Fashion taboo

JAKARTA, Indonesia (NPI)—Tight skirts and beehive - like hairdos are taboo in Indonesia, and those who fly into the face of the government ban on such fashion fads are liable to arrest. According to the government, the ban is in the "interest of protecting our own national identity."

About this and that . . .

Among the newest teams developed by U.S. Department of Agriculture scientists are powdered strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, and boysenberries.

Whil still experimental, these products — designed to cut kitchen preparation time for homemakers, restaurants and institutions — may eventually appear on retail markets in pastry and beverage mixes, or as "instant puree" for making quick sauces, dessert toppings, jams, and milk shakes.

Other new nood form, courtesy USDA, which you may find on grocery shelves before in long are: frozen concentrated apple juice, sweet potato flakes, powdered pumpkin, quick-cooking dehydrated apple pieces for pies or applesauce.

Also instant applesauce; dry whole milk; and extrusion-puffed dried fruits and vegetables that require no refrigerated storage, cook quickly, and taste like they're fresh.

KEEP KITCHEN plumbing clear with this once a week treatent: pour three tablespoons of sal soda concentrated down the drain and run hot water until granules dissolve.

• • •

PLASTIC SHOWER curtains, toaster and mixing bowl covers are freshend and cleaned quickly by swishing them around in a solution of three tablespoons of sal soda concentrated to one gallon of warm water.

• • •

TO REMOVE fingerprint smudges from light switch plates and woodwork, sponge area with a solution of three tablespoons of sal soda concentrated and a pinch of detergent in one quart of warm water. Rinse with fresh water.

TURKEY will be on the menu of youngsters getting their lunch at school under the National School lunch Program some 14 times this year.

To make this possible, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has bought a record 60,775,000 pounds of turkeys and donated it to the lunch program.

The turkeys are all fresh-frozen, Federally - inspected, U.S. Grade A young birds.

They were bought to meet the program's protein requirement for lunches served.

Some 17 million children will down the turkey lunches this year.

Best ways to clean and preserve your upholstery

By MARGERTY McELHINN
United Press International

All upholstery fabrics are cleanable if the colors do not bleed and if the fabric does not shrink excessively.

Zippers on cushions are not an indication that covers can be removed and washed or dry cleaned.

To guard against shrinkage, do not remove covers but have them cleaned in the same manner as the rest of the upholstery.

• • •

THE NATIONAL Association of Furniture Manufacturers, Inc., recommends these steps to prolong the life of upholstered furniture —Blush your furniture thoroughly, then vacuum once a week Reverse cushions.

—Avoid lengthy exposure to direct sunlight, which will fade any fabric.

• • •

PILE FABRICS

Pre - test a small part of the fabric for color fastness. If it is color fast, clean by sponging with a cloth dipped in a solution of detergent and warm water.

Then wipe lightly with a cloth dampened with warm water.

Brush the surface in the direction of the nap to return it to upright position.

FLAT FABRICS

—Flat fabrics do not use soap and water but do go over them lightly with a cloth dampened with carbon tetrachloride.

—Many spots are hard to remove if allowed to "set," so prompt action is important. Large and unusual stains should be treated by a reputable professional cleaning service.

—Use only warm water since hot water often sets stains permanently.

—Never soak a fabric when cleaning it. Surface sponge it lightly with wrung out sponge.

—Do not use water on flat fabrics or rayon fabrics since they are susceptible to shrinkage and color bleeding.

—Always use a clean, absorbent soft cloth. Work carefully from the edges of the spot toward the center to avoid enlargint the stain.

• • •

BLOTTING BEST

Where practical, a blotting action is preferable to a rubbing technique for stain removal.

If necessary, rub lightly or "pat" with a clean turkish towel, but avoid harsh rubbing.

—Fast drying helps prevent rings. All treated areas requiring a drying period should be dusted with talcum powder, then vacuumed after thoroughly dry.

—Carbon tetrachloride is harmful to foam rubber padding. Always use it lightly only on the surface of fabrics.

• • •

WATER DETERGENT solutions are effective in removing general soil from upholstered furniture, but if colors are not fast, water solvent cleaners must be used.

—Metalized yarns used decoratively in fabrics will not affect the cleanability characters of the fabrics. However, the metallic yarns will be attacked by strong acids, alkalies and ammonia.

You may use synthetic detergent or dry cleaning solvent but, as a precaution, pre-test on the metallic filaments.

—Do not use household cleaners that contain an oily, soil attracting residue since this will result in rapid soiling after the spot has been removed.

New look for furniture

Furniture gets a face-lifting with "cosmetics" designed especially for the job — a liquid cleaner, wax remover and treated "stubborn stain remover" cloth. Used together, these products eliminate the sticky build-ups of old wax and polish and remove paint specks, nail polish, ink, etc. from fine wood finishes.

—NEW STORY

Beef stew, dumplings

OLD-FASHIONED and GOOD is the beef stew with dumplings, easy to make and tasty too!

Seems all of us enjoy tasting "fancy" foods once in a while, and certainly it's fun for you homemakers to experiment with new and unusual recipes. But for day-in, day-out eating, nothing beats old fashioned dishes.

When cool winds blow, Beef Stew with Dumplings, for instance, is almost as satisfying to the spirit as it is to the tummy.

This homey, fragrant main dish is liked by almost everyone, and, even when time is short, "convenience" foods make it possible to have stew and dumplings in almost no time.

Enriched self-rising flour in the dumplings makes their prepartion especially quick.

Because the correct amounts of leavening and salt are already blended in, there are no extra measuring and sifting steps.

Just add milk to self-rising flour, stir and use to top canned beef stew. If you prefer and time is no object prepare your favorite beef stew recipe and top with dumplings 20 minutes before serving.

Hearty, long-simmered stews and other such dishes take so nicely to dumplings or other hot bread toppings.

There's a nutritional addition, too — the special bonus of three B-vitamins thiamine, niacin, and riboflavin and the minerals iron and calcium, inherent in any baked product prepared from enriched self-rising flour.

BEEF STEW WITH DUMPLINGS

4 to 6 servings

2 cans (1 lb., 4 oz. each) beef stew — 1½ cups sifted enriched self-rising flour — 2/3 to ¾ cup milk

In heavy saucepan or Dutch oven heat stew until simmering. Meanwhile, into medium-sized bowl measure flour. Stir in enough milk to make a stiff batter.

Drop batter by rounded tablespoonful into simmering sew. Simmer uncovered 10 minutes, then cover tightly and simmer an additional 10 minutes. Serve immediately.

*If you don't sift and in the absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from container into a one-cup dry measure, level off, then remove two level tablespoonfuls, recommendations.

This chicken recipe has Oriental name

If Chinese - style dishes happen to be your choice, you'll be able to give a new look and flavor to chicken leftovers with CHOP SUEY — a strictly American dish despite its Oriental name.

To prepare, cut cooked chicken meat into thin julienne strips, and saute with thin julienne strips of pork in a heavy skillet.

Add thin-sliced celery strips, chicken broth or water, soy sauce, sugar and salt. Cover and cook until the celery is tender but still crisp.

• • •

THICKEN the cooking liquid with cornstarch, the secret to the translucent, full-bodied sauce needed for Chop Suey.

To make the sauce, prepare a smooth paste of cornstarch and water, and stir into the cooking liquid.

Simmer gently until it reaches desired consistency.

Then add sliced water chestnuts and bamboo shoots.

Continue cooking, covered, until the Chop Suey is hot and bubbly.

Serve on crisp fried noodles or fluffy rice. For an extra treat sprinkle almonds over each serving.

Join Santa in skin game, give leather for Christmas

Crafty Santa Claus will play the skin game this Christmas. To the delight of ladies all over the land, Santa's pack will bulge with soft, supple leather coats, jackets, dresses and other leather garments.

For that important gift she will love and lean on for seasons to come, Santa knows there's nothing as smart and satisfying as a leather apparel. Delectable dresses, coats, suits and separates are available at every price level, reports Leather Industries of America, in a stunning range of colors and textures.

Handsome smooth and grained leathers, downy suedes, and exciting embossed and printed leathers will bring verve and variety to her wardrobe.

• • •

IF SHE'S FRANKLY feminine through and through, she'll treasure one of the new softly styled leather suits or dresses. Body-draping suedes and stunning grained leathers — some with flattering touches of fur, jewels or embroidery — make up trim jacket - and skirt combinations and lovely dresses, any one of which will make her the envy of her family and friends.

Warm but wonderfully lightweight, a new leather coat will please any woman —though her career be family, business, or both. Whether the line is string-straight, A's or gently fitted, these coats wear "easy" and look elegant. Many feature fur collars which can be detached for a more casual look.

Other fashion features include quilting — particularly effective on suedes, side closings and the "wrap around" look. Zip-out shearling (wool - on - leather) linings are a natural in coats for colder climes and times, mid-winter weather.

Other leather separates bringing zip and zest to Santa's sleighful of goodies are leather stoles, skirts, blouses, pants, jumpers and tunics. Each will accessorize with other wardrobe items to create a dozen new and exciting fashion effects.

Whatever the garment, Santa knows she'll gain good wear as well as good looks with leather. The newest suedes need only occasional dry cleaning, while grained leathers come clean with the wipe of a damp cloth.

DIVERSITY DELUXE is the gift you give with a leather jacket, blazer, bolero, overblouse or other. Leather jackets team tastefully with skirts, dresses, pants and shorts — and as with coats, may come lavishly lined with shearling or fur for protection against

Mincemeat Pie

Apple Mincemeat Pie — the perfect ending for your Thanksgiving dinner! The rich filling is moist and flavorful because it's made with double-rich Carnation Evaporated Milk.

• • •

APPLE MINCEMEAT PIE requires pastry for two crust 8-inch pie; 1½ cup mincemeat, 1¼ cups diced peeled baking apples, ½ cup seedless raisins, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon ground cardamomn, 2/3 cup (small can) undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk.

Line 8-inch pie plate with bottom pastry crust; roll out top crust. Combine mincemeat, apples, raisins and lemon juice. Coat with mixture of cornstarch, sugar, cinnamon, salt and cardamom. Add Carnation. Stir until well blended.

Spoon into lined 8-inch pie plate. Top with crust. With tip of knife, make steam vent in top crust. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 40 minutes. Serve warm.
