had been granted an audience by the board, Mrs. Tayman added:

"If I had known they were going to be there I never would have shown up:

Dr. George B. Brain, school superintendent, approved her request to appear on Aug. 16. Mrs. Tayman told the AFRO, and her appearance had no connection with the other groups.

COMPLETE TEXT of her statement follows:

"I am not connected with any organizations and I'm not against integration in any way at all.

"If I had known they were going to be there, I would have never shown up."

"I was a victim of circumstances as far as being at the board meeting at the same time the Hamilton and Yorkwood groups were there.

"I'm not connected with them in any way whatsoever. When I went up there, I was not told that there would be any other groups present.

"I was surprised to see all those people. I couldn't imagine why they were there.

"I asked Dr. Brain permission to ask the board three questions. I was under the impression that I would be the only one to appear before the board.

MRS. TAYMAN said she wrote Dr. Brain Aug. 14, asking to appear before the board. Her request was granted a few days later, she said.

Mrs. Margaret West, secretary to Dr. Brain, confirmed this and the fact that the request was granted by Dr. Brain in a letter dated Aug. 16.

The second speaker to address school commissioners at the height of the yelling and shouting one-hour and 20-minute hearing, Mrs. Tayman asked the following questions:

1. The area around many of these schools which are affected by the change are still growing areas because of numerous apartment houses under construction at the present time.

"What will happen to the children in these areas if all the school rooms are filled with pupils from out of the district areas?"

2. How are the teachers to maintain discipline for the children who should stay after school if they have a deadline to meet the bus to transport them across town?

3. How are parents going to cope with extra curriculum activities after school such as Brownie or Boy Scout meetings, dancing lessons, music lessons, etc. if they are taken homes and can not be on time for their lessons or meetings?

IN ANSWER to the first question, Dr. Brain said the transfer program will be appraised and adjusted on a year-to-year basis.

Transfering children from one school to another to avoid part-time classes is a decision to be made by the parents, Dr. Brain replied to the second question, adding:

"It's not compulsory. Parents have the freedom of choice."

As to extra curricular activities, he said, that is the responsibility of the parent and not the school.

Mrs. Tayman's questions were similar to many of those asked by parents who heatedly criticized the transfer program.

Mr. Thyman, a former member of the NAACP files show his last membership card was dated November, 1958) said he was "shocked" when he learned from newspapers that his wife had appeared at the meeting.

"We don't have any children at those schools and there was no reason for her to be there," he told the AFRO.

"She had no business there and I really gave her ...," he stated emphatically.

Mrs. Tayman later confirmed this.

THE TAYMANS said they have three children — ages 17, 16, and 9 years — who attend school at City College, Forest Park and Cross Country Elementary, respectively.

Mr. Tayman said he has been at the Calhoun St. location "since I was four years old and now I'm 44.

Liquor board records show the licenses were transferred to Mr. Tayman, Aug. 27, 1946.

"It would be foolish for me to be against integration."

MRS. TAYMAN, who said she was "as shocked as anyone to learn that her appearance had created such a controversy, declared that she went there "with good intentions."

Emphatically disclaiming any connection with the other groups, Mrs. Tayman added:

"I came there alone and left alone. They didn't speak to me and I didn't speak to them. I'm not against integration, I think that all children are entitled to a good education."

IN OTHER developments school officials, with the exception of modifying original plans for transfer of brain damaged children from the Yorkwood Elementary School to Winston Elementary, have stuck with their plan designed to cut down overcrowded classes.

In addition to Hamilton and Yorkwood, parents from the Highlandtown Elementary School also entered a heated protest to the plan, but recanted when school officials refused to alter the program.

A fifth grade while pupil, suspended from Hamilton last week for refusing to attend classes as instructed, had not been reinstated at AFRO presstime.

Dr. Brain conferred with the youth's parents Wednesday and is still awaiting their decision in the matter.

Parents at the Ft. Worthington Elementary School No. 85 in East Baltimore, meanwhile, have warned the Third District City Council delegation against opposing the transfer program.

IN TELEGRAMS to the councilmen — George Arthur,

2,917 pupils affected by School Board bus plan

Some 2,917 elementary school pupils and 43 schools are involved in the latest Department of Education plan to reduce part-time classes by transporting children to school buildings where there is space enough for full-time classes.

Here is a list of schools affected by the new plan. Miss Mary Adams, assistant superintendent, elementary education, told the AFRO Tuesday that the following data is "close enough to be accurate."

To relieve overcrowding at School No. 74, 22nd St. and Homewood Ave., home 63 pupils are now being transported by bus daily to School No. 119, Gilmor and Mosher Sts.

102 pupils from School No. 37, Biddle St. and Patterson Park Ave., to School No. 25, Bond and Fleete Sts.

200 pupils from school 147 Greenmount Ave. and Eager St. to School No. 25.

76 pupils from School No. 20, Eden and Federal Sts., to School No. 25.

105 pupils from School No. 32, Guilford Ave. and Lanvale St., to School No. 51, 34th and Frisby Sts.

82 pupils from School No. 22, Scott and Hamburg Sts., to School No. 25.

In South Baltimore, 78 pupils are being transported to School No. 244, Gimbal Ct. and Sixth St., 18 to School No. 208 Church St. Fairhaven Ave. and three to School No. 203 Fourth St. and Pontiac Ave.

165 from School No. 149, Federal St. and Rutland Ave., to School No. 135, Chase and McDonough Sts.

199 from School No. 101 Biddle and Wolfe Sts., and School No. 109, Hillaway and Ashland Ave., to School No. 114, Broadway and Bank St.

72 from School No. 99 North Ave. and Washington St., to School No. 19, 5931 Yorkwood Rd.

265 pupils from School No. 88, Wildwood Pkwy., to School No. 244.

102 pupils from School No. 74, 22nd St. and Homewood Ave., to School No. 213, Govans Ave. and Campbells Lane.

84 from School No. 232, Rokeby Rd. to Rock Glen School, 201 North Bend Rd.

161 pupils from School No. 71, Old Frederick Rd. and Laudon Ave., to Rock Glen.

150 from School No. 99, North Ave. and Washington St., to School No. 209, 1101 Winston Ave.

In the Sedonia area, 400 children are being transported to School No. 216, Frankford Ave.

Fort Worthington School No. 85, Lakewood Ave. and Oliver St., accounts for the largest number of children being bussed out of a single school.

From School No. 85, some 146 pupils now are transported to School No. 44, Harford Rd. and 32nd St.

Also from School No. 85, 86 pupils go to School No. 83, Lakewood and Fayette St. 66 to School No. 215, Pratt and Clinton Sts., to School No. 237, Gough and Easton Sts., 106 to School No. 212 Alisa Ave. and Morello Rd.

Also 90 to School No. 236 Christopher Ave. and Old Harford Rd. and 72 to School No. 219, Yorkwood Rd.

Frank X. Gallagher, John Picca and Joseph Curran Sr. — the parents declared:

"As a parents of 2,700 children at School No. 85, we want you to know that you are our councilmen, too.

"Do you know that after 561 children being bused out to underutilized schools there still remains 2,100 children in a school built to house 624?

"These children are being crippled for life by half of an education. We are greatly concerned that anyone would want to deny them, solely because of the color of their skin, a full school day."

COUNCILMEN HAVE been asked to attend a special PTA meeting Sept. 23. Gallagher and Picca have accepted the invitation, but Councilmen Curran and Arthur have remained silent. The Rev. Lorenzo Graves, PTA president, reported.

The Tuesday edition of the AFRO reported that despite the transfer the school's current enrollment nearly triples its capacity and is forced to use sub-standard makeshift classrooms.

of the car. The car door was open and David had his feet on the curb."

She said, "Geraldine was standing on the sidewalk talking to him. At this time they did not appear to be arguing or anything."

Mrs. Bell stated that the second time she was on her way back to ask Mrs. Vandervall for some money she had given her earlier to hold for her. She said before she got to the corner she heard a man say, "Lady, what's wrong with you?"

"WHEN I turned the corner, I screamed. Geraldine was lying on the ground. Her right eye was puffed up and she was bleeding. I ran and knelt down beside her," recalled Mrs. Bell.

"She called for me. She asked me to help her, she asked for my help," Mrs. Bell said.

A cousin, Miss Doretha Bradley who was also at the scene of the tragedy then told the AFRO that Mrs. Vandervall's final words were, "God please let me live to care for my children."

Mrs. Vandervall, according to relatives, had been separated from her husband for more than a year.

Since Mrs. Vandervall and her three small children, one, two and three years of age, had lived with her mother, Mrs. Beatrice Spencer, of the 1200 block Oakhurst Pl.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. from St. Mark Baptist Church, Division at Laurens Sts.

Mrs. Vandervall attended Edmondson High School. She had been married for nearly five years.

"She was a very serious minded girl, and very quiet. Geraldine was a good mother, she loved and took excellent care of her children. You could say she lived for her children," said Mrs. Edith Bodie, the slain woman's aunt.

A member of the New St. Mark Baptist Church, 1700 block Division St., Mrs. Vandervall at one time sang on the church choir.

SURVIVING ARE Mrs. Vandervall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Spencer Sr., and nine brothers and sisters. They are:

Roland A. Spencer, Mrs. Janice Stewart, Miss Ernestine Spencer, Miss Vivian Spencer, Miss Sandra A. Spencer, Miss Cornelius Spencer, Samuel J., Jr., Miss Yvonne Spencer, Miss Roslyn Spencer.

This advisory committee will work with Louis Zawatsky, chairman, and deputy director, Division of Management.

SOCIAL SECURITY employees say it will be interested in seeing to when a committee which has two men representing the agency's members can be completely effective.

They expect Dr. Templeton, Del. Mitchell and Mr. Smith will be energetically vigilant and persistent, but feel time will tell whether Mr. Zawatsky and Mr. Nichols will be able to walk the tightrope between their roles as Social Security officials and committee members tracking down evidence of racial discrimination.

THUS FAR, the advisory committee is off to a fast pace. On Wednesday, members met at Woodlawn for a backgrounding session and tour of the Social Security buildings

This is in line with Commissioner Ball's announced desire to make his agency one where fair employment practices are evident in theory and practice

Commissioner Ball's rapid decisions regarding his agency, racial problems within the past few weeks have been instrumental in averting a widespread demonstrations planned by the Baltimore NAACP.

From all indications, a general shake-up of this 34,000 worker agency's personnel attitudes as regards racial concerns should be forthcoming.

The local NAACP government workers committee chairman Gilmore pointed out that three months (90 days) is enough time to correct any existing racial inequities.

Committees, by their very nature, operate slowly. Whether the Social Security top brass can, through committee action, effect racial changes down the line is the crux of this agency's fate during the next three months.

3 nabbed with gun, meat cleaver, knife

"No decent, law-abiding citizen likes gang wars and the people who like it least are judges

Thus spoke Judge Howard L. Aaron, in Western Municipal Court Tuesday before sentencing an 18-year-old youth to a year in the Maryland House of Correction.

The youth, Arthur J. Hartfield, of the 2500 block W. Franklin St., was charged with having in his possession a 22-caliber rifle, loaded with five live shells.

According to plainclothes patrolmen Joseph Ford and George Benton, assigned to a special detail investigating daytime burglars, they spotted Hartfield carrying a shopping bag in company with three other youths.

THE OFFICERS testified that when they asked Hartfield what he was carrying in the bag, the youth replied, "I have a gun and I'm going to kill someone!"

Hartfield explained to the court that he had been jumped earlier in the 1900 block Riggs Ave. by a gang of boys. He said that he was returning in an attempt to find the youths.

"What would you have done if you found the boys that jumped you?" asked the magistrate. "Would you have killed them?"

"No, sir," answered the youth. "I told the police that in a moment of haste. I just wanted to see if they would jump me again since I had the gun."

THE OTHER two boys told Judge Aaron that they had accompanied Hartfield to help him.

They were Kenneth D. Smith, 18, 2300 block W. Lanvale St., who had a small bag in which he was carrying a meat cleaver and pen knife.

Arthur Fortune, 18, of the 2500 block Mosher St., the third youth charged with disorderly conduct, said he needed no weapon.

"I'm not very good with weapons," he said, "I'd rather use my fists."

Judge Aaron after sentencing Hartfield, ordered Smith to the Maryland Training School for Boys for an undetermined amount of time, and Fortune was fined $50 and sentenced to 30 days in jail.

"It is only by the grace of God, that you are not down here for manslaughter or murder," said Judge Aaron.

4 youngsters held in yoking of boy, 12

Four youngsters, between the age of 9 and 12, were turned over to juvenile authorities Tuesday, accused of yoking a 12-year-old boy, and robbing him of $4.50 Monday evening.

The victim, Gary Roberts, of the 800 block N. Patterson Park Ave., told police that the youngsters grabbed him from behind.

Police said a nine-year-old boy then went into Roberts pocket and to the money.

The youngsters were apprehended about an hour later when Gary recognized one of the boys on the street and called to a nearby police officer.

Divorce action started by businessman's wife

Mrs. Elsie Bevans Sessoms filed suit for divorce against John W. Sessoms, this week, charging that they have voluntarily separated and there is no hope of a reconciliation.

In the petition filed by W. A. C. Hughes Jr., attorney, Mrs. Sessoms asks that she be given temporary and permanent alimony, funds with which to press her suit and cinsel fees fg her attorney. Her petition also requests custody of the couple's two daughters.

THE SESSOMES WERE married on Oct. 30, 1938. She says her husband conducts a lucrative cleaning and pressing establishment.

They own property at 2513 McCulloh St., jointly, and he owns property in Rocky Mount, N. C., from which he derives a substantial income, according to her petition.

Mrs. Sessoms points out that she and the daughters, 16 and 20, live at 2413 Pulaski St., which she is purchasing subject to a substantial mortgage, in joint names of herself and Mr. Sessoms, and that he has contributed absolutely nothing to these costs.

She says that while she is employed at a school teacher her income is insufficient to defray costs of buying the home, paying for utilities, defraying necessary, medical expenses, education, clothes and food for the daughters. Mr. Sessoms' income is in excess of $1,000 per month, she says.

Trespass law ruled legal integration bar

The office of the State Attorney General has ruled that the Maryland Trespass Law may legally be used to uphold private segregation

In a legal opinion in answer to a request by the Maryland Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations, Mathias J. DeVito, assistant attorney general, told the Commission that unless the Supreme Court reverses or modifies the statute, segregation in public accommodations may be enforced in counties not covered by the law.

A Supreme Court decision which may effect the State's trepass law is due shortly.

THE GLEN ECHO case, which several persons were arrested, whose central issue is the legality of the law's use for maintaining racial segregation, is pending action by the Court.

Defendants in the case charge that the law deprives them of their constitutional rights and is in violation of the 14th Amendment.

The State Attorney's office also noted that the trespass law is invalid for such a bar in those areas of the state which have public accommodations laws.

Parren J. Mitchell, executive secretary of the Commission, emphasized that his organization will not wait for the Supreme Court's ruling concerning the legality of the law.

He said that his organization will seek to amend the law.

THE LAW, however, an be amended only by action of the Legislature, which will not meet until after the scheduled decision by the Supreme Court.

In the meantime, the Commission is working to help certain counties to pass public accommodations bills which would in effect nullify the state law.

Teachers back budget request

The Public School Teachers Association of Baltimore believes that the 1964 budget recommendations of the Board of School Commissioners reflects a careful and a realistic appraisal of Baltimore's public school needs.

The association this week endorsed the school budget request in its entirety.

The Association stated, in part:

The results of the cut in school funds in each recent year is now being sorely felt. Can we afford to risk weakening the future potential of Baltimore by once more adhering to a hold-the-tax-line philosophy? Will an "austerity appropriation" this year be economically sound?

It would perhaps hold the tax rate in check, but what price will we have to pay a decade hence?
