Coppin Notes

By FRANCIS RIDOUT

Writing a newspaper column is a new experience for me. Through it I hope to make many new friends.

To those of my readers not acquainted with Coppin, I want to bring some information reflecting phases of our campus life.

Coppin, a co - educational institution, is 63 years old.

Through the years, Coppin has been pre - occupied with the education of teachers.

It became a state institution in 1950. Since July 1, the school's name has been Coppin State College, instead of Coppin State Teacher's College.

COPPIN HAS graduated 425 students. More than 95 per cent of the graduates have been teaching in Baltimore City schools.

A large number of colored area supervisors and elementary school principals in the city's school system are Coppin graduates.

The college is named for Fannie Jackson Coppin, a former slave who purchased her freedom and became the first colored woman in the United States to earn a college degree.

She was also the first colored woman to introduce teacher training in the educational system of Philadelphia, Pa.

Students enroll at Coppin to become teachers because they feel that teaching is the most challenging of the professions.

Coppin is fully accredited by the Maryland State Board of Education.

WE ARE PROUD of our accreditation and are challenged to live up to the higher standards set by such recognition.

In this column, we hope to acfuaint you further with Coppin and to express student opinion on subjects of current interest on the campus, in the community and on the national level.

Dr. Johnson to speak

Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, President Emeritus, Howard University, will be guest speaker at the All University Religious Service in the Andrew Rankin Memorial Chapel, Howard University, Sunday, Nov. 3, 11 a.m.

At last! a shampoo guaranteed to help lengthen...

strengthen... and straighten your hair beautifully!

Satin Soft SHAMPOO

Now you can have straighter, softer, more manageable hair and, in most cases, without the fuss and bother of hot combs and messy straighteners!

Satin Soft leaves your hair more manageable... Eliminates most snarls, snags and unruly curls. Because Satin Soft's lather is so rich and creamy, you'll need no extra creme rinse after shampooing.

Satin Soft contains no harsh chemicals... A special blending of protein and oil-like ingredients...so gentle and pure even a child can use Satin Soft Shampoo. Perfect for bleached, tinted or dyed hair, too.

Satin Soft reduces the need for hot combs or processes... And in some cases, even eliminates them for hair that needs only a light pressing!

Satin Soft creates this hair miracle in just 15 minutes... Leave the rich, creamy lather on your hair for 15 minutes—rinse well—then see and feel the difference! For extra curly hair, an additional 15 minutes is all you need.

Try the New Satin Soft Extra Light Hairdressing for complete hair beauty...it's the gratuitous weightless hairdressing that leaves your hair silky soft and oh, so easy to manage ...and all without the greasy residue of old-fashioned pomades. Satin Soft Extra Light Hairdressing contains a moisture repellant. Ends hair heat blues!

Buy both Satin Soft hair-care products at our cosmetic counters today. Satin Soft products are unconditionally guaranteed to satisfy you.
