Circus coming to armory

The famed Boumi Shrine Circus is coming to the Fifth Regiment Armory Nov. 10 through 14.

This year's edition of the Boumi show features 20 acts in three rings. Top performers on trapeze and high wire, an exciting wild animal trainer act, troupes of clowns and daring balancing acts will be featured.

There will be two performances daily at 3:30 and 8 p.m. and a Saturday morning show at 10 a.m. for a total of 11 performances over the four days.

All proceeds go to local charities and Boumi activities. Advance tickets can be purchased at Boumi temple, 4900 N. Charles St. and Bittorf Ford, 1001 Cathedral St. During circus week tickets will be available at the Armory.

Gadabouting In Baltimore

Elegant was the word for Maritae's dance

with Lula Jones Garrett

The party was relatively small. The setting was elegant. The hostesses were among the town's most adept. The cuisine was out of this world. Guests came from Canada to Virginia . . . and all the points between. So now I don't blame those townsfolk who nearly popped a blood vessel to get a bid.

I'm speaking, of course, of the Maritae's affair at West Wind on Friday night. The group doesn't entertain each year, but when they do they make up for lost time.

The Maritaes are Mesdames Frederick K. Adams, Maurice Adams, Albert C. Burwell, J. Hiram Butler Jr., James H. Murphy, Theodore D. Phifer and John W. Rich of Baltimore and Mrs. Charles E. Hicks, 3rd of Frederick.

They are an eye-filling group who were at their Nth degree that night.

Yvette Murphy had peeked into practically every salon from Maryland to Oklahoma while she was on that tour last month and come up with a knock-out that coyly revealed some open spaces (of her . . . not the West) right down to the waistline in front . . . and . . . more boldly dipped just as low in the back.

Beatrice Butler wore white that was slit to here at the sides, and the openings beautifully outlined by wide bands of embroidery in a brilliant green. Catherine Adams chose aqua lace to be radiant in . . . with practically every inch of the gown paved with sequins. Marie Hicks was in a combination of lace and grepe, in turn a combination of black and white.

The guests kept pace.

Mrs. Martin D. Jenkins had garnered the loveliest of gowns . . . the skirt a smoothly fitted crepe affair, the over blouse an incrustment of crystals, etc. . . . all in butter soft yellow. Alice (Mrs. Robert) Kitchen of Washington in a black halter frock that needed seeing to be adequately admired. Maxine (Mrs. Elton) Higginbotham in deep red velvet.

Judge Marjorie (Mrs. Belford) Lawson and Christine (Mrs. Steve) Davis, both of Washington, both in chic black gowns, Baltimore's Kay (Mrs. Simon) Carter also in black.

Lillian (Mrs. W. Leroy) Berry chose white, a multi-sequined affair, to be striking in . . . and another lady in white, this time, flowing chiffon, was Mrs. Ernest Johnson. Her sister, Mrs. James Mebane, chose eyebrow silk in a brilliant red.

Mrs. Bob Bailey wore aqua, an import in silk enhanced with crystal beading. Mrs. Walter T. Dixon was handsome in off-white satin, the gown made with an intriguing, and revealing panel pleat at the back. Mrs. George McDonald never looked more entrancing than that night in green crepe, draped, with a particularly pretty-face frame of cowled neckline.

Mrs. I. Bradshaw Higgins was handsome in a sheath of green sequins, and Mrs. James Pair in green and silver brocade. Mrs. Bob Williams chose a blouson gown in gold-threaded beige; and Mrs. Roland Henson was charming in blue crepe. Sylvia Johnson of Annapolis, who grows more attractive every day, drew eyes in a chic black gown.

There were a number of follow-up parties. Mr. and Mrs. J. Hiram Butler held forth at breakfast following the dance. Dr. and Mrs. Ted Phifer entertained at brunch. Mr. and Mrs. James H. Murphy, also entertained at brunch. 'Twas from this party that the dashing Alice Hayes (she's a Niagara Falls widow) took a plane home. And Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Adams held forth at cocktails.

Out-of-town guests included:

Mr. and Mrs. William Gosnell of Woodbine, Md., Mrs. Alice Hayes of Niagara Falls, Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Bernette Hackaday of Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hagans Jr. of Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Carol Hynson of Annapolis, Md., Dr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson of Covington, Va., Dr. and Mrs. Harold Jordan of Washington, Mrs. Sylvia Johnson of Annapolis, Md., George Wilson of Washington, Dr. Forrester Henderson of New York City.

Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Johnson of Annapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kitchen of Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Belford Lawson of Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Norman of Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ramos of Washington, Mrs. Slaxie Pinkett of Washington, Mr. and Mrs. James Duckett of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Dedmond of Washington, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Steve Davis of Washington, Mrs. Homer A. Dyson of Cleveland, Ohio.

Local guests were:

Messrs. and Mesdames Hiram Ammons, William Adams, Milton Allen, George Brown, Emerson Brown, Robert Bailey, Theodore Brown, Harold Clark, Harry Cole, Henry Collirs, George Collins, Abdellt Campbell.

Messrs. and Mesdames Robert Diggs, Walter Edmonds, Edgar Ewing, Harold Folkes, J. Nelson Fortune, Harrison Fuller, Herbert Fisher, Sherlock Grinage, Talmadge Hill, William Harris;

Messrs. and Mesdames William Hutchinson, Miles Harrison, Bernette Hackaday, Elson Higginbotham, Raymond Haysbert, Roland Henson, Harold Jennifer, Ernest Johnson;

Messrs. and Mesdames Charlie Law, George Lottier, James Mebane, Lawrence Mapp, Clarence Maiden, Charles Michael, William Murphy, James McAllister, John McGuire, Alonzo Moss, Lester Norris;

Messrs. and Mesdames Cardrew Perrin, William Pinderhughes, Marshall Pyles, Medford Reynolds, Loyal Randolph, Miles Robinson, Ronald Rayne, William Stanford;

Messrs. and Mesdames Wilfred Seaborne, Joseph Thomas, Clifton Tarter, Charles Tildon, John Wood, Leon Williams, Robert Watts, Robert Williams, Warren Weaver, George White.

Drs. and Mesdames Robert Ammons, W. Leroy Berry, William Burkhart, Garland Caissell, Simon Carter, Eugene Byrd, Frank DeCosta, Lonnie Green;

Drs. and Mesdames William Garner, J. P. Grant, William Hall, Bernard Harris Jr., Richard Hunt, I. Bradshaw Higgins, Martin D. Jenkins;

Drs. and Mesdames George McDonald, Herbert Mosley, Richard McKinney, Clarence Monroe, Robert McDaniels, Nathan Pitts, Saul Perdue, Douglass Philips, Nathaniel Proctor;

Drs. and Mesdames B. M. Rhetta, Ralph Reckling, Royston Scott, Albert Smith, Willia Watts, Emerson Walden;

Mesdames Pearl Brackett, Ruth Brown, Rebecca Brown, Olga Chambers, Margaret Land, Lydia Mulsenden, Lula Patterson, Anita Thomas, Gertrude Urquhart; Misses Alma Rich and Ethel E. Wise.

POT-POURRI: The mother of Dr. Charles R. Campbell, Mrs. Jemima Campbell, died at her home in Jamaica, Kingston, W.I., Monday. She was a valiant lady of 98, who was still active and alert when Dr. Campbell visited her this summer. In addition to the Baltimore physician she is the mother of two other sons and three daughters. Funeral services, according to custom of her country, were held on the day following her demise.

Dr. Mildred Otenasek, Lecturer in political economy and pliitical sciences at Notre Dame College since 1956 will address guests and members at the annual fall tea given by Gamma Cahpter of Phi Delta Gamma Sunday afternoon, Nov. 1st from three to five o'clock. The tea which is being held at Levering Hall on the campus of the Johns Hopkins University will be the occasion to honor the past presidents of the fraternity and also to greet the foreign students enrolled at the University.

Mrs. Letitia Ashe, who has been in the Johns Hopkins Hospital since Monday morning, remains on the critical list.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. (Catherine) Dade of Germantown, Pa., brought their son, Charles Henry, down to mark his first birthday, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dade, to be greeted by his kin, including godparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy and Miss Vesper Stevenson.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Beard celebrate the 25th anniversary of their marriage today (Friday). The Rev. Mr. Beard, a native of Charleston, S.C., is pastor of Wayman Good Hope AME Church. Mrs. Beard is the former Myrtle Fields of Winchester, Va. They are parents of Sandra Beard, 16; Tobitha Blount, foster daughter, 13; and three-week-old Lenora Beard.

The Tots and Teens Child Study Group will have a hat and fashion show on November 15th in the auditorium of School No. 85 at Lakewood Avenue and Oliver Street from four to seven in the afternoon. The project is to raise funds to send a needy child to camp. Miss Elivina Grant will provide music for the affair.

BEA WRIGHT was invited to come to a surprise birthday party for Gwen Hillen, who was invited to what she thought was a birthday party for Bea.

Both matrons had birthdays on Saturday. Bettye Moss used this hoax to get them to her Bentalou St. home after the rally for President Johnson.

Needless to say, both were surprised. About to wish them happy birthday were: Messrs. and Mesdames Royal Weaver, Chuck Richards, Bob Matthews, Clarence Henderson, Samuel Blackwell, Clifton Murray, and Dr. and Mrs. Louis Harmon, Mesdames Mildred Taylor, Palestine Anderson, and Joseph Felton;

Also, Dr. Ryland Melford and Mr. and Mrs. Leeland Jones Jr., of Buffalo, N.Y., and the husbands of the honorees, Charles Hillen and David Wright; and of course, the hostess' husband, Paul Moss, who was cheered by a San Francisco call from his son, Lt. J/G Michael Moss, who has landed in the states after a tour of duty in Japan.

AFTER ATTENDING the Saturday night show at a down town theatre, with his wife, Winnie, Dr. Cyril E. Ashby, dentist, was surprised when he returned home, and was greeted by many friends and colleagues with "Happy Birthday Greetings."

During Dr. and Mrs. Ashby's absence, Dr. and Mrs. Martin Rodney (Olga) friends of Ashbys, acted as host and hostess, entertaining their guests. Mrs. Rodney's duties did not end with her acting as hostess, she also had to decorate before the honoree arrived home. The party was a great success, with the guests dancing to the Calypso music until the wee hours of the morning.

Attending were:

Drs. and Mesdames Bruce Allyne, Billy Davis, Dennis Tribble, Frank Bourne, Martin Rodney; Dr. Vernon O. Marshall of New York, C. Darden, and W. Harris, attorneys from Washington and New York, respectively;

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Medas of Washington, Miss H. Durante of Washington, Miss Irma Lee, who is visiting here from British Guiana, Mr. Cromwell, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Mins Jr., Mrs. E. Hankin, C. Owens and Mrs. Bernice Craig.

THIRTR - TWO LOVELY Senior High School girls representing most of the High Schools in the city are having fun vying to see who will be Miss Calendar Girl or Girls. The face of the girl obtaining the highest number of votes will adorn a memo book desk calender. She will also be the girl representing January inside the book. Girls representing the eleven remaining months will follow in order o their voes.

The purpose of the contest being conducted by Epsilon Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority is two fold. First, it is to raise money for the scholarship Fund and other needy charitable movements. Secondly, it gives these girls a way to make a contribution in the fight for freedom. They are beginning to take responsibility early and have fun in doing so.

The girls participating in the contest are:

Joyce Johnson, Maxine Crawford, Geraldine Crawford, Corinda Gayles, Cynthia Grooms, Yvonne Dungee, Cheryl Harper, Sharon Harper, Cheryl Matthews, Candace Scott, Betty Matthews, Bonnie Matthews, Sandra Parrish, Patricia Parrish, Priscilla McIntosh, Taynya Quille, Mona Chambers, Brenda Cassell, Carolyn Costa, Maybelle Taylor, Doris Robinson;

Brenda Kelly, Aleta Perry, Rita Bass, Angela Moore, Marchita Lottier, Yvonne Dungee, Violet Bailey, Gloria Coleman, Deborah Freeman, Peggy Jones, Sandra Jones.

Chairmen of the Fund Raising Committee are Mrs. Margaret Jackson and Dr. Dolbie Walker. Mrs. Flozella Clark is basileus of the chapter.
