School grouping report made at Board meeting

A research report on grouping elementary school children according to their individual needs was presented to the Board of School Commissioners Thursday by Dr. George B. Brain, superintendent of public schools.

The report was authorized to determine to what extent "grouping" of pupils in the city's elementary schools made learning easier at all levels.

According to Miss Mary A. Adams, assistant superintendent for elementary education, the grouping method is designed to meet the challenge of able, or above-average pupils, to foster the development of average pupils and provide for slow learning and disadvantage pupils.

• • •

HOWEVER, THE report stated that the grouping methods of classroom study does not in itself produce the effects for which it was designed.

It stated:

"Research findings in the area of grouping children for learning have made it clear that there is no one best way to organize a school or class.

"What and how much children learn seems more to be dependent upo factors other than grouping,, such as physical environment, pupil aspiration, parental attitude and teacher understanding and competency."

Also discussed at the meeting was a recommendation by Dr. Brain for an amendment of the City Code which would enable the Department of Education of offer summer school enrichment non-credit courses to qualified pupils.

The recommendation was unanimously expected by by the board.

• • •

A REPORT on vandalism also submitted to the board, indicated that the total vandalism loss for 1963 showed a 13½ percent decrease as compared to 1962.

However, the losses still amounted to more than to $22,000. The larger amount of losses came during the latter part of the year when there were several major burglaries.

Also the report indicated that monetary loss from window breakage in 1963 decreased about 5 percent, although the number of windows replaced were 3,241 panes.

130 Morgan men move into plush new $1 million dorm

O'Connell Hall, new Morgan Men's Dormitory was opened Friday. It has a capacity of 206 students with offices for the dean, counsellors, study halls, wash rooms, lavatories and showers, laundry with coin operated washing and drying machines on each floor.

It has a snazzy 60-foot lobby and mezzanine with picture windows facing Herring Run. On the first floor are vending machines from which you can buy anything hot or cold from soft drinks and hot chocolate and candy to hot sandwiches and stews.

Submarine sandwiches, cheeseburgers, hot dogs, pizza pies, potato salad rice tapioca, puddings peaches all are ovailable in coin operated machines. Prices run from 15 to 40 cents and machines will furnish change for a dollar.

Albert I. Cassell, architect, and Leimbach Construction Co., builders, were congratulated by Colonel Garrett Billmire, representing the Department of Public Improvements, and Charles S. Mallon, representing the Housing and Home Finance Agency, at the final inspection of the building on Tuesday Feb. 1.

• • •

THE BUILDING Committee, headed by Judge Joshah Henry, turned over the building to the college on Friday.

For the first time, students who have been peering into the windows wondering what has been going on on that site for the last year and a half, have been permitted to enter and admire the new building.

Friday morning was a busy moving day.

Among the first students to enter and pick up keys for rooms, closets and lockers were two blind senior Dennis Fisher and Jerome Brooks both of Baltimore.

Both are wrestlers Fisher an honor students is undefeated in 27 intercollegiate matches.

Morgans, four man mile relay registered in the dormitory at the same time.

Governor Tawes will be asked to come to the college for formal dedication of the building at a later date.

Because of lateness of the term only 130 students are moving into the building now.

Of modern design, the building is a three-story and partial basement structure of light — almost white— brick.

EASY IDEAS FOR LENTEN MENUS

LIGHT HOUSEKEEPING

Lent is time for Creole cuisine

There is no time like Lent to renew your acquaintance with Creole cuisine.

The true Creole cookery comes from France, Spain, Africa vi Louisiana — where the cooks aud their own skills and imagination to create superb dishes.

TAKE CRAB A LA CASSEROLE, for instance. Cook in butter with small white onions and a clove of garlic finely minced. Add one cup white sauce made with equal parts of Pet milk. Season sauce with a dash of salt, small pieces of trayme, a very small piece of bay leaf, a small hot green pepper, mincee, and a tablespoon chopped parsley.

Fold in two cups crabmeat. If too thick, thin by adding some Pet milk. Pour into buttered casserole, sprinkle top with bread crumbs, dot with butter. Bake in moderately hot oven about 25 minutes.

Serve with hot buttered rolls, green tossed salad or potato salad.

THEN THERE'S a delicious Jambalaya for those not strickly observing Lent . . . inasmuch as it contains a bit of ham.

This is made with three dozen large oysters, one and a half pounds diced ham, two pounds of shrimp, three cups of diced chicken or turkey, two cups long-grained rice, eight cups of chicken or turkey stock, chopped bell pepper, two cloves garlic, two bay leaves, a large onion, two cups chopped celery, salt, pepper, parsley.

Fry onions, celery, bell pepper, garlic in fat until brown. Add ham, turkey, oysters and shrimp. Add rice, cover and cook 40 minutes. Do not stir.

This is of party proportions and will serve 12 to 14 persons . . .

Serve with mixed green salad, tinted apples and French bread.

• • •

JUST ONE more seafood dish, in the Creole manner. . . Oyster a la Poulette. This requires three dozen oysters, one cup boiled, peeled shrimp, three teaspoons cooking oil, four teaspoons butter, one cup milk, one cup oyster water, two tablespoons, chopped onion, a half teaspoon chopped garlic.

Also one teaspoon chopped green pepper, three egg yolks, four teaspoons flour, one teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce, one teaspoon paprika, salt and pepper to taste.

IF YOU HAVE NOT done so, do plan flowers as a definite part of your home decorations. The arrangement above can be used for many kinds of flowers, and in many places . . . with a classic candle as a centerpiece for your dinner table, or without the candle as a spot of charm on a living room table.

Fish Sticks, Spinach Supreme meet challenge of Lent meals

During the Lenten season when menus must often be meatless, it is a real challenge to plan and prepare meals that will please the whole family.

Fortunately, there is a wealth of fine fish and sea food to choose from. A good place to start is at the frozen foods cabinet, where there is a variety of prepared fish in a variety of convenient forms.

Here are two excellent recipes that uses one of the best known of these products . . . frozen fish sticks . . and frozen spinach.

Now fish sticks and spinach may not sound like a very exciting combination, but they make a delectable dish when topped with a sauce made of sour cream and mayonnaise, redolent of lemon juice and with a touch of ground nutmeg for good measure and eating pleasure.

• • •

AND TO FURTHER emphasize the compatibility of fish and spinach, we have a recipe for Baked Cod Continental with Baked Onions Florentine that is as appetizing a Lenten dish as one could find.

FOR BAKED Cod Continental use two packages (13 ounces each) frozen cod fillets. Salt and pepper. 1 third cup water, 3 tablespoons finely chopped onion, three tablespoons butter or margarine, one and half cups soft bread crumbs, one tablespoon chopped pimiento (optional), one tablespoon chopped parsley (optional), one quarter teaspoon salt, and dash of pepper.

Place blocks of fish in greased shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper; pour in the water. Saute onion in butter until lightly browned. Add bread crumbs, pimiento, parsley, one quarter teaspoon salt, and dash of pepper; toss together lightly. Scatter over fish. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 40 minutes, or until fish is easily flaked with a fork. Makes 6 servings.

• • •

THE ONIONS FLORENTINE is made with 6 onions Salted water, one package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, one tablespoon butter, one half teaspoon salt, and Dash of pepper.

Cover onions with salted water in saucepan. Cook until onions are tender — about 10 minutes. Drain . . . gently press out centers. Set onion shells in baking dish. Chop onion centers.

Meanwhile cook spinach as directed on package. Drain butter, salt, and pepper. Spoon into onion shells. Cover and bake in hot oven (400 degree F.) 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

For dessert with either of these fish dishes, try Raspberry and apple pie . . .

Fish sticks and Spinach Supreme require two packages (10 ounces each) frozen chopped spinach, one cup (one-half pint) sour cream, one-half cup mayonnaise, one tablespoon all-purpose flour, one tablespoon lemon juice (one-half lemon), one-eighth teaspoon ground nutmeg, 2 packages (8 ounces each) frozen precooked fish sticks, and one-half lemon, sliced.

Cook spinach as directed on package; drain.

Blend sour cream with mayonnaise, flour, lemon juice, and nutmeg. Stir one cup into the drained spinach and spoon into a greased one-half-quart shallow baking dish. Top with fish sticks.

Spoon remaining sour cream mixture over the fish sticks. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degree F.) 35 to 40 minutes. Garnish with lemon slices. Makes about three cups spinach mixture enough for 6 servings.

That cherry pie may pinch budget

By VIRGINIA L. McLUCKIE, Food Economist

Everyone knows the factable of George Washington, the hatchet and the cherry tree.

Cherries likely will be used to commemorate his birthday this weekend by many families.

• • •

ABOUT ONE eighth of our cherries are consumed during February, but they are really delicious anytime. Cherries were in plentiful supply last year but this year we see a different picture of short supply and there is sufficient supply to cover our needs for a tasty cherry pie or cherry tarts for this month of heavy cherry use in menus.

When you purchase canned cherries be sure to read the label and find out the following: Are the cherries red sour, red tart, red sweet or light sweet? Are the cherries pitted for unpitted? Are the cherries packed in water, cherry juice, light or heavy syrup?

Have spices, flavoring or color been added? If you are buying Red Sour pitted cherries for pie it takes one no. 303 can to fill an eight inch pie or five tarts; two no. 303 cans for a nine inch pie or the no. 303 tall can is enough for a nine inch pie.

• • •

IF YOU buy prepared canned filling the no. 303 can is sufficient for a six to eight inch pie and the no. 2½ can is the right amount for a nine inch pie. If you make pie from scratch add fourteen cents to the cost of cherries for sweetening, thickening and crusts.

Recent price checking revealed the fact that the convenient item of frozen ready to bake cherry pie cost is slightly less than homemade and is an even more attractive buy when specials are featured.

Pork and beef supplies continue to be heavy. At present, many cuts of both meats are selling at less than retail prices of a year ago. Meat counter money savers are pot roasts such as chuck and heel of round, ground beef and liver, end roasts and end chops of pork and picnics. Broiler - fryer chickens and turkey and in heavier supply than a year ago.

LENTEN SUGGESTIONS for meatless meals include the use of dried beans and peas.

These are good sources of incomplete protein and when served with some complete protein such as milk, cheese or egg they become an economy in protein and energy giving foods.

Many homemakers still take pride in "hanging out" the cleanest wash in the neighborhood, and good facilities will take much of the fatigue out of line-hanging.

These include a lightweight plastic clothes basket or a cart on wheels; adequate pulley- or umbrella - type line space, and a clothespin bag which slides along the line. Also useful are parallel lines rigged about six feet high and three feet apart. Basement or attic lines are convenient for wet or cold weather. Accessories include both standard and spring-type clothespins, pants stretchers, and contoured and clamp-type hangers.

• • •

HANG SIMILAR items together, so they can be folded together later. To avoid "dog ears," hang clothes straight over the line — sheets and tablecloths with hems lined up, smaller pieces with a 6-8 inch turn. Pin the strongest parts of garments—shirt-tails, waistbands, and shoulder seams.
