Whistles and fine foods still top sparkle for New Year Eve

By SUSIE STROTHER
Food Fair Food Economist

Whistles blowing, horns sounding, balloons bursting-noises of a kinds bring the New Year into existence will enjoyment, gayiety and happiness.

In a letter I received from Mrs. S. W. She talked about noises that aggravated her. She wonders if it is necessary to yell, or talk loudly in order to be heard. It seems that people who live on the top floor holler down to the bottom to the children or to someone who rings their door bell:

She finds youth yelling across the street one to the other when they get out of school. At parties, instead of the guests saying their "goodbyes" on the inside, they wait until they get out of doors and holler from car to car in the wee hours of the morning.

She is asking if the training in the home, church and the school during youth would prevent grownups from being noisey.

A BIG NOISE can be made without sound. If you are properly dressed, graceful and charming, while your mannerisms are more sedate, you will attract attention without loud boisterious and obnoxious talking and yelling.

Watch temporizing and tonality and keep control of the voice at all times. It doesn't necessarily mean that one is fearful or bashful when he or she speaks in a moderate tone of voice. It indicates there is cultural background training. When this is exercised at home it will become a part of our well-being, and put into practice, it will release the strain when you are in company or in public.

Good behavior makes for good citizens.

MRS. P. M. WRITES about music played loudly. There may be reasons why this is done. Some people do not hear as well as others, so that when the music sounds loud to some it is just a medium sound to others.

To truly enjoy the melodious sounds of music it should be played on the softer level to receive its sweetness and beauty.

WE CAN BEGIN the year with a different approach for better understanding among ourselves. Peace and Tranquility can be rewarding to our families and every one we come in contact with.

THE OLD, old custom of Pork and Blackeyed peas for the New Year has taken on high style in this recipe for the week, "SUCCOTASH SAUSAGE CASEROLE."

You will need 1 pkg (10 oz.) frozen Lima Beans or Blackeyed Peas, 1 pkg (10 oz.) frozen corn, 1 cup water, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup butter (Mayfair Brand at Food Fair), 6 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon rubbed sage, 1 tall can Fyne Taste Evaporated milk (approx. 1 - 2/3 cups) and 1 pkg. (8 oz.) smoked link sausages (pork) or peas and corn in a sauce pan. Add water and salt. Bring to a boil and cook just until vegetables can be separated. Add butter and stir until melted. Remove from heat.

Blend in flour a tablespoon at a time, then stir in sage, milk, stirring occasionally, until thickened.

POUR INTO a 1 and ¾ quart casserole and arrange link pork sausage on top. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until sausages brown lightly and are cooked through about 20 to 25 minutes.

Makes 4 to 5 servings. Sprigs of parsley or strips of pimento may be placed on after brought from oven, for beauty.

Thank you for your kindness to write me and let me know that you are also using the Merchant Green Stamp Coupon in the Food Fair Advertisement in AFRO. This means so much. Please write to:

Pork Loin Roast

Have butcher saw across the ribs to loosen back bone from tee ribs. Backbone becomes loosened during cooking.

Remove the backbone from the ribs by cutting between it and the rib ends.

Roast is placed so rib side faces the carver. Cut close against both sides of each rib. You alternately make one slice with a bone and one without.

SLATER KING said, "White segregationists can bomb, murder, shoot and plunder at will, and with impunity, never fearing that they will be indicated. But black men must face daily death and even persecution from the federal government in attempting to obtain their rights."

The Rev. Martin L. King Jr. Rev. Ralph Abernathy, Rev. Wyatt T. Walker, who has been active in the defense committee did not make it to court because of icy roads between Atlanta and Albany.

The mass indictments, obtained by a special Justice Department Attorney dispatched to Georgia by Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, have been publicly labeled "a bone thrown to the segregationists" by civil rights attorney William M. Kunstler of New York.

The origins of the case go back to 1961 when Charles Ware of Baker County, Georgia, was shot twice in the neck by Sheriff L. Warren Johnson on the jailhouse steps. Another colored prisoner witnessed the shooting.

• • •

UPON RECOVERY and after release from jail, Ware sued Johnson in federal court. The jury found in favor of the sheriff.

One of the all-white jurors, Carl Smith, an Albany grocer in a colored neighborhood, later claimed he was put out of business by a one-hour picketing demonstration outside his store. The pickets had demanded that Smith upgrade his colored employees and, on their signs, made no reference to his jury service.

The Justice Department sent FBI agents into Albany to conduct a week-long investigation. Local citizens reported that the agents pulled people off their jobs to answer questions.

• • •

EVENTUALLY, THREE persons were charged with conspiracy to injure a juror for assent to a verdict. Six others were indicted on charges of perjury after telling a federal grand jury they did not remember attending a meeting in the office of Attorney C. B. King, brother of Slater King and counsel earlier for Ware.

Press protests have followed the unprecedented prosecutions, which contrast with complete FBI ineffective in the face of chronic denials of constitutional rights by the Albany police.

• • •

ON APPEAL to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals the attorneys for the defendants will seek a reversal of the convictions on the following grounds:

1. Federal law requires that juries be chosen on a non - discriminatory basis and should represent a "fair cross-section" of the population. However, the Albany jury commission bases its selection of jurors on recommendations by the "white friends" of the commission.

2. The commission looks to white fraternal, civic and church organizations for prospective jurors but does not bother with colored organizations. As a result, only about six per cent of persons chosen for jury duty are colored, compared with the 34 per cent of the Middle District population that is colored.

3. Jury cards maintained by the clerk of the federal court still designate jurors as "white" and "colored."

4. The U. S. Attorney in Macon inflamed the grand jury by asking Miss Rabinowitz questions about her social relationship with colored people in Albany "and other sensitive irrelevancies."

Sweet and Spicy

Give your pastry shells a party taste by adding a tea spoon of cinnamon to the crust mixture. Cherries and apples are especially good with the spicy-tasting crust.

Cut cranberry jelly (canned variety), into slices and top with Waldorf apple salad. Use as a garnish for chicken, ham or turkey.

• • •

STIR 1/8 TEASPOON cayenne pepper into 2 cups flour. Cut in ½ cup of shortening until mixture is crumbly. Stir in 3-ounce can of deviled ham. Place on lightly floured board and roll ¼ inch thick and cut with 2 inch biscuit cutter. Bake these "chips" on cookie sheet in very hot oven for 10 minutes. Serve as an appetizer.

• • •

VEAL CUTLETS take on flavor when cooked with a clove of crushed garlic, a pinch of rosemary and beef consomme.

Make 1 pound of small onions delicious by cooking with 3/4 cup water, salt, 3 bay leaves, pinch of thyme and pepper and parsley. Serve as a meat accompaniment.

Helen's Favorite:

Blue Cheese Beef Rounds (Serves 6).
1½ pounds ground beef.
2/4 cup uncooked oatmeal
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
¼ cup crumbled blue cheese
¾ cup milk

Combine all ingredients, mixing lightly. Shape into 6 patties. Place on a broiler rack. Broil 4 inches from source of heat for 7 minutes. Turn and broil for 5 minutes longer.

We Moms have fun include less fortunate in Yule doings

With Lula Jones Garrett

The "We Moms" that group of civic - minded mothers were hosted by Marguerite Wilkins and Minerva Williams at the farmer's Morgan Park, home, on Saturday.

The members brought with them beautifully packaged gifts destined for patients at St. Wilson Hospital.

Among themselves, the Moms exchanged gifts and there were many ooh's and ah's as the lovely gifts were opened and displayed.

During the business session presided over by Leana Ferrell, the group whipped into shape plans for their forthcoming benefit luncheon and hat show. The committee planning this affair includes Anne Smith, Mae Cornish, Bernice Turner, Leana Ferrell and Jeanette Johnson.

Members Pauline Armstrong and Marion Amprey will spearhead a benefit rummage sale to follow.

The hostesses out did themselves for at the Christmas, candle - lit table the girls enjoyed Marguerite's own Imperial Crab Supreme among other delectables.

About were Leana Ferrell, Neonta Corbin, Marion Amprey, Venessa Porter, (whose Antoinette makes her debut at the Girl Friend's Cotillion); Pauline Armstrong, Bernice Turner, Jeannette Johnson, Anne Smith, Minerva Williams, Marguerite Wilkins and Mae Cornish.

..."LET'S HAVE a PARTY," said Vernice Reynolds and Saturday night members of the Couples Club trooped to Reynolds Whitmore Ave. residence for a Christmas affair to end Christmas affairs.

The get-together served a triple purpose. It was the December meeting of the organization it marked the club's fifth anniversary and it was a good excuse to have some Yuletide fun.

President James Murphy was compelled to keep business affairs at an absolute minimum, so all present would have more time to eat, drink and be merry.

With Medford Reynolds pouring, the cup that cheers was passed for round after round. Vernice attired in a mint hostess gown, presided over the serving of a New England boiled dinner.

Guests seen about were Sherlock and Ivy Grinage, Charles and Marie Hicks and Lula Patterson.

Club members present were Mary Elizabeth and Charles Laws, Delphine and Tom Warrington, Ethel and John Rich, Yvette and James Murphy, Edna and William Stanford, Seretha and Lonnie Greene, Adele Foremsn and Cliff W. MacKay.

DESPITE THE BITTER cold and the late hour, some 400 persons trouped over to the Prince Hall Masonic Temple to shake hands and exchange greetings with Dr. Martin Luther King, after the Thursday night freedom rally in the Civic Center.

Present were leaders of the professional, educational, political and economic life of the city who rubbed shoulders with civil rights leaders of NAACP, CORE and CIG.

The hosts for the reception were eight Greek - Letter fraternities and sororities of the city: Alpha Kappa Alpha, under leadership of Mrs. Clifton R. Jones, Alpha Phi Alpha, led by Frank Veney; Delta Sigma Theta, led by Miss Jean Cole; Kappa Alpha Psi, under U. Tyson Tildon; Omega Psi Phi, under Earl Hagan; Phi Beta Sigma, under Ernest W. Lee; Phi Delta Kappa, under Mrs. Gladys Wallace; and Sigma Gamma Rho, under Mrs. Emily Bryant.

The planning committee consisted of Mrs. Ruth King, Mrs. Bernice Hunley, Edward Young and Dr. L. D. Reddick.

The reception was held in the dining room of the Temple and was beautifully decorated for the occasion with boxed palms and colored paper. The fraternity and sorority leaders joined Dr. King and Dr. Ralph Abernathy in the receiving line about 11:15 and the honored guest, vanished at midnight, in order to take an early morning plane to Atlanta.

THE BIG SISTERS got an early start on St. Nick by having their Christmas Party last Saturday.

Though early it was the Christmas spirit was very much in evidence from the beautifully decorated home of Gladys Parker's Fernhill Avenue abode on through the activities of the evening.

Co - hostessing were Credella White, Lilyan Slater and Mae Chamberlain. And charming these hostesses were as they greeted each guest beautifully gowned and setting the tone of Christmas by wearing bright red organdy cocktail aprons.

Each feminine guest was pinned with either a red, green, or white wreath corsage. She in turn pinned her escort with a sequin trimmed red tie.

Dancing, games and lively talk kept the evening going at a lively pace.

Later on in the evening Secret Pals were revealed and gifts were exchanged. The men were not left out in the gift area either for each male received a gift too.

Prize winners for games were Dallas Nichols, Isaiah White, Ida Nichols, Ed Watson and Roland Williams.

Joining in the festive evening were:

Leroy and Willa Bouldin, Pink and Imogene Douglas, Webster and Frankie Hinchcen, Edward and Bernice McDaniel, Roland and Anetria Williams, Dallas and Ida Nicholas.

Isaiah and Credella White, John and Bernita Fuller, James and Mabel Denkins, Robert and Phyllis Sharnwell, Charles and Mary Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Weaver, Horace and Ora Brooks.

Irving and Louise Lockerman, Thomas and Iris Bracken, Glen Brooks, Hazel Bailey, Melvin Cade, Malcolm and Mae Chamberlain, Cathryn Parker.

Sidney and Lucille Brown, Vivian Burnett, James Brown of New York City, Edward and Bernice Watson, Edward and Lilyan Slater, and James and Gladys Parker.
