic race in censure against the absolute exclusion of qualified colored citizens from circles of political leadership in the Fifth District, in which more than 25,000 registered colored Democrats live.

"We have been excluded by the organized political groups. Therefore, we are forced together.

"Colored citizens in the Fifth District have invested millions of dollars in property and property improvements.

"THEY MAKE a major contribution to the tax structure of the City. Their total disfranchisement in the City Council is an intolerable situation that cannot be continued.

"We call upon all democratically oriented citizens of the Fifth District to join us in our disapproval against undemocratic political bossism, and to vote for the MACE Independent Ticket."

The designation "MACE" stems frim the first initials of the candidates in the order named above.

Mr. Law said the candidates were primarily interested in Fifth District colored representation in the City Council, rather than becoming a part of a district mayoral ticket.

"We are not anti anybody," he said. "We may or may not become a part of a ticket, and we have had many offers to do so."

Lafayette Center children feted

The three to six year-old tots of Lafayette Center were treaten to a real pre-holiday party with toys, refreshments and entertainment.

Games began the festivities for the 50 youngsters and were led by Bernice Robinson and Rita Glenn.

Refreshments were served by Gwendolyn Lafont, Ruby Couch, Joyce Neal and Mae Woods.

The effort for these underprivileged children was realized by a successful card party held in October at the YMCA and to which many business, merchants and individuals made donations.

Gwendolyn Lamont was chairman for the event; Nahketah Gregory is president of the club.

Other members include Ruth Glenn, Gladys Brockington, Mae Woods, Madgeline Rice, Ruby Couch, Joyce Neal, Bernice Robinson, Bettina Baker, Carolyn Boston, Dorothy George, Jacqueline Williams, LaMoyne Matthews, Thelma Rogers, Virginia Coleman, Vivian Bruce, Alease Lockley, Leona Carpenter and Gladys Higginbotham.

Angered DeGaulle seen out to get Monnerville

PARIS—(ANP)—A bitter and unforgiving President Charles DeGaulle has set out to crush the Number Two man in the French government Gaston Monnerville, a black man from Gulana, who is president of the French Senate.

DeGaulle hasn't forgiven Monnerville for leading a vigorous but vain fight against a constitutional change that would permit future presidents of France to be elected by universal suffrage.

Monnerville currently is the object of the "silent" treatment, invoked by DeGaulle. On orders, he is being ignored by all French officials. All cabinet members have been forbidden to speak or correspond with him.

General DeGaulle says he will not address the Senate as long as Monnerville presides. Monnerville has been denied admittance to the Elysee Palace, the residence of President DeGaulle, and all honors and privileges generally accorded the president of the Senate are to be withheld from him.

This is quite a set back for a man who has been one of the leading figures in French politics since 1946. It was in that year that Monnerville began his political career in Guiana, when he was elected to the old Council of the Fourth Republic. Since 1948, however, he has represented the Department of Lot, which is located in the southwestern part of France.

Probe, ruling sought for penal system

The Civic Interest Group and Interdenominational Ministers Alliance today called on Gov. J. Millard Tawes to order an inquest into the operation of the state penal system and to direct Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan to rule on the legality of segregation in the institutions.

Their statement said:

"For sometime a joint committee composed of the Civic Interest Group and the Interdenominational Minister's Alliance has been investigating the penal system of Maryland.

"We have been objective in this regard and feel it our duty to set forth the unwholesome conditions which are prevalent throughout the system.

"Our investigations have revealed a flagrant abuse and violation of the inalienable rights of the colored inmates housed at these institutions. Segregation in housing and dining room facilities head the list of inequities.

"Severe overcrowding in living quarters, inadquate medical facilities, unsanitary conditions, and discrimination in the hiring of prison employees, are just a few more examples of the many abridgements of human rights which are manifest.

"The joint committe therefore calls upon you to exercise the powers granted you as chief executive of Maryland to hold an inquest which will in effect, validate the allegations of this committee, and furthermore, request that the attorney general be instructed to hand down a ruling which will determine the legality of segregation in state tax - supported institutions."

The statement was signed by the Rev. Marion C. Bascom, chairman of the penal committee, and Leo Burroughs Jr., public relations director for CIG.

DIXIE CUP TROUT

One fisherman is the most popular guy in his neighborhood among the youngsters.

Reason: He pays 'em a cent apiece for cleahed and washed dixie cups.

How he uses the cups is even more interesting. Seems he fishes a rig - western trout stream, too broad and deep to cover completely by wading and casting, but too small for a boat.

'War of Armageddon near, Jehovah's Witnesses told

More than 1,800 Jehovah's Witnesses from in and around the northeastern half of Baltimore used the Coliseum Arena on Monroe Street as a Bible school this past weekend.

Meeting for nine hours of Bible instruction spread over seven sessions, the Witnesses assembled to "keep their faith healthy and strong."

An intensive - home-visitation campaign was conducted from Friday to Sunday to invite the public to hear school director J. W. Filson talk Sunday, on "The Bible's Answer to Our Problem of Survival."

"Some of these threats man created for himself, threats that range from nuclear destruction to ecological warfare and atomic fallout to an exploding population hazard," Filson said.

But he termed mankind's greatest threat as God - designed. "The Bible warns us that God's great War of Armageddon is very near and is more to be feared than all threats man may devise," he declared.

ON THE Friday - night programs, a one - hour feature-feature called the "Ministry School" was presented by members of the Gwynns Falls Park Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, 718 Poplar Grove St.
