MUSICAL MOMENTS

Gladys P. Goodwin featured in 'Songs For My Children' recital

By ADAH K. JENKINS

A song musicale entitled "Songs for My Children" was given by Gladys Purnell Goodwyn, mezzo-soprano, at Allen AME Church Sunday afternoon.

The soloist is the possessor of considerable range and power, clear diction and the ability to communicate the emotional message.

Included on the program were two local premiere performances -- one, "I Heard a Voice" by Eugene Broadnax and the other, "A little Sweetness" by Gladys S. Davis.

In addition to other sacred compositions and a group of spirituals, Mrs. Goodwyn sang "Think on Me" and "By the Bend of the River". Ample support was given the singer by her coach and accompanist, William Meredith H. Birche Jr.

The event was of decided interest and merit, as it demonstrated the talents, abilities of using the natural talent such as we find in many of our choirs and choral groups.

Gladys Goodwin, who is a hospital nurse, was encouraged in her vocal endeavors by her mother, Mrs. G. C. Brown. Her musical experience was furthered in the Phyllis Wheatley School Choir, directed by Mr. Birche.

Later, Mrs. Goodwyn led the Youth Choir at Davis Memorial AME Church, after which she became a soloist with the Allen AME Church choir.

In her own home she has kept music alive by singing for and with her five children.

The Missionaries of the church, who sponsored the musicale, were hostesses at an informal reception following the program.

DETAILED PLANS were discussed for contacting churches and organizations in interest of the Tuesday and Wednesday concert series, the Saturday Pop Concert series, as well as the children and youth concerts for the current season.

Just before our deadline we received word that the Me-De-So Club, of which Dr. LaForest is president, has taken 18 subscriptions in the orchestra, Dr. Delaney reported also that the Howard University Alumni Association he heads is planning a large attendance at the concerts on Dec. 2nd and 3rd when Howard Choir is singing Verdi's "Requiem" with the symphony.

Other interested groups are at Coppin State Teachers College, where Mrs. Flossie Dedmond is representing the Symphony Committee; Eastern Star Education Committee, of which Miss Jeanne Julius is chairman; general citizens' contacts thru Mrs. Rosalie R. McQuire, and Coppin State Teachers College Alumni Association, thru Mrs. Rosalie Jenkins, corresponding secretary.

Annapolis DOINGS

By ELOISE RICHARDSON

Cupid was very busy reminiscing in Annapolis recently when she took her magic wand and visited the home of the Thomas W. Harrises in West St. in the Parole area.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris, both natives of Anne Arundel County, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary and were greeted with best wishes by over 200 guests on Sunday, September 22.

Those who received with Blanche Moore McGowans and James Parker, brother of Mrs. Harris. These two people also stood with the couple on Sept. 15, 1912, when the late Rev. S. S. Wormley, former pastor of First Baptist Church, joined them in Holy matrimony at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Harris is the former Ida Parker, the daughter of the late James E. and Evelyn Parker of Annapolis.

Calvin Offer, grandson of of the Harrises, sang.

For her 50th wedding anniversary, Mrs. Harris was very attractive in a lace brocaded satin gown, which had been designed for the occasion. Her accessories were also gold and her corsage was made up of yellow rosebuds.

* * *

THE BRILLIANT affair was hosted by the couples son and daughter -in- law, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Harris as hostesses were Mrs. Ardelia Parker, sister-in-law of Mrs. Harris, and Mrs. Mary Makell.

James A. Diggs was the caterer.

Mrs. Harris became a bride during her girlhood and had no experience whatsoever in cooking, "so I have done the cooking in the family most of the time," said Mr. Harris.

"My husband has never objected to my participation in the many organizations I have been a part of," chimed in Mrs. Harris.

Both indicated that it was hard for them to realize that at Polytechnic, the United Nations Choir, in costume, sponsored by the Madison Avenue Y.M.C.A.

Cassius Clay flies to Muslim meet

By MILDRED O'NEILL
PHILADELPHIA

Poetic heavyweight contender Cassius Clay, "didn't just happen" to be present as reporters were told when he turned up at Black Muslim HQ's in Chicago last July, but flew in from California to attend Elijah Muhammad's personal appearance at the Philadelphia arena Sunday.

Clay applauded with enthusiasm behind every point Mr. Muhammad made in a boring three-hour speech on the topic "Separation or Death."

When asked for a statement for the AFRO, Clay, the usually talkative one would only say, "I've never heard a man so bold." "How can a man be so bold?", he repeated.

* * *

CLAY WAS introduced from the platform and stood to thunderous applause from the audience. He was seated in the press section, third row from the front.

Last July, cornered by reporters in an alley behind the University of Islam in Chicago, and asked point-blank "If he was a Black Muslim," Clay answered "No", then changed his answer to "I don't know."

At the Philadelphia meeting Sunday, Clay, dodging too much interrogation by the press, however, said: "If you want to know anything else ask Malcolm X."

* * *

IN ANOTHER incident of note outside of the meeting, a well - known Philadelphia and Brooklyn Prophet, Jesus Emanuel, who has been of continuous annoyance to the Father Divine movement, was treated for slight injuries at Misericordia Hospital Sunday afternoon.

Emanuel, who carried a poster which stated, "Elijah Muhammad is a phony" told police that he was grabbed from behind as he approached the arena and thrashed by two men whom ucators to set aside all re-

* * *

DESPITE A heavy hurricane rain Sunday, 4,000 people flocked to the Arena, at 46th and Market Sts., to hear the Messenger of Allah, who made his first public appearance of 1963 at the massive rally.

They came from such far away places as California—Boston, Chicago, Washington, D.C., Arizona and Georgia.

They came in planes, trains, buses, taxis, cars, subways, and on foot to hear the man whose voice has the power to move people.

The men and women, called brothers and sisters, had to enter the Arena by separate doors.

Thomas Hanks, the photographer and myself, as well as everyone else, was searched for weapons. Hank had to give up his cigarettes and matches and I was relieved of my nail file and umbrella.

Once inside we were led down separate aisles to the press sections where I was then permitted to mingle with the men of the press. However, the men and the women were separated in the Arena.

Before Mr. Muhammad spoke, several ministers spoke, a sister and Malcolm X. A ten - minute handclapping ovation greeted Mr. Muhammad when he stepped to the microphone.

Everyone was instructed to stand, heads bowed, and arms stretched out with the palms of their hands turned toward the gun while a minister offered several minutes of prayer.

* * *

IN A THREE-HOUR talk, Mr. Muhammad, leader of the greatest movement of Islam in American history, spoke about the unprecedented struggle for freedom of black peoples in America.

The noted Muslim leader spoke about the failure of the United States Justice Department to give meaningful aid to colored people against increasingly savage travesties and tyrannies north and south.

Coached up from the audience when he spoke about day - by-day police brutalities, mass arrests, assaults, tortures, court-frameups and cruel punishments inflicted particularly upon colored youths struggling for dignity and justice that has been laid on the doorsteps of the U. S. Justice Department which, instead of carrying out its constitutional functions, has turned its back upon any realistic driving off aiding black Americans.

Religious or political difference and to join hands and unite behind the best program to achieve black liberation, to enlarge upon "What the Muslims Want" program, first enunciated a year ago at Chicago's McCormick Hall.

* * *

"REGARDLESS of religion or other differences, we are all in the same ditch.

"We must lay aside such differences and grasp a common chain that can pull us into true freedom," the Messenger of Allah stated.

"The thing that so-called colored people should do is the thing that they will not do because of their great love for the white race.

"This is the fault of the leadership of the so-call colored people; the educators, teachers, politicians and religious leaders, teachers or whatever you may be," Mr. Muhammad said as deaf, roaring cheers went up from his followers.

"My people should get together and confer over the best way to unshackle our people from the hands and power of the slave masters children.

"And whoever has the best idea for the solution to our people's problem we all should agree and put it into force; carry it into practice and then soon we will be respected not only by our people in Asia and Africa, but very children of our slave master.

* * *

"EVEN THEY will recognize and respect us as human beings." Mr. Muhammad stated.

Mr. Muhammad said, "This is far better than going around preaching integration and intermarriage between the two races that are different even by nature and color.

"But the so-called colored Americans, since having heard of the coming of Allah and the truth that He has revealed, are afraid of losing the friendship—the false friendship, of the white man, rather than to unite as men and women as other nations to seek the best way out for the future or salvation of our people."

Mr. Muhammad continued, "Here today we read and hear how strong the white man opposes intermarriage between his race and the so-called American Negroes.

"I am now referring to Georgia case fo the black woman, Charlayne Hunter, and the white man, Walter Stovall, of Georgia University.

"It does not matter if a black woman is single or married: this makes absolutely no difference in Georgia or any other state for that matter when it comes to disgracing the so-called colored families.

* * *

FOR CENTURIES NOW this has been going on; and as a result little half-white sons and daughters of the white man have been left behind in our families to look after, resembling spots on a leopard's back.

"One child is of one color and the other of another, though they both were born of the same mother; but one of one father, and the other of another.

"This evil has been going on so long among the so-called American colored people that they today do not even look upon it as an act of disgrace and shame.

"There are some of our poor women who think it an act of elevation and honor to look upon their spotted families with the thought in their foolish heart that the public, and especially the members of her race, should think she was really a pridful woman to have had relationships with her father's and her own open enemies —the devils—, and the disgracers of her nation and who are the very murderers of her sons and daughters even though they may be of his blood.

"He will lynch and kill that same son or daughter that he has gotten by her if that son or daughter tries to enter into his white family through marriage," Mr. Muhammad said.

"TODAY, I preach separation in order to try and save my people from being totally destroyed as a people by the white race.

"For they will not destroy the white race by the intermixing of blood.

"My people do not love themselves as they love the white man because of their lack of knowledge of the truth about race. I do not love the devils, but I do have respect for those who want to keep and love their own race," he said.

"The White Circle League, the Ku Klux Klan, and the German Nazis want to keep their race white."

Mr. Muhammad concluded his three-hour speech with, "I do not have any respect for any of these white supremacy organizations that want to sneak around day and night disgracing the blind, deaf, and dumb so-called colored women in the way of illicit relationships."

25,000 volunteers in United Appeal drive

With more than a half million dollars already at hand or on pledge cards, 25,000 volunteers started out Tuesday to gather in another five and a half million to meet the 1963 United Appeal goal.

The funds pledged before the formal opening of the campaign came by way of gifts from corporations and employees of six companies who completed their plant solicitation ahead of time.

The Community Chest-Red Cross United Appeal in its Central Maryland area covers Baltimore City and the counties of Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Carroll, Harford and Howard.

The total sought is $6,020,000, or $410,000 more than collected in 1962. The volunteer solicitors, expecting to reach every possible contributor, have until Nov.5 to complete their jobs.

The first report luncheon to discuss the progress of the campaign will be held Tuesday, Oct. 8.
