SILVER ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Batten, 1312 N. Potomac St., renewed their vows Tuesday night in the 25th anniversary of the wedding. Ceremony was held at Gospel Tabernacle Baptist Church, Walbrook and Rosedale St. A reception followed.

Ministers wives meet

The Interdenominational Ministers Wives Alliance held its regular monthly meeting Dec. 7, at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Spencer Dobson, 2521 W. Lafayette Ave.

Plans were settled for a Christmas and New Year's party.

Also, a recital has been scheduled. Miss Elaine M. Taylor, soprano, will give a recital at Macedonia Baptist Church, 718 W. Lafayette Ave Jan. 26 at 5 p.m.

DEC 29

Baltimore chapter of the Foundation for Music Therapy and Research Inc, will sponsor a memorial service to President John F. Kennedy and a commemoration of the Emancipation Centennial at Enon Baptist Church, Edmondson Ave and Schroeder St what kind of christmas this year?

Christmas '63 brings to a close the year of the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation. Behind are the great and tragic events which marked the fight for civil rights:

The demonstrations in the streets of Birmingham and other cities, the martyr's death of NAACP secretary Medgar Evers in Jackson, Miss., the bombing in which innocent children were killed during church services and other recent tragedies which have shocked the world and brought universal pleas for an end to lawlessness and racial hate.

The struggle will go on. A civil rights bill is before Congress, national elections are only months away. On these and a dozen other fronts the fight will be pressed.

To this end the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has established a Commemoration Christmas Certificate which is ideal for framing and will serve in lieu of the traditional Christmas gifts to adults.

The Certificate will be mailed to the persons designated by you from NAACP headquarters as your gift. Both your name and the recipient's and the amount contributed will be inscribed on it. (Certificates are available in denominations of $5, $10, $25, $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and $5,000.)

What finer gift, in the true spirit of Christmas, could one select — or receive — doing honor to both sender and recipient in a common pledge to work for the day when "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men" shall prevail for all.

School board okays bus plan, new jobs

The Board of School Commissioners took action at its regular meeting on Dec. 5 to approve a policy which would provide transportation for trainable children enrolled in the city's public schools.

This action was based on a recent ruling of the State Department of Education wherein the full cost for transporting trainable children to and from school will be paid by State funds.

This latest meeting of the school commissioners was brief, peaceful and not marred by the controversy that was erupted at earlier public sessions regarding de facto segregation. The meeting lasted 30 minutes.

In other action, the School Board recently approved the following personnel appointments and changes:

Elementary grade teacher:

Mrs. Jean Beckett, Mrs. Hilda C. Ellis, Mrs. Bridie F. Hack, Mrs. Waltyne Hammond and Mrs. Kathlyn H. Jacobs.

Elementary opportunity class teacher: Miss Barbara L. Willis.

Home visitor: Mrs. Dorothy Chew and Mrs. Dorothy Seward.

Secondary school teacher: Mrs. Carolyn C. Baldwin, Henry C. Frank, Miss Betty J. Grisinger, Miss Merle L. Rawlings and Miss Patricia Tansitt.

Secondary school teacher of physical education: Jesse L. Thomas.

Vocational school teacher of cosmetology: Charles J. Williamson.

Vocational school teacher of industrial arts: Jesse H. Hammond.

Mrs. Katherine Crabbs now vice-principal-in-charge of Venable Junior High School No. 115, was appointed principal of the same school in Salary Differential Group G.

Joseph A. Boston, now teacher at the Frederick Douglass High School No. 450, was appointed department head of industrial arts at the same school.

The following classroom teachers were appointed department heads at the schools indicated below. Rudolph DePaola. Social Studies. School No. 181 and Mrs. Juanita Gates, English, School No. 78.

Elected to tenure, effective December 6, 1963, without change in salary:

Elementary grade teacher: Mrs. Helen S. Alston, Miss Marta Burt, Miss Rita Cole, Mrs. Florette M. Goldstein, William N. Koutrelakos, Miss Anna Mae Meyenburg, Mrs. Martha E. Mise, Miss Diane Stavros, and Mrs. Charlotte B. Taule.

Elementary opportunity class teacher: James McAndrew.

Home visitor; Mrs. Carolyn C. Engleman, Mrs. Irene R. Heil, Mrs. Daisy P. Garland and Mrs. Helen McCorkle.

Laboratory assistant: Joseph J. Dougherty, Mrs. Carolyn P. Fahrman, Ernest R. Lindsay, David E. McGranaghan, Mrs. Betty Lou W. Moore and Mrs. Mildred H. Rheinheimer.

School social worker: George O. Cosby, Miss Ruth Hamant, and Miss Marian Munro.

Secondary school teacher: Odaris Coleman, Miss Sonja Mae Dobich, Miss Doris McCannon, Mrs. Alberta J. Thomas.

Secondary school teacher of industrial arts: Garabed Heghinian.

Secondary school teacher-special curriculum; Miss Rita Barnes.

Division of Special Services: Charles F. Helm, Jr.

The Board approved appointment of Mrs. Annie Dashiell, now school social worker, as specialist in school social work.

MARKS ANNIVERSAY—The 100th anniversary of St. Francis Xavier Parish will be celebrated Sunday with a solemn portifial mass at the Cathedral of Mary Our Queen, 4 p.m.

Father Wilson Alpha speaker

Retiring president, Frank R. Veney, served as host Monday night at a smoker, marking the final meeting of the year for Delta Lambda chapter, Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity. More than 50 brothers were present.

The meeting was highlighted by the introduction of Father Donald Wilson, the new rector of St. James PE Church, an Alpha, who spoke briefly on "Self acceptance."

Urging the brothers "to put manhood into action," Father Wilson asserted, "Coming face to face with certain problems calls for acts of sacrifice."

Father Wilson was introduced by Dr. Bruce Alleyne "as a true son of Alpha."

Prayer was offered by Alonzo P. Moss, the chaplain while scriptures were read by Frank Ellis. Dr. Frederick Dedmond, program chairman, presided.

WELLINGTON ROSS, chairman of the special projects committee, announced plans had been completed for the mid-winter scholarship ball on Friday, Jan. 31.

The affair will be held at the Alcazar with Lionel Hampton and his orchestra supplying the music. Bids for the ball, designed to raise money for the chapter's scholarship fund, are being distributed, he said.

Judge Paige speaks here

Judge Myles A. Paige, city magistrate of New York City, will be guest speaker, Sunday at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

He will be speaking commemorating the centennial anniversary of St. Francis Xavier Church.

There are two more major events — Friday (today), a centennial bingo will be held at the church, 1007 N. Caroline St., and a solemn pontifical Mass will be held at Cathedral of Mary Our Queen by Archbishop Shehan.

Chisholms end their marriage

Mrs. Jeannette Chisholm of 708 Whitmore Ave. divorced Alfred Chisholm, Monday, after testifying that they voluntarily separated on January 30, 1960.

Mrs. Chisholm, a city school teacher, said that she and Mr. Chisholm consulted their attorney, talked with her mother and with her rector, and still were unable to dissolve their problems, and so decided to end the union.

They were married in Annapolis, Md. on August 15, 1944, and are parents of a 12-year-old daughter.

The child was given into custody and guardianship of the mother, and Mr. Chisholm ordered to provide $15 per week for her support.

Mr. Chisholm's address was given as 4100 Fairfax Road.

Judge Watts takes oath on Wednesday

Municipal Court Judge Robert B. Watts, who was appointed Monday, will be sworn in at 12 noon Wednesday at Central Municipal Court.

Mr. Watts, named to the vacancy created by the death of Judge William L. K. Barrett, was first appointed in 1961, but was defeated
