BURHA given okey on 1,000 new housing units

Baltimore has received preliminary Federal approval of planning on an additional 1,000 units of low - rent public housing, including 325 units for the elderly, the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency has announced.

"These additional units are badly needed," Eugene M. Feinblatt, BURHA Commission chairman stated, "to facilitate relocation in connection with the city's expressway program, and also to help us cooperate to the fullest with the anti - poverty program."

The 1,000 units to Baltimore are from a total of 37,500 new units of low - rent public housing authorized for the entire country by Congress in the Housing Act of 1964.

BURHA's request for a reservation of 1,500 units, of which 500 would have been for the elderly, and a preliminary loan of $117,500 to cover the expenses of initial planning was made last Sept. 25.

BURHA is now in the process of developing plans for another 741 housing units granted in an earlier reservation.

City Hospitals given $21,000

that which shows that 58 percent of the colored employees on our municipal payroll are earning less than the amount set by President Johnson as a poverty wage.

"It is obvious that something must be done to correct these conditions, but I will not be prepared to offer positive ... recommendations until I have made a thorough study of the enormous amount of material compiled by the CRC.

"And have decided upon the best possible methods of attacking the problems this information represents."

Here are some of the findings on which this allegation is based.

1. Although 34.1 percent, or 5,444, of the 15,921 municipal employees are colored, there are none in 25 of the 79 departments, bureaus and agencies surveyed.

2. There are 18 city departments among the 79 in which employ fewer than 10 percent colored in a total 953 - person work force.

3. There are 13 such departments which employ less than 15 percent colored, in a total work force of 3,620 persons.

4. Just nine of the 78 municipal departments employ a high 80 percent of all the city's classified colored workers.

NOT INCLUDED in this study are the 7,919 professionals within the Department of Education, and the 3,519 employees of the Police Department over which CRC lacks jurisdiction.

The CRC report lists further these revelations to point up the charges of job advancement blocks for colored citizens:

1. Approximately 58 percent, or 2,314, of the 5,444 colored classified municipal employees earn less than $2,900 a year —termed a poverty wage by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

2. Classified grades 39, 40 and 41, for which the base salaries are $8,220, $8,640 and $9,084 respectively include a total of 189 employees none of whom are colored.

3. There are no colored in the 78 departments surveyed above the grade of 44, which carries a base salary of $10,590 a year.

4. All 35 of the highest classified employees in the city, with a base salary of at least $11,196, are white.

5. Colored citizens are in all classified grades up through 36, the latter of which has a base salary of $7,104 a year.

Civil Service bit

THE CRC report offers a number of conclusions, based on the exhaustive study. One states:

"Past discrimination practices in recruiting, processing, screening, hiring, upgrading, transfer and promotion by persons within the city government has served as a potent deterrent to the colored citizen of Baltimore, in his consideration of seeking career employment in the field of public service.

Another of the conclusions takes a dubious view of the Civil Service Commission's system of allowing the appointment of eligible applicants for position.

"Under the Civil Service rule of five," the report states, "a person who is rated No. 5 on the certified eligible list, for example, may be selected instead of the others.

"This program has proven sound and adequate through merit.

"However, when an appointing officer may choose one of five, discrimination is entirely possible unless extreme vigilance is practiced and evidence of fair employment becomes a continuing reality."

The CRC report notes that the municipal's Civil Service examining commission itself has only four colored among 44 employees.

It also said the public works Department has one of the worst employment records.

Recommendations

THE CRC report submitted to Mayor McKeldin 12 corrective recommendations to promote fair employment practices within municipal agencies, in accordance with the city law.

They are:

1. Department heads be instructed by the mayor to make an intensive survey of their personnel to seek out persons who have been "passed over" unfairly because of racial or religious discrimination.

A detailed report be submitted to him with copies to CRC by April 1, 1965, outlining the findings and contemplated steps to be taken to adjust such situation or to adjust such situations.

2. Surveys be conducted annually of those departments whose employment patterns reveal that equal employment opportunities for colored citizens is far from a reality.

The responsible officer of that department be required to initiate and effectuate a program of compliance, enlisting the active support of all personnel in attaining the removal of every vestige of discrimination in recruiting, hiring, training, promotion and upgrading.

3. Recruitment sources, specifically schools, employment agencies, employees and advertising media, when they are utilized, be emphatically informed that equal opportunity prevails for all citizens.

4. Educational and training institutions must disseminate more information reflecting in realistic terms the need for new skills resulting from automation and technological change, and the ever broadening opportunities for the possessors of those skills to obtain employment.

5. A greater awareness must be exhibited by the colored community through its encouragement of its youngsters to properly equip themselves for involvement in the employment mainstream and the thoughtful and cooperative support of those institutions programming to that end.

6. All segments of the total community must give support to positive programs, including changes in schools and counseling services, to provide through example - a clear demonstration of its pronouncements of equal opportunity for all - in order to re-establish for the colored youth - in a meaningful way, their place in our society as citizens with full rights, privileges as well as responsibilities.

Rejected reasons

7. MORE stringent requirements be established as to reasons for selection and rejection of candidates on certified eligible lists as published by the Civil Service Commission.

8. Information as to the racial characteristics of the work force be retained as a post - employment statistic thus expediting any future civil service review and audit.

9. The colored community should accept the fact that every positive activity may represent an additional opportunity in the field of employment specifically, as well as an inroad to the improvement of better intergroup relations.

10. More effective instruction and broader experience be given to colored youth in preparing them for written examinations.

11. City government with the cooperation of educational institutions establish the machinery for providing on-the - job and retraining opportunities for present and future employees.

12. The findings of this survey and its recommendations be transmitted, with appropriate letter, to all departments of City government and to the news media.

FOLLOWING ARE some of the departmental employment breakdowns contained in the CRC report to Mayor McKeldin.

Dept. Public Works

ALTHOUGH PUBLIC Works is the biggest department included in this survey, it has one of the poorest records in theemployment of colored and in the employment of minority group members.

Four bureaus within the department — sanitation, water supply, highways, sewers — have more than five hundred employees each, most of whom are unclassified laborers.

There are 2,710 laborers and unclassified employees in the entire Department, of whom 842 are colored, in a metropolitan area where the majority of unskilled laborers are colored, the Department of Public works has hired less than one colored to every two white laborers.

In classified positions this department has an even poorer record. There are nineteen classified white employees to every classified colored person in the entire department.

For positions paying less than $5,000 per year the ratio is ten whites to every colored worker. There are no colored who are classified foreman or in similar supervisory positions.

Dept. of Comptroller

THE DEPARTMENT of the Comptroller is composed of fourteen separate offices under the City Comptroller's direction. Of 300 employees in the entire department, only 17 are colored, all of whom earn between $2,000 and $4,000 per year. Twelve of the 17 are in just two sub-divisions - Purchasing and the Dept Division.

There are ninety employees with in the department in positions with a base pay of $4,000 or more. None of these people are colored.

Most of the offices in the department are located in the Municipal Building.

As a general rule those City offices located in the Municipal Building have a poorer record in the hiring of minority group individuals than those offices dispersed about the City.

Fire Dept.

THE FIRE Department employs over two thousand people and is the fourth largest employer among city agencies. Whites in the department outnumber colored by a seven to one margin. All but nine of the department's 236 colored persons are in the category of firefighter and have a beginning salary of less than $5,000.

Seven are in the ambulance service and two are fire lieutenants.

There are no colored in all other categories of employment within the department.

One of every seven firefighters is colored. Another one out of a hundred fire lieutenants is a colored man. This great discrepancy results from the former policy of the department which was to select only white applicants for the position of firefighter.

Dept. of Treasurer

THE BUREAU of Receipts, Department of the Treasurer, has one of the poorest records of minority group employment.

Only five percent of its classified employees are colored. All six colored in the Bureau of Receipts are women, that $4,000 per year. Of the seven white employees who earn under this amount. All of the thirty - four employees in the Bureau who earn more than $4,000 annually are white.

Dept. of Education

The Department of Education has 3,167 non - professional positions which come under the exclusive jurisdiction of City Civil Service. Only these employees are included in the survey.

Over three - fourths of the colored surveyed earn less than $3,000 per year while less than half of the white non - professionals have an equal income below this amount.

In the two upper levels of non - professional employment whites outnumber colored by almost a 5 to 1 margin. In the lowest two levels of employment, the reverse is true. There are five colored to every one white.

At the intermediate levels between $3,000 and $6,000 annually the number of white and colored employees is almost equal.

Transit and Traffic

THE DEPARTMENT of Transit and Traffic has only 16 colored classified employees among a total of 819. Of those 192 employees earning less than $6,000 per year only about ten percent are colored.

For the classified grades 24 through 36 (having an annual salary of between $4,000 and $6,000) all fifty - six employees are white.

Of 41 employees who earn more than $6,000 per year are white.

Urban Renewal

ONE - FOURTH of the classified employees of the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Authority are colored. This same ratio exists for unclassified employees.

Just about one - half of those classified positions which pay under $4,000 per year are filled by colored. Approximately one - seventh of those jobs which pay between $4,000 and $5,000 annually are held by colored citizens.

About one - sixth of those classified employees who earn between $5,000 and $10,000 annually are colored. Of the six employees in BURHA who earn over $10,000 per year one is a colored person.

Aviation

The Department of Aviation has over 100 employees and is responsible for staffing Friendship Airport. Somewhat more than one - fifth of its employees are colored; slightly less than one - tenth are Puerto Rican.

Twenty - one of the twenty - four colored and seven of the nine Puerto Ricans earn under $4,000 per year and have jobs of a custodial nature.

Only six of the 70 white employees earn under this amount.

Over eighty percent (81.4) of the white employees earn more than $5,000 per year.

Only three colored persons, and one Puerto Rican are included in the grades which annually pay more than $6,000.

City Jail

SLIGHTLY LESS than one - half of the classified employees of the Baltimore City Jail are colored. Over one - half of those classified employees who earn less than $4,000 annually are colored. Of the 21 employees who are paid more than $5,000 per year, however, only one, the chief plant operator, is a colored person.

There are 148 correction matrons and officers, all of whom are in a salary scale with a base pay of less than half of these employees are white, colored.

There are 12 correction lieutenants and five correction captains, all of whom are white. The warden and assistant warden are also white.

Chiefly because of lack of seniority — a direct result of the past practices of discrimination in hiring — there are no colored in the upper levels of authority within the Jail.

Recreation Parks

THE DEPARTMENT of Recreation and Parks presents a picture which is misleading on the surface. To perceive the present employment situation accurately the Bureau of Recreation must be considered separately.

Recreation and Parks combined has an almost equal number of colored and white classified employees. The Bureau of Recreation, however, has twice as many colored classified employees as white.

In positions paying more than $6,000 annually the Bureau of Recreation has colored employees and 38 white employees; the Bureau of Parks has 21 employees above this salary and no colored.

Within the Bureau of Parks there are more than eight white laborers in the parks system to every colored.

The Division of Forestry has 38 white unclassified employees and no colored.

City Hospitals

BALTIMORE CITY Hospitals is one of two divisions of municipal government which has more colored classified employees than white. Almost two - thirds of the classified colored, however, are in jobs paying less that $3,000 per year, an income described by President Johnson as the borderline of poverty.

In positions paying between $3,000 and $4,000 annually, there are slightly more white than colored employees. Among those classified employees who earn over $4,000, there are more than 4 whites to every colored person.

Unclassified employees at City Hospitals present a ratio of three whites to every colored and in every person of an "other" racial heredity ground. Most of these employees are doctors or medical technicians.

Health Dept.

One - third of the classified employees of the Health Department are colored, the same proportion which exists in city wide classified employment.

There are no colored in the department's 24 classified positions which pay more than $6,000 per year.

Seven are in the ambulance service and two are fire lieutenants.

Willie Robinson

Willie Robinson, 70, 3010 Herbert St., died Thursday at Port Howard Hospital, following an illness of four years.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Psalmist Baptist Church. Burial was in Baltimore National Cemetery.

A native of Fayetteville, N.C. Mr. Robinson was a veteran of World War II. He was the son of Levy and Emmaline Robinson.

Is it proper to call for Gordon's by name in English Pubs?

It's not a matter of being proper. It's unnecessary. For when most Englishmen ask for gin, they expect to get Gordon's. After all, its distinctive dryness and delicate flavour have been a part of English life for 195 years. Americans, however, have been enjoying Gordon's for a somewhat shorter span of time. So it is wise (and proper) to specify Gordon's by name. Your first sip of a Gordon's martini will tell you why it's the biggest selling gin over here as well as in England and the rest of the world.
