Carver grapplers loom as strong title threat

A slow start involving loss of their opening match, is expected to be overcome by Carver High School wrestlers, whose coach, Charlie Robinson, is sure "we'll come around in time."

The promise by the Cub mentor takes the form of a legitimate threat rather than a propaganda gesture because his explanation bears a lot of logic.

"Most of our boys hold part - time jobs," Robinson points out, "and it is only natural that it takes us a little time to get organized. But we'll come around in time to make a real race of it."

THE CUBS loom as a distinct MSA title threat what with six holdovers returning from last year. They bowed to Poly by two points in their opener, 18 - 16, but the Engineers are always considered tough.

Once they "come around," as Robbie promises they will, the Carver youngsters figure to make a strong bid around the likes of Ron and Don Small, Joe Scott and Frank Watkins.

Frank is unbeaten in his last 7 conference matches and appears to be in for another campaign.

Duck tankers show balance

Although they are already down in the loss column and are taking on the defending champions this afternoon (Friday), the Douglass High School varsity swimmers are thinking in terms of a big tank season in the weeks ahead.

"We had a winning season last year," coach Marsden Rawlings told the AFRO on the eve of his clash with titleholder Edmondson (Friday) at Edmondson.

"There were only six meets in 1963, and this year twice that number are scheduled, meaning we swim each opponent on a home - and - away basis.

• • •

"I AM rather pleased at the fact that we have very good balance this year. Where gaps existed last winter, some promising youngsters have come along to eliminate them. For that reason, I think we should be as good as last year, if not better.

"We lost Robert Coleman, our breast stroker, who's now at Morgan. And we lost our back stroker, Edward Clark, from the 1964 squad. But we have two freshmen who could fill in beautifully.

"Stewart Brooks, son of the Morgan swimming coach, and Frank Lansey have shown fine form. Brooks is handling the individual medley assignment and Lansey looks as though he will be a capable replacement for Clark."

• • •

THE DUCKS hope to fill Coleman's slot with Harvey Lee, who excelled abreast stroker with the Douglass Junior varsity last year.

"We lost our opener to Forest Park a week ago," declared Rawlings, "but we made mistakes I hope we will be able to correct" — LACY.

Morgan applauds pair back from pro grid war

Morgan State College doffed its Baltimore official hat to two returning football heroes on Wednesday in the Carl Murphy Auditorium.

Leroy Kelly and Oliver Dobbins, halfback running mates of the championship 1962 and runner-up 1963 elevens, were tendered a warm welcome by their former coaches and schoolmates following fine freshman seasons with title-winning professional teams.

Kelly was a member of the National Football League champion Cleveland Browns and Dobbins played with the Bills of the American Football League.

COACH EARL BANKS expressed pride in their performance and admitted that he had considerable doubts that Dobbins would make it with the pros.

"This young man," the rotund Bear mentor beamed, "is a self-made athlete. He had to prove to me and to himself, I'm sure, that he could become a success through sheer grit and determination."

Banks asserted that he and Colts' scout Buddy Young were convinced that Kelly could become a professional player if he applied himself. "I'm proud of the fact that I have been associated with them," Earl declared.

YOUNG who spoke briefly in advance of the introductions and later conducted an impromptu interview with the two athletes, feigned indignation at the fact that he had recommended Kelly to the Browns, the team which was destined to whip the Colts for the NFL title.

"If I had any idea that we would be in Cleveland on December 27," Young said, "I would have told the Browns that Leroy Kelly was the biggest bum I ever saw in a college uniform, when they asked me about him."

• • •

ATHLETIC director Eddie Hurt added his congratulations to Kelly and Dobbins.

These young men, he said, have helped to add to the prestige of Morgan State College throughout the world.

As in the cases of Josh Culbreath and George Rhoden, Hurt declared, athletes and gentlemen like Kelly and Dobbins spread Morgan's fame to whatever point on the globe one may choose to go.

It is this realization, the director pointed out to freshman members of the student body, that should "make you understand that you have chosen a school that is as well known as any institution in the United States, regardless of size."

NEW YORK — Billy Eckstine was warmly received by ringsiders at the plush Royal Box of the Americana Hotel Tuesday night, when he made his first appearance of a 3-week engagement a day late.

Shortly after his initial show, the singer was signed to a guest spot on the Ed Sullivan Show, slated for Sunday evening.

Meanwhile, New York police are investigating Eckstine's report that he was prevented from making his scheduled Monday night bow at the Americana, when he was waylaid by 3 unidentified men who yoked him, took $600 and left him drugged in a Harlem Park

Three Baltimore Bullet basketball stars will speak up for the Job Corps at a youth meeting in the O'Donnell Heights Recreation Center at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Jan. 11.

The Bullets, Si Green, Bailey Howell and Don Ohl, are won a program which also features a film on the corps and a question - and - answer session conducted by local Job Corps officials.

The meeting will be under the direction of Mrs. Catherine Smith, recreation leader.

The center is at O'Donnell Avenue and Garryan Street.

THE JOB CORPS offers youngsters from 18 to 21 who are out of school and cannot find work a chance to attend centers throughout the nation where they will receive basic education, vocational training and work experience.

The program is designed to equip them to find and hold good jobs, return to school or enter the military service.
