VIRGIN ISLANDS INCOME CLIMBS

ST. THOMAS (NNPA) — Budget Director Morris de Castro reported that revenue for the U.S. Virgin Islands in the first three months of the current fiscal year, June-September 1964, totaled $4,411,434, compared to $3,295,615 collected over the same period in 1963.

Mr. Russell called "a kissing, biting and loving" spree.

THESE revelations and subsequent testimony caused chuckles, brow raising and much neck craining from the audience.

Testifying as the state's star witness, Mrs. Snyder told the court that Mr. Pauling jumped in her car at Gay and Chester Sts. while she was stopped for a traffic light.

He put the knife in her side and ordered her to "drive on," she added.

MR. PAULING said the housewife called him to the car and asked him to buy her a bottle of whiskey, giving him $2 in the process.

When he returned with the whiskey and change, she told him to keep the change and offered him to have a drink and invited him to get in the car, he said.

"I was afraid. She asked me, 'What's wrong? There's nothing to get excited about.'" Mr. Pauling said in his statement to police that was admitted into evidence.

She drove until they came to a vacant lot and Mrs. Snyder was the one who suggested they be intimate, Mr. Pauling told police.

MRS. SNYDER testified she weighs 190 pounds and that Mr. Pauling forced her to climb over the "bucket seats" of her 1959 Thunderbird sport car.

This brought first mention of the oft-repeated "incredible" from Mr. Russell.

"To expect the court to believe that a 190-pound woman and a man as big as the defendant (Mr. Pauling is nearly six feet, weighing approximately 170 pounds) (can be intimate) . . . in the tiny space in the rear of a two-seat Thunderbird is ridiculous.

"This is incredible" he thundered.

MR. PAULING said they did not climb over any seats and he had "never seen" the knife which the complainant claimed he variously had at her side or throat at one point.

The knife, introduced as state's evidence, also proved to be of more than little interest.

On the handle was an engraved inscription: "Fisherman."

Under questioning by Mr. Russell, Mrs. Snyder admitted that her husband is a "fisherman or oysterman."

Upon leaving the vacant lot, the brunette said, the defendant took the wheel and drove to a house in the unit block of S. Duncan St., where he again raped her.

Mr. Pauling's version — corroborated by state's witnesses — showed that Mrs. Snyder directed him to drive to some place on Baltimore St. but he told her, "I don't know anybody in there" and refused to get out of the car because "I was afraid."

"DON'T YOU know some place we can go?" he quoted the housewife as saying.

The laborer said he then drove to the home of Thomas Johnson on Duncan St.

Both Mr. Johnson and Grant Lee, a friend, testified that the couple seemed happy" when they arrived and Mrs. Snyder took the keys from Mr. Pauling and locked the door of the car when he was unable to do so.

The quartet then had some drinks in the living room of Mr. Johnson's home before he and Mr. Lee left as the couple was going up stairs.

AT ONE point the complainant said she bit the defendant.

"Did he bite you?" Russell added.

"Yes," Mrs. Snyder answered.

"Ah, you two were just biting and loving, weren't you?" Mr Russell chided.

Mrs. Snyder said she "buttered up" Mr. Pauling to get his wallet and telephone number "because I wanted to make sure he wouldn't get away."

She said she didn't take advantage of several opportunities to escape and call police for the same reason.

The complainant did not account for how she was eventually able to 'escape,' but Mr. Pauling did.

"She asked me to show her where Key Highway was. I drove her there and she gave me a dollar to catch a cab back," he told police.

POLICE, who came in for lavish praise from Mr. Russell for their "objective investigation of a serious charge with racial tones," said every part of Mr. Pauling's statement checked out.

So effective was the state's witnesses in the cause of the defense, Mr. Russell did not call a single defense witness before asking for a directed verdict of acquittal.

"I feel sorry for this lady," the lawyer declared. "She was so afraid of her husband that she made a serious charge against the defendant to protect herself."

"She couldn't explain to her husband how she happened to be out so late and being stopped by the police, so she yelled rape," the attorney told the court.

JAMES WALSH, assistant state's attorney, who prosecuted, told Judge McGuire that the state's case "leaves much to be desired," after ending prosecuting testimony.

Pressing for a not guilty verdict, Mr. Russell argued that the state had failed to make out one "scintilla of a prima facie case."

"There is no evidence of a fresh complaint — she waited two hours before reporting the alleged offense to police . . . , and only after she was stopped for a traffic violation," the lawyer said.

"After the police stopped her for the defective light, the prosecuting witness then told police:

"By the way, I was raped . . . two hours ago.

"Your honor, I submit that is incredible" Mr. Russell said.

MR. WALSH said police investigated the case thoroughly after they uncovered numerous "inconsistencies," many of which "are still not cleared up."

Police officers who are entitled to a "public commendation" for their "color blind investigation of a serious charge," according to Mr. Russell, are:

Lt. John Griffin, Sgt. Edward Gaitley, Patrolman Robert Cohen, Policewomen Dorothy Jones, Faith Briscoe and Connie Carter.

The special detail worked 44 straight hours checking "inconsistencies" in the case, Mr. Walsh said.

in the campaign. We'll stay in control though. How can they have an all-white party here with 44 per cent of its members colored?

Mr. Knox, who aside from being one of the convention delegates who staged a walk-out in protest to the Goldwater nomination, is secretary of the City Committee, had these comments to the AFRO on the situation:

WE'VE GOT to rebuild the party here from the grass roots. I'm a strong believer in a two-party system, and we need that kind of a strong system here.

"I'm going to fight all efforts to create a Goldwater image within our party. We just can't afford that.

"If we are going to attract and keep young members, we must develop and strongly maintain a positive progressive program."

THE PRESENT status of the Republican party in Baltimore is reflected in these figures.

A total of 23 per cent of the colored registered voters are Republicans, while 76 per cent of this race's registered voters are Democratic.

On the other hand, 14 per cent of the white registered voters are Republicans, and 84 per cent of them are Democrats.

There were 47,090 persons of both races registered during the voter's registration campaign this year.

Of these, 94 per cent of the colored registered Democratic, and 81 pr cent of the whites went to the Democratic party.

THIRD DISTRICT leader Marshall W. Jones, member of the Park Board, told the AFRO:

"It may take years to get us rolling again. We were making some headway here under the leadership of Mayor McKeldin. In the colored community we gradually were building, something was beginning to take shape, then — Goldwater comes along".

Jones, a firm believer in a two party system, favors a national convention next year to draw up a new platform and statement of principles and urges the ouster of Dean Burch as national GOP chairman.

"It continues the way it is going, some of us will have to find some place else to go, not necessarily into the Democratic Party," Jones declared.

"I don't see how the local unit can carry on with it going one way and the national another.

"Right now Mayor McKeldin is one of the best things we have going for the party. He's the most consistent leader we have."

Jones indicated he is waiting for the official position of the state body to be made known. He said he is not too uneasy about the position the heavily colored city committee will take.

Constitutional plea by W. Va. convicts

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — (UPI) — An attorney representing five Moundsville Penitentiary inmates argued before the State Supreme Court Tuesday they were denied their constitutional right to defense counsel before they were sentenced.

Attorney Tim Barber of Charleston said under a recent decision in the Gideon case in the U.S. Supreme Court, the prisoners were entitled to be represented by attorneys even though they pleaded guilty.

Barber pointed out that none of the men had over an eighth grade education and that official court transcripts of their earlier arraignments were silent on whether counsel was provided, requested or waived by them.

ASST. ATTY. GEN. George Mitchell argued that a guilty plea was a waiver of counsel and that failure of a circuit court to inform the defendant of his right to demand counsel or to appoint counsel for him was not a violation of the constitutional right to the appointment of counsel.

The convicts were William Hicklin of Fayette County, Larry Arbaugh of Ohio County, and Delbert Browning, Jerry Stumbo and Clarence May, all of Logan County.

Alabama cop Lingo moans liberal press

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) —Alabama's top state policeman charged Tuesday the nation's news media created an emotional atmosphere in Congress which led to the passage of the civil rights law.

Col. Albert J. Lingo, Alabama's public safety director, said that newspapers, magazines and broadcasters generally slant news stories to promote the liberal-socialist cause.

Lingo said the civil rights law received the praise of Communists as paving the way for a "Soviet America."

"THE SOUTH has been the last ditch of local government and states' rights," Lingo said in a speech to a businessmen's meeting. But, he said, the news media has made the rest of the nation believe "the people of the South are invariably motivated by hate, prejudice and bigotry."

He said the liberals hoped to use this "distortion" to convince the nation local control must give way to federal domination.

Lingo, in charge of Alabama's 600 state troopers, said "The propaganda media dominated by the liberal expounds this Communist doctrine with monotonous regularity."

HE SAID GOOD salaries and advancement awards were given only to those who expound liberalism in the news media, entertainment and education fields.

Lingo termed the awarding of the Nobel Peace Prize to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the "crowning stupidity" of the "Award and reward system."

Over $10 million to Rutgers in '64

NEW BRUNSWICK — Rutgers University received gifts, grants and bequests totalling $10,100,636 during the 1963-64 fiscal year, Dr. Mason W. Gross, president of the State University, announced today.

The State University received $8,043,398 in grants to support research projects and other programs during the year ending last June 30. Gifts and bequests totalled $2,057,238.

Government grants and contracts accounted for $6,227,100 of the total received. The U. S. Public Health Service was the largest single contributor with 117 grants, 20 fellowships and one research contract totalling $2,817,866. The National Science Foundation awarded Rutgers $2,045,256 covering 115 grants, four fellowship programs and one research contract.

Tan South vote said GOP spur

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UPI) —Lyle C. Wilson, United Press International columnist, predicted Tuesday that the increasing colored vote will result in a strong two-party system in the South.

As the colored vote in the Democratic Party increases, Wilson said, the white voters in the South will tend to move into "another party of their own, presumably the Republican Party."

In the Presidential election this year, the colored vote was definitive "in some southern states and important in all of them," Wilson said in a speech prepared for a meeting of the Evansville Rotary Club.

HE SAID that in Virginia 75,000 to 100,000 new colored voters were registered this year. President Johnson took "practically all of the colored vote in North Carolina and 98 per cent of the colored vote in his native Texas," Wilson said.

"Such statistics as these foreshadow a substantial colored political control of the southern party of their choice. That would tend to shoo white voters into another party of their own."

Coppin students hold education week celebration

The Student National Education Assiciation at Coppin State College marked American Education Week with three programs this week.

The Rev. Frank M. Reid, pastor, Bethel AME Church, lectured Tuesday on "Education Pays Dividends in Human Relations".

A film, "Our Schools Have Kept Us Free", was shown Thursday. Miss Linda Lee, senior, is president of the Coppin chapter of NEA.
