CORE against school budget as unfair to inner city pupils

"It seems quite unfair and very strange that the city fathers can find money to build a multi-million dollar plant for Poly and Western high schools but cannot appropriate enough money to upgrade inner-city schools, including Dunbar and Southern high . . ."

This was Baltimore CORE community organizer William Bush's reaction to 1965 Department of Education proposals recently made public.

In a statement to the AFRO Wednesday, Mr. Bush, director of CORE's east-side projects, said:

"On Oct. 17, the Baltimore School Board released plans of a $14 million new plant the city is planning to build for Polytechnic and Western High Schools. Dr. George B. Brain stated to the Board of Estimates meeting on Oct. 19 that the 1965 school budget will be meeting the needs of inner city schools and of colored students in the inner city. Dr. Brain said. The needs have not been met before.

"Nevertheless, it appears after the recommendation of city budget director Charles L. Benton that the requested increase of $16,300,000 for the Baltimore city public schools will be cut by $9 million, and, consequently, the inner city schools will go lacking again for the many resources they need to bring them up to the standards of the predominantly white quality schools.

MR. BUSH added:

"Dunbar needs several hundred dollars to complete the installation of an intercommunication system, in addition to other equipment, teachers, and counselors. It's almost unthinkable that a modern-day high school does not have an intercom system and a football stadium of its own. Athletic officials at Dunbar told CORE during its tour of the school that Dunbar needs a football field and stadium of its own.

The CORE official said to withhold funds from improving the sitcation at Dunbar and "many elementary schools" in the inner city would "be both unfair and damaging to the future welfare of colored pupils and the city."

CORE has been meeting with Dunbar students and parents in a program to mount pressure for improvements at the East-side high school.

WINS SCHOLARSHIP — Rodney McCloud, 17, a Morgan State College freshman from Brandywine, has been awarded a $500 scholarship by Western Electric. Presenting him with the award is Fred A. Weiss, manager, industrial and labor relations, at Western Electric's Baltimore plant.

INFORMATION that will help citizens be familiar with the voting machines on Nov. 3 is being provided at a number of centers about the city. Here Mrs. Margaret Harper, left, of the Northeastern Improvement Association, explain how it's done.

Welcome case figure placed on probation

Harold "Pop" Williams, the oldest of three men convicted in the attempts to kill Sen. Verda F. Welcome (D., 4th), became the first of the three to be sentenced Tuesday.

Judge J. Gilbert Prendergast, after declaring there was no doubt in his mind of the 67-year-old defendant's guilt and added that Williams had not played an active part in the assassination tries, suspended a three-year jail term.

However, Judge Prendergast said he felt Williams needed supervision and placed him on probation to the State Parole and Probation Department for a two year period.

Morton Edelstein, Williams' attorney, argued that no active part in the conspiracy on the "Lady Senator's" life had been played by his client.

• • •

THE ONLY thing Williams was guilty of, according to Mr. Edelstein, was failing to report to police what he learned by being present on several occasions while the plot was discussed.

Mr. Edelstein added that since a jury saw fit to acquit Del. Ernest Young, who had been accused of masterminding the plot, he felt his client, who played, if any, a very unimportant part, should receive a similar consideration.

Judge Prendergast said Williams was "...not a candidate for incarceration."

He stated that Williams' main problem was that he drank too much.

Awaiting sentencing are Charles Hall, 30, and James G. McCall, 38, 200 block Stricker St., both found guilty in the assassination attempt.

State's Attorney Charles E. Moylan Jr., stated that Williams, who testified at Del. Young's trial in Bel Air, had been cooperative.

Still time to practice on real voting machines

As a part of the Voter Education Drive, Woman Power, Inc., is operating voting booths in various sections of the city.

The booths are being displayed so that new voters, unfamiliar with the machines, may learn to operate them. Woman Power volunteers are on hand to explain operation of machines and to expose prospective voters to the names on the ballot.

Schedules set up for the machines for the rest of the week are:

Friday — Westport Community Center, 12 noon - 9 p.m.

Saturday Cherry Hill Rec Center, 12 - 9 p.m.

Sunday — 2507 E. Chase St. 3 - 5 p.m.

Sunday — 1725 W. Mulberry St., 6:30 p.m.

Over 100 persons have responded to each place the machine has been on display, according to Woman Power.

SNCC plans election day fund campaign

The newly formed Baltimore chapter of the Student Non - Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) will stage a fund-raising project on election day, Nov. 3.

College and high school students in the metropolitan area will be stationed at polls in northwest Baltimore to collect the "Freedom Poll-Tax." funds raised will be sent directly to the SNCC field office in Jackson, Miss. to aid the voter education and registration drive currently being conducted in that state.

Colleges represented in this project are Johns Hopkins, Goucher, Morgan, Coppin, Towson, Notre Dame, Loyola and the Maryland Institute. Over 200 students are expected to participate.

While SNCC has been active in Cambridge for several years, this marks its first Baltimore project. The "Freedom Poll Tax" campaign is designed to not only raise funds, but to call attention to voter inequities in Mississippi.

A general organizational meeting for the "Poll Tax" project has been called for Nov. 1, 7 p.m. at the Stoney Run Friends Meeting House. SNCC's local office is temporarily at Fellowship House 3200 N. Hilton St. Gren Whitman is currently city chairman for the civil rights organization.

AN OPEN LETTER TO PATIENTS AND FRIENDS

Dear Patients and Friends:

There have been few occasions in the political history of this country when the peace of the world and so much that is fundamental to our society was at stake. After consideration of the positions taken by the candidates in the forthcoming Presidential election, we, your physcians, strongly urge you to support the Johnson-Humphrey ticket whether you be Democrat or Republican.

Very Truly Yours,
