MRS. L. FITZGERALD

Mrs. Fitzgerald, wife of oldest lawyer, dies

The wife of Baltimore's first colored lawyer died in her home Thursday morning after being ill for several months.

Mrs. Lucille Fitzgerald, 2221 Powhatan, died at the age of 81, almost two years after the death of her late husband, William L. Fitzgerald.

Father Donald O. Wilson will officiate the funeral service which will be held Monday at St. James Episcopal Church, Arlington and Lafayette Aves., at 11 a.m.

Active in many civic organizations, Mrs. Fitzgerald will be buried in Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Mrs. Fitzgerald, nee Wilson, was a native Baltimorean. After graduating from the colored high school she attended Hampton Institute, in Virginia. She returned to Baltimore, taught school until she married Mr. Fitzgerald in 1913.

• • •

DEATH TERMINATED the marriage which spanned 48 years.

Among her activities, Mrs. Fitzgerald formerly held memberships in the Civic League, the Governor's Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations, YWCA, Alpha Phi Alpha Wives Club and the Lawyers Wives Club.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Jessie Lemon, a city school teacher; and two brothers, C. Howard Wilson, and William H. Wilson.

Miss Williams cites need to 'take stock of selves'

There is need for stopping and taking stock of our own responsibility in bettering human relations, Miss Anita Williams said, here, recently.

Speaking at the annual breakfast of the Blessed Virgin Sodality of St. Pius Catholic Church, Miss Williams pointed out shortcomings on both sides.

• • •

FIRST, SAID the speaker, lack of pride is a handicap to anyone seeking first class citizenship.

We, too, she said, "run" from sub-standard neighborhoods upon first opportunity, instead of giving of ourselves and our time to improve the surroundings and the behavior of the persons who are loud, dirty and generally undesirable.

• • •

WE NEED, said Miss Williams, to examine our attitudes towards others and be sure that we are not imbued with as much prejudice towards them as they are towards us.

• • •

THE BREAKFAST was arranged by a committee headed by Mrs. Theresa Fonseca.

Members of the committee also included Mrs. Katherine Johnson, Miss Erma Johnson, Miss Mageline Thomas and Mrs. Hilda Mosley.

Mrs. Ida Langford

Member of an old Baltimore family, Mrs. Ida V. Langford, 89, was buried Thursday in Arbutus Memorial Park, following funeral services at the South Baltimore Memorial Methodist Church.

Born here in May of 1875, Mrs. Langford died Monday, in the Baltimore City Hospitals. She had been ill for several months.

Daughter of the late Isaac and Louise Conner, of Baltimore, Mrs. Langford, became active in church work at an early age.

In the latter part of the century, the former Miss Conner became a member of the old John Wesley Methodist Church, located at that time on Sharp St.

Later when John Wesley Church moved to its present location, several of the older members, including Mrs. Langford left the church and founded the South Baltimore Memorial Church.

She served as a member of the Stewartess Board and the Gospel Choir.

• • •

IN 1904, she married Richard Warner, who died in 1935.

Six years later she married Arthur W. Langford. He died in 1956.

A retired employee of the Public Buildings Administration, Mrs. Langford was a member of a number of other organization which includes: Eastern Star, Eureka Chapter No. 11, O. E. S.; the Heroines of Jericho; the Good Hope Lodge No. 15; the Order of Job; the Masonic Circle No. 4; the Emanuel Circle; the Third Division of the United Women of Maryland and the Mt. Olive Beneficial Association No. 5.

Surviving is Milton E. Elickson, a Baltimore funeral director.

Here's opportunity librarians needed

CHICAGO — A nationwide effort encouraging more young men and women to enter the library profession has received added impetus by an announcement of scholarship aid from the H. W. Wilson Foundation Inc. of New York to American Library Association accredited library schools.

Dr. Frederick H. Wagman, president of ALA and director of the University of Michigan Libraries, made an announcement of the four - year scholarship program during the annual midwinter meet of ALA here.

This is the third time the foundation has made the scholarships available to ALA accredited library schoos, currently numbering 36. The program will amount to a program of assistance in excess of $35,000.

"More than 103,000 professional librarians would be needed currently if all libraries met the minimum standards established by the American Library Association," Wagman disclosed.

Rites on Thursday for Mrs. Joe Paul

Funeral services were held Thursday morning for Mrs. Helen Paul, wife of Joseph Paul, the longtime friend and benefactor of the AFRO Clean Block Campaign.

Her death occurred Tuesday at the family home, 4017 Ridgewood Ave., following a prolonged illness.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, Stanley and Bernard Paul; two daughters, Mrs. Evelyn Bilvess and Ms. Marion Bilvess of Baltimore; and eight grandchildren.

Interment was at Ansha Nesmie Congregation Cemetery.

Ohio clerics get top FEPC posts

By HERBERT BRYANT

CANTON, Ohio — The Rev. Herbert Seavers, pastor of Turner Chapel Methodist Church, became full-time FEPC director. He is 34 years old. The post pays $6,300 a year.

His aide is the Rev. Sheridan E. Lancaster, pastor of St. Paul AME, who will serve as associate director. The choice for director was made after nine other persons were interviewed.

The FEPC seeks to promote equal job opportunities for minority groups and to create a better understanding in all phases of human relations.

Mayor Stanley A. Cmich, who made the appointment, said the first task of the new staff will be to establish a "skills bank." This would provide information on the work background of unemployed persons.

• • •

REV. SEAVERS has long been active in community affairs here. He has had special training in sociology and received degrees from Gordon College at Beverly Farms, Mass. and Boston University.

Rev. Mr. Lancaster is one of Canton's leading civil rights backers. He received his training at Ohio Wesleyan University, Bucknell University and Campbell College and Seminary at Jackson, Miss.

Dr. Posey named AID unit chief

WASHINGTON

Dr. Thomas E. Posey, who has served overseas for the past 12 years as an economic and labor advisor for the foreign aid program, has been named chief of the Labor and Industry Division of the Agency for International Development's Office of International training in D.C.

In his new AID position, Dr. Posey will have opportunity to renew a long time friendship with Bob Kitchen, his new boss, who is director of the Office of International Training and a former colleagiue when both taught at West Virginia State College.

• • •

IN ADDITION to his other duties concerning labor and industry, Dr. Posey will be the labor representative of the Policy and Planning Staff and will assist with the reorganization of AID's International Training Program.

Dr. Posey majored in economic monetary theory and labor at Syracuse University, receiving an A.B. Degree in 1923 and an M.A. Degree in 1926. In 1949, he received a Ph.D. Degree from the University of Wisconsin. While there, he served as a graduate assistant to the late famed labor historian, Selig Perlman.
