SUSIE STROTHER

Home Economist for Food Fair Stores

The night before we attack a heave chore, try preparing an oven meal or a casserole or roast, baked potatoes or macaroni and cheese, the dessert and vegetables can be prepared a night ahead.

Planning ahead is so important.

We should arrange our work schedule so that if it is necessary to get a (its always good to tear one room apart at a time so the whole house won't be dismantled, this often causes everyone to be upset) we could set the table immediately after getting hubby off to work and the children off to school. Then we can go about the cleaning, knowing the food will be ready when we are finished.

AN ALARM can be set an hour before the arrival of the family, so that we can make it to the bath of relaxation with our favorite soap and bath oil. Put on clean home attire. We can greet the family with open arms, a kiss of affection for each one; smiles of gladness to share their day.

The same applies to the fs done, a woman loves for the man, after the days work clean. He, too, should have clothes to relax in.

* * *

THE CHILDREN should rest at least a half hour after coming home from school then the family settled down to a good hearty meal of well - balanced nourishing home cooking.

It is important how we look early morning as well as afternoon.

Good grooming starts with plenty of soap and water. Cleanliness has long been the basis for the glamour of truly elegant women and handsome men.

THIS AMERICAN VERSION of an English Trifle makes a marvelous holiday dessert.

Appeal rejected for 7-family home

An appeal asking the housing of seven families at 928 W. North Ave. was rejected Tuesday by the Board of Municipal and Zoning Appeals.

Approved, however, were requests to continue the housing of two families at 1706 and 1710 W. Baltimore St.

Among the cases scheduled to be heard the coming Tuesday, beginning at 1 p.m. in Room 231, City Hall, are appeals asking the operation of a grocery store at 1711 E. Eager St., and the construction of a one-story addition at 1920-22 Pennsylvania Ave.

English Trifle with fruit become a trifle American

English cooking, in spite of what some folks say, can be very good indeed. A great favorite is English Trifle, a really delectable concoction of sherry-flavored cake layerpd with fruit or jam and topped with a custard sauce.

There are dozens of recipes for Trifle; some very elaborate, others quite simple. Here we have a version that uses convenience foods to make an English Trifle a trifle American — and very much a party dessert.

* * *

FROZEN PEACHES and strawberry halves are combined with canned pineapple tidbits in a mouth-watering fruit filling. Slices of cake are soaked in a mixture of peach juice and sherry. Instead of custard, this Trifle uses vanilla pudding and pie filling mix, prepared according to package directions, cooled, and then beaten until creamy - smooth. Whipped cream garnished with pecans adds the final touch of pure délight to the whole beautiful, delicious concoction.

WHY NOT start a holiday tradition in your home by serving this marvelous Anglo-American Trifle with tea in the English manner, either as an afternoon party refreshment or a late-evening dessert. Or, continue in the American manner with instant quality coffee brewed by the potful, hot and hearty.

* * *

ENGLISH TRIFLE is made with 1 package vanilla pudding and pie filling, 3 slices (½ inch thick) sponge or pound cake, ¼ cup sherry 3/4 cup (8 3/4 - ounce can) drained canned pineapple tidbits, 3 slices (½ inch thick) sponge or pound cake 1 package (12 ounces) frozen sliced peaches, thawed, 1 package (1 pound) frozen strawberry halves, thawed and drained; ½ cup heavy cream, 1 teaspoon confectioners' sugar, ¼ teaspoon vanilla and pecan halves.

Prepare pudding mix as directed on the package. Cover surface with wax paper. Chill.

* * *

MEANWHILE, ARRANGE 3 cake slices on bottom of g Drain peaches, reserving 1 - ½-quart serving dish. ¼ cup syrup. Combine syrup and sherry; pour half of syrup mixture over cake In dish. Spread pineapple over cake.

Place remaining 3 cake slices over pineapple; pour remaining syrup mixture over cake. Combine peaches and strawberries; spread over top of cake. Beat chilled pudding until smooth and creamy; pour over peaches and strawberries. Chill.

* * *

COMBINE CREAM, sugar and vanilla in a chilled bowl. Beat until mixture will form soft peaks. Garnish trifle with whipped cream mixture an pecans. Makes 6 servings.

'Main Marvels' find way into salads, sandwiches and snacks

Ready - to - eat just as they come from the can, Maine sardines go well in salads, sandwiches and hors d'oeuvres.

They also make a good choice as an ingredient in the increasingly popular pizzas that teenagers particularly enjoy.

Here are some pleasing sardine recipes the family will enjoy. They're recommended by U.S. Department of Interior home economists.

COUNTRY STYLE Maine sardines require two cans (three and three fourths or four ounce each) Maine sardines, two tablespoons chopped paraley, three cups seasoned mashed potatoes, two ripe tomatoes, thinly sliced, salt, pepper, and one cup grated cheese.

Drain sardines. Add parsley to potatoes and mix thoroughly. Spread potatoes in the bottom of a well - greased baking dish, eight by eight by two inches. Arfat, melted, two tablespoons salt, Dash pepper, two cups milk, one cup grated cheese, two teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, and one and one-fourth quarts sliced cooked potatoes.

Drain sardines. Reserve 6 sardines for top. Cook onion in butter until tender. Blend in flour and seasonings. Add milk gradually and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add cheese and Worcestershire sauce.

Arrange half of the potatoes, the sardines, and the remaining potatoes, in layers in a well - greased two quart casserole. Cover with the cheese sauce.

Arrange sardines over potatoes. Cover with tomato slices.

Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Top with cheese. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees Fahrenheit for 25 to 30 minutes or until tomatoes are soft and cheese is melted. Serves six.
