Beverage group flexes muscles, future bright

The National Negro License Beverage Association flexed its muscles in Baltimore this week and served notice that it is rapidly becoming a power to be reckoned with.

NNLBA climaxed its three-day fourth annual convention Thursday night at the Southern Hotel with a rousing banquet featuring an address by the highest ranking colored person in the beverage industry.

Charles (Chuck) Williams, vice president, Schenley distillers, keyed his address to the general theme of the convention — "Impact of Colored Consumers on the Beverage Industry."

Speaking to a near capacity audience in the hotel ballroom, Mr. Williams, who worked his way from salesman to executive in 13 years, explored trends, taxation, and job opportunities in the industry.

Lauding the industry for what he called "leading the way in providing job opportunities for all, Mr. Williams called on distillers, brewers, distributors, and retailers to adopt a policy of hiring and promoting on merit alone.

"All we want from the industry, he said is " an opportunity to use our skills."

* * *

POINTING TO the ever increasing job opportunities, Mr. Williams recited the "policy credo" of Schenley, which he said, was the first company to push for equal job opportunities "before it became popular."

The credo, which champions the cause of equal job opportunities, was called the product of "one of the most enlightened companies" in the industry, the speaker said.

Mr. Williams called for an end to the widespread practice of "Hiring a colored salesmen to sell to the colored market."

He challenged distributors, distillers and retailers to outlaw the practice of putting colored persons in "show case" jobs which are only frauds."

The executive, a native of Arizona and a product of California schools, also urged young men to prepare themselves for the new opportunities the industry offers.

Mr. Williams was introduced by Kenneth O. Wilson, AFRO vice president, in charge of advertising.

Mr. Wilson, substituting for Mayor Theodore McKeldin, "went on record" to laud the beverage industry for being the first to recognize the ability of colored persons."

* * *

OTHER SPEAKERS, emphasizing the urgency of "freedom now" in politics, employment and society, included Belford Lawson, general counsel, National Business League; Mahlon T. Purryear, associate director, National Urban League; and Mrs. Victorine Adams, executive director, Woman Power, Inc, and other community organizations.

The convention, called the most successful in the four-year history of the organization, drew more than 2,000 persons, and featured classy promotions, exhibits, and entertainment.

Frank Reddish, operator of the Dotson's night club, was re-elected national president.

Floyd Bartz, president of the local chapter, hosted the meeting and called it a "tremendous success."

Frank Venable

Frank Venable, of 1820 E. Eager St., died on Oct. 27 at Johns Hopkins Hospital. He was 65 years old, and a former resident of Charlotte County, Va.

Surviving are his sister, Mrs. Susie Marshall; two aunts Mrs. Eliza Harey and Mrs. Hettie Williamson along with several nephews and other relatives.

Services were held on Thursday at the Collick Funeral Home.

Williams addresses NLBA convention

Charles Williams, vice president of Schenley Distillers, challenged the beverage industry Thursday night to adopt a new "policy creed."

Mr. Williams, first of his race to achieve a position of vice president in the industry, was banquet speaker as the National License Beverage Association ended its fourth annual convention at the Southern Hotel.

The address, highlight of the three - day convention, was based on the Schenley Creed, adopted before "it became popular to promote equality," Mr. Williams said.

"Equal opportunity for all, irrespective of race, creed, or color is the corner stone of America's social philosophy," the creed begins.

"It's our philosophy and Schenley's policy. It is, we hope or by right ought to be — the basis of employment philosophy of every business organization in the United States.

"Our policy is to give equal opportunity to ethnic groups in our country, provided only that men and women in these groups possess the skills, talents, know - how we require," the policy statement declared, adding:

"Ability and good character — not race, color, or creed — are essential qualifications for employment."

Register to vote, change address now

The registration books are now open for citizens to become eligible voters for the primary election early next year.

Citizens may register at the Supervisors of Elections office, ground floor, People's Court Bldg., Fayette and Gay Sts., 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Thursday.

Who must register — Those who will become 21 years of age prior to next year's election; newcomers to the city who have lived here at least a year.

Change of address—Citizens who have been registered as eligible voters, but have changed their address in recent months without notifying the Supervisors of Elections, should do so now.

* * *

IT MAY BE necessary to register again. Several thousand citizens who have changed addresses in the past two-year period, without notification to the Supervisors of Elections, have been stricken from the books as eligible voters.

Cherry Hill council says no apartments

The Cherry Hill Coordinating Council has protested a plan to erect apartment buildings in its area to house persons who will be displaced by the approved East - West Expressway.

Led by the Rev. K. Rudolph Obey, chairman of the Council's housing committee, 61 signatures were obtained and sent to Dr. Robert C. Weaver, administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Washington.

The Council pointed out to the federal agency which would provide part of the funds to finance the apartments that the apartments would contribute to the "wanding instability" in the South Baltimore district.

The petition stated that 86 per cent of the 3,050 dwellings in Cherry Hill are rentals, thus a high degree of mobility.

More apartments would not only increase the percentage of rental units and thus the mobility, they would also "tax the schools and recreational facilities that are already used to their fullest extent," the Council said.

More "property built" individual homes which can meet the financial needs of elderly people and middle income families should be built, argues the Council.

Taylor and McRae next Colt headache

Herb Adderley snatched two passes thrown by quarterback John Unitas last Sunday and returned one to the 26 - yard line, the other to the 20-yard stripe of the Baltimore Colts.

Adderley's running mate, Willie Wood, pounced on a Colt fumble and otherwise fed the ulcers of over 60,000 fans in Memorial Stadium each time he plucked a Baltimore punt out of the air. That, too, was last Sunday.

In earlier games, Detroit's Dick Lane, a perennial thorn in the side of the Steeds, has pestered the Baltimore offense and San Francisco's Abe Woodson has rocked the Colts with kickoff and punt returns.

COME SUNDAY afternoon, the home forces will be faced with another headache or two on the tan side of the invading Chicago Bears.

Roosevelt Taylor and Bennie McRae are just a pair of young racers manning the secondary of the league-leading Bruins. And they promise no rest for the harassed receivers of the Colts.

IF ONE considers Adderley a topnotch pass defender, and lane among the cream of all-time defensive backs, then this year's performances of the tan twins from Chicago rate a second, serious look.

Taylor, whom coach George Halas calls "the best young defensive back in Chicago in 15 years, is leading both Herb and Dick in interceptions. He has five.

And McRae, despite seizures of greenness, has as many enemy spears as the two accomplished veterans. Bennie, Adderley and Lane have four interceptions apiece.

It will be interesting, though possibly frustrating to Colt fans, when these two hook up with the fine array of receivers ready for Unitas shots Sunday.

* * *

WITH ROOKIE John Mackey, who incidentally is leading Baltimore in reception yardage, the Steeds will have Jimmy Orr, Lenny Moore and Tom Matte available for duty.

Also back in harness and ready to join the pass-chasing brigade are Raymond Berry, longtime ace of Baltimore catchers, and R. C. Owens, the famed "alley-opp" target who is finally recovered from an early summer auto accident—SAM LACY.

HE LEADS THE COLTS—Rookie John Mackey is the top pass receiver on the Baltimore Colts. Rookie end from Syracuse has caught 17 passes, seven fewer than halfback Tom Matte, but his grabs have been good for 346 yards to Matte's 217. Jimmy Orr is next to John with 17 catches for 269 yards. Both Mackey and Orr have snared two TD pitches.

Streaking Clippers face tough Hornets

The Baltimore Clippers flushed with the sweet taste of victory by their two straight overtime wins in Quebec this week, hope to make it three in a row tonight (Friday) at th Civic Center when they entertain the Western Division leading Pittsburgh Hornets at 8 p.m.

Despite the successive hard earned decisions over the Aces, the Clippers face a monumental task in their efforts to unfrock the Hornets.

Having won 5 of their first 6 starts, Pittsburgh is off to its fastest start in history and bears no resemblance to the cellar - dwelling outfit that represented the Smoky City last winter.

Owned outright by the Detroit Red Wings, the Hornets have profited from nine $100,000 refurbishment and now boast a terrific offense led by All - Star center Art Stratton, who sparkled with Buffalo last year.
