Mitchells among 9 at White House dinner

With Lula Jones Garrett

When President and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson entertained at their first State dinner in the White House, Tuesday evening, among the 150 guests, nine of whom were non-white, were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mitchell (NAACP).

The dinner in honor of visiting President Antonio Segni of Italy also had among the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilkins of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Eustace Gay of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. William Harris (she's the former Patricia Roberts, professor of law at Howard, and co-chairman of the Women's Committee on Civil Rights) of Washington, and Austin Morris of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Mitchell looked lovely in blue chiffon, flowing in the Grecian manner (the top was of lace), silver slippers and long white gloves. Also wearing blue, (but taffeta), the top encrusted with crystals and pearls, was Mrs. Gay. And Mrs. Wilkins came in pale pink satin brocade her gown featuring the new blouson top.

Incidentally, the First Lady wore chiffon, a long write accordion pleated gown with a black velvet ribbon at the waist. Signora Segni was in pale beige satin, the gown featuring a self stole.

The dinner, in the State dining room, where tables for 10 were centered with spring flowers and arranged about a head table which held three centerpieces of arrangements of cornflowers, yellow and white marguerite daisies, bronze chrysanthemums and white anemone chrysanthemums.

The dinnerwear plates with gold bands, bore the Eagle seal. The flat wear was gold and the menu included Belices of Maryland (Maryland crab), filets of beef, Wellington; waffle potatoes, string beans Amandine, endive and watercress salad, Brie cheese and Bavarois Celon (an ice cream). Place cards, by the way, separated husbands and wives.

After dinner coffee was served in an adjoining room, and the guests were entertained in the Red Room. Entertainment by the Marine Band, Opera Star Robert Merrill, who sang excerpts from Verdi's Rigoletto, Act of Rossini's Barber of Seville, and the New Christy Minstrels and their "hootenanny" folk music. Richard Adler, noted composer and producer, introduced the singers.

President Johnson circulated through the rooms, speaking personally to practically every one there, and it was to Mrs. Johnson, at the door, that goodbys were said.

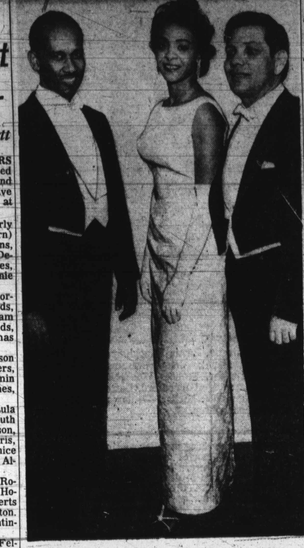
"TWAS ALSO a gala evening when rusbands of "The Ten Friends" hosted them at a candle-light dinner party at the Garrison.

The hosts were Raymond Tilghman, Ralph Williams, Robert Brown, Billy Young, Douglas Scott, Walter Tilghman, Dewey Williams, Brigy Neal, Richard Mitchell and Buddy Bryant.

The Ten Friends, a club of business and progessional women, have as their special project the Clyburn Home for Children. They are Alice L. Williams, who heads the group, Vivian Scott, vice president; Rosetta Williams, treasurer; Helen N. Tilghman, secretary; Mary G. Brown, Hazel Bryant, Clarice Tilghman, Mary Mitchell, Constance Neal and Delores Young.

After dining the group went to the Bentalou Street home of the Mitchells for the remainder of the evening, and were there joined by:

James and Dorothy Thomas, Stewart and Gilda Brown, Oliver and Anna Christmas, Charles and Lucille Johnson, Ernest and Julia Gambrill, Meredith and Margaruite Addison, Reginald and Gladys Combs and Leroy and Monteray Bynum.



JOSEPH S. EUBANKS, bass-baritone, and Mrs. Warrenie E. Hall, soprano, are shown being congratulated by Elyhaum Shapira, conductor of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra after conclusion of their appearance with the orchestra in a pop concert of all Gershwin tunes at the Lyric Theatre, Baltimore, recently.

Mesdames Theresa Fonseca, first; Henrietta Woods, second; and Ethel Clay, third. And if you are wondering about the hostess being a prize winner, the club does the novel thing of purchasing the prizes from the club treasury, so that the hostess, if she excells, can win a prize, too.

ON THURSDAY past the Ashburton Family Group held its monthly meeting at the Liberty Heights Avenue home of Dr. and Mrs. William Hall with Millie Hall serving as hostess of the evening.

Mrs. Henry Seidel of the League of Women Voters was the speaker for the meeting. She is chairman of the legislative committee of the league's latest study — Baltimore's Boards and Commissions — how they are selected, functions, etc. This will soon be available to the public. This was the group sponsible for the booklet on Desegregation of Schools which was prepared as a result of the uncovering of unfair or discriminatory practices in the city schools.

Gloria Carpenter was chairman of the January program.

Plans were finalized for the Sweetheart Party in honor of Ashburton fathers to be held at the Elegante Room on February 1. Considering the tentative plans, this should be a gala affair. Robbie Chissell and Shirley Hargrove are chairmen of the arrangements committee.

Enjoying the speaker and later the delicious repast were: Mesdames Grace Scott, Ardelle Jeudy, Joan Scott, Helen Burwell, Shirley Hargrove, Gloria Carpenter, Lillian Jones, Miriam Brown, Robbie Chissell, Mary Harris, Edith Smith, Edith Jackson, Helen Lee, and Millie Hall.

ECHOES FROM the Noel Cruise on the Caribbean Sea Premiere Classe aboard the S.S. France to the West Indies recalls the sparkling Bon Voyage champagne party staged by Blanche McRae in V215; the "get together" cocktail party of twenty-three given by Margaret and Edgar Ewing in the Left Bank Lounge; the Christmas Eve party in the Fontainbleau Lounge where gifts were exchanged after midnight Mass in La Chapelle;

Also the celebration of the Clayions of Cleveland twenty-ninth wedding anniversary; the masquerade ball where Harold Pierce held forth as a Westerner with boots and guns; the jolly New Year's Eve party in the main ball room with dancing, entertainment and favors, the enchanting entertainment at the Cat and the Fiddle in Nassau; the ride thru the snake infested jungle of the then peaceful Panama and witnessing a Norwegian Freighter pass thru the canal;

Then to Martinique, viewing the town which was completely demolished except for a lone prisoner, by the eruption of a volcano in 1902; the diploma awarded Agnes Patterson for achievement in advanced French lessons; the beautiful silver cup won by the Talmadge Hills for their skill at bridge; the mad shopping sprees at each port; the welcoming ceremonies plus native dancing by the Virgin Islanders in the ships theater honoring Captain Roper and his crew on their first visit of the S.S. France to their island;

Welcoming our own Bishop and Mrs. Cedric Mills who are very well and happy and send their best to all of you, the struggle through U. S. Customs and the return trip by chartered bus the thing to do, each promising to save their cigarette money for the next jaunt.

• • •

GAMMA CHAPTER of the National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa, at its December meeting installed its new slate of officers. Dorothy Washington now heads the group. After the business meeting the Christmas Stories in Carols and verse was presented by the Kaye Burke Chancel Choir from Macedonia Baptist Church, under the leadership of Soror Orangie Epps. At the January meeting, Representative Clarence Mitchell will be the guest speaker for the opening of a series of study meetings under the topic, "Our Challenge; A Stronger, More Alert Citizenry". The public invited to these meetings.

• • •

DELTA ALPHA CHAPTER of the Pi Beta Sigma Sorority will have a "Shower for Liberia" at the YWCA, February 9, from 4 to 6 p.m. They hope to highlight arts to Liberia. Also students from Liberia. This affair will benefit of the Lott Carey Mission School, Brewerville, Liberia, West Africa.

• • •

THE MARTINIQUES' annual champagne dance at the Alcazar, Saturday night past, was a party to be remembered. The bubbly stuff flowed from fountains, and the hors d'oeuvres were too pretty to eat.

They had guests from as far west as Detroit, and from all along the Eastern Seaboard, and, of course, local.

After the dance, the hostesses entertained at breakfast, more music, more fun.

Members of the group are Victorine Adams, Alma Perry, Hester Greenway, Susie Moore, Myrtle Thompson, Beatrice Smith, Irene Harris and Ruth Paysour.

"Love is great need" Official tells AKA's

Urging her sorors to be "patient and strong, and willing to endure for one another," Mrs. Alonciita Flood set the theme for the Founders' Day observance of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorors, here, Saturday evening.

Mrs. Flood, of New York City, director of the North Atlantic Region of the Sorority, spoke from the theme "Where There Is Love" "We use the word love carelessly and without thought of significance," she told the group. "Love is a sacred fire that must not be burned to idols, but must be all inclusive and fully involved. Love looks through a telescope as all should look. Envy looks through a microscope a s none should look," she added.

• • •

STRIKIN GA NTE for "rugged individualism," Soror Flood struck a blow at regimentation. People, she said, are classified up to their necks. In addition, high tension lives leave little time for solitude.

"You need to peel off these hinderances, to dig deep and find your self and wonderful self, and then stand up for that self," she said.

• • •

SOROR ERNESTINE E. LEWIS presided at the Founder's Day program, which was held in the Madison Avenue branch YWCA. Other participants included Soror Norma Humphrey, Edith Gordon, Nancy L.
