Naomi Grand Chapter O. E. S., Hiram Grand Lodge, annual Woman's Day service, St. Luke's Methodist Church. Guest speaker, Mrs. Mary Clayton Frazier. Citations Dr. Bessie Barrow, Mrs. Phoebe Goff, Mrs. Victorine Q. Adams Program at 3 p.m.

OPENING MORGAN Music Hall for the '63-64 season will be duo-pianists Miss Ruth and Naomi Segal. The music hall is under the sponsorship of Morgan State College and local businesses. The popular concertizers, who were introduced nationally by Leonard Bernstein, will appear in the Murphy Auditorium, Nov. 17, at 3 p.m.

Piano-playing twins at Morgan on Sunday

A set of identical twins playing on just-alike pianos will open the new season of the Morgan State College Music Hall Sunday.

Appearing in concert at 3 p.m. in the Murphy Auditorium will be Ruth and Naomi Segal, Julliard-trained artists who transport their own seven-foot pianos with them.

The concert by the Mount Vernon, N.Y.-born twins will inaugurate the 1963-64 Morgan Music Hall—a series concerts.

ESTABLISHED AS A nonprofit, self-sustaining project and supported by about 30 local businesses, the Morgan Music Hall is designed to provide Baltimoreans another medium for the enjoyment of good music.

Other concerts to be presented this year are: The Don Shirley Trio, Jan. 12; Martina Arroyo, soprano, Feb. 16; Lawrence Winters, baritone, March 15; and the Turnau Opera Players, April 19.

The Segals began their musical studies at the age of five and last year received their master of music degree from Julliard. At that time they were awarded the coveted Josef Lhevinne Prize.

Season tickets, at $8 for the five concerts, are now on sale at the office of the business manager. Single tickets to the Segal Concert, at $2 each, are also available.

The box office in Murphy Auditorium will open Sunday at 2 p.m.

Gadabouting In Baltimore

Continental Society devotes charm, skill, time to charity

With Lula Jones Garrett

That a group of gals as attractive as the Baltimore Continentals can fill a place of the size of Steelworkers' Union Hall to capacity is not out of the ordinary.

But that such charmers (who certainly have no limit to the things in their offing) use their time and their skills entirely for the benefit of others, is something to be cited.

Not that the more than 600 guests who tripped into Steelworkers' Union Hall, Friday evening, to be enchanted by the decor (and well they should have been, it was done by Clarence Dyson) to snack from a laden smogasbord, and to dance to Bobby Felton's hot tunes, were anything more than fun-fanciful that evening!

They were also clothes conscious . . . and what a picture they made. They must have also been civic conscious, for they produced a pretty penny for the club's pet project.

* * *

THE CONTINENTAL Society, national and local, is chiefly concerned with aid to underprivileged children. In this city members do an exceptionally fine job. Their special project is with the House of the Good Shepherd. To this institution they have given a refrigerator, a radio, a sewing machine, and bicycles. They also prepare gift boxes for the girls each year.

They give not only of their funds, but, best of all, of all, of themselves. For the girls of the home they held bowling parties, have a city bus tour, have roller skating parties, a beach party and a Christmas party.

They also have what they call a "Continental Child," presently a student at Morgan who they assist by purchase of books, clothing and other needed items, and for whom they provide transportation.

They also contribute to the Provident Hospital Children's Ward, the AFRO Clean Block and YMCA campership.

It is for these projects that every penny of the money from the Autumn Ball is used.

* * *

THE AFFAIR drew Continentals and guests from Washington, New York and Philadelphia . . . all of whom were housed at the Sheraton-Baltimore Inn.

From the nation's capital came Messrs. and Mesdames L. B. (Gladys) Bettis, Sylvester (Doris) Haynes, Wilmore (Helen) Spanard, Jack (Marnette) Jackson, Leroy (Kitty) Higgs, Leon Braxton, Theodore (Margaret), Jackson;

Dr. and Mrs. M. Washington; Mesdames Ethel Femister, Robinette (Chubby) Sewell, Mabs Kemp, Pauline LaMar, Minnie Blair, Cecelia Burke; Miss Evelyn Penny, Edgar Binkins, Joe Sewell and C. R. Powell.

Mr. and Mrs. John (Terri) Bush, Mesdames Helen Procope, and Lois Williams; and Pat Patterson came from New York.

From Philadelphia were Mr. and Mrs. Earl (Bernice) Pree, Mesdames Kathleen Williams, Jeannette Grymes and Ernestine Janiston; and Yock Bryant and John Bronner.

CLOSED AFFAIRS included a Saturday afternoon luncheon at the lovely and spacious Liberty Heights Avenue home of the George (Sevilla) Carrolls. Food was prepared by William Mumby Sr., former resident of Long Branch, N. J. and for 43 years a chef. Specialty dish of seafood creole was prepared by Billy Young, husband of Continental Delores Young.

The Saturday night party was held in the modern recreation room of the Bill (Mattie) Mumbys of Copley Road. And a lively party it was, with impromptu entertainment emceed by Washington's Jack Jackson, featuring songs by talented Terri.Bush of the New York Continentals and dancing by Marnette Jackson and Minnie Blair of D. C.

Baltimore Continentals are:

Edith Davidson, president; Phyllis Thompson, vice president; Lillie Branch, corresponding secretary; Odessa Dyson, recording secretary; and who served as chairman for the Autumn Ball;

Helen Gattis, financia secretary; Frances Branch, treasurer; Mattie Mumby, parliamentarian; Serena Holmes, Ellen Howard, Margaret Beaman, Frankie Hinchen.

Emily Peck, Doreva Stanley, Sevella Carroll, Sue Miles, Helen Quarles, Delores Young, Helen M. Chamberlain and Willie M. Cardwell.

THE BALTIMORE CLUB of the National Association Business and Professional Women's Club heard Dr. Furman Templeton of the Urban League as its first discussant of its theme for the year "The Minorities' Responsibility to the Minority" at its monthly meeting Tuesday at the YWCA.

Dr. Templeton cited employment as the number one need of minorities. Many employment opportunities, particularly in the field of government, are not used by our youth because of the lack of prepared applicants, inadequate counseling, the continuation of apprentice training for jobs that are fast becoming obsolete and the effects of poor family life.

For the past two years the speaker has been involved in employment surveys, both local and national. He recommends several employment needs that clubwomen might help to fulfill.

He recommended the establishment of a tutoring system, especially for business trainees development of the League family life program in depth, suggesting that we go into the streets to do the job if necessary, and assistance with the TST program which is in need of advisors and chaperones.

Mrs. Edna D. Johnson, now working with the family life program of the League, introduced Dr. Templeton. Mary Carter Smith, program chairman, was moderator of the discussion period.

Womanpower lunch schedules experts

Over 400 persons registered to attend the sixth annual Womanpower Conference luncheon, Sunday at 12 noon at the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel, will learn about a proposal to take the voting machine to the public.

The suggested pilot project, believed to be the first of its kind in the country, will be made by William Curtis, New York market researcher, and Belford Towson, general counsel for the National Business League. They will make their presentation on behalf of the National Licensed Beverage Association of which Mr. Curtis is executive director and Mr. Towson is special advisor.

* * *

IN EFFECT, their proposal involves the provision of a vehicle to transport the voting machines, now located in the North Ave. office of the Fourth District Democratic Club, throughout all the communities in Baltimore City.

This project is result of a plea made by Mrs. Victorine Adams, executive director of Womanpower, at the recent NNLBA convention banquet, for the association to take a more active interest in the community.

* * *

THEME OF the luncheon this year, is "The Power of Womanpower" which will be expored during the table workshop sessions through topics on "The Main Issues of the 1964 Election" and "Dissemination by Six in Jobs and High Places". Emphasis will also be placed on the multi-partisan organization's basic purpose of registering to vote and exercising the right of the ballot.

Council.

Special guests expected to attend in addition to Messrs. Curtis and Towson are:

McKeldin, Thomas D'Alesandro, president of the city council; Hyman Pressman, city comptroller; Council.man Henry Parks of the Fourth District; Congressman George Fallon, Louis Goldstein, state comptroller; State Senator Verda Welcome of the Fourth District; George Russell, attorney; John L. Berry, and Dr. G. James Fleming and Augustus A. Adams of Morgan College's Institute of Political Education.

* * *

ALSO ANTICIPATED are two former Baltimoreans, Mesdames Dorothea Merchant and Alice Arrington, who are in process of establishing a Womanpower chapter in the Manhattan area of New York City. Mrs. Merchant is executive director of the newly formed group, and Mrs. Arrington is executive secretary.

The fashion show, an annual feature of the luncheon, will be presented by Charm Centre with couturier fashions by Jeannine and fashion originals by Clarice Ta V. Brooks.

Tickets to the luncheon are still available and may be obtained from Mesdames Gertrude Venable, ticket chairman; Audrey Norris, luncheon co - chairman; Ethel Rich, executive secretary, And Charm Centre.

* * *

MRS. CATHERINE ADAMS is chairman of the luncheon. Miss Shirley M. Kyle is in charge of program and publicity.

Discussion Leader Chairmen are Mesdames Emma Payne and Gladys Barbour. General Hostess chairman is Mrs. Beatrice Butler; and Table Hostess Chairmen are Mesdames Dorothy Ward, Vera Mae Bell and Lillian Rose.

Mesdames Bernice White and Ruth Turner are field representatives for Womanpower.

League's Revue is floor-to-stage show

'Twas as much a show from the floor as from the ramp when Baltimoreans turned out in their finery Sunday afternoon for the Maryland League of Women's Clubs' second Fashion Revue.

Popularity of the affair stems mainly from the competition engendered by the clubs each of which presents its own models.

In this year's affair, they included:

* * *

Vista Adams, The VAGE; Delores Alfred, Alpha Delta, Chi Rho Sorority; Julia Ball, Select Matrons; Barbara Campbell and Joan Carter, Les Callaboops; Thelma Daley, Sigma Wives; Minnie Dupree, Heart Throbs; Mabel Doughins, Women's Democratic Campaign Club; Hester Greenway, Marbleyes; Barbara Jackson, Irodelle Williams Neighborhood Club; Margaret Jackson, Carlos; Arlene Kilpatrick, Zeta Phi Beta Sorority; Evelyn Seay, NeKeldin Republican Club; Ruth King, Westwood Avenue Neighborhood Club.

Queenie Lane, Twenty Women; Lucille Lee, Women Club Worker; Douglas Memorial Church; Reva Lewis, Sigma Wives; Lois Mathews, Urbanaires; Frances McCrae, Iota Phi Lambda Sorority;

Patricia Murray, Les Callaboops; Doreen Newton, Deborah Rosette, Phillis Butler Youth; Gladys Parker, Big Sister; Clearver Pearl, Kappa Schoolettes; Georgia Poulon, Carrollton Avenue Neighborhood Club;

Hortense Press, Women's Democratic Club; Millie Williams Nora Williams Mothers' Club of East Baltimore; Melinee Yerrell Clever Jiggers; Melinee Wright, Business and Professional Women's Club; Jean Williams, AFRO-AMERICAN;

Vivian Hill, Doris Meaney, Stephanie McCane, Carrollton Avenue Neighborhood Club; Jerry Sembly, Lambda Kappa Mu Sorority; Florence Khan, Master Beauticians;

* * *

MISS CLARICE BROOKS was fashion coordinator and the narrator was Miss Susie Stroters. Miss Elmira Miller and Miss Ira Larkins provided music for the affair.

A reception followed the show. Mrs. Gwendolyn Lee is president of the Maryland League of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Naomi Camper was chairman for the Revue.

Ames women raise $5,400

Receipts reached $5,400 Sunday when the Annual Woman's Day was observed at Ames Methodist Church.

Observation of the day began at 11 a.m. when Evangelist Mary J. Henry was speaker. Mrs. Henry is the wife of the Rev. H. Wayman Henry of this city.

* * *

MRS HENRY developed from Act 1-8, the Woman's Day theme: "Witness Through Service". She inspired the large congregation by saying that to be a witness you must have experience".

"The Christian Witness must influence others to accept the will of Jesus as a Guiding Light", said the speaker. She added, "The urge to witness for service comes from without, comes from within and comes from beneath". In her conclusion, Evangelist Henry said, "You must receive power to be a witness for Christ; and it is everyone's responsibility to witness through Christ".

* * *

ISADOR OGLESBY, accompanied by Norman Ross, entertained a full sanctuary of members and friends in a recital of "Art Songs for Cultural Listening" at four in the afternoon.

At 5 p.m., the forty-six captains for Woman's Day and church groups reported the sum of $5,400.

The chairman for Woman's Day was Mrs. Alice B. Mathews, Co-chairmen were Mesdames Annie K. Bolden and Joan Shaw. Secretary was Mrs. Edith Owens. The Rev. Ernest P. Clark is pastor.

Pierre Davis heads Alphas

Pierre Davis, Baltimore public school teacher, Monday was elected president of Delta Lambda chapter, Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity succeeding Frank R. Veney, manager of the Lexington Poe Homes.

Edward Young was chosen as vice president; Arthur Spencer as corresponding secretary; R. Grant Pinkett financial secretary; Dr. Vernon Pennington, treasurer; Dr. Clifton Jones, parliamentarian; and Cornelius Woodson, sergeant - at arms; Alonzo P. Moss, chaplain.

Dr. Benjamin Kimbers and Clarence Blunt were named executive board members-at-large.

* * *

PLANS WERE laid to increase the Alpha scholarship program. A special fund-raising committee was empowered to sponsor an all-fair with a big - name band for this purpose at the Alcazar Ballroom on Jan. 31.

The local Alphas also agreed to give full support to the Alpha Wives' cabaret set for Friday evening Nov. 22 at the Steel Workers Hall, 540 Dundalk Ave.

The Alpha Wives are seeking to raise funds for the erection of the New Provident Hospital on Liberty Heights Avenue.
