Poets eye repeat; Ducks, Cubs plan run for title

By SAM LACY

If conversations at schools involved in one of the city's most enduring rivalries are to be taken seriously, Dunbar figures to successfully defend her Maryland Scholastic Association basketball crown, and Douglass and Carver loom as title contenders.

At Dunbar, there is elation over the fact that three of last year's championship aggregation are back in harness and already approaching their peak form of 1963.

AFTER DISPOSING of one or two minor problems concerned with discipline, Dunbar coach Sugar Cain expressed gratitude over the return of Alton Ervin, Jimmy Files and Nat England, all of whom were prominent in last year's race to the city title.

The Poets, it will be recalled, came off a poor start and had to stage a determined rally that caught and eliminated Carver in a playoff for the division championship. They then went on to defeat Mt. St. Joe in the title series.

Aside from his holdover trio, Cain believes he has picked up much of the needed depth in newcomers Sonny Williams, Jess Chapman, Robert Clay, Alex Bennett and Reggie Leach, the latter a younger brother of Dunbar's fine floor general of three years ago, Charlie Leach.

DOUGLASS coach Roy Cragway, filling in for the ill athletic director, Mack Payne, is equally pleased with the Poets' outook.

"We're in for some rough times in Division 2," admitted Cragway, "what with Dunbar, Towson Catholic, Loyola and Edmondson to contend with, but I'm sure we'll make things interesting.

"There's plenty height on hand and we have a couple pretty good shots. We finished third in Division 1, last year, and it might well be that we'll improve on that this time."

CRAGWAY IS counting on six returnees from the 1963 team and some valuable additions from the junior varsity aggregation.

Back in livery are Steve Nixon, Cornell Barnes, Ernest Thompson, Reginald Simms, Larry Little and Richard Corbin.

Add to these, 6-7 Beverly Roberts and last year's leading JV scorer, Walter Green, and one might agree there's justification for the Poet tutor's optimism.

BUT, IF THE outlook at Dunbar and Douglass is bright, it is certainly no more cheery than that at Carver, where coach Sodie White confesses "it's too soon to know," but a reporter can detect a tone of supreme confidence.

"There's a distinct possibility," says White, "that we will do as well as we did last year."

What the Cubs "did last year" was close out the regular schedule with a 9-3 record before losing in the final game of a 3-way playoff to ultimate champion Dunbar.

"We have Bernard White, Reggie Boiling and Ronald Epps back from the 1963 team" the Cubs mentor reveals, "plus some promising material up from the junior varsity."

CARVER won the MSA junior varsity championship last year, so it is obvious that White may be understating the situation when he says "some promising material."

Already displaying varsity ability in the Carver drills are Robert Graves, Gerald Taylor, Edward Randall and Clyde Parker. Also commanding attention are newcomers Claude Harper, Yrone Gray, William Bullock, Edward Wilson and Robert Herndon.

Carver lost Tony Harris from the 1963 team, via graduation, and Ron Ramseur, who now is in the armed forces.

DUNBAR OPENS her campaign Tuesday in a non-league game against Dundalk at Dunbar.

Douglass and Carver will await the MSA calendar's starting date of Dec. 15. The latter will debut against the Poets at Dunbar on the 15th, and the Ducks will journey to Patterson Park, Dec. 18th, for their opener.

Ignored schoolboys in annual spotlight tonite

The 25th Unsung Hero Awards banquet will be held this evening—(Friday) at the waterfront headquarters of McCormick and Company.

This annual affair is designed to pay tribute to players whose names rarely young high school football make the limelight because they do not play positions which command attention.

INCLUDED AMONG THE candidates for the top "unsung" citation is a youthful center who played the first three games of the past Maryland Scholastic Association season with stitches in his hand. He is Roland Nicholson of Douglass High School.

Coach Roy Cragway's recommendation carries with it an admission that Douglass "would have been in real trouble" were it not for the couage of Nicholson.

DUNBAR HIGH coach Sugar Cain says of the Poet candidate, co-captain and right guard Irvin Chester: "He is a highly deserving youngster who did a fine job for us throughout his football life at Dunbar."

Carver High athletic director Lloyd (Sodie) White disclosed that the Cub's nominee is Robert Herndon, his quarterback. "The other kids received most of the attention," he says, "but we were given a big lift by Herndon's drive and enthusiasm."

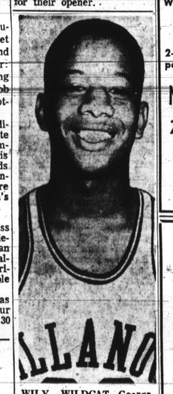
THE PRINCIPAL address of the evening will be delivered by third baseman Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles, the American League's most valuable player of 1964.

A telecast of the event has been scheduled for the hour between 8:30 and 9:30 p.m. - LACY.



ALLANO

WILY WILDCAT—George Leftwich, clever backcourt star from Washington's (DC) John Carroll High School, leads Villanova five into Civic Center next Thursday night against American University. Game will mark opening of 6-game collegiate series to be staged 1 nBaltimore this winter.

Hot Clippers back home tomorrow

Baltimore's revamped Clippers, winners of 5 of their last eight starts, face another key week-end of American Hockey League action when they travel to Springfield tonight (Friday) to engage the third-place Indians, and entertain the Eastern division leading Quebec Aces at Civic Center tomorrow (Saturday) night at 8:30 o'clock.

The Clippers appear to have shaken the shackles of a bad start as evidenced by their recent play in which they gained a 3-all tie with Pittsburgh and followed that effort with a fine 2-1 victory over the Barons in Cleveland last Saturday.

Only a 6-3 pasting by the red-hot Hershey Bears here Thanksgiving Night served to toss a wet blanket on an otherwise profitable week-end.

MUSICAL MOMENTS

Douglas Community choirs combine to give Kennedy Memorial Concert

By ADAH K. JENKINS

The joyous hope and moving solemnity of Brahms' "German Requiem" highlighted the Kennedy Memorial concert given by the combined choirs of Douglass Memorial Community Church.

Under the challenging direction of J. Spencer Hammond, minister of music, the ensemble gave an uncommonly well-trained rendition of excerpts from this difficult work.

Unlike most requiem masses, which use the Latin text and follow the Catholic liturgy, the Brahms mass is Protestant, with text taken from the Old and New Testaments.

Settings of three Psalms by Schuetz, done with excellent diction and a modern work, "Build Thee More Stately Mansions" (Gordon Young) had a stirring vitality.

The well-known "O Lord Most Holy," Franck's "Panis Angelicus" afforded a rewarding soprano solo, with properly balanced choral support.

A welcome innovation was the use of a hymn "For All the Saints," in which the congregation joined the choir. With Donald King, as guest organist, accompaniments of superior quality were provided.

The eulogy was delivered by the pastor, Rev. Marion C. Bascom.

GUNTHER SCHULLER, contemporary composer, guest speaker at the opening concert of the annuals series sponsored by the Baltimore Chamber Music Society at the Museum of Art.

His many activities, ranging from performances with the Modern Jazz Quartet to French horn playing in several symphonies, are reflected in his composition "Quartet No. 1," which was played by the Jazz Quartet.

The players, who have been in residence at Tanglewood and at Princeton were accorded enthusiastic approval of their interpretation of the Mozart Quartet K. 575 and a highly dramatic reading of the Brahms Quartet in C minor.

John Mehegan, leading exponent of jazz improvisation, gave a lecture - demonstration at the Peabody, under the auspices of the Baltimore Music Teachers Association.

Combining orthodox major and minor harmony, with Greek modes, Mr. Mehegan illustrated his system with blackboard tables. Mrs. Mehegan joined him in a two-piano demonstration of improvisation.

Robert Fields, president of the sponsoring group, is continuing the study at the December meeting of the association.

Hospital worker cited for 50 years service

NEPTUNE, N.J. — The Fitkin Memorial Hospital held a reception in the Ford Auditorium recently to honor of Ashby Wiltshire, laundry manager, who will retire this month after 50 years of service as a hospital employee.

J. Marshall Booker, chairman of the board of governors, greeted Mr. Wiltshire at a program preceding the luncheon reception. David V. Carter, Hospital Administrator, introduced the members of Mr. Wiltshire's family who were invited guests, and presented him with a 50 - year pin.

Mrs. Walter Steinbach, first vice-president, presented a gift from the board of governors, and Dr. Harry R. Brindle, Chief of the Fitkin Medical Staff, made a presentation from the staff.

Mrs. John R. Rosa, member of the board of governors, was chairman of the reception committee assisted by Mrs. J. Marshall Booker, Mrs. David V. Carter, Mrs. Chester A. Gibson, Mrs. E. Melvin Goddard, and Mrs. Harold A. Steiner.

MR. WILTSHIRE resides at 530 Prospect Ave., Asbury Park; his wife, Blonnie, teaches school in Tinton Falls. Mr. Wiltshire was born in Barbados, British West Indies; he went to Trinidad at an early age and from there to the Panama Canal Zone where he worked as a commissary clerk. In 1910 he came to the United States and started out by making his mark in show business.

In 1914 Mr. Wiltshire began work at the Ann May Hospital in Spring Lake, which is where the present Fitkin Memorial Hospital in Neptune was formerly located. Mr. Wiltshire returned to Ann May in November 1917 after three years in a federal job and he has been employed by this hospital since that time.

Members of Mr. Wiltshire's family present to wish him well were his wife, Blonnie; his daughters, Miss Barbara Wiltshire and Mrs. Albert Wade; his son, Dr. Joseph Wiltshire of Lake Wales, Florida, who flew to New Jersey for the occasion; a brother, Fred Wiltshire of Asbury Park; and a sister, Mrs. Helena Roach of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Start building Ghana plant for aluminum

ACCRA, Ghana — Work on site preparation for the construction of the Volta dam smelter scheme near the Ghaip Refinery at Tema is "progressing satisfactorily," the Ghana government announced.

Some 200,000 cubic yards of earth have been excavated, leaving about 800,000 cubic yards yet to be removed before the sub - contract is completed early next year. A temporary single access road to the smelter site is nearing completion.

The Volta Dam Project, costing about $2,000,000, is said to be 75 per cent complete.

Three flee after robbing cabbie

Three bandits are being sought by police in connection with the early-morning holdup stabbing of a taxi driver Sunday.

The driver, Nathaniel Connor, 28, of 1246 Girard St. NW, was treated at George Washington Hospital for stab wounds in the back. His condition is satisfactory.

Police reported that shortly after 2 a.m. the victim picked up thethree men at New Hampshire Ave. and Upshur St., NW and was told to take them to 13th and N Sts., NW.

One of the thieves drew a revolver and ordered the driver to get into the rear seat as the others took 10 in bills.

When the driver told the bandits he had no more money, one of the hoodlums drove the cab to an alley in the 1500 block of P St., NE where the victim was ordered to take off all his clothes. The thieves stabbed Mr. Connor and fled on foot.

An unidentified passer-by called police who found the driver in his cab, police said.

The bandits were (1) 20-22 years, six feet, with a process, and wearing a light colored jacket, known as "Bill"; (2) shorter than no. 1; and (3) no description.

parole and told Judge Grady he refused to be released earlier because "I felt I was not ready."

Now the prisoner feels he is ready.

"It is difficult to explain in view of my record, but I am sure I am ready to face my future and free society. I don't feel this - I know it," he told Mr. Allen and Judge Grady during cross examination.

SINCE HIS confinement, McGowan has written 250 songs, according to Mrs. Feldman. Two of them were recorded two weeks ago and are scheduled to be released Jan 1.

"No Sympathy," and "How Will I Know?" are the songs recorded by McGowan and four inmates. They call themselves the "Wayward Sons"

They are:

Russell Quarles, 35, John Madison, 23, Archie Shaw, 35, James Richardson, guitarist, 39.

In February. A recent series of fainting spells forced her to rest during the first term, but doctors say she is now fit.

The large family of seven children, including a pair of three - year - old twins, Gale and Garland, celebrated a particularly happy Thanksgiving as the burning of their mortgage was set for the next day.

"The minister at Mt. Ararat scheduled it for a Friday night, so the little ones could stay up late," Mrs. King said.

THE OLDEST of the King's children seems to be following in the footsteps of his father, a merchant seaman who is now on a trip around the world. James, 18, is a member of the naval reserve.

William, 12, Mercia, 8, and Adrianne, 5, make up the rest of the family.

Asked her major ambition, Susan, who has inherited some of her father's love of travel, stated that it is "to go to New York."

Quite a step for a girl who was given only six weeks to live 11 years ago.

Port St., had submitted a writ of habeas corpus in which he contends he fatally shot William Johnson while "defending his life."

The writ refers to Johnson as "... a known racketer" and says that Young did not fire his revolver until he was shot himself in the shoulder and temple, by the deceased.

Young, who is also known as "Chipmonk," was indicted Monday by the grand jury.

Johnson of the 1400 block Myrtle St., was found slumped by his 1963 Cadillac early Saturday. Police said the shooting occurred during a period when the dock was crowded as stevedores changed shifts.
