SENATOR VERDA WELCOME — MRS. CORA HENDERSON — MRS. LENA K. LEE — MRS. DORIS TUGGLE — MRS. VICTORINE ADAMS

LOVELY ARE THE LADIES AND THE GOWNS to be seen at the Inaugural festivities beginning tomorrow (Saturday) in the nation's capital and extending through Wednesday night. Above are some of the Baltimoreans invited to attend the banquets, balls and other state affairs. They agreed to pose for the AFRO photographer. Senator Verda Welcome wears a gown which has a Roosevelt blue sequin top, a white slim, pencil-line skirt of satin, white satin slippers, and long white satin gloves. Her earrings are long rhinestones. Mrs. Cora Henderson is shown in a nile green chiffon sheath. The collar is criss-crossed to the waist. The skirt has a slit pleat in the back. Her accessories are rhinestone necklace and earrings, white gloves and orchid corsage. Mrs. Lena K. Lee's off-shoulder Empire frock is soft, petal pink with matching gloves and slippers. Mrs. Doris Tuggle wears a predominately violet antique Chinese print with gold accessories. Mrs. Victorine Adams selected a simple black gown that is set off by the exquisite braid of the blouse and the thin black satin sash. Her purse, earrings and slippers are designed with brilliants.

They're off to the Democratic parties

By Lula Jones Garrett

Democratic women who will serve as hostesses at the "Distinguished Ladies Reception" in the National Art Gallery (including our own Victorine Adams) held a dress rehearsal, Tuesday.

The reception on Monday will be the first official event of Inaugural festivities.

The hostesses were coached on essentials ranging from what to wear (street dress, comfortable shoes) to how to handle guests reluctant to leave after being introduced to the First Lady and to Mrs. Hubert Humphrey.

A hostess will be stationed just beyond Mrs. Johnson in the receiving line near the fountain in the center of the building She'll shake hands with the guest, say "would you care to see the gallery?" and find herself drawn beyond the receiving line and headed toward an exit.

Among the "distinguished ladies" to be honored at this affair will be Senator Verda Welcome and Mrs. Martin D. Jenkins, wife of the President of Morgan State College.

The 7000 or more guests will be admitted by tickets through three Constitution Avenue doors to the ground floor of the Hugh Gallery and directed by military aides to four receiving lines on the floor above. Guests will not be encouraged to check wraps, though a check room will be provided. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Humphrey will take turns in the various receiving lines, but the location of the two stars will not be announced at any time. The lines, too, will be changed at intervals.

Congressman Dawson's will be one of the first less formal parties to issue in the festivities. He will have a reception and cocktails in the Grammercy Inn on Sunday evening. And of course, many localites will be going to the Governor's Reception, at the Sheraton Park Hotel on Tuesday evening. One expected who will not be in attendance is Mrs. Irma Dixon, who has been incapacitated following an automobile accident which seemed so minor at the time that she thought nothing of it. But among other expected at the scene are Mrs. Lena K. Lee, Mrs. Ethel Rich, Mrs. Cora Henderson, Mrs. Doris Tuggle, Mrs. Ethel Daniels, Miss Gladys Barber, Mrs. Ethel Clay, Mrs. Otelia Bullock, Mrs. Gertude Venerable, Mrs. Clarence Mitchell Jr. and Mrs. Clarence Mitchell 3rd.

THAT WAS A GALA affair that provided fun, relaxation and concentration when Anethia Williams hosted The Guest Club at Castle Motor Inn on Saturday afternoon.

Guests shared two sections of the Inn for the affair. They had a delectable luncheon in a private dining room . . . went on to the lovely red carpeted atmosphere of the cocktail lounge for cards.

Eleanor Anderson, suave in a shrimp colored silk crepe suit, with matching accessories and hat, received guests at the upper level of the Inn. Mrs. Williams, greeting her guests and club members on the lower level was a picture in a canary yellow knit suit and black accessories. Her chapeau was a cluster of tiny ostrich feathers extending into a small brim.

Ida Smith, an assisting hostess was in high fashion with a tailored black wool suit, leather trimmed . . . and Alma Parker, score keeper, was in black and white wool, while Anne Larkins, who also kept score, chose a three - quarter length white brocade suit with a flowered hat.

Nellie Edmonds was an eye-filler in royal blue wool suit, a multicolored beaded blouse and matching hat completing her ensemble. Miss Chamberlain was glamorous in beige cashmere . . . so was Mrs. Herbert trader, who matched black mink hat to the mink collar that trimmed her Persian lamb coat. Mrs. land Jones added a spark in a bright red wool, and Jimmy Laforrest, in striking mustard colored three - piece knit and matching hat.

The hostess matched the wrapping (in black and yellow) to her costume, and the lucky - ners of the elegant gifts were Mary Pitts, Grace Walker and Hazel Bailey, club members; Louise Robinson and Florence Bailey, guests who played bridge; and Pauline Watts and Verda Welcome, guests who played pinochle.

And of course Mesdames Anderson, Parker, Larkins, Smith and Edmonds, who assisted the hostess, received gifts.

Members of the club attending included Lillian Slater, Grace Walker, Christine Moore, Bernice McDaniels, Gwyn Brooks, Frieda Baron, Phyllis Shamwell, Louise Lockerman, Helen Chamberlain, Mary Pitts and Hazel Bailey.

Guests were Celonia Walden, Ann Forrest, Peggy Jones, Verda Welcome, Nellie Edmonds, Helen Lee, Pauline Watts, Louise Owens, Hilda Higgins, Edith Brown, Harriet Trader, Louise Robinson.

Also Niki Randolph, Ida Smith, Florence Bailey, Alma Parker, Anne Larkins, Flozella Clark and Eleanor Anderson. Guests invited and who hoped up to the last moments to be there, then forced to send regrets were Vivian Pendlton and Lula Patterson.

DR. AND MRS. RAYMOND HUNT had a perfectly delightful holiday party in their home . . . congregating in their newly renovated club room for dinner, eggnog and dancing. And to add an extra note, Elise (Mrs. H.) had guests draw for one of her creations (she's a hat designer) and as a result Rebecca Brown is now the possessor of an elegant Parisian draped white satin turban.

Having fun there were:

Agnese Browne, Verda Welcome, Evelyn M. Williams, Allie L. Clift, Phyllis Shamwell, Dr. Evan A. Gilkes, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert P. Jones Jr. and Mrs. William Gardner.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie A. Bell, Dora Hutchinson, Dr. John W. King, Mr. and Mrs. James Nix, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Rayne, Rebecca Brown, Oliver Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. Fred West, Mrs. Jacqueline Williams, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Frisby, George Jenkins and Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Barksdale.

St. James ceremony for Miss Anne F. Sims

Miss Anne Fitzgerald Sims, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Fitzgerald Sims and the late Cicero Sims, became the bride of Robert Lee Richardson, Saturday.

The double - ring ceremony took place in St. James Episcopal Church with the Rev. Fr. Donald O. Wilson officiating. Victor Myrick was at the console and Miss Myrtle Mack was soloist.

* * *

MISS SIMS was given in marriage by Dr. Walter G. Daniel of Washinton, and attended by Miss Iantha Lake as maid of honor. Other attendants were Misses Maudestine Godsey and Joyce Bowman, bridesmaids.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and Alencon lace made with a fitted bodice with lace yoke and long sleeves. The bell skirt had an attached chapel train. Her bouffant veil of illusion was attached to a tiara, and she carried a bouquet of bridal roses.

THE ATTENDANTS wore gowns which featured velvet tops and satin skirts, the gowns being in two shades of blue. Miss Lake carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations with blue ribbons, while the bridesmaids carried bouquet of white gardenias with blue ribbons.

William Rutherford, of Columbia, S. C., cousin of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Harry B. Rutherford and Rufus McCray.

The mother of the bride chose an ensemble in mauve pink with pale pink tulle hat. Her corsage was an orchid. Mrs. Richardson Sr. also wore a white orchid with her soft green gown.

* * *

THE NEW Mrs. Richardson, who graduated from Towson College, taught in this city's schools for three years. She is now studing in the school of architecture and engineering of Howard University.

Mr. Richardson is in the Navy and is stationed in Hawaii.

That a service may be spiritually inspiring
Long after time has softened the sorrow, the memory of a beautiful; reverently conducted funeral service will remain a source of deep and abiding spiritual inspiration.
To surround final moments with quiet dignity and beauty is ever our purpose.
