Metropolitan to analyze mission

The Metropolitan Methodist Church, Lanvale and Carrollton Ave., will begin its church - wide study of "Our Mission Today" Sunday.

There will be five sessions and they will begin at 5 p.m.

Workshops, fellowship and special features will follow each session.

Sunday, a film "The Factors That Confront Us" will be shown.

Also, Miss Ellen Barnett, a missionary who has recently visited Pakistan, will speak on "The Faith That Compels Us."

Nov. 17, Robert Kane, director of Brotherhood Service, will discuss "The Frontiers That Call Us."

* * *

THE NOV. 24 session will be an extension of the prior week's topic.

Dec. 1 is dedicated to the youth of the church.

The purpose of the study is to clarify some of the problems challenging Christianity and to help Christians to realize their role in working for solutions.

NEW NAACP LIFE MEMBER — Father Carleton M. Sage, S.S., professor at St. Mary's Seminary, Paca and Druid Hill, pays $500 for his life membership in the NAACP. The Rev. Gentry McDonald executive secretary of the Baltimore branch, accepts the check. The branch's membership drive is now in progress.

THE REV. WILLARD L. CLAYTON, pastor of Macedonia Baptist Church, has two tomato plants in his back yard which produced 60 tomatoes — an astonishing number. Despite the lateness of the season, the remarkable plants are still producing tomatoes.

Calvary Baptist Church observes Women's Day

"The Influence of Christian Women in the Community," was the topic of the 42nd annual Women's Day celebration at Calvary Baptist Church on Sunday.

Mrs. Eliabeth M. Phillips, AFRO vice president-treasurer, suggested in her talk that the role of church women is to 'light the spark, and stand up and be counted,' in all areas of the community.

"Wherever there is a program to benefit others," she asserted, "it is woman's job to create and stimulate public opinion and work for equal rights."

* * *

MRS. Phillips paid special tribute to women who have pioneered in their communities.

One person cited was Mrs. Enella P. McMillon, a member of the women's day chorus.

It was recalled Mrs. McMillon was remembrance who spearheaded the NAACP suit to equalize teachers' salaries in Maryland over 20 years ago. She is now a public school vice principal.

ALSO singled out were Calvary's pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Lorenzo Graves Jr., both active in the PTA of School No. 85 (Lakewood and Oliver), where there has been acute overcrowding for several years.

Mrs. Graves presided at the morning service, where the Rev. Mr. Graves spoke on 'Top Performance.'

Miss JoAnn Winchester presided in the afternoon.

The Women's Chorus sang at both services. Special Soloists and accompanists were Mrr. Bertha Lyles of Shiloh Baptist; Miss Joyce Wilkins; Mrs. Mae J. Brown; Mrs. Catherine Evans and Mrs. Virgie Lewis.

The program participants were: Mesdames Grace Bronson, Catherine Evans, Helena Madden, Jessie Arison, Mary Ware, Ora Harris, Annie Jones, Hazel McClain, Enella McMillan, Norma Bailey, Beatrice Jackson, Janie Fowlkes, Ella Cole, Margaret Johnson, Vashti Wilson, Adelaide Smith, Minnie Ames and Mildred Winchester, program chairman.

Montrose, Morning Star groups in benefit Nov. 8

The Montrose Drama group of Reisterstown, and the Young Adult Choir of Morning Star Baptist Church will present two one act Biblical plays entitled, "David Takes the Shoots to Jerusalem" and "David and Bathsheba", on November 8, at the church, 1064 W. Fayette St.

The cast will consist of an integrated group of girls and boys between the ages of 15 and 17 years.

These girls receive professional training from William O. Myers the director.

Some of the areas covered are stage presence, walking, talking, basic acting, singing, and the development of a professional attitude.

Aaron Hagerty, Montrose art director, is stage manager, scenic designer and lighting consultant. He is also directly involved with stage presence and placement.

* * *

PROCEEDS FROM this performance will serve a twofold purpose. Half of the monies will be used to strengthen the Christmas and Welfare fund at Montrose.

There are students who are deprived of the thrill and enjoyment of opening Christmas gifts because their families are unable to do so or they are without a family.

The balance will go to the Young Adult Choir of Morning Star Baptist Church to help purchase choir robes.

Arena Players to repeat 'Purlie Victorious'

The Arena Players are announcing their schedule for the 11th Drama Series in the 1963-64 season, which opened Oct. 18 with "Purlie Victorious" by Ossie Davis.

This drama will be done again at the Orchard St. playhouse this Friday and Saturday nights.

The series will feature works by American Negro dramatists, resuming performances Dec. 6 with Louis Peterson's "Take a Giant Step." There will be subsequent performances Dec. 7, and 8th, with 13th, 14th and 15th available for benefits.

"A Raisin in the Sun" that gained for Lorraine Hansberry international fame, is booked for Feb. 14, 15 and 16 with 21, 22 and 23 for benefit dates.

One-act plays will be featured the third week-end in April, with free dates available the next week-end. Langston Hughes' "Simply Heavenly" is booked for the first week-end in June and benefits the second.

John Walker Hicklin, business manager for the Arenas, who are directed by Sam Wilson, is available at the Arena Playhouse Downtown, 406 Orchard Street; telephone 727-0686. Subscriptions for the season are $7.00; double, $12.00 and single tickets $2.00.

AFRICAN SCHOLARSHIPS BEGUN — Some 280 distinguished Baltimoreans honored Dr. Carl Murphy, chairman of the board, the AFRO-AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS, at the Lord Baltimore hotel at a luncheon that marked establishment of scholarships for African students in his name. Known as the Carl Murphy Scholarship Fund, the grants for American study by young Africans will be administered by 24 trustees, all Baltimoreans. In this scene at the main table, co-chairman of the fund, luncheon William C. Rogers, (left) and Harry D. Kauffman are shown with Dr. Murphy, the honoree. Robert Watts, third program sponsor, is seated at right. In the inset picture is the Hon. Gotwin Onyegubla, Nigeria's Chief of Protocol and counselor to his nation's embassy here, who was principal speaker at the affair.

News from Eastside

By CHARLOTTE DOWNIE

Our Good Neighbor of the week is lovely Mrs. Elizabeth Phelps, widow of the late John Phelps, long time Eastside resident.

Mrs. Phelps resides in the 1600 block of Broadway with her daughter, Deborah, a third grader at School No. 149. Her teacher is Mrs. Doris White.

Our Neighbor is a native of Rocky Mount, N.C. but has lived in our fair city for many years. In her home town she attended Fremont High School and is a graduate of the Apex Beauty school in Baltimore.

Mrs. Phelps is an active member of the Zion Baptist Church, located at Caroline and Lanvale Sts. The Rev. R. Moses Williams is her pastor.

In her church she is the president of the Female Ushers. Among her civic interests is the NAACP. This year Mrs. Phelps is a captain in the fall drive now being held. Our Neighbor is a member of the Adjacent Neighborhood Club on our Eastside.

OUR HONOR class of the week is the sixth grade class of Mrs. Ruth H. Fauntleroy, teacher at School No. 133. Mrs. Gladys H. Derry is principal and Mrs. Margery Prout is the vice principal.

These sixth graders are practicing "Good Citizenship" along with other students in the school. They have been working very hard at this by composing 10 original citizenship pledges and a rousing prayer.

Having done these two collectively and with poetry being stressed in their school, some of the children have ventured on their own to become "budding young poets."

The young "citizens" and poets are Clarence Bayne, Isaac Brooks, Kenneth Brown, Earl Carter, Undrey Collins, Clarence Cooper.

Also Herbert Curtis, Carlton Garrett, Maurice Gholsin, Johnny Hall, Ronald Harlee, Micahel Jamison, Larry McCall, David McCoy and Ronald Nicholson.

Kelvin Patterson, Kemmit Scott, Theodore Silva, Lawrence Spearman, Jerome Watson, Margaret Barnett, Dianne Bonds and Kathleen Brown.

Lorretta Carroll, Brenda Cozart, Sandra Fitzgerald, Charlotte Johnson, Lillian Johnson, Carla Kane, Lucille McCray, Regina Pindell, Nilene Skates, Thelma Spence, Paulette Tyson, Jacqueline West and Joyce West.

NEIGHBORS, THE latest group to organize on our Eastside is the Helping Hand Club of School No. 135. The group, under the dynamic leadership of Civic Leader, Mrs. Irene Hallet was organized for the purpose of lending aid in all was for the benefit of the school.

Members are parents of children who attend the scho and they are also very active in the PTA of the school.

Hats off to this thoughtful and worthwhile group of citizens.

A must on your list . . . do attend the variety supper that is to be given by the Little Workers Club.

The affair will be held at 866 N. Washington St. on Nov. 29. Funds raised from this effort will be used to help some child in need.

Bettie Jean Hallet is president, Christine Johnson is first vice president and Christine Johnson is second vice president. Mrs. Irene Hallet is the manager—See Ya There.

BUSY AS bees are the women of Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church. This year your columnist is the general chairman and is really is a grand experience (one I shall always remember).

Such wonderful people and pitching in to help make the day a success. There are many sleepless nights involved but I know it will be most rewarding in the end. . . My heartiest thanks to all. . .

Just couldn't leave out the most helpful male members Deacon Charles Underwood and William Hall who stayed up for two nights last week to paint the lower church, and a beautiful job they did. . . . Thanks friends you are truly good neighbors and dedicated churchmen.

Not to forget the tireless support of my pastor the Rev. Hiram E. Smith. . .and my lovely co - chairwomen. . . See ya Nov. 10 .

* * *

ALSO MAKE it a must to attend the affair to be given by the Matron's Society of Fountain Baptist Church on Sunday, Nov. 3. Included will be a baby contest, fall hat show featuring Clarice Pitts Designs and other surprises. Scene of the affair will be the YWCA at 5 p.m. See Ya There . . .

PE Society elects new officers

The Episcopal Society for Cultural and Racial Unity held elections for the Baltimore chapter at St. Church of the Redeemer on Monday.

New officers are: Father Donald O. Wilson, rector, St. James, president; Miss Betty Whaley, St. Bartholomew, vice president; and Mrs. Betsy Carson, Redeemer, secretary treasurer.

David Glenn, Grace and St. Peter's and the Rev. Jack Malpas, St. Bartholomew, are serving second terms on the program committee.

* * *

NEWLY elected members of this committee are: Frank Sorrell, St. James; Father Van S. Bird, Holy Trinity; Father E. Lawrence Lacher, St. Mary the Virgin; Mrs. Sara Fischer, Redeemer; and Mrs. Jacob Berlin, St. Andrews.

Purpose of the Society is to encourage men to respond positively to God's will for unity in the church.

It commits itself to establish total participation in the church for all persons, without regard to race, class, national origin.

* * *

THE Society also supports 'all who act in this ministry of reconciliation' and commits itself to express its concerns in parishes and in the community at large.

Specifically, it affirms its belief that 'any form of segregation or separation based on race, color, national origin or class in either the church or the general community is contrary to the will of Christ and must be resisted by the church and its members.'

One of the Society's six-point objectives is to eliminate consideration based on race, color, national origin and class for applicants to church camps, conferences, schools, colleges, hospitals or other institutions or agencies it may operate or sponor in any way.
