OF WILLS AND ESTATES

7 will share estate of Mrs. Mary Young

William Russell of 3211 Pawhatan Ave., and his daughters, Denise and Pamella, are the chief beneficiaries under the will of his aunt, Mrs. Mary Young, longtime member of Ames Methodist Church. She died May 11, 1964.

The will, dated January 27, 1958, gave the daughters a half-interest in property at 1463 N. Carey St., owned by Mrs. Young. Each of these bequests amounted to $1,879.00.

Mr. Russell, a nephew of Mrs. Young, received the home in which she lived at 518 Sanford Place, and the personal property therein, valued at $4,195.50.

Other beneficiaries under the will included Oscar V. Russell, also a nephew, $100; Mrs. Dorothy Cathorn, niece, $50; William Barnes, a grand nephew, $50; and Mrs. Manilla Wilkens, a niece, $100.

* * *

THREE COUSINS will inherit the balance, after administration, of the estate of 66-year-old George A. Heargeaft, who died in Johns Hopkins Hospital on May 11, 1963, without leaving a will.

Mr. Heargeaft left $11,951.78, all of which was cash.

Elroy O. Wilson, mortician, filed for, and was granted administration papers, in view of the fact that he was chief creditor.

CORE, local banks meet on fair hiring practices

Local banks are to inform CORE in two weeks of their reaction to the civil rights organization's proposals for stepping up equal employment opportunities for colored persons.

John Burliegh, chairman of employment for CORE, said after his committee met Thursday with representatives of the banks, that "despite the disproportionately small number employed, some banks at least have made a start in implementing fair employment policies."

CORE's proposals to the banks are:

1. Advertise all job openings in the AFRO as well as other papers.

2. To insert the phrase "an equal opportunity employer" in a prominent position in help-wanted ads.

3. Active recruiting of employees from predominately colored schools and colleges.

4. Recruiting through the Maryland State Employment Service and informing the Employment Service of the fair employment policy of the bank.

5. Placing of colored employees in all branch offices, including those downtown and in white neighborhoods.

6. Invite representatives of the colored community, including CORE, to tour bank operations to see for themselves whether fair employment practices are implemented.

7. Each bank scrutinize its own hiring practices to insure the full implementation of a meaningful fair employment program.

Banks which were represented in Thursday's discussion were Maryland National Bank, National Bank of Maryland, Union Trust Company of Maryland, First National Bank of Maryland, Equitable Trust Company, Mercantile Safe Deposit and Trust Company, National City Bank of Baltimore, Federal Reserve Branch Bank and the Carrollton Bank.

Jim Griffin is CORE chapter president.

Mich. House ousts accused legislator

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—The Michigan House of Representatives stood by its predetermined position of not seating Rep. Daniel West, D-Detroit, who faces charges of income tax and election fraud, as the 73rd session of the legislature opened Wednesday.

West, unmasked as using false credentials belonging to a dead New York attorney shortly after his re-election, showed up at the capitol unexpectedly but the House voted unaimoulsy to have him stand said while Chief Justice Thomas M. Kavanagh of the State Supreme Court administered the oath of office to 106 other representatives.

West appeared at the capitol shortly before the noon starting time for the session and took a chair.

* * *

WEST HAD NO comment on anything to anyone—but conferred briefely with Majority Floor leader J. Bob Traxler, D - Bay City,D and was told of the majority party position.

Traxler moved that West stand aside pending a resolution setting up a committee to investigate the situation.

Minority Leader Robert Waldron, R - Grosse Pointe, supported the motion and said, "It's a shame we have to ruin this day by having to go through this procedure. We do this for the protection of some 70,000-80,000 people in the 24th (West's) District.

* * *

TRAXLER SAID West told him he appeared because failure to do so might be interpreted as an admission of guilt.

West sat through the proceedings for about 45 minutes and then left the building silently, shortly after the oath-giving.

West's seat became the third vacancy in the legislature and the second in the House.

Machen asked to explain his Miss. vote

Rep. Harvey Machen of Maryland's 5th Congressional District, who voted for the seating of Mississippi's regular delegation which is claimed to be illegally elected, has been requested to issue a statement telling why he "condoned" delegates who support "murder, lawlessness and segregation."

Prince Georges County (Md.) CORE made the request this week in a statement which praised the 148 congressmen who voted against the challenged Mississippians on Jan. 4 in the House of Representatives.

* * *

THE CORE statement also expressed the hope that Rep. Machen would "reconsider" his stand and vote in the future as fellow delegates Congressmen Carlton R. Sickles and Charles H. Mathias for justice and equality."

Rep. Machen was among 276 congressmen who voted for the regular Mississippi congressmen whom the biracial Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party charges was illegally elected because colored citizens were almost totally barred from elections last November.
