Family Pot Luck

BY HELEN HALE

APPETITES ARE SHARP

It's that time of year again when appetites are sharpened and the hale and hearty in foods needs to be accented. Start out with a pot roast, oven-braised or surface-braised with cider as the cooking liquid.

While the roast cooks, remember that we've a plentiful apple crop and nothing will taste better than apples stuffed with mincemeat, lemon rind and brown sugar before baking.

Want a kitchen type barbecue that's spooned onto buns?

Creamy French Dressing
(Makes 1¼ cups)

1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard
4 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons catsup
¼ cup undiluted evaporated milk
½ cup oil
2 tablespoons vinegar

Measure all ingredients into mixing bowl, except vinegar. Beat with rotary beater until smooth and blended. Add vinegar all at once and beat until mixed. Dressing will be creamy and thick. Store in covered jar; refrigerate.

Break up ground beef with a potato masher and cook with onion, then add to barbecue sauce and let simmer gently for 20 to 30 minutes. Serve

Use a mat

WASHINGTON — To help preserve the appearance and life of your carpeting the National Institute of Rug Cleaning advises that you use a mat in front of all outside entrances to your home.

A good door mat, if used, will greatly reduce the sand and gritty type dirt which can shorten the life of your rug or carpet considerably. Soil and wear are generally noticeable in heavy travel areas such as an entra way, and a good mat will help to reduce this problem.

Blind workers air complaints

By ROGER J. NISSLY

"Would you say that the situation is a master-slave relationship?"

A unanimous chorus of "yesse" in reply to the question echoed from the 25 members of the Maryland Workshop for the Blind who had come to air their grievances at Walbrook Trinity Presbyterian Church Wednesday night.

The Rev. Thomas P. Fraser, who is studying the problems at the workshop for the Interdenominational Ministers Alliance, extended the invitation so that he could secure information for his meeting with the representatives of national and federal blind agencies on Friday (today).

Unearthed during the Wednesday session with members from all the operations at the shop—the sewing room, the mop shop, the broom shop, the medical department and the casing department—

School cafeteria pay unrest grows

More school cafeteria workers have added their voices to the protests already raised against low salaries paid them in Baltimore public schools.

These low income workers, not covered by federal law, are also excluded from protections afforded by the recently adopted $1 per hour minimum wage ordinance in the city.

Many of these employees receive less than $1 an hour and their plight has led to a call to Mayor McKeldin to investigate the situation.

The request was made by Tony Bradley, president of the Baltimore Chapter of the Negro American Labor Council.

* * *

ONE EMPLOYEE, who works an 8-hour day, indicates a gross pay of $68.24 for 80 hours. Take home pay, after deductions, amounts to $61.75.

Out of this amount the worker states, "I am required to wear white uniforms and white shoes.

Discrimination seen in elections set-up

By MAX JOHNSON
AFRO Political Analyst

"The personnel structure of the Board itself represents the greatest type of discrimination."

Arthur W. Sherwood, Republican minority member, Board of Supervisors of Elections emphasized this to the AFRO Wednesday, confirming his view against the operation of his agency.

Mr. Sherwood recited political circles Monday with sharp charges of irregularities and inefficiencies in the operation of the city's Supervisors of Elections.

He wants the whole thing put either under the Civil Service or state merit system, to insure qualified employees. They are now strictly political appointees.

Jobs Corps recruiting now; apply at City Hall

The nation has its eye on Baltimore.

The city has been chosen by the Office of Economic Opportunity to conduct a pilot program of recruit young men and women for the Job Corps.

The corps is part of the new national anti-poverty program under the direction of Sargent Shriver.

From its offices in City Hall, the Mayor's Youth Services Agency is directing a city-wide campaign designed to recruit young people between the ages of 16 and 21 who are out of school and cannot find work.

The Baltimore experience will be used to develop methods for Job Corps recruitment in other areas throughout the nation.

* * *

THE JOB Corps program here is under the direction of Mrs. Marion T. Pines and her offices will be receiving applicants daily.

Youngsters interested in applying can visit Room 419, City Hall, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Application cards also are available at neighborhood centers, State employment offices, housing projects and various social agencies.

Principal aim of the Job Corps is to help young
