Mrs. Bryant will speak at Sharp St. on Sunday

An outstanding church woman, Mrs. Harrison J. Bryant speaks at 11 a.m. Sunday at the Sharp Street Methodist Church on "Witness Through Service."

MRS. BRYANT

Born in Evansville, Indiana, Mrs. Bryant was reared in Rochester, Kentucky. She has been a resident of Baltimore for 22 years and is widely known for her varied activities.

Her husband, the Rev. Harrison J. Bryant is pastor of the neighboring Bethel AME Church.

A graduate of Wilberforce (Central State) University, Mrs. Bryant is currently area manager of Field Enterprises, Educational Corporation. She is a former Baltimore County social worker.

Chairman of Church Women's Magazine of the United Church Women of Maryland, Mrs. Bryant is also director of Missionary Education of the Second Episcopal District of the AME Church.

In addition she is author of the AME ABC Book, a primer for children.

At her own church Mrs. Bryant is president of Bethel's Missionary Society. She is also a substitute teacher in the Baltimore public schools.

MRS. BRYANT is the mother of Mrs. Orville (Cynthia) Pitts, counsellor at the Junior Village in Washington; Hazel Joan Bryant, reading editor of the Fine Arts Department of the New York Times, and also a voice student; Eleanor, a social work sophomore at Howard University, and John Richard, a licensed minister, currently a junior at Morgan State College. Another son, Harrison Jr., is deceased.

In addition to her work as a Wilberforce graduate work at Ohio State University and the School of Social Work at the University of Maryland.

Wayland program nets $1,225 for Provident fund

The Wayland Baptist Church sponsored Wayland Sings For Provident at the Masonic Temple on Eutaw Place. The combined Choirs of the Church participated in the Festival of Music.

Mrs. Margaret R. Walker was chairlady. The choirs were the Children's Chorus, Male Chorus, The Morning Choir, Choir No. 2, The Young Adult Choir and Gospel Chorus.

The program was enjoyed by about 1,000 persons.

The offering of $1,225 was turned over to the Provident Hospital Development Program by the Rev. William W. Payne, pastor.

PASTOR OF THE WEEK

Rev. Henry has fruitful career

The Rev. J. Wayman Henry, (65) pastor of Allen AME Church, Lexington St. and Carrollton Ave. has had a long and fruitful career.

It began inauspiciously at Church Creek in 1925.

His congregation consisted of two persons, one of whom was constantly ill. Needless to say, he had to find other means of support.

He sold life insurance.

* * *

DESPITE THE size of his congregation, the Rev. Mr. Henry's spirits did not flag.

He stayed in Church Creek before moving to St. Luke's AME Church in Salisbury.

After working there two years, he received a scholarship to Ohio's Wilberforce University, where he received a bachelor of divinity degree.

Following graduation from college, the Rev. Mr. Henry pastored a number of churches in Kentucky, Virginia and Mayland.

In 1936, he married the former Miss Mary J. Walker, of Hillsbury.

They are parents of five children — four boys, John, Matthews, Clifton and William; and a girl, Rosemary.

All the sons but William are in the U. S. Army.

William is a leader of the Baltimore Youth Opportunities Unlimited. Miss Henry is a freshman at Morgan State College.

State College.

* * *

THE REV. Mr. Henry's first great success came during the war when he was a pastor in Newport News, Va.

He organized a nursery to aid working mothers and built up the Boy Scout movement among the youths of the area.

He was so successful that a building was bought to house the nursery and a 30-acre camp was donated to the Boy Scouts.

Presently, the Rev. Mr. Henry is working to build his church in a depressed neighborhood, an area noted for its unstable population.

He has had offers to move the church, but he feels that the neighborhood needs the church and to move it would deprive the area of its singularly most important stable institution.

"The people in this area need the church to look forward to," he said.

* * *

THINKING over his past years of service, the Rev. Mr. Henry, who is a grand-nephew of the great Frederick Douglass, noted that people have changed, and, he believes, for the better.

On the civil rights front, the Rev. Mr. Henry said that people in the past worked just as hard as the young people are working today.

"But nothing could be accomplished," he said.

He told of his attempts to battle segregation n "rigidly segregated" Cambridge during the early years of his pastorate.

Around 1937, he reported, clergymen and white sympathizers beseeched Congressmen to pass civil rights legislation without success.

"The white people have changed," he said "especially on the Eastern Shore."

The Rev. Mr. Henry was born in Caroline county.

He strives "to make people better, to help them improve themselves."

In recent years, the Rev. Mr. Henry has suffered severe bouts of illnesses. However, he says that he will not retire.

He expects to continue as he has done in the past of giving himself to his people.

HELP FOR TB SEALS — In the center is Miss Marian Williams, Star of Langston Hughes "Black Nativity", who will make several local appearances on behalf of the Christmas Seal drive. The play will open here on Monday, Nov. 11, for a week's engagement. Miss Williams is flanked on the left by Mrs. Naomi Evans, Maryland Tuberculosis Association community organization worker in the Mt. Royal-Fremont area, and Mrs. Helen Vorbin, president of the Maryland Conference of Tuberculosis Workers.

'Shouts of joy' describes play, 'Black Nativity'

"Black Nativity" which opens at Ford's Theatre Monday has been described as a "finger-snapping, hand-clapping, toe-tapping, foot-stomping, gospel - singing revel."

From the Lincoln Center in New York City, where record crowds saw the performance through 28 major cities in Europe, "Black Nativity has been capturing rave notices and reviews.

The gospel jamboree, as it is called, was written by Langston Hughes, a great writer whose column appears in the AFRO's magazine section.

The cast includes the gospellers Marion Williams and the Stars of Faith, Alex Bradford and the Bradford Singers, and Princess Stewart.

It is the same cast which established all-time attendance records in New York City.

SO SUCCESSFUL has the show been that it is currently on a 41-week tour of the United States and at the travel to South America, Australia and the Far East.

"Black Nativity" is based upon the birth of Jesus Christ. It is a Christmas "song-play".

The show is divided into two acts and is primarily a gospel song fest.

On opening night, Monday, free orchids will be given to all ladies attending the affair.

"Black Nativity" has almost a universal appeal.

Wrote a London critic: "It has so much vitality

News from Eastside

By CHARLOTTE DOWNIE

Our Good Neighbor of the Week is lovely Mrs. Lois Lee Richardson, 1700 block E. Chase St., wife of Joseph Richardson.

The Richardsons are the parents of three lovely children, all students at the Samuel Chase Elementary: grade, Joseph Jr., third grade and David in the first grade.

Although Mrs. Richardson is kept very busy she is working in the newly organized Helping Hand Club of School 135 (and she loves it).

The family are members of Zion Tabernacle, 4000 block of Liberty Heights Ave. Leroy Dyson is the pastor. Our neighbor is a native of Morven, N. C. but has lived in Baltimore for many years.

Among her hobbies are cooking, working with the PTA, her club and her church. As a favorite color she likes navy blue and likes to sing the hymn "Onward Christian Solditrs."

Our neighbor's birthday is May 11 and her anniversary is May 23.

More Santas have Christmas Clubs at...

MARYLAND NATIONAL BANK
Make it a merrier Christmas in 1964—as more Santas are doing—and join a Maryland National Bank Christmas Club. By making regular weekly payments into the Club you'll have plenty of money before Christmas—
