ception there, she was escorted to Baltimore by Det. Sgt. Clarence Rey Jr., who aided Det. Lt. J. H. Hamburter, chief investigator of the Welcome assassination plot.

When she was called to testify Wednesday she was asked if she had ever been to Mr. Young's office in company with the above persons.

"I don't know whose office it was, but it was just off North Ave."

That ended her testimony.

MISS ERNESTINE HARDEN, beautician of the 1800 block Pulaski St., was also a state's witness.

She took the state by "surprise," assistant prosecutor Donald Needle told Judge Dyer.

During a previous conference with Mr. Needle, Miss Harden was "co-operative" in giving statements that she had witnessed Charles Hall, a co-defendant visiting Mr. Young's office.

On the witness stand, however, she suffered an apparent lapse of memory.

Asked did she see Hall, or a neighbor and his three daughters or an auto on March 26, Miss Harden answered:

"No, I was working. I didn't see him or them."

Interrogation ended when Mr. Needle told the court "the state is surprised."

RONALD KEENE, a fireman stationed at the Liberty Heights Ave. station, said he saw the convertible speed away after hearing gun shots.

"Could you see how many people were in it?" he was asked.

"It sped by so fast I couldn't see who was in the car," he answered.

LESLIE DORRETE, loan company representative, testified about the efforts to locate Curtis King to pay installments on the car.

After locating him through Mr. Young, the loan company official said he was still unable to get the payments, but all problems were solved by King himself.

"He called me one day and told me to pick up the car in the 1800 block W. Fairmount Ave.," he said.

IN ADDITION to moving at a more leisurely pace there are other contrasts in county courts and Baltimore's Criminal Court.

The furnishings, including rugs on the floor, here are in striking contrast with the monument of marble and concrete at Calvert and Fayette Sts.

Judge Dyer, five-feet-five, with crewcut white hair, is relatively young as judges go, but he kept a firm hand on proceedings.

A reversal of proceedings employed in city courts accounted for the numerous delays in the trial.

In Baltimore when legal points which must be kept out of the earshot of the jury are discussed and ruled on, Baltimore judges excuse the jury.

Here, Judge Dyer holds a bench conference with counsels and stenographer at the far end of the bench.

ANOTHER DELAYING factor in the week-long trial here was due to housing facilities for witnesses.

They are kept in jury rooms in the city while they wait in another building here.

Court attendants, after the second day, however, got smart and kept one witness waiting in the wing while another testified.

During the life and times of an AFRO column called "County Beat," Belair was visited a few years back.

"Colored" and "white" labels on the courthouse rest room doors were in vogue then.

"Men" and "Women" are the only visible signs now.

BELAIR'S INTEREST in the Young trial has not been overwhelming. At no time has the courtroom been crowded.

The number of colored persons in attendance, other than participants has never been more than 10.

Taking note of the meager attendance, the weekly Agis, local publication, which carried the picture of Sen. Welcome and Lt. "Butler, said:

"Welcome Case is world-wide 'cause celebrate.' G.W.C.

this year, she first answered infagmaly, then requested that her formal statement be substituted and the original answer stricken.

Her formal reason for choosing Barry Goldwater was:

"I think Strom Thurmond (Democratic Senator, S.C. who bolted the party recently to join the GOP) has aptly put it. . the future of freedom and constitutional government is at stake and this requires that I do everything in my power to help Barry Goldwater return our nation to constitional government through his election to the presidency."

WHO IS Sallie Zantzinger, listed as co-hostess?

"She's my sister-in-law (Wife of Richard, who is brother of William).

What political figures will attend the oyster roast Sunday?

Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska and a member of the GOP Truth Squad, Sen. J. Glenn Beall, Frank Small... though I don't think Mr. Small is going to speak."

A news report describing the oyster roast said "oysters will be served from an old spring house hard by a lake of golden water."

Mrs. Zantzinger was asked if this was just publicity or if the water would really be gold.

She said the lake would be golden if the "stuff," she ordered to color it arrived in time. "A dyed pons is what it is, really," she explained.

The young plantation owner's wife also reported a lot of Goldwater sentiment in Southern Maryland. "I must say there is a great feeling..."

She volunteered the opinion that "I don't think race enters into this."

The interview closed with Mrs. Zantzinger again stating that she did not mind talking about politics but felt "you are going to blow this up. . are you?"

country back" come Nov. 3.

The opposition was busy, too. Demonstrations at West Chester carried signs supporting Lyndon B. Johnson. At Upper Darby, one sign read, "Welcome, Barry, no minorities here," and another which included the Arizonian' running mate, William E. Miller: "Billy, Barry — the Bombsy Twins."

An elderly white woman at the corner of Broad and Snyder Sts., in Philadelphia yelled barely, "Take him (Barry) down to the river and throw him overboard."

In the speech, he stressed what he called "Peace through strength," "progress through freedom," and "purpose through constitutional order." He belabored the Supreme Court for "enacting" laws, and "scoffing" at the Constitution. The high tribunal, he asserted, should limit itself to interpreting the laws and passing on their constitutionality.

The Arizonian blasted President Johnson for, in his words, the chief executive's "arrogance and personal power." He said the administration was guilty of harboring not only crime of every description but divorce, school drop - outs, mobs in the streets, "and many other symptoms of a sick society."

In renewing an appeal for states rights — a philosophy particularly attractive to southerners — Mr. Goldwater bitterly attacked the crime rate in the District of Columbia, which he said ranked first in the nation. He emphasized that "enforcement of the law is a state and local responsibility." And promised to restore "domestic tranquility" in the Nation's Capital.

Exactly how he aimed to keep his promises, the Senator did not say.

Parties just seem to happen when friends and Schenley get together. No ordinary whisky, this! It has a taste so delightfully bland—we call it "whispering whisky." But make no mistake, Schenley brings out the party in people.

15 MARYLANDERS were elevated to 33rd dergee honorary at Prince Hall United Supreme Council in Washington D.C. on Monday. Cetner, front row, is 111. John H. Jones, deputy of Maryland, who presented the 1964 class of Sublime Princes. Front row, left to right: James C. Martin, Namon R. Palmer, Federalsburg, of King David Consistory No. 284 in Salisburg; Armstead W. Jenkins, Illustrious Jones; William C. Dare and Richard Washington. Second row: Stetson D. Wilson, Clifton C. Tatum, Orville Roey, William R. Carter and Connor L. Willis Back row: R. Abbott Waters of Upper Hill, from No. 284; Chester H. McKnight, of Rockville, from Western Maryland Consistory No. 270, Frederick; William A. Fletcher, James B. Dashiell of Easton, from No. 284, and Richard J. White Jr. All the Baltimoreans are members of Hiram Consistory No. 2.

15 raised to 33rd degree

Bishop Marcus L. Harris, (Ark.) (Methodist) and Kenneth Primm (Pa.) (AME), two army sergeants now stationed in Germany, two morticians from Baltimore, and a seminary student from Liberia were among the 72 persons who received the honorary 33rd Degree in Prince Hall Scottish Rite Masonry (South) this week.

The 15 from Maryland included:

William R. Carter, James B Dashields (Easton), Armstead W. Jenkins, William C. Dare, William C. Fletcher, Chester H. McKnight (Rockville); James G. Martin, Namon R. Palmer (Federalsburg), Clifton Tatum, William L. Martin, Orville L. Roey, Richard Washington;

R. Abbott Waters (Upper Hill), Connor L. Wilks, Rich J. White, Stetson D. Wilson.

THE SIX from the District of Columbia included:

David P. Crosby, John C. Duncan, James D. Howard John W. Diggs, Augustus Finley, Jr., Hubert B. Pair.

From Liberia, West Africa, Samuel R. Dixon.

From Germany, Sergeants John L. Scott and John E. Murphy.

ELECTED OFFICERS included John G. Lewis, Sovereign Grand Commander, (Louisiana); Grand Secretary, James A. Mingo; D.C. Grand Treasurer, George H. Pilsbugh; Grand Prior, Dr. Charles H. Wesley.

Because of his campaign, President Lyndon Johnson could not address the Prince Hall Supreme Council and a substitute, Sargent Shriver of the Peace Corps had a head cold. Hyman Bookbinder who pinch hit for both of them was given a standing ovation by 509 diners at the annual banquet.

Explaining President Johnson's Poverty Bill, Mr. Bookbinder said people do not become poor, they are born poor. The anti-poverty bill is designed to break the cycle of poverty for all people who generation after generation, remain poor.

The average annual gross national product of the United States, he said, is six hundred billion dollars. The average weekly pay is $110 a week, but there are 10 million colored peole who have incomes of less than $35 a week with which they must feed, house, cloth, insure, and educate their children and save something for the future.

The anti-poverty bill is designed to help parents support their children without relief.

Fifty per cent of these poor colored families are headed by women and 65 per cent of the poor families have had less than eight years of schooling.

The anti-poverty bill will take 100,000 young people, 16 to 21, out of their homes and train them to live anew.

It will give 100,000 of them part time of full time jobs and another 150,000 the funds to go to college or to stay in college.

The only political note was struck when Mr. Bookbinder said that Senator Goldwater had not voted for the anti-poverty bill when it passed the Senate.

George W. Lindsay, member of the Los Angeles City Council, was awarded the medal as Scottish Rite Mason of the Year.

The Sureme Council meeting and all of its activities were held at the Sheraton-Park Hotel.

Sovereign Grand Commander George W. Crawford headed a delegation of visitors from the Northern Jurisdiction.

What's Sinclair doing giving away oil burners free?

It's part of the Heating Service Plan Sinclair offers to assure you of trouble-free heat winter after winter

There's a method in our madness. If we can keep you warm, happy and satisfied, you'll keep on doing business with us. You might even tell your friends about us. Here's how our remarkable offer works...

Under Sinclair's new three-year Heating Service Plan, you get: year-round burner service, inspection, adjustment and cleaning when needed, plus replacement of worn or defective parts, even a big 275-gallon above-ground tank.

In addition, if your present oil burner becomes defective and beyond repair during the three-year period, you will get, absolutely free, a new, modern, high-efficiency, residential-type burner (one of the finest gun-type burners available). You pay only for installation.

You'll like new Sinclair Heating Oil, too. It's the clear, clean oil with the clean, hot flame to give you more heating comfort per dollar.

For peace-of-mind and trouble-free heat this winter and every winter, take advantage of Sinclair's generous offer. Call now. You will be glad you did.
