DRIVE FOR DIXIE VOTERS PUSHED

REPORT FROM CUBA

Says Cuba ranks first in solving the 'race problem'

By CHAS. P. HOWARD, SR. (HNS) UN and Foreign Correspondent

(Second of the series)

Cuba has gone further in solving its "race problem" than any other country anywhere in the world, in which I have traveled.

That included Eastern Europe, the States, Canada, Mexico Philippines, Saigon, Singapore, Formosa, Turkey, Iran, Iraq and many of the islands of the sea.

Cuba is a country with a population that is more than 30 per cent Afro-Cuban. In our language more that 30 per cent of the people of Cuba are colored.

CUBANS HAVE not turned to the solution of this problem just recently. They turned to the solution of this problem some time ago, because these people came to the conclusion that they had to solve this problem if they hoped to make their revolution work.

Prior to the "Revolution in Cuba" (1959) this country had a "race problem" almost as acute as the "race problem" in the United States.

I have had called to my attention many places or spots on which I have stood or sat, where five years ago or prior to the revolution, I would not have been allowed to stand or sit.

THE AFRO-CUBAN, prior to the Revolution, was desperately exploited, and cruelly discriminated against, almost as badly as the Afro-American is exploited and discriminated against in the United States in the past and today.

But the Cubans were never as bestial to their "black minority" - lynching them, beating them and unleashing vicious dogs and fire hose streams on them, as have the officials and the citizens of the United States.

The United Stated and South Africa stand alone in this class.

THE HISTORY of the Afro-Cubans participation in the struggles for the independence and liberation of Cuba from Spanish domination and exploitation and later from United States domination and exploitation, has been about the same as the history of the in Afro-American's participation, in our own Revolutionary War, our Civil War and the two World Wars "TO MAKE THE WORLD SAFE FOR DEMOCRACY," beside places like Korea and Viet Nam.

There is probably one glaring exception in the comparison, and that has been the willingness of the Cubans to acknowledge and commemorate the participation and leadership of the Afro-Cubans in their "liberation struggles."

In the United States the leadership and the participation of Afro-Americans in the "periods of crises" has been "blacked out" or at least greatly diminished and the Negro people have been either participated in the "blackout" or acquiesced in the pratices.

Whitney Young speaks at 'Point'

NEW YORK — Whitney M. Young, Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, will be a principal speaker Sept. 13, at a regional seminar of the Public Relations Society of America at West Point.

The meeting, which gets under way the previous evening, will be held at the U.S. Military Academy. An attendance of upwards of 200 members from seven PRSA Eastern District chapters in New York, New Jersey and New England is expected.

Fort Valley adds Dr. Threatt to staff

FORT VALLEY, Ga. —Dr. C. V. Troup, president, Fort Valley State College, has announced the appointment of Dr. Robert Threatt as associate professor of education.

Dr. Threatt, a native of Columbus, Ga., received the doctor of education degree from the University of Oklahoma.

He taught at the Chipley and Carver High Schools in Harris County, and at the Spencer High School, Columbus, Ga.

Reject mixed honor guard for son's military funeral

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Gov. George Wallace said last week he sent an honor guard to the funeral of a white former serviceman because the U.S. military said it could supply only an integrated unit.

The governor said five Alabama National Guardsmen were sent to the funeral of Sherbert at Talladega at the request of the familyt Sherbert was killed in an accident.

Wallace said members of the family told him they went to Ft. McClellan and asked for an honor guard. The family was told the military would be happy to furnish it, but that it would be an integrated unit.

Civil rights agency facing early burial

WASHINGTON

The U.S. Civil Rights Commission is facing a major crisis.

Unless something is done soon to authorize continuation of its work, the Commission will issue its final report on Sept. 30 and phase out on Nov. 30.

The life of the commission is caught up in a White House legislative shuffle.

LAST FEBRUARY, President Kennedy asked Congress to extend the life of the Commission until 1967.

He also requested that its scope be broadened to make it a national clearing house for civil rights problems.

However, in June the President inserted his request into the civil rights package as Title V.

BERNHARD INDICATED it would be a difficult task to reorganize once the Commission has lost qualified personnel.

"It is very difficult to get top people for this kind of work," he said. "There's an exceedingly long period of training."

'Specialist' gets job of snub-fighting

WASHINGTON

Pedro A. Sanjuan has been put in charge of the State Department's new Office for Special Representational Services. The function of this unit is to see that foreign diplomats in the United States do not suffer racial snubs.

Mr. Sanjuan's duties will be "virtually the same" as they were when he was chief of special protocol services for the Office of Protocol. The old office is being abolished.

Mr. Sanjuan, now 34, was active during the Route 40 crisis in Maryland when case presently on appeal to numerous diplomats and U.N. delegates from Africa were refused service in places of public accommodation.

Thus the Commission's future is tied to the civil rights package. Separation of the agency's future from the civil rights package could begin Senate Southerners on a filibuster spree and raise the chances of the entire civil rights program, the Administration fears.

Meanwhile, the Commission's staff director, Berl I. Bernhard, said he is losing some of his top lawyers and professional staffers.

NORMALLY, 30 of the 40 members of the staff are lawyers. The Commission itself is made up of six members.

Bernhard said he expects to have more resignations if something isn't done soon to assure continuation of the Commission.

One solution offered might be to put a rider on another measure extending the agency's life for two or three months, while Congress acts on the civil rights package.

NAACP fights tuition grants

RICHMOND

NAACP Counsel Robert L. Carter has asked the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to lift the Virginia tuition grants for white Prince Edward pupils attending private schools.

He said that approving the grants would confuse the issue presented on appeal to the Supreme Court. The Circuit court had recently vacated a lower court injunction against the grants.

DEMONSTRATOR INJURED — Dr. Bertrand Tyson examines 15-year-old Dianne Scott, kicked in the stomach when police used horses to quell mass civil rights march in Plaquemine, La., on Aug. 31. Leaders charged police brutality and have asked the FBI for help.

5,468 are registered in Memphis

MEMPHIS — Some highly successful tactics mark NAACP voter registration campaigns in the South. Of particular note is a campaign in Memphis which succeeded in registering 5,468 persons during June and July.

With a total of 232,256 persons registered in the city of which 75,345 are colored, the voting power of the race has reached formidable strength. Goal of the campaign is 10,000 new registered voters before the deadline of Oct. 8.

Other campaigns are currently under way or in planning stages in Florida, Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi.

IN MARIANNA, FLA., $500 has been raised to help finance the cost of the campaign. Kick-off day was Aug. 25 with a large number of ministers giving Citizenship Day priority in their services that day.

One person in the campaign has been responsible for 45 persons registering.

In Tampa, a special act of the State Legislature, originated and promoted by NAACP Committee Chairman James Hammond, enabled registration offices to remain open two nights a week until the books closed Aug. 10 for the forthcoming election.

A CRUSADE for Voters Campaign is now in progress in Delta County, Miss. with Miss Rosetta Williams as director.

The county has been flooded with publicity material and mobile registration and night registration has been scheduled for the month of September. The outlook is for a highly successful campaign

A goal of 1500 new voters has been set in Baton Rouge, La. Block workers have been assigned and 11 clinics are instructing prospective voters on the literacy test.

STIFF RESISTANCE by voting officials is constantly encountered in Mississippi. In Jackson during a three-day period in August, although over 70 persons attempted to register, only one person passed the tests.

A campaign is being conducted in Laurel, Miss., with several clinics instructing potential voters on sections of the Constitution most frequently used in the tests.

Like all other campaigns, the county has been flooded with publicity material. There have been several unsuccessful attempts made by the white community to intimidate the campaign director.

unflinching sense of responsibility with which vast numbers of closely packed people conducted themselves in the face of an emotional strain which is beyond imagining by all except those born to old injustice."

NEW YORK WORLD-TELEGRAM — "The demonstration is bound to have a favorable effect, both on Congress and on the country."

COLUMBIA (S.C.) RECORD — "It is doubtful that it won a single vote for the civil rights program advanced by the Kennedys."

CHICAGO SUN-TIMES — "The substantial citizens of the Negro community ought now take over and utilize in a practical manner the sentiment and moral support that the summer of Negro discontent has brought to the surface."

* * *

NASHVILLE TENNESSEEAN — "In the end attention...may be created and stimulated by the marches but a final solution will only be found by discussion and negotiation in the quiet of the conference halls."

Ga. poultry dealer insults Jamaican's white wife; flees

KINGSTON, Jamaica — (ANP) — Hayne Nalley, a white American poultry dealer from Georgia, who was threatened with deportation for insulting the white wife of a colored Jamaican fled the island last week.

Nalley's troubles resulted from an altercation at the Kingston-Sheraton Hotel with Byron LaBeach and his white wife. LaBeach reported Nalley called Mrs. LaBeach "a white b—h."

The Trade Ministry received the complaint and ordered Nalley to apologize of face deportation.

He apologized but left in a huff a few hours later.

DC trek stirs 50 in Canada

EDMONTON, Alberta Canada — About 50 Negro citizens in this remote Canadian city sent a telegram to Washington in support of the March on Washington.

The signers included Art Walker, famous professional football player, and several professors at the University of Alberta, including Dr. Lee Lorch, Professor of Mathematics.

He was active in the civil rights struggle in the United States for many years, south and north.

The telegram declared:

"As U.S. citizens resident in Canada we support the March on Washington. We urge passage of strong civil rights legislation to remove the unconstitutional burden of second - class citizenship and an immediate federal program of training and jobs to provide colored people with constructive and steady work."

Howard gad gets Interior Dept. post

WASHINGTON

James E. Harper, formally with the Navy's missile program at the Naval Ordnance Laboratory, has joined the staff of Assistant Secretary of Interior Kenneth Holum in the Office of Water and Power Development.

A graduate of Howard University in electrical engineering, the native of Columbia, S.C., and world war 2 veteran was senior electrical engineer and an assistant project manager for one of the Navy's missile programs.

Mr. Harper will be primarily concerned with power problems being studied in many of the river basins throughout the country. He will be an assistant to Morgan D. Dubrow, assistant and chief research advisor for Water and Power Development.

He and his wife, Mrs. Addie M. Harper, reside with their son James Jr. at 1824 Belmont Rd., NW. Mrs. Harper is a teacher in the local school system.

Abolitionist leader touted for stamp

WASHINGTON

A bill authorizing the issuance of a special postage stamp to honor Frederick Douglass, abolitionist and first marshal of color and recorder of deeds of Washington, has been introduced in the House by Rep. Frank J. Horton (Rep.-N.Y.).

The proposal would commemorate the publication by Douglass of the North Star, an abolitionist newspaper which he founded in Rochester, N.Y., Horton's home city, in 1847.

The City of Rochester, Horton said, has memorialized Douglass with a statue in the downtown community, and he asked that Congress "do his memory another honor . . . (by) authorizing the issuance of a postage stamp commemorating his achievements."

DOUGLASS WAS born in slavery in 1817 and spent his early childhood in Talbot County on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. After an "experience of neglect and cruelty," he turned upon one of his tormentors and was sent to Baltimore as a house servant.

His desire for freedom led him to flee Maryland in 1838, and he went to New York City and then to New Bedford, Mass., where he was eventually hired as a full time anti-slavery lecturer because of his oratorical skill.

In 1847, after two years of touring in Great Britain and Ireland, Douglass returned to Rochester and established the long-lived North Star for the next 17 years.

WHILE IN Rochester, he also acted as superintendent of the Rochester terminus of the underground railroad — an organized escape route for slaves. His house was its headquarters.

The Civil War provided Douglass with an opportunity to recruit colored people to fight for the cause of emancipation. During the reconstruction, he was frequently called upon by President Lincoln for advice on matters of civil rights for freed men.

Douglass stood out as the best and most militant orators among William Lloyd Garrison's band of abolitionists, but he broke with him over the fiery Garrison denounced the U.S. Constitution and called for dissolution of the Union.

The powerfully built Douglass died in 1895 at the age of 78 after serving as Minister to Haiti.

Wyatt Earp star beats rap in L.A.

LOS ANGELES — (ANP) — A shapely Los Angeles model, Miss Zelda Melba Bennett, 28, who had charged in a $65,177 battery suit that Hugh O'Brien, star of the Wyatt Earp television show, had tried to ravish her, had her case thrown out of court.

The suit charged that in April, 1958, O'Brien in amourous pursuit of her, chased her down a stairway. She was fleeing before his advances when he outstretched arms, Miss Bennett charged.

The judge, however, dismissed the suit, claiming the five-year statute of limitation had expired. The Earp TV series is now presented as a re-run.

Newspaper editorials give praise to march

BALTIMORE

Now that the nation's press has had its say on the March on Washington, at least three conclusions can be drawn from the editorial comment.

1 - The march left a pleasant reaction with most newspapers.

2 - Most of them were impressed by the dignity and orderliness of the demonstration.

3 - Opinion was divided on the effect the march would have on passage of the civil rights bill.

Here is how some newspapers viewed the march:

ATLANTIC JOURNAL — "The size, plus the orderliness of the crowd may have influenced the fence-sitters in Congress, and there may be enough of them to influence the final outcome."

MEMPHIS PRESS-SCIMITAR — "It is time for Americans to get over their terror of Negroes. The polite crowds disciplined themselves. And their speakers, for those who still think of Negroes in terms of 'Yassah, Boss,' were dignified and articulate."

RICHMOND TIMES-DISPATCH — "One benefit which may have been derived from the march is that preparation for it occupied Negro groups in many cities completely for several weeks, and this may have kept them from stirring up trouble in those areas."

* * *

THE NASHVILLE BANNER — "It was, advertised, a peaceable and orderly Congress — which still sits, it is to be hoped, mindful of legislation done in the Constitutional pattern, neither denying valid individual rights nor abdicating a responsibility under the weight of mass coercion, accusation and threat."

* * *

BOSTON GLOBE — "Whatever obstacles remain in the path of the civil rights bill and other Negro aims, whatever disappointments may lie ahead, the Negro is on his way. It will be far harder to treat him as a second-class citizen after the Washington March."

* * *

THE ROANOKE WORLD NEWS — "Few, if any votes have changed in either the Senate or House for the civil rights bill."

* * *

CHATTANOOGA FREE PRESS — "The marchers were not primarily seeking to gain these civil rights themselves but to deprive others of their civil rights so that the demonstrator might have what belongs to others."

THE MIAMI NEWS — "All the head-shaking, anxieties and misgivings over the big march on Washington seem a little foolish today. This was no angry mob...It was not a mob at all. It was an assemblage of people who appeared to be people assembled to stir the conscience of America."

THE PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER — "What has set it apart...from all and sundry demonstrations of the past was the incomparable good nature, the superb dignity and

Ray Charles is told to take blood test in paternity suit

LOS ANGELES — (ANP) — As a result of a paternity suit filed against him, blind singer Ray Charles last week was ordered to submit to blood tests before Oct. 1. Tests were also ordered for the child soon after its birth.

The tests are designed to determine whether Charles is the father of the child of Mika Sandrea Jean Betts, a 21-year-old office secretary. She claimed Charles is the father of the child and has failed to pay her medical bills as part of a tentative agreement.

Charles has filed an answer through his attorney, Peter J. Kaplanis, denying the charges. Neither Charles nor Miss Betts were in court when the tests were ordered. Miss Betts indicated in the suit that Charles admitted he was the father and had agreed to provide help.

HASKINS — In loving memory of my dear mother, ELIZABETH HASKINS, who passed away September 15, 1962:
God made lots of beautiful things;
Sunset and roses, and trees,
Birds, and starlight and loyal friends

God saw the road was getting rough,
The hills were hard to climb;

His weary hours, his days of pain,
His weary nights are past;
His ever - patient, worn-out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.

Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all.
A bitter grief, a shock severe,

We often sit and think of you,
And speak of how you died.
To think you could not say goodbye
Before you closed your eyes.
For all of us you did your best.
Oh, God, grant you eternal rest.
CHILDREN, GRANDCHILDREN and SISTER.

WOODFORD — In loving memory of our dear mother, IDA M., who passed away September 11, 1960:
