MUSICAL MOMENTS

Some interesting musical resolutions for New Year

By ADAH K. JENKINS

A New Year dawns and resolution time rolls 'round once more.

Several valued friends confided to us their special resolves, with permission to make them public:

Resolved in 1965: To no longer be puzzled or mystified over so-called classical music - opera, oratorios, symphony, chamber music, etc.

To no longer leave the delights of this music to professional musicians, who make their living dealing with such;

To take advantage of the new open - door in every local music hall, auditorium, college, university, community center and church dispensing this kind of music.

To join the ever-growing number of citizens from all walks of life the local live performances of the world's best music.

To this we add "Amen", with fervor.

* * *

THE SEASON would not be complete without contributions of the performing arts in our colleges, secondary and elementary schools, as well as various community centers.

At the annual holiday program of School No. 91, Gwynns Falls Parkway Junior High School, the Girls Chorus and Boys Glee Club were featured, under the direction of Robert Earl Anderson, instructor of music.

The successful performance of the two ensembles, which were organized this fall, led to a special invitation to be guest performers at the Hilton Recreation Christmas Community program, which was held at the school last Friday evening.

Also programmed were cadet drills by boys and girls, Yuletide dances by the Modern Dance Group and a dramatic skit, directed by Mrs. Marie W. Garner, with Peggy Jones, as narrator.

Estelle Searcy give an interpretive dance, after which Mr. Anderson led the audience and participants in a community sing.

The program was sponsored by the Bureau of Recreation.

An unusual production was given at Coppin State Teachers College, where four groups presented "Who Made the Bells Ring", a musical mystery play by Henry N. Freeman, head of the music department.

With an impressive church setting, flowing vestment, and medieval costumes the legend was staged effectively.

Coppin Choir conducted by Mr. Freeman, sang with taste and a vital rhythmic quality. A number of less familiar Christmas works. An appealing "Christmas Lullaby," composed by Earl Matthews, of the freshman class, was included.

The well known carols and Yuletide anthems were sung by the Women's Chorus and Ensemble. Featured soloists were Linda Johnson, Carol Jones sopranos and Dianne Simmons, contralto.

A vivacious interpretation of "Deck the Hall" was done by the Coppin Dancers, with choreography of Miss Jerlyn Manuel.

Guilbert A. Daley was in charge of the Coppin Players, who were responsible for the dramatic roles of the mystery play.

Excellent accompaniments were supplied by Donna Blackwell, of the freshman class, who is taking the place of Frances Hilgul, now a graduate.

Students of Mrs. Josephine Turner were presented in recital by the Sisterhood Club of Gospel Tabernacle Baptist Church in a pre - holiday festival.

Fannie Newton, well known soprano, was guest soloist, in two arias dedicated to the memory of the Rev. William Tapscott and Prof. Herman Schwarz.

Other vocalists from the student group were Delores Connor, Lydia Starks, Sadie Duff and Bertie Bell. A group listed as "The Unknowns" opened the program with a Bach Chorale.

Piano students performing were: Gregory Turner, Lovell Connor, Iiona Sheffey, Sally Cobb, Sharie Chase, Karen Turner, Darlene Smith, Michael Smith, Okeema Watson, Denise Nickens, Marietta Palmer, David Davenport, Charles Watson, Roslayn Sands, Philip Gathers and Rodney Adams.

Social Security notes

Your Social Security Office maintains a supply of pamphlets that explain the Social Security Program. There are at least 75 different pamphlets that you can choose from to answer questions you may have in your mind about social security and how it has to do your home or life.

Some of the pamphlets are of a general nature, but most are at specific parts of the program. One of our most popular booklets is OASI-35, "Your Social Security."

Another pamphlet that gives general type of information is OASI-30, "Social Security Benefits—How you earn benefits—How much Credit You Need—How to Estimate the Amount" and covers in a clear way what most people ask about social security credits and benefit amounts and such.

* * *

NOW A COUPLE of publication on the disability part of social security—OASI-29, "If You Become Disabled" and the OASI-29d, "How Disabled Must You Be?" These give the story about the disability program and outline the requirements disabled people have to meet in order to qualify.

Then there's the retirement test. That means how much you can work and still get benefits after you reach retirement age. Very pertinent in this area are the OASI-23, "If Your Work While You Get Social Security Benefits" and the OASI-23c, "You Don't Have to Retire Completely to Get Social Security Benefits."

Household workers and their employers will find out a lot of what they need to know in our publications. The OASI-21, "Social Security and Your Household Employee" tells what employers should know. This has a cut-out post card that a householder can send in to Internal Revenue to start the proper tax form coming to them. Then OASI-24, "Good News for Household Workers" explains how the law affects persons who work employed in private homes.

There are many other sort of specialized booklets that are at your Social Security Office. Why don't you visit yours, or easier still, call them up and ask for a pamphlet that will suit your needs. They are always for the asking.

King raps peace role of religious leaders

NEW YORK—(UPI) Nobel Peace prize winner Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. believes that world religious leaders have paid little more than lip - service to "peace on earth."

King made the charge in an interview in redbook magazine.

"Religion at its best," he said always ought to promote peace and goodwill among men.

"The problem has been that these noble creeds and ethical insights of the great religions have not been followed by the adherents of the particular religions, and we must face the shameful fact that all too many religious people have been religious in their creeds — but not enough in their deeds."

KING SAID that if "Peace on Earth" is to come about, the leaders have "got to rise to the level of not fighting among themselves."

"I have felt all along that if religion —and this includes all religions — would talk a real stand against war and go all - out for peace and brotherhood, then we would be further along the way in bringing these into reality," he said.

SOUTH BALTIMORE NOTES

By WALTER W. E. HILL

May we extend our congratulations to the Rev. Roland Johnson who received the voice of the people of Bethany Baptist Church in electing him as pastor for the ensuing year.

The Civic Interest Group of Mt. Winans at their last meeting elected Warren Brown as chairman of the program committee.

Plans are underway for some fine entertainment during the month of January.

Mrs. Mary Wise was selected chairman of the constitution and by-laws committee.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS are extended to the Rev. W. K. Woods, Jan. 2; Miss Deborah Scott, Jan. 3; Mrs. Mable Fletcher, Jan. 3; Miss Yvonne Harrison, Jan. 5; Miss India Montgomery, Jan. 6; Mrs. Ruth Johnson, Jan. 8 and Mrs. Mamie V. Hill, Jan. 10.

Our heartfelt wishes are sent to Mrs. Edna Mecklins for a speedy recovery during her illness.

The writer and those responsible for your reading pleasure, wish you a Very Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Haven't tried Smirnoff—where have you been?
Smirnoff invented a whole new way to drink: Screwdrivers that taste like orange juice. Gimlets like lime juice. Highballs like your favorite soft drink. Filtered through 14,000 pounds of activated charcoal, Smirnoff is remarkably free of taste and odor—mixes perfectly with anything that pours.
It leaves you breathless.
Always ask for Smirnoff VODKA
SMIRNOFF SCREWDRIVER Pour a jigger of Smirnoff Vodka over ice in a glass. Fill with orange juice - stir.
