Innocent 'til proven drunk is way Ohio man sees law

CLEVELAND, Ohio — How strong are your convictions? If arrested on an intoxication charge, would you elect to spend 51 days in jail waiting for a chance to plead your own case before a jury instead of signing a waiver that would have freed you in a few minutes after your arrest.

33-year-old Riely Ross did that last October 5 when he was arrested and charged with public drunkenness.

For 51 days still wearing long beard, bushy hair, blue overalls and high boots, Ross was confined insisting he wanted a jury trial and to act as his own attorney.

The entire hearing — Ross's day in court — took scarcely more than one hour: this included selection of the jury, presentation of the case, argument and rebutal, and the charge to the jury by Judge Stearns. The jury's verdict was short and to the point. Guilty.

Judge Stearns displayed another principle of justice: "This man has spent 51 days in jail waiting trial in this case. He could have secured bond, or a reduction of the bond he did not make ($200). He did not ask for either — release on bond; or a reduction of bond. Judge Stearns decided that Ross, though found guilty, should not spend any more time in jail.

UN APPLAUDED FOR PULLING WORLD BACK FROM 'BRINK'

By CHARLES P. HOWARD Sr.
UN Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — The United Nations is still considered "man's greatest hope for survival," certainly for peace. The year 1962 tended to strengthen our beliefs in those facts, for surely it was the vehicle of the United Nations that was used to pull us back from the "brink" when it seemed surely all was lost.

Surely the most eventful happening in 1962 was the "survival of the Cuban crisis."

CHARLES P. HOWARD SR.

The year 1962 was equally as eventful a period in Africa and the United Nations. When one thinks of Africa and crisis, immediately comes to mind the Congo. 1962 may go down in history as the year, a move around the corner, was made on Congo affairs.

The end of this year saw Secretary - General U Thant of the United Nations set his jaw to end the Congo "mess." The U Thant Plan on the Congo is moving to implimentation — having the support of the United States as its strongest point. U Thant seems never to have had any faith in "negotiations with Tshombe." Though Thant's Plan envisages negotiating with Tshombe, if possible, the negotiating however will be from "strength."

ALREADY THE United States has a Mission in the Congo to assess Tshombe's military strength, the intimation is clear that the United States is prepared to furnish enough military mens and equipment to overbalance anything that Sir Roy Welensky, Verwoerd and Salazar might furnish Tshombe to enable him to keep up his resistance to United Nations efforts.

The entry of the United States on the side of the United Nations in such propotions was not expected in some quarters. It gives the United Nations an entirely new "face of authority." Tshombe's bluffing and balking seems doomed to failure.

The year 1962 brought more clearly into focus the fact that the United Nations is determined to fulfill its role bringing to an end "colonialism" around the world. The Committee of 17 that now becomes the Committee of 24 has moved steadily toward the attainment of this goal.

Six new countries attained their independence in 1962 and joined the ranks of the United Nations. They were Algeria, after seven and one-half years of bloody struggle; Uganda, Rwandan, Burundin, Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago.

U THANT was elected to a term that amounted to another four years

MOISE TSHOMBE

as Secretary - General of the United Nations. His election was "unanimous."

The Adoula Government in the Congo remains shaky at this moment, though the actions of the United Nations in the next few weeks — ably assisted by the United States — may save him.

Gizenga remains a prisoner of the Kasavubu regime, inspite of rumors, that is if he is still alive.

The Federation of the Rhodesias and Nayasland is doomed. Dr. Banda leader of the government in Nayasaland is in the midst of talks with the British Government at this time working out the method of withdrawing from the Federation.

Southern Rhodesia has just elected a pro segregationist government and one dedicated to withdrawing from the Federation. Sir Edgar Whitehead is lost and Sir Roy Welensky is headed out.

The "cute" plan of the British to salvage the Federation did not work. The hatred of the Federation by the Africans doomed it.

THE PORTUGUESE Government still clings to the "sun-it" fascist claim that Angola and Mozambique in Africa are parts of Portugal. That gimmick has been outmoded for years. Nevertheless, Portugal continues to search for a Government at home that can keep up the myth.

The military is moving into the ascendancy in Portugal. Ordinarily that is a bad sign. 1962 saw a "Government in exile" of Angola Nationals set up in the Congo, designed to free Angola from Portuguese rule, with Holden Roberto as leader.

The nationalist leaders in Angola remain divided — they refuse to learn from the experiences of the Algerians, that the first thing to do is to have unity of the forces fighting for freedom so the opposition cannot use one group against the other and forever prevent independence.

In Mozambique, the independence movement moved foward by selecting a leadership group to fight for their independence and selected Edwardo Mondlaine as president. Mondlaine is decided to a "peaceful solution" of Mozambique's search for freedom. Salazar has never shown any interest in freedom by peaceful means.

The struggle for freedom in Africa has reached the "fighting stage." Anything else is wishful thinking.

THE UNITED NATIONS continues to keep the pressure on South West Africa, which means keeping it on South Africa. The U.N. is demanding a "UN Presence" in South West Africa. The Afro - Asian Group are insisting that the United Nations should begin steps to grant independence to South West Africa.

The most momentous event in the African independence movement in British Territories was the "resignation of Sir Hugh Foot from his post at the United Nations and his subsequent withdrawal from the British Foreign Service."

Sir Hugh made no effort to conceal the fact that his resignations were based on his complete disagreement with British foreign policy in Africa south of the Equator, and especially in the Rhodesias. The Foreign Office smuggly tried to shrug off Sir Hugh's most noble actions. It couldn't be done.

The Rhodesian Federation, which the Foreign Office was trying so hard to salvage, has already crashed around their heads. If the Macmillan Government should topple from office over African foreign policy it will be Sir Hugh's British stubbornness that they "fell-over."

KENNETH KAUNDA is leading the first African Government in Northern Rhodesia, although he is having to share it with Harry Nkumbula of the African National Congress.

Of course, the African National Congress is not what it used to be, and Mr. Nkumbula is a friend of Moise Tshombe, of Katanga, which doesn't speak well for him in our book, but we still have great faith in Mr. Kaunda.

Already, Mr. Kaunda has served notice on the Southern Rhodesian forces under Winston Field, segregationist leader of Southern Rhodesia to free Joshua Nkomo, imprisoned African Leader in Southern Rhodesia; or he would place a barrier between Northern and Southern Rhodesia.

Rioting has already commenced in South Africa and the Nationalist African leaders, who are trying to cooperate with the South African Government, are finding themselves under great pressure from their constituencies and are showing signs of relenting.

This can develop into a dangerous situation for the South African Government. They will only murder more Africans, but world opinion is going to arise at the boiling point and step in. It is impossible to believe otherwise and yet keep faith in the democratic process.

South Africa may yet prove to be the downfall of democracy and the democratic process.

1962 SAW the "power structure" make several attacks on the life of President Nkrumah of Ghana. They have not given up. Ghana was the site of the Accra Conference, "The World Without The Bomb." Plans are under way to have the second session in Accra in 1963.

Tanganyika voted to become a republic and elected Dr. Julius Nyerere as its first president. Word is that "security measures" there are stiffer than in Ghana.

Senegal survived an uprising when Prime Minister Mamadou Dia led an attempt to overthrow President Leopold Senghor. It may be all right to lead a successful revolution but it is tough to lead one that fails. Last word from Marmadou Dia was that he was in jail.

Nigeria still is the country that has "succeeded the least." The opposition is in jail. The Government is afraid to have an election for the jailed members' posts because they fear that the people will re-elect the jailed leaders.

Nothing has been heard lately, outside, about the plans to make Nigeria a republic. Some people in office don't like elections. Why run for what you already have?

AFRO - AMERICAN leaders met in Harriman, N.Y., site of the famed Arden House of Columbia University, and held a three - day conference designed to improve efforts of our government in its African relations.

Present were Afro - American leaders Roy Wilkins of the NAACP, Whitney Young of the Urban League, A. Philip Randolph of the Sleeping Car Porters and the AFL-CIO, James Farmer of CORE, Dorothy Height, National Council of Negro Women, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and others.

It was the most important conference ever held of this nature since W. E. B. DuBois invented Pan Africanism. Greatest weakness, no satisfactory economic program. Positives over - ride the negatives. That is the situation in Africa and the United Nations as 1962 comes to an end.

How to save money on the new postal rates

Users of the mail can help offset the effect of the new higher rates that go into effect Jan. 7 by applying five basic principles of mail handling.

Postmaster Laukaitis said this week the new rates would cost the average family only one-half cent per day or $1.80 for the year. Statistics, he said, show that 75 percent of first class mail handled by the post office is deposited by the business community.

The five money - saving principles are suggested by Pitney - Bowes, Inc., orginator of the metered mail system and are based on the company's long experience with postal procedures and with customers' mailroom problems.

The five are: (1) Use only the postal services you need. (2)Pay the correct postage, and no more. (3) Get the maximum value for the postage you use. (4) Mark the letter or parcel properly. (5) Mail at the best time for your purpose.

Free charts detailing these tips are available by contacting Pitney - Bowes, Inc. in Stamford, Conn.

Ex-African aides now job hunting

LONDON — Former white civil officials in the newly emerging independent nations of Africa are feeling the pinch of the times.

One example is Sir Richard Turnbull, 53, retiring Governor of Tanganyika, who arrived in London last week. Sr. Richard said he was unemployed and wanted a job back in East Africa. "I spent 32 years in East Africa," he said, "and have tremendous affection for the country and its people."

At Blantyre, capital of Nyasaland, the government started a series of interviews with its white civil servants. Reliable sources said a small number of civil servants face dismissal because they are regarded as "rebels." Five already have been fired and 14 others have resigned.

TUSKEGEE, Ala. — A voist, Lonnie A. Marshall, was presented a Professional Agricultureal Workers Service Award at the organization's recent 20th annual conference at Tuskegee Institute.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Charles J. Smith, 3rd, director of public relations and assistant professor of journalism at Florida A. and M. University, recently was awarded a Gold Anniversary and Alumni Citation "for specific competence in journalism" by Tennessee State University.

ATLANTA — Florida A. M. University coach, Jerry Wilkinson, received the year's outstanding award at the recent Golden Jubilee celebration of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference here.

Second session of the Pee Wee Club starts at the Druid Hill Avenue YMCA.

Consorts gaily blasts in 1963

Happy New Year never sounded gayer nor brighter than at the Consorts annual New Years Eve party at the Presidential Arms.

A party that is greatly anticipated, the guests were not disappointed this year.

Least disappointed were the men who all seemed to be blessed with lovely dates, who were surrounded by gaily colored confetti and floating ballons.

Midnight came in with a a burst of music from Bobby Felder and His Blue Notes and the resounding blast of Otto McClarin's fog horn.

Some of the guests seen were Dr. Ben Jones, Atty. and Mrs. Carlisle Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Ireland, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Efland, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scurlock, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jenkins who went to Watch Night at Plymouth Congregational Church before arriving; Mr. and Mrs. Waddell Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Turk Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Clark, and Dr. and and Mrs. Alvin Robinson.

Others who enjoyed the "goodies" on the large buffet table at the bandstand were some of the members like Dr. Coleman Tucksoe, (and wife), Don Vernon, the president; William "Jolly" Forsythe as well as friends like Columbus Kelly, Dr. Crawford T. Nixon, Dr. Herman Gaskins, Dr. and Mrs. John Carter, Dr. and Mrs. Sam Bullock, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gladden.

Others, Dr. and Mrs. Williams Hyde, Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Altemus, the Lloyd Genus', the Carl Colemans' the Billy Simpsons', Mr. and Mrs. Lamont Lawson, Dr. and Mrs. Sam Z. Westerfield, Joseph Sewell, and Marian Jones, Dr. and Mrs. Mrs. William Nash.

Others, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Steve Davis, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Morris, Mr. and Mrs. John Pritchett, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Weir, and Worth Dryer and party.

Others who delighted to the blast of 1963 were Miss Miriam Phillips in an exciting black sheath; Dr. and Mrs. Larry Cannady, Mrs. C. David Hinton in gold lame caught many eyes as danced with her physician husband; the Elmer Swans, Dr. and Mrs. Linwood Rayford, and the Walter Washingtons, and many others.

Noted pianist sets concert at Central

WILBERFORCE, Ohio — One of the most distinguished pianists of today, internationally-known Robert Goldsand, will be heard in concert at Central State College on Sunday, January 13.

Goldsand, an artist who has concertized for more than a quarter of a century on three continents since his childhood debut in Vienna, at the age of 10, will appear in Galloway Auditorium at 8 p.m.

The artist usually divides his concert seasons between the Americas and Europe, and was first heard in the U. S. as a boy of 16. At that time, he was likened to Josef Hofmann - press praise rarely accorded a new comer.

NAACP opens essay contest

NEW YORK — Announcement of a nationwide Emancipation Proclamation essay contest for junior and senior high school students was made here this week by Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary.

Mr. Wilkins stressed that the NAACP-sponsored competition is open to all youngsters. It will be directed by Dr. John Hope Franklin, chairman, department of history, Brooklyn College and Dr. Bruce Catton, noted Civil War historian. They will be assisted by Calvin Banks, NAACP program director.

The contest is being held in two parts. The Junior high topic is "What the Emancipation Proclamation Has Meant to America" while the senior subject is "America, One Emancipation Proclamation."

FIRST PRIZE IS $500.00; second prize, $250.00; and third prize, $100.00, in each group. Winners will be announced July 4, 1963, in Chicago at the 54th NAACP annual convention.

Junior high students are asked to submit essays of no less than 80 words and no more than 1,200 words. Senior high school essays must not be less than 1,200 words nor more than 1,500 words. All essays must be submitted on or before March 15, 1963, so that a panel of educators may judge them.

Mr. Wilkins added that contest announcements will be distributed, starting January 1st, through NAACP branches, youth councils and college chapters who, in turn, will contact other local organizations.

'K.C. Fat' spends his 29th Christmas in Okla. prison

McALESTER, Okla. (NNPA) — George O. Jones, 58, better known as "Kansas City Fat," spent his 29th Christmas in prison.

Serving a life term for an armed robbery that netted him exactly 15 cents, Jones spent the first 28 years without ever receiving a single letter or visit from a friend.

Once the papers told his story he received hundreds of letters.

Jones meets all the requirements for parole, except the promise from an employer that a job awaits him when he's released.
