Charles Lemon likes action

"I like to be moving, doing something. I like a lot of action."

The speaker is 18-years-old Charles Lemon, 1301 Madison St. ,a Douglass High School senior.

He wants his life to be moving, filled with action.

To fulfill his ambition, he hopes to pass the tough entrance examinations for admittance to the Coast Guard Academy.

The Academy will offer challenges, the call to action and the intense competition which he yearns for.

"I like competition," he said. "And, I like to use my hands as well as my mind."

TO MEET competition in his day-to-day activities, he captains Douglass' cross-country track team. Also, he is a member of the track and wrestling teams.

Last season, he said that he lost the 127-lb MSA wrestling title 1-0 because he made one mistake.

Mr. Lemon plans to stay in the Coast Guard for at least eight years—four in college-level training after which he will receive a bachelor's degree and four on the high seas.

In the event he can not get into the Coast Guard, Mr. Lemon said that he shall work on a scholarship to a New England college, where he will major in physical education.

"I really want to teach physical education in secondary schools," he said.

IN PARTIAL realization of that desire, he is teaching wrestling at the Druid Hill Avenue YMCA on Tuesdays and Thursdays. He also taught the sport at the Y during the summer.

Unlike most high school students, Mr. Lemon has to work his way through school. He is a door-to-door home applicator salesman.

He is already on his own. He shares an apartment with a City College student.

"It's a shame," he said with amusement. "Our schools are intense rivals."

Action-oriented Mr. Lemon has resigned himself to selling since jobs for non-high school graduates are extremely scarce.

Despite his heavy schedule he is a better-than-average student, — especially in French and mathematics.

UNDOUBTEDLY, Mr. Lemon's aspirations and energy will enable him to win high achievements as he pursues his dreams.

SPEAKER AT Muhammed's Mosque No. 8 tonight (Friday) at 8 p.m. will be Dr. Lonnie X. Cross, former head off the Mathematics Department at Atlanta University and now head of a Muslim Mosque in Washing. The public is invited.

Cole seen possible Prairie View head

AUSTIN, Texas — Dr. Thomas Winston Cole, president of Wiley College is a prime choice to succeed Dr. E. R. Evans as president of Prale View A and M College according to a survey of opinion in official and lay circles in the state, it was revealed here last week.

Dr. Cole is the only Texan in the field of candidates who has had top college administrative experience, and has a background of adequate academic training.

Others in the race include two professors at Prairie View, one of whom is reported to be the choice of the retiring Dr. Evans; a high school principal in Dallas; a professor at Texas Southern University, and a former Langston Oklahoma university president.

to be at the Monday showing.

THIS MONDAY screening will mark the formal opening of this new movie outside of New York. Along with personal appearances by the stars, many Baltimore notables will be on hand for both shows.

The proceeds from Monday's red carpet showing will go to the AFRO's Mrs. Santa Fund, the annual community charity project that provides toys, food and clothing for needy Baltimore families.

All contributions are tax deductible.

RESPONSE TO this Mrs. Santa Fund campaign is quickening. Among the latest sponsors are the Baltimore branch NAACP which has purchased a full row of seats and Public School No. 141, and No. 20.

These theater parties were organized by Mrs. Charlotte Harper and Mrs. Mary L. Richardson, vice - principals of these schools respectively. Another school theater party has been organized by Mrs. Frances M. Wood of School N. 144.

Mrs. Angela Bambace, secretary of International Garment Workers Union, Baltimore local, has purchased a row of seats for her organization as have several other social and civic groups.

Miss Dee, featured on the cover of a national magazine last week for her recent TV role as Harriet Tubman, is scheduled to visit Douglass and other high schools Monday afternoon along with fellow cast members.

Ossie Davis was seen on a nationally televised TV show last night (Thursday) portraying Frederick Douglass, the pioneer civil rights fighter.

Mr. Davis when in town for a preview screening of Gone Are The Days last week urged Baltimoreans to help the Mrs. Santa Fund by attending the Monday show.

He said "We hope many Baltimoreans will help this worthy cause and honor us with their presence at Gone Are The Days."

The Mrs. Santa Fund helps countless families that otherwise might face dismal holidays. I should never like such a thing to happen to children so Ruby and I are asking everyone to help Mrs. Santa.

Board Approves Rights Bill

The Board of School Commissioners generally approved that section 15 of the pending Civil Rights Ordinance during a regular meeting Thursday.

Included in the approval was the recommendation that research on phraseology be conducted to ascertain that the use of school facilities by religious groups not be "abrogated."

It was reported that the number of students on part-time has been reduced from some 11,000 in November to approximately 6,000.

Dr. George B. Brain, head of the city's schools, reported that the Board of Estimates rejected bids to construct portables to relieve over-crowding.

The bids are expected to be approved upon re-submission.

Although vandalism costs, $6,084.37, for this quarter represented an increase over the second quarter of this year, it was below the like period of 1962.

The Commissioners also approved the transfer of $1,025,000 to build an addition to school No. 85.

New bank opened

WHY THE CLEVELAND BROWNS FIRED THEIR FOUNDER
Paul Brown was not fired by Arthur Modell. He was fired by his own team. He gave his name and his remarkable talent to the Browns, then they got rid of him. Why? In this week's Saturday Evening Post, Bob August tells of the discord between team and coach. How Brown failed to change his tactics with the times. It's a thoughtful study of a man who couldn't recognize his own failings, and of Blanton Collier, the coach who's trying to give the Browns their second breath. In the November 23 Post. Now on sale. Don't miss it!
