FLAMBOYANT PROPHET

A man called Prophet H. A. Green, who is noted for his golden Star of David ear-ring on his left ear lobe, ancient styled robe and sandals, is here in the city on a 30-day revival mission.

Fresh from an eight month mission in New Orleans, Prophet Green will bring his talents to the local citizenry.

Billed as a "30 - day revival of deliverance," the services will be held daily at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. at St. Marks Church of Christ, 405 Orchard St.

Beginning Sunday, the sermons will also be broadcast on Radio Station WWIN each morning at 11:15 a.m.

"Our meetings," said Prophet Green, "will featured special prayers for the sick and those in need of spiritual help."

* * *

PROPHET GREEN is not new to Baltimore. He was here some 10 years ago on the corner of Pennsylvania Ave. and McMechen St.

There he held a 98-day tent revival meeting.

The Prophet has been preaching since the age of three and adopted the tag "Prophet" when he was eight.

He is now 42 years old.

The slogan of the 30 -day revival is "Peace and Many, Many Blessings."

ST. MARKS CHURCH

St. Marks Institutional Baptist Church, Bentalou and Lanvale Sts., has invited the pastor and congregation of Douglass Memorial Community Christian Church to share in its prayer services, Sunday.

On Sept. 20, St. Marks will be the scene of a "wig extravaganza."

On Sept. 22 St. Marks expects Union Baptist Church to participate in its program for the day.

On the last Sunday in the month, Sept. 29, the Missionaries of the church will sponsor Miss Evangeline Williams, contralto, in recital at 5 p.m.

She will be accompanied by Walter Holbrook.

UPBEAT SIN

There is a fruitful though shallow article in the current issue of "Look" magazine which may be of interest to all segments of society — especially parents and clergymen.

Entitled "Morality: USA," the article attacks the decline of moral standards in contemporary life.

The author J. Robert Moskin, a "Look" editor, blames the government, business, labor unions, churches, and scientists for the "death of the old morality" which has left modern society "floundering in a money - motivated, sex - obsessed, big - city dominated" morass.

Speaking of the churches, the writer stated that the churches "have failed to supply moral leadership, and because their responsibility is the greatest, their failure is the worst."

The author writes that the symptom of the churches' greatest failures stands most vividly in America's self - satisfied suburbs and in the teeming slums, and in blatant failure of the church to "sell the idea that (racial) prejudice is immoral."

* * *

MR. MOSKIN concludes that there can be no turning back to the old moral standard in a world where money is God and sex is all pervasive.

"We must find a new moral code that will fit the needs of the society we live in," he writes.

FAMILY OF Mrs. Geneva R. Woods, public school teacher who died in her classroom, entered Providence Baptist Church, to attend the funeral services Monday. Leading the procession are Mrs. Patricia H. Hamilton, the oldest daughter, a Compton, Cal. teacher, and the husband, Leo Woods, a physical education specialist in the city's school system. Partially hidden, an uncle, John Carter, of Regina, Va.; and the youngest daughter, Miss Lenora J. Woods, a University of Southern California junior.

Retreats for Catholic students Sept. 18-20

The annual religious Retreats for Catholic students attending private non-sectarian and public high schools, grades 9-12, are scheduled for Sept. 18,19,20.

Sponsored by The Catholic Youth Organization, 162 priests will direct the spiritual exercises for the expected 8,000 retreatants at 76 retreat sights throughout the the Archdiocese of Baltimore.

On each of the three days execises will begin at 9:30 a.m., and end at 3:00 p.m.

The required absentee forms were mailed to prospective retreatants. Additional forms and schedules may be obtained from any Catholic parish rectory or by phoning the CYO Office SA. 7-6890.

The Rt. Rev. Clare J. O'Dwyer is Archdiocesan director of the program. He is assisted in central Maryland by The Rev. Martin W. Flahavan, St. Peter's Libertytown, and in western Maryland by Rev. Elbert J. Hebert, St. Patrick's, Cumberland.

Prayer of the Week

Like the gentle rain from Heaven, Thy blessings descend upon us.

How can we count the ways Thy simplest gifts affect us?

The rain cleanses the air of dust and pollen, it waters our thirsty garden, washes our streets, increases the flow of our springs and rivers and fills our reservoirs.

May we not try to count the wayys Thy blessesings flow.

Let us remember only that all we have comes from Thee and that Thou doest all things well. Amen.

Church women plan 'city challenge' talk

The United Church Women of Baltimore will again hold two mission study help shops on Tuesdays, Sept. 17 and 24 at the Lovely Lane Method.t Church, St. Paul and 22nd Sts., from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. under the leadership of Mrs. Kenneth R. Rose, chairman of Christian World Missions.

On Tuesday, Sept. 17, "The Changing City Challenges the Church" theme will be stimulated by a panel discussion composed of those persons most directly involved in such ongoing programs in Baltimore and its suburbs.

Members of the panel participating will be Miss Marion D. Gutman, public relations assistant of the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency; Harold C. Edelston, executive director of the Health and Welfare Council; Pastor Thomas Weber, Lutheran Social Service, and the Rev. Dr. Kenneth Ray Rose, minister of the host church.

Representatives of Enoch Pratt Library will also be there to present displays of books and other reading materials relating to this subject. The book, "These Cities Glorious", is the official study guide.

The topic for study on Sept. 24 will be "The Christian Mission in Southern Asia".

LEADERS FROM NEARLY every area of life pay funeral tributes to Dr. Dwight Oliver Wendell Holems, president emeritus of Morgan State College, during funeral services, Wednesday. The audience which included Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin heard tributes which attested to the late Dr. Holmes' gentle and kind disposition and to his abilities both as a teacher and as an administrator. The services were held late in the afternoon at the Morgan Christian Center.

FAMILY AND FRIENDS of the late Dr. Dwight Oliver Wendell Holmes prepare to enter the Morgan Christian Center to attend the last rites of the president emeritus of Morgan State College. Dr. Holmes, the son of a traveling preacher, rose to be president of Morgan and a member of the State Board of Education. Reading from right to the rear are Charles Jones the widow, Mrs. Dwight Holmes; sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morris; granddaughter, Miss Gwendolyn Holmes; school board of trustees member, Dr. Houston R. Jackson; retired school principal, Miss Hermonia Wharton; Mrs. Houston R. Jackson; Dr. and Mrs. Bradshaw Higgins (Mrs. Higgins is partially hidden by Mrs. Houston); Dr. Carl Murphy, chairman of Morgan's Board of Trustees, and his wife, Mrs. Lillian Murphey, principal of Douglass High School. Ranging behind the Murpheys are other members of the family and friends.

Dr. Holmes Called 'Greatest Roman Of All'

"No man can be great unless he is good," said the Rt. Rev. Edgar A. Love, president Bishop of the Methodist Churches in Baltimore, as he said the eulogy during funeral services for Dr. Dwight O. W. Holmes, president emeritus of Morgan State College.

Dr. Holmes, a man of immense personal charm, had been seriously ill for two weeks before dying in Johns Hopkins Hospital at the age of 85, Saturday.

Dr. Holmes, before his death, had requested that the services be held on the campus and that his body be cremated and the ashes scattered into the waters of the Chesapeake Bay.

* * *

TRIBUTES to Dr. Holmes were said by three of his closest associates — Dr. William S. Nelson, vice president of Howard University; Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr. state superintendent of schools, and Dr. Martin D. Jenkins, president of Morgan State College.

Another tribute was the obituary which appeared on the funeral program. It was written by Dr. Carl Murphy, chairman of the Morgan board of trustees, a former student of Dr. Holmes and a lifetime friend.

The obituary noted that Dr. Holmes was "a man with the sunniest disposition in town, on one occasion he uttered publicly these priceless words:

"'I know you think I am happy, and I should be. But you are looking at an unhappy man. Unhappy over being a two-thirds American, but determined to continue the struggle until no man shall be put aside because of race or color; until all men alike are able to enjoy certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

"'WHEREVER he went — member of the State Board of Education, or as director or trustee of a score of other educational and civic organizations — he generated a climate of sweetness and light, tempered with wisdom, honor, dignity, wit and affection.'"

Dr. Nelson, in his tribute, said that Dr. Holmes is rated at Howard University as one of its four best teachers of all-time and as an administrator without peer.

Dr. Nelson attributed Dr. Holmes' success to the facts that he was not a "swivel chair" administrator but was "peripatetic" and that he liked people and possessed "a sense of humor."

* * *

DR. PULLEN described Dr. Holmes as a "man of broad interests" who had an "objective intellect."

"He was a philosopher, and educator, a civilized man" and a "person to be admired," continued Dr. Pullen.

Dr. Jenkins, who succeeded Dr. Holmes as the president of Morgan State College in 1948, said:

"Dr. Dwight Holmes cast a long shadow in Morgan state College. His contributions to this college were many and will endure as long as this institution exists."

"I often sought his wise counsel," said Dr. Jenkins, as he paid tribute to a "friend and mentor."

At the close of his short talk, Dr. Jenkins said what was on the lips of nearly everyone present during the services: "I bid you Dwight Oliver Wendall Holmes a sorrowful farewell."

* * *

THE FUNERAL services were short, 55 minutes. The flag flew at half-mast and nearly 400 persons attended the services.

Among officialdom attending the services were Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin; Dr. George B. Brain, head of the city's school system; Dr. Eli Frank, president of school board; Jerome Frampton Jr., chairman of the state board of education; seven college presidents and lay, religious, political and educational leaders.

Dr. Holmes is survived by his wife, Mrs. Alverta Jones Holmes; a sister, Mrs. Herbert Morris, of New York City; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mary H. Stokes; a granddaughter, Miss Gwendell Holmes; a nephew, John Holmes, of Philadelphia; two cousins, Misses Rachel Anderson and Janet Wickham, both of Washington; Mrs. Mary F. Holmes, of New York City; and a sister who was too ill to attend the services, Mrs. Hallie Burton, of Melfa, Va.

* * *

MRS. HOLMES received more than 150 telegrams and letters of consolation.

Following are excerpts from a few:

"We thank God for all that he has meant to us personally and to the Baltimore community in general." — The Rev. Edward Carroll, district superintent of the Washington District of the Methodist Church, and Mrs. Phenola Carroll.

"He was truly a great man, a fighter for what he felt was right, a wise teacher and a leader, and one who contributed much to the advancement of education and Bliss Forisma, former trustee of Morgan State College.

"We wish to extend to you (Mrs. Holmes) our deepest sympathy on the passing of your beloved husband and our beloved president emeritus." — The Washington chapter of the Morgan Alumni Association.

"Our state is poorer for his passing. We are all richer for his having dwelt among us." — Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, president of the Baltimore branch of the NAACP.

* * *

"TRULY A great man has fallen in our area of education." — Dr. Charles Wesley, president of Central State College, in Wilberforce, Ohio.

"Sincere sympathy on the loss of your beloved one." — Dr. and Mrs. William E. Henry. Dr. Henry is president of Bowie.

"He was a man of great wisdom and understanding and a tower of strength in the deliberations of the state board of education." — Jerome Frampton Jr., chairman of the state board of education.

"His immortality is secure in the lives of thousands of students and others whom he influenced for good." — Jack Greenberg, director of the NAACP legal defense and educational fund.

* * *

TO HAVE enjoyed the friendship of Dr. Holmes we hold as one of the greatest privileges of our lives." — Faith Baptist Church.

"To know Dwight Holmes was to have loved him." — John W. Davis, retired president of W. Virginia State College.

* * *

THE MOST touching note was received from the last survivor of the class of 1901 at Howard University, the class in which Dr. Holmes was graduated.

Thomas W. Turner, of Hampton, Va., in a torturous hand, wrote:

"Dear Mrs. Holmes: I am deeply pained at learning of the passing of your dear husband, my life-long friend and classmate.

"Our sympathies are extended to you and to his sisters' families. Dr. Holmes rendered a service to education through the years.

"I happen to be the last survivor of our Howard University class of 1901.

"It is a serious physical ailment that prevents me from the funeral services."

The final word, however, belonged to Bishop Love, who paraphrasing a famous quotation, said:

"He (Dr. Holmes) was the greatest Roman of them all."

NCC library dean succumbs suddenly

DURHAM, N.C. — Daniel Eric Moore, 49, dean of North Carolina College School of Library Science and a member of the Durham Board of Education, died early Tuesday at Lincoln Hospital.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete at press time, pending the return of Mrs. Moore from Chattanooga (Tenn.) where she was attending the funeral of a sister.

Mr. Moore, a native of Hillsboro, entered the hospital late Monday afternoon complaining of pains in the chest. His father, the Rev. John H. Moore, was once dean of the college.

* * *

A GRADUATE of Hillsboro High School, Mr. Moore earned degrees at Johnson C. Smith and Columbia Universities. He had done work on the pre-doctoral level at the University of Chicago.

The World War 2 veteran joined the NCC faculty in 1949. He also had held teaching posts in Kings Mountain, Charlotte and at Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo.

He was appointed to the school board in June, 1962, and to the Governor's Stay in-School Committee in 1961. He also served as chairman of the Education Committee of the Durham Committee on Negro Affairs.

* * *

BESIDES MEMBERSHIP in various educational and professional organizations, Mr. Moore was active in White Rock Baptist Church and a member of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.
