Morgan faculty wives hear Washington leader

The Faculty - Trustee Wives of Morgan State College were entertained last Sunday by Mrs. Martin D. Jenkins at her home.

The bright Sunday afternoon was greatly enhanced by the exquisite living room setting, the beautiful styles and colors of the ladies' ensembles, and the bouffet repast served from a table decorated with colored chrysanthemums.

Speaker for the occasion was lawyer - teacher Mrs. Patricia Roberts Harris, of Washington, D.C., and the Howard University Law School.

She spoke of new areas of contact to be developed and established by the women of both races if true integration assumes its complete role.

Mrs. Harris told the group to all of our activities for it will be only through constant and intimate contact that the whites will get to know us and find that our way of life is the same as theirs."

• • • •

THE WASHINGTON people cited a specific area to be attacked, the now all - white Junior Leagues as a challenge to all colored women.

Members present were: Mesdames Marcus Allen, Benjamin Quarles, Harold Delaney, Nick Ford, Otis Froe, Alexander Hall, Melvin Humphrey, Roland McConnell, James Nix, Nathaniel Proctor, Joseph Rocha, Daniel Skinner, George Spaulding, Alexander Walker, Roger Williams, and Edward N. Wilson.

Which English holiday greeting is older...the first Christmas Card or Gordon's Gin?

Gordon's Gin was an English holiday greeting 74 years before Mr. J.C. Horsley designed the first Christmas card. The Gordon's you drink today harks back to Alexander Gordon's original 1769 formula, for one doesn't tamper with a good thing ...especially when it is the biggest seller in England, America, the world. This year send cards, serve and give Gordon's London Dry Gin.

Sunday surprise for Mrs. Walden

Mrs. Garrett is on vacation. Her column this week is written by co-workers)

Credit Dr. Emerson C. Walden with pulling off a real surprise party for his wife, Celonia.

When we dropped in their Harlem Ave. home shortly after six on Sunday, she was still on cloud 9, unable to believe she had been completely caught unawares on her birthday.

Like the good schoolmarm she is, Mrs. Walden soon recovered from the shock and before too long was her usual relaxed self.

• • • •

HOW THEY did it: — Dr. Walden and their children, Emerson Jr., Thomas, and Celonia, kept her busy with morning church services at Bethel, a hospital visit to see Mrs. Euphrates Bowie, a long time friend, and a trip half way to Washington to eat dinner and visit her family.

Suddenly, at Laurel, he remembered that he had to return to Baltimore to keep an appointment with a member of his staff. (Since Dr. Walden is Chief of the Surgical Services at Provident, she was not suspicious.

Of course, when he drove to their home to get a report, she was surprised to see her father and brother standing on their front porch, and inside to find her mother, Mrs. Henry T. Banks, she knew something was up.

Other relatives there to greet her:—

Her sister - in - law and family, Mrs. Henry E. Banks; Henry Jr., Lenora, Patricia, and William Banks; her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Matthews and Pamela; her brother - in - law and his wife, Father and Mrs. Charles E. Walden Jr.; and her brother and sister - in - law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Matthews, all of Washington;

Also Mrs. Esther Wilson and Christine Coleman, cousins from Philadelphia, Mrs. Elaine Hassell and Dr. and Mrs. John H. Holmes, III (Serena) of Baltimore.

Serena and Elaine helped to engineer the beautiful plot.

Celonia's family toasted her with pink champagne.

After dinner, Caterer Allen unveiled an unusual birthday cake topped with frosted fruits and a unique hors d' oeuvres display shaped like a huge birthday cake, which he created especially for the party.

Lo and behold — there was more. Just as she was ready to sit down, open gifts, and relax with the family, the doorbell rang.

In trooped a host of her friends to add to the surprise.

Guests had been instructed not to bring gifts but they did anyhow.

• • •

OTHER out - of - town guests there: Dr. Walden's father, the Rev. Charles E. Walden Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Graves all of Crisfield, Md., Dr. and Mrs. Horace L. Small of Denton, Md., and Charles P. Young of Los Angeles.
