THE LUNCHEON Speaker, Mrs. Alice Dunnigan, spoke about the "Negro Woman in the Emancipation Century" and their Civil Rights Struggle for equal job opportunity, better educational opportunites and equality in public accommodations.

Mrs. Dunnigan said "Colored Americans are on the march in the South, in the North and in the West, too. They, and the other minorities, who for so long have waited for the equality that never came, are now saying, 'We shall not wait an longer.' The task of removing the roadblocks to the fulfillment of the goal of equality, must be set down as America's unfinished business.

"President, Lyndon . B. Johnson, has pledged to carry to a finishing line this unfinished task which our late President began. But as he told the Congress, he cannot bear this burden alone. He needs our support, the support of colored women in this Emancipation Century."

She challenged women to pool their strength and join our forces to help President Johnson in his all out effort to get the Civil Rights bill the Tax - Cut Bill, both of which we will be the great benefactors.
